Producers who choose the new corn-sorghum option in the feed grain program will forego the option previously announced for additional voluntary set-aside for corn, grain and sorghum and barley.

Explanations of all 1972 set-aside programs and options—except this new corn-sorghum option—have been presented to farmers, Redalen said. Details of the new option are currently being made available to farmers.

The ASC committee chairman expressed hope that every farmer will make sure of understanding all program options before making a sign-up commitment.

When a producer signs up, he chooses among the options open to him. In each case, he agrees to set aside a percentage of his land and to comply with all provisions of the farm set-aside programs. By participating in the voluntary farm programs, farmers will earn set-aside payments and their program crops will be eligible for Commodity Credit Corporation loans.

Breeders Co-op Annual Meeting Set At Roseau

Annual district membership meeting of Midwest Breeders Cooperative will be held March 9 at the Roseau Village auditorium. The session begins at 11 a.m. with an informative film entitled "Norman Borlaug: Revolutionary," followed by the cooperative's annual management and financial report.

Following lunch, two presentations concerning herd health and reproductive efficiency, and sire selection will be made. The election of delegates to represent the area at Midwest Breeders' annual meeting April 8 at Stewartville will be conducted.

Midwest Breeders completed its fifth year of operation with 822,027 units of sale. 33,294 active members in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska and Upper Michigan purchased 622,276 first service sales. Units of semen sold directly to herd owners and through authorized distributors totaled 199,751.

History Society To Offer Tours Later This Year

"Springtime In The Deep South" and "Ageless Minnesota" were two of the six 1972 tours announced by Robert C. Wheeler, associate director of the Minnesota Historical society. "Each "Adventures in History" tour has been planned to include visits to outstanding historic areas, enjoyable learning about the area's history, and beautiful scenery," Wheeler said. Tours are:

"Springtine in the Deep South," March 17-28. Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Georgia and Tennessee are included as this tour moves through Civil War areas, beautiful ante bellum homes, famous gardens and New Orleans.

"The Compleat Fort Snelling Tour," June 17. This one-day program gives participants an unprecedented opportunity to see sites at Old Fort Snelling not normally accessible to the public. Minnesota history will come alive as the Fife and Drum Corps performs as they did 150 years ago.

"Baffin Island in the Canadian Arctic," July 23-August 1 or August 6-15. This visit to Baffin Island, well above the Arctic Circle, will offer an opportunity to view rugged snow-capped mountains, seals and polar bears, primitive stone carvings, and pre-Dorset and Thule archaeological ruins.

"Ageless Minnesota," August 18-20. This tour offers the chance to become involved in the geology, history, archaeology, and nature of our North Star State. Glacial Lake Agassiz, Lake Itasca, the Sinclair Lewis House and Connor's Fur Post are all included.

"RIVER BOAT COMING ON THE MINNESOTA," October 1. The river boat Jonathan Padelford has been chartered for this day-long trip on the Minnesota and Mississippi rivers. The fall scenery should be brilliant as the boat travels leisurely up the Minnesota river.

"The Apostle Islands," October 8-10. This weekend tour will visit historic Chequamegon, the Apostle Islands and Bayfield, Wisconsin. Stories of the early fur trappers and Indian history will come alive while traveling to this northern area.

For a tour brochure or additional information contact Robert Wheeler, Minnesota Historical Society, 690 Cedar Street, St. Paul, Minnesota 55101 or Tour Secretary, (612) 221-2583.

Drug, Alcohol Workshop Set On Wednesday

Chemical dependency workshop for nurses of Northwestern Minnesota will be held on the campus of Northland state junior college in Thief River Falls Wednesday, it was announced today by Charles Samuelson, health instructor at Northland college.

Major emphasis of the workshop will be on the nursing care of patients with alcohol and drug problems. Films, lectures, and group discussions will be utilized in presenting the latest research and information regarding chemical dependency. The one day workshop is scheduled from 8:30-4:00 p.m.

Registration is open to hospital staff, registered nurses, licensed practical nurses, nurses aides, and orderlies. The registration fee is $5 per hospital or agency and may be made at the time of registration at 8:30 a.m.

For further information contact Rose Mary Henderson, Northwestern mental health center in Crookston; phone 281-3940, or Charles Samuelson, health instructor, at Northland state junior college Thief River Falls, phone 681-2181.

Library Offers Materials For Tax Information

Area taxpayers confronted with their annual federal and state income tax forms may find some comfort in materials available at the Northwest Regional library in Thief River Falls.

A number of state and federal tax information services have been gathered together for convenient use in the reference section of the library, according to Miss Mary Croteau, librarian.

There are pamphlets and loose leaf information services from Commerce Clearing House, Inc., and Prentice-Hall which contain individual federal income tax specimen returns completely worked out for filing with rate tables, work sheets and check lists. Specimen returns and related material are also available for corporation, partnership and fiduciary federal income taxes.

In addition, other material covers such topics as tax factors in reimbursed education expenses, tax slants in hobby losses, how income averaging reduces your tax bill, and tax deductions which might be overlooked.

State taxes are fully covered in the two volume "Minnesota Tax Reporter". This publication includes not only income taxes but property, exercise, sales and city taxes, the law and any new matters that relate to taxation of any kind.

Although the material must be used in the library, a public photocopier is available at a nominal charge.

Corrections To Hold Hearing On Needed Changes

During March the Minnesota department of corrections will hold a series of 10 public hearings throughout the state to provide the public an opportunity to present ideas on needed legislation, program changes and areas needing attention and leadership in the field of corrections.

The department plans to use information from the public in planning its program to present to the 1973 legislature. One hearing will be at Bemidji from 1-4 and 7:30-9:30 p.m. on March 15.

Hopefully, these hearings will provide a forum for constructive suggestions.

Senator Mondale Seeks Change In Aids For Aged"

Monthly Medicare premiums for doctors' fees and professional services—otherwise known as part B premiums—have nearly doubled since the Medicare program began. They have risen from $3 to almost $6 at present, according to Sen. Walter F. Mondale.

"These fees and the steady increases have added intolerably to the financial burdens of older Americans who are living on inadequate incomes and are already being squeezed by inflation. Because these premiums are intolerable, I have twice introduced legislation to cut them," Sen. Mondale said.

"Now I have done so a third time. This time we may be successful, since President Nixon announced his support for the elimination of Part B premiums in his state of the union address.

"Passage of my bill would help lighten the load of millions of retired workers—more than 270,000 of them in Minnesota. But we must not limit our efforts to help older Americans to just this bill—because other improvements in medicare and social security benefits are desperately needed," the senator said.

He added that we must also enact legislation that would:

—Include out-of-hosital drug costs under Medicare;

—Provide automatic cost-of-living increases in social security benefits when the cost of living index rises by two per cent;

Raise monthly social security benefits by basing payments only on a retiree's 10 highest earning years;

—Increase to $2,400 the amount that retired persons can earn without losing social security benefits; and —Eliminate the requirement that Medicare patients pay for the first three pints of blood they may require.

"I support all these measures and am hopeful that the 92nd Congress will approve them. Unfortunately, the United States has not kept pace with other industrialized western nations in efforts to assist the elderly. We must begin now to remedy this national neglect," Sen. Mondale said.

ASC Guarantees Full Payments For Set-Aside

usually request it when they sign up, since it is a convenient time. This year, Knutson said, special consideration should be given to getting in early to sign up and to request set-aside inspection and early measurement. The service is provided at a nominal charge which covers the cost.

"The sooner a set-aside inspection and measurement request is made, the sooner that farm will get the service," he said. "And with double guarantee of both quality and quantity of set-aside acreage, the county ASCS office expects even more than the usual large number of measurement requests at sign-up this year. The way to get ahead of the rush would be to come in early to sign up for the 1972 feed grain and wheat programs."

The quality guarantee for set-aside acreage is important because of the "average productivity" requirement for set-aside land, the ASC committee chairman said. Land designated for set-aside must have a productive capacity at least equal to the land on which program crops are grown this year—or the land on which program crops would have been grown. Failure to meet this requirement can result in reduction or loss of farm program payments.

Knutson also said that the local ASCS office had been instructed not to accept for set-aside land any acreage which is known in advance to be of below average quality.

Under the agricultural act of 1970, which embodies the set-aside program, farmers participating in the voluntary feed grain and wheat programs may plant their cropland almost as they wish if they maintain their set-aside acreage and conserving base.

It is essential that good quality set-aside land be offered by program participants in order to help reduce the potential American agriculture has for excess production, Knutson said.

Birds Of Prey Are Featured In School Talks

hawk in free flight. It flies from basket to basket in the gymnasium and then comes in low over the students for its return to the stage. Youngsters learn to appreciate the flight of birds by this demonstration.

The Harris hawk is one of the smaller hawks and Bindner's bird is named "Cocoa". Evidence that it makes a hit with the youngsters and that they identify with the bird is the fact that last year "Cocoa" received 260 Christmas cards from all over the country.

What is the message that Bindner presents to his audiences of any age? Simply that the predators of the bird world play an important role in the overall aspect of nature and deserve a better reputation than they have.

"I think we should we should drop the terms 'chicken hawk' and 'sheep eagle' from our vocabulary," Bindner says emphatically. "Such terms are grossly unfair and unreasonable, and are demeaning to birds which have as much a place in our ecology as any other species. And that thinking contributes to the decline of birds of prey, because it encourages man to destroy predators which he believes to be harmful."

A Fitting Emblem

We asked Bindner if he believed the bald eagle is proper as the national bird of the United States. He said that he did for several reasons.

"First, I believe it's proper because it was selected as the national bird and I have an intense patriotism," he said.

"Also, it is a majestic bird and certainly portrays an image of strength. Benjamin Franklin thought that the wild turkey should be the national bird. Can you picture a turkey on the top of a flag pole as our national emblem? A soaring eagle is a perfect vision of freedom. I think selecting the eagle was a wise choice."

Bindner transports his birds in aluminum cages in an enclosed but unheated aluminum trailer. Minnesota cold is hard on them, but the main hazard is travel when wind chill factor is added to the air temperature. With a rugged schedule to meet, however, travel must be done. Beef heart is used as the staple diet for the birds, and the eagle alone consumes about 20 pounds a week.

Bindner has trained hawks for hunting, and explained that this is exercise for captive birds. Reward of food is the key to this training. The food reward is also used when "Cocoa" makes its solo flight in appearance after appearance.

Throughout his travels, Bindner carries the message of the value of each creature in the total environment. He asks that question of where the point of breakdown might be, indicating that some predatory bird species are in danger of extinction, including our own national bird. "How many parts can you remove from an automobile before it ceases to function," he asks. "How many species can be lost from the ecology before it ceases to function?".

For that matter, how many readers of this article eat chicken?

MR. AND MRS. GENE NELSON of Viking have been selected as the outstanding dairyman couple for Marshall county for 1972 and will be honored at the dairyman's banquet in Crookston Friday night. The award is sponsored by the Red River Valley Dairyman's association and will be presented after completion of dairy day at the Red River Valley Winter shows. The Nelsons milk 36 Holstein cows and have been in the dairy cattle operation for the last 19 years. The herd is enrolled in the Pennington county DHIA and produced an average of 601 lbs. of butterfat per head last year. The Nelsons are members of Zion Lutheran church in Viking where he is a trustee. Mrs. Nelson is superintendent of the Sunday school and a member of the Ladies aid. They are enrolled in the farm management service of the Thief River Falls area vocational - technical school's vocational agriculture department.

ON VACATION in Arizona are Mr. and Mrs. Victor Kvikstad of Thief River Falls. They are pictured as they visited the resort-retirement community of Sun City.

Safety Standard Booklets Now Are Available

Shoppers for 1972 model cars can now consult government pamphlets showing the braking and accelerating capabilities of the various models and the tire reserve load capacity, Commissioner of Public Safety W. R. Hoaglund said today.

Data on motorcycle braking capacity are also available. The information, Hoaglund said, is contained in a booklet "Performance Date for New 1972 Passenger Cars and Motorcycles", which can be obtained at $2 from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. Booklets on brake performance are available at 50 cents, and on tires at 45 cents.

Hoaglund pointed out that this is the third year the department of transportation has issued performance data booklets on new cars, and that capabilities of 1971 and 1970 cars can also be obtained. All cars sold in the United States, including all imports, are covered in the booklets.

New this year is the inclusion of motorcycles in the performance standards booklet. Hoaglund pointed out that while the better motorcycles have braking characteristics equal or superior to many passenger cars, officials in the area of highway safety have become alarmed at the performance of others.

"The appearance on the American market of cheap, light machines, with high ratios of speed potential to weight, small tires, high centers of gravity and low brake performance standards has created a new and serious safety hazard," he said.

"The inclusion of motorcycles in the performance data is a welcome step, as is also the announcement of the federal department of transportation plans for a motorcycle brake safety standard."

THE LOWDOWN ON PRICES

A two-pound canned ham was offered for only 50 cents in the 1882 Montgomery Ward catalog. Salt that year sold for $1.25 a barrel, and pepper was 19 cents a pound in 115—pound sacks.

Recycled Paper Costs More Due To Sorting Need

At first glance, it would appear that recycling paper would be more economical than cutting down trees for manufacturing into paper and paper products.

Paper that is to be recycled has already been pulped, purified, upgraded and should be practically ready for re-use in products. And the energy required to convert secondary fiber into products is less than needed to process wood into pulp.

But the big economic hang-up comes with the sorting of paper that is to be recycled, accoring to University of Minnesota forest products specialist Lewis Hendricks.

The sorting problem at a St. Paul firm which recycles paper to make cereal boxes is a good example, he said.

The cereal box which that firm makes—a typical cereal box—is a series of papers laminated together each with its own properties and differences in construction. The top-liner is manufactured from the top grades of recycled paper available to the plant such as book and bond papers. The under-liner has recycled newspapers and tab cards in it while the filler can take almost anything such as mixed newsprint and corrugated boxes. The back-liner takes clean de-inked newspaper, bag papers and corrugated boxes.

So the paper which comes into the St. Paul plant is often moxed and must be sorted before being re-manufactured.

In Minnesota, the economic problems of recycling paper take on another facet. Here there is a surplus of pulpwood species that tends to reduce the value of the recyclable paper, Hendricks said.

The economic aspect of paper recycling doesn't break down to a simple, "which is cheaper, paper made from wood or paper made from used paper?" The cost of continuous disposal of paper—solid waste—must be considered.

For example, 40 million tons of paper and paperboard are "going to the dump" every year. It has been estimated that by the year 2,000, the waste management costs in the New York region alone will be some $300 million per year with the current 20 per cent paper re-use rate. Experts figure that that cost could be reduced to $120 million per year with an 80 per cent re-use rate.

"These management costs include charges for incineration, wet scrubbing, a settling basin, plus landfill of the incinerator residues. We could affect significant reductions in landfill requirements if we would but increase the recycle rate of our waste wood fiber products," said Wayne F. Carr, a USDA chemical engineer in a recent issue of the Paper Trade Journal.

And the costs of pollution of recycled paper must be considered. Some think that there may be more pollution involved in making recycled paper than in making standard paper, because of the chemicals used to get the ink out of the old paper.

The recycling of paper is a knotty, perplexing issue at best. "Paper recycling is a situtation where you can't change the status quo without considering the possible adverse effects on workers, consumers and the rest of society," Hendricks said.

Herbst Gives Views About Indian Lands

(Editor's Note: Following is a statement by Robert Herbst, Minnesota commissioner of conservation, regarding the federal court decision on rights of the Chippewa Indians in Minnesota.)

On January 17, Federal Judge Edward Devitt ruled that the Chippewas of Minnesota possess the right to hunt, fish, trap and rice free of state regulation in the entire Leech Lake reservation, except on private lands, but do not have the right to exclude or regulate others.

Judge Devitt thus held that both the Indian and non-Indian populations of Minnesota have the right to hunt and fish in the reservation area, with the Indian right being subject only to Indian regulation and the non-Indian right subject to state regulation.

Judge Devitt, in his decision, recognized historical and cultural hunting and fishing claims of the Indians, together with the present economic needs of the Indian community.

The department of natural resources also recognizes the fact that the Indian community has legitimate and unmet needs and claims, and that their economic condition is clearly unsatisfactory.

It is clear, however, that the dual-regulation situation that would exist with this ruling contains within it the seeds for continuing controversy.

It is obvious that an amicable accommodation for sharing the fish and game resources of the reservation area, and for regulating the taking of those resources, must be reached between the Chippewa tribe and the Minnesota department of natural resources.

Such an accommodation would not only involve a fair sharing of the resources, but would also promote the interests of all residents of the area. It would seek to avoid economic loss by Indians and non-Indians alike and would have, as its first priority, the avoidance of conflicts between the Indian and non-Indian populations.

We feel such an accommodation can be reached without jeopardizing the interests of either group.

In an attempt to achieve such an accommodation, the department intends to promptly initiate discussions and negotations between the department of natural resources, the Minnesota Chippewa tribe, the various bands, of Chippewas in Minnesota, the bureau of Indian affairs, and other affected federal and state agencies.

Steps in this direction were commenced prior to Judge Devitt's dicision. An agreement has already been made by the department with the Red Lake band. We have also initiated an order for the transportation of game and fish off the reservations, which is applicable to all reservations in Minnesota. We hope to continue in this direction.

The power of the commissioner of natural resources is limited. Ultimately, the Legislature will have to act on any accommodation which may be reached if it falls outside the authority of the commissioner.

The commissioner has limited rule-making authority, but no authority to amend existing laws or to raise funds except as directed by the Legislature. It may be necessary for the Congress of the U.S. to appropriate funds.

In the months between now and the next legislative session, commencing in January of 1973, we plan on intensive study and negotiation so as to be able to present to the Legislature a comprehensive report with our recommendations on the subject of Indian and non-Indian rights to the game and fish of Minnesota and suggested methods of meeting the legitimate needs of the Indian community for the exercising of their historic rights, without unnecessarily jeopardizing the interests of the non-Indian community in or near the reservation area.

In the meantime, since the ultimate decisions regarding an accomodation cannot be made before the 1973 Legislative session, the department has determined that it has virtually no choice but to appeal Judge Devitt's decision.

It is clear that Judge Devitt's far-reaching decision may affect all other Indian Reservations in Minnesota and elsewhere. The failure to conclusively resolve the complex legal questions involved in the Leech Lake case through an appeal could lead to similar lawsuits from other reservations, and further controversy.

The department also believes that the attainment of an accomodation, which could well involve the use of public monies, would be unlikely unless all legal questions are conclusively resolved. This obviously cannot be accomplished unless the case is carried to a higher court.

Because of rules governing court procedures, the decision must be made now. An appeal would not be possible at a later date.

The appeal will in no way affect our determination to negotiate with the Indian community promptly and in good faith for the purpose of reaching a solution to the current problems.

If an accomodation can be reached and approved by the Legislature, the appeal will be withdrawn.

If an accommodation cannot be reached and the state wins the full appeal, I assure Minnesota's Indian population that I will not support a return to the status quo.

Specifically, I will recommend to the Minnesota Legislature that the reasonable taking of game and fish by reservation Indians be extended to public lands and waters within reservation boundaries.

ADDENDUM: Following is the background of the Leech Lake treaty cases:

These cases were started in 1969 by the Leech Lake band of Chippewa Indians against the state of Minnesota as defendant.

They involve the question of the hunting, fishing, trapping and ricing rights of the Leech Lake band within the 600,000-acre area called the Leech Lake reservation.

At one time the area was a solid Indian-owned land mass. It is now principally made up of national forest and state and county owned lands. The area includes many major lakes, such as Leech lake, Lake Winnibigoshish and Cass lake. It is a substantial tourist area containing some 20 per cent of the state's walleye lakes. There is also a substantial Indian population in the area.

In 1970 the United States government joined in the controversy on behalf of the Minnesota Chippewa Tribe, Inc. The Minnesota Chippewa Tribe, Inc. is an amalgam of all the Chippewas in Minnesota except the Red Lake band.

The United States claimed, as had the band, that the Chippewas of Minnesota have the free and exclusive right to hunt, fish, trap and rice in the area.

The state had historically recognized that the Indians had the right to hunt and fish free of state regulation on Indian-owned land. The state had not recognized this right on non-Indian land in the area.

The position of the state was based on decisions of our supreme court and opinions of the bureau of Indian affairs and the secretary of the U.S. department of the interior.

When the United States joined in the case, the bureau of Indian affairs and the department of the interior reversed its previously held position and urged the court to recognize the Indian rights on all public, state and federal lands and waters in the area.

The case, which involved a federally granted treaty right and a dispute bewteen the United States of America and the state of Minnesota, was thus set in the federal district court for the District of Minnesota and assigned to Judge Devitt.

Judge Devitt issued his memorandum opinion in the case on Dec. 10, 1971. His final findings, conclusions or judgment were not included.

At that time the department of natural resources indicated it wished to have an opportunity to await the final decision before commenting.

Judge Devitt filed his findings of fact, conclusions of law and order for judgment in the Leech Lake treaty cases on Jan. 17, 1972.

The commissioner's statement was issued today following a review of the judge's final decision and a determination of the effect the decision would have on the procedures and programs of the department of natural resources.

Area Students Visit Contest Held In Crookston

Students from 40 4-H clubs and FFA chapters in the state attended general livestock, dairy cattle, and crops judging contests Saturday, Jan. 29, at the University of Minnesota technical college.

Sponsored by the division of agriculture at UMC, the ag activities day attracted 321 registrants. The event is held every year for the benefit of students and their leaders.

Though no awards were made this year, each contestant's cards and answers were scored, and there was discussion with faculty and college students.

"We were pleased to see the large turnout and to hear the many favorable comments," Dr. Donald Sargeant, chairman of the division, said.

A second workshop will be conducted on the campus March 11, at which time the areas of concentration will be horticulture, wildlife, ag mechanics, farm management, and dairy products.

Students participating from the Newfolden 4-H club included Cecilia Swenson, Sheila Erickson, DeLayne Swenson, Orrin Olson, and Byron Stuart, all of Middle River. They took part in the livestock judging workshop. The group is directed by Robert Stuart.

Mark Nelson and Scott Brandon of Middle River, members of the Middle River H.S. club, worked at crops judging. Representing the same group in dairy cattle judging were Jack Belto, Randy Burrell, and Harold Maljala. Mervin Milsten is instructor.

Greenbush FFA participants in general livestock judging were Melvin Smith, Tom Hoverson, and Robert Efta, all of Greenbush; and Karl Kjersten, Chuck Efta, John Foldesi, Larry Olson, Jeff Boyum and Jack Sovde, of Badger.

Dairy cattle judging was carried on by Jim Kulkowski, Gary Wilson, Robert Blazek, Roger Dvergsten, and Dale Johnson of Greenbush; and Tim Kalinowski of Lake Bronson.

Goodridge sent a delegation of 18 and their instructor, W. D. Fischer. Registered in crops judging were Ken Hovet, Ken Lindbloom, Kendal Jenson, and Llewelyn Troske. Participating in the general livestock evaluations were Fred Parnow, Tim Prestebak, Randy Downs, Arden Hyland, Steve Paulson, James Prestebak, Jim Halvorson and Paul Rindall.

Mike Hanson served as captain of a dairy cattle judging team comprising Danny Holen, Bruce Anderson, Rocky Nerhus, Dale Anderson, and Bruce Solberg.

Thief River entries in general livestock judging were James Gunstad, Alan Van de Streek, David Helt, Dale Langevin, and Robin Hulst. Mitch Bruggeman, David Bach and Lyle Swanson took part in dairy cattle judging. Lawrence Helt is the club instructor.

RLF School Play Will Be Staged At Northland

"Interview," a one-act play, will be presented by the drama department of Lafayette high school of Red Lake Falls at Northland state junior college on Wednesday at 10 a.m. The performance will be during the college convocation hour held in the college theatre.

The play, by John - Claude Van Itallie, portrays man's inhumanity - to - man by depicting the dehumanizing effect of misused and misoperated helping agencies. The play shows sketches of various agencies in their relationship to man.

The cast for "Interview" includes: Laurie Ford, Debbie Amiot, Mary Beth Lykken, Colleen Sullivan, Bill Harren, Terry Eckstein, Randy Pearson and Allan Stokke. Director is James McConnell.

Lafayette high school has performed "Interview" in statewide competition. Their performance won in District 31 and in Region 8 they were selected as alternate winner. Randy Pearson received best actor honors in Region 8 competition.

Bergland Named New Member Of Space Committee

Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives announced Friday the appointment of 7th District Congressman Bob Bergland to the science and astronautic committee. In addition to his new assignment on the committee which oversees the nation's space program, Bergland will keep his positions on both the agriculture committee and the select committee on small business.

In accepting his new assignment Bergland said: "It is a personal honor to me and I am hopeful it will be beneficial to our district. However," he continued, "I accept the challenge only with the understanding that I cannot let it interfere with my primary duties on the two committees of most importance to our district—Agriculture and Small Business."

Bergland emphasized that he was "no great fan" of the space program and said: "My primary concern will be whether or not funds could be better used to improve conditions here on earth." Bergland said he realized that vast benefits, including long range weather forecasting, "can be gained from unmanned space projects at a fraction of the cost of manned programs". He would support those programs of demonstrable value. "However," he added, "I have never been convinced of the value of sending men into space and this view will be reflected in my work, and by my votes, on the committee."

Bergland expressed the hope that through work on the committee he could make space-related industries aware of the 7th District. "We have ideal conditions," he said, "our fine schools, the quality of life, our reliable and efficient work force. I will invite and encourage these industries to join in our effort to rebuild rural Minnesota," Bergland concluded.

Record Number Is Expected At Winter Shows

According to William Strickler, president of the Red River Valley livestock association, the largest number of beef cattle, dairy cattle and sheep in the 62-year history of the Red River Valley Winter shows is entered in the livestock show this year. Strickler speculates that the split show is the reason for the large number of entries.

A special parade of champions is planned for 6:45 p.m. on Tuesday evening, February 22, in the livestock arena. At this time the purebred livestock breeders will show the visiting public the top livestock at the show.

The top winners at the crops show will also be identified that evening. The guest of honor, the Honorable Robert Bergland, Congressman from the Seventh District, will participate in the festivities and will address the audience.

The evening of the 22nd is a family-type program with not only the parade of champions to be featured, but also a donkey basketball game to close the evening's program.

Honor Programs Prepared At Winter Shows

Two citizens of the Red River valley basin will be added to the Hall of Fame for their singular contributions. They will be recognized at ceremonies in the winter shows arena on Thursday, February 24, at 10:45 a.m. This program recognizes those who have given long years of service to Red River Valley Winter shows.

On the other end of the age spectrum is the young man and his wife coming up the ladder of leadership in professional and community service. Here the winter shows elects a new King Agassiz each year.

The largest number of county candidates ever will be feted throughout the week and a new king will be named at 10:45 a.m. on Thursday, February 24. King Agassiz XI, Howard Legried of New York Mills, Minn., will preside. This program recognizes the younger citizens who are in the early stages of their professional, civic, and economic role.

The valley farmers and homemakers honors banquet gives honor to a farm couple from each county selected by a committee of peers for their long-time outstanding management of a farm business, for their conservation of the soil and water resources, for contributions to their church, and for their forward-looking concerned leadership.

State Income Tax Is Now Highest In U.S.

Minnesota's state income taxes on both individuals and corporations now are the highest in the nation, according to the third annual edition of "How Does Minnesota Compare?", a pocket-sized folder published by the Minnesota Taxpayers association and mailed to its members this week.

"As a result of rate increases enacted in 1971, a Minnesota family of four at the $10,000 gross income level, using the standard deduction, this year will pay a state individual income tax of $519.50," Carles P. Stone, executive director of the association, said. "The closest contender among individual income tax states is Wisconsin at $385.

"At the $15,000 level of income, the same size family will pay a Minnesota income tax of $868.63. The only close contenders here are Montana at $865 and Wisconsin at $818.

"The rate hike and elimination of federal income tax deductibility enacted in 1971 shot the Minnesota corporate income tax up to an effective marginal rate of 6.24 per cent—highest in the nation and exactly double the median of rates among the 43 states which impose such a tax. The only other state which comes close to Minnesota is Pennsylvania, with an effective marginal rate of 5.57 per cent.

"The end effect of these discouragingly high income tax rates on the general economy of the State remains to be seen," Stone said.

Cadet Beyer Is Honored

Cadet Gregory T. Beyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester T. Beyer of route 7, Red Lake Falls, has been named to the superintendent's list at the U.S. Air Force academy.

Cadet Beyer, a member of the class of '73 was selected for his outstanding achievement in both academics and military performance. He will be granted special privileges and wear a silver star and wreath designating the honor accorded him by the academy superintendent.

He has also been selected for the position of an element leader with the rank of cadet master sergeant.

The 1969 graduate of Lafayette high school will be commissioned a second lieutenant and awarded a B.S. degree upon his graduation from the academy.

Land O'Lakes Has Record Volume In 1971 Sales

Land O'Lakes, Inc., sales for 1971 set an all-time high of $721.6 million and generated net margins of nearly $14 million, according to D. H. Henry, general manager of the regional farm supply and food marketing cooperative headquartered in Minneapolis.

The announcement was made at the cooperative's 51st annual meeting in Minneapolis recently.

Land O'Lakes is owned by 350,000 farmers—either directly or through membership in 1,000 local cooperatives—in Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, North Dakota and South Dakota.

"Our sales record is a 10 per cent increase over 1970 and our net margins record is the second best in the cooperative's 50 years in business," Henry said.

The additional volume, according to Henry, was generated principally from internal growth as the year 1971 was devoted to assimilating and integrating the several 1970 acquisitions and mergers into Land O'Lakes.

"Another record in 1971 was in redemption of equities—a total of $9½-million cash for the various types of equities revolved," according to Henry. He went on to say, "With producer equities at close to $100 million, Land O'Lakes producer-owners are furnishing approximately 52 per cent of the capital required to operate their cooperative." It was also reported that total Land O'Lakes equity redemptions in the last 10 years approximate $57 million.

Land O'Lakes President Melvin Sprecher, Sauk City, Wisconsin, reminded the audience that increased personal involvement on the part of each member would be necessary if the cooperative was to continue to serve its members and customers effectively in the future.

He cited several reasons for the need of involvement, among which was the Land O'Lakes potential of marketing its members' farm-produced commodities as further processed, branded foods.

Within the area of new product development, Henry said, "We have made a very thorough study of the various markets for refined edible vegetable fats to determine if we should attempt to add value to the crude soybean oil we now producee and market. Our study uncovered many reasons why we should. Therefore, with full approval of the Land O'Lakes board of directors, we have decided to enter the field of marketing vegetable fat in the form of margarine in 1972. We are carrying out the purposes and objectives of Land O'Lakes to maximize returns to the producer-owners."

Seminar For Garden Clubs At Winter Show

Annual Winter Shows garden club seminar will convene Tuesday, Feb. 23, at 10 a.m. in Kiehle auditorium at the University of Minnesota technical college campus, Crookston.

An exceptionally fine program is planned, according to Bruce Beresford, in charge of program arrangements. Presiding at the seminar will be Mrs. Charles Rector of Ada, president of the Eleventh District horticultural society. Harold Thomforde from the Thomforde lawn and garden center will address the group on "1972 All-America Flowers and Vegetables and Other Advancements in Horticulture".

Marlin O. Johnson, area soils agent for northwestern Minnesota, will speak on "Fertilizer Tips for Home Gardeners". Lunch will be served in the University of Minnesota dining hall facilities.

After lunch Paul Bergeson from the Bergeson nursery in Fertile will address the group on "Landscape Materials and Practices". The afternoon session will wind up with slides of the garden club activities in the district and with a question and answer session.

Farmers Union Asks Redistrict By Legislature

All interested parties in the Minnesota controversy about legislative reapportionment should get busy on a fresh start on redistricting by a special session, an official of Minnesota Farmers Union said today.

Cy Carpenter, acting president of Farmers Union, declared that "a lot of time and grief will be saved if all involved will recognize that the court-ordered reduction of the size of the Minnesota legislature will eventually be found unconstitutional.

"There is every expectation that the appeal will be carried forward by the state senate, and perhaps others, and that it will be successful. This is a landmark decision involving the separation of powers between the legislative and judiciary branches. The U.S. Supreme Court cannot help but rule that the three-judge federal panel overstepped its authority."

There is no need to wait weeks or months for a Supreme Court ruling when the outcome is so obvious, Carpenter observed. "A more equitable and satisfactory job of redistricting can be done if the legislature gets at it now than if everyone waits for the roof to fall in," he said.

After the Supreme Court throws out the three judge panel's plan, the court will be left with authority only to reapportion the existing number of 202 House and Senate seats, Carpenter explained.

"Citizens of the state will have no input into the process if it is left to the court. We have no voice in the decision when the judges decide it by a stroke of the pen. But individuals can get involved in the legislative process by contacting their legislators or appearing at hearings—and in the end they can vote legislators out of office if a bad job is done.

"But, we don't get to vote on the judges and we cannot seem to get the rural voice heard at all," he charged, recalling that the Farmers Union was refused status as intervenors in the case even though rural Minnesota was completely unrepresented in the proceedings at that time.

"Our only interest in this controversy is that the matter be settled legally and properly and that the people have a vote," Carpenter explained. "If a court panel is allowed to prune the legislature in this high-handed and arbitrary way without being challenged, then it is obvious that at another time another court can cut the legislature to 10 or 15 members."

Friday To Be Dairy Day At Winter Shows

Friday is Dairy Day at the Red River Valley Winter shows. Activities will kick off with judging of the open class dairy by Haven Bartell of Kasson, the official dairy judge.

Minnesota State Dairy Princess, Mary Ann Glawe, Detroit Lakes, and Barbara Winters, Ogema, Northwest Dairy Princess, will both be on hand to grace festivities for the day.

The day will close with the honored dairymen's banquet at which the leading dairymen from 14 northwestern Minnesota counties will be feted at a banquet scheduled for 6:30 p.m. at the Upper Deck. Sheldon Erickson, a former King Agassiz of Badger, will be the master of ceremonies.

Conference For Road Engineers February 21-23

Panel discussion on "Social Factors Influencing Highways" will be a highlight of the three-day conference of Minnesota highway department engineers to be held in St. Paul on February 21-23. The panel will be comprised of David Cooperman and Tom Scott, both of the University of Minnesota, and Shirley Hunt.

"Psychological Impact of Change" will be presented by Dr. John Brantner, clinical psychologist at the University of Minnesota. Charles Carson of the Minnesota Pollution Control agency will talk on "Highways and Pollution Control". Commissioner Robert L. Herbst, department of natural resources, will discuss "Highways and Surface Waters".

The conference includes a dinner at the Hotel St. Paul at 6:30 p.m. on February 22 when achievement awards will be made to project engineers and contractors for best of category highway projects completed in 1971.

NUMEDAL . . .

Homemakers

The Numedal homemakers club is scheduled to meet Thursday afternoon, February 17th at 1:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Jens Bach. A lesson will be given and a pot luck lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Asp, Carol, Virginia, Marvin and Harvey were visitors Sunday at the Melvin Peterson home near Alvarado.

Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne Hamre, Tawnya, Kirk and Kirby were visitors at the Elton Underdahl home at Viking.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Marynik were Sunday afternoon visitors and supper guests at the Stanley Grembowski home near Oslo.

An important message for people who prepare their own income tax returns.
Maybe you've been cheating yourself all these years.

Every year, between January and April, millions of people sit down to do battle with Uncle Sam. Some are "self styled" accountants. Others think they can save a few dollars doing it themselves—so why not.

The sad truth is, however, no matter what their reason was for starting, many of them end the same. On the short end.

You see, when it comes to income taxes, amateurs should depend on H&R Block. We have all the facilities to help you make "income tax time" a pleasant experience. To begin with, H&R Block now has over 6,000 conveniently located offices manned by thousands of specially trained personnel who are anxious to help you. They'll sit you down over a free cup of coffee and show you some things about your income tax that you might never have known existed. For example, do you know all about deductions for child care or casualty losses? And maybe you aren't aware that if your income increased last year, you may be able to save tax dollars by "income averaging."

Well, when it comes to income taxes, H&R Block is aware of just about everything because we're a company that eats, sleeps, and drinks tax returns 365 days a year.

Yes, maybe you can save a couple of bucks by doing your own return but it really may be costing you a lot more by not having your return done by H&R Block.

DON'T LET AN AMATEUR DO H&R BLOCK'S JOB.
H&R Block.

Vocational Week

Indicative of the pride that vocational-technical school students have in the type of advance education they have selected is the full-page advertisement published in today's issue of the Times. The student senate of the vocational-technical school is sponsoring the ad in recognition of American Vocational Education Week.

There still persists among some people the opinion that vocational training is only for those who would have difficulty completing a four-year college curriculum. The importance of vocational occupations has been vastly undersold until recently, and while vocational students themselves have known better, they have been tagged with a label of second class students by much of the public.

"Well, society and educators alike have finally awakened to the fact that vocational training is a pretty good thing. Vocational graduates with a skill to sell have been getting jobs in our country today while four-year college grads with a head full of generalities and fistful of diploma have found themselves out of the job market. They have been woefully unprepared for the basic task of earning a living and shocked by the fact that industry doesn't immediately sweep them into highly paid executive positions.

Not all vocational graduates will find good jobs, of course, nor will all college graduates be amoung the unemployed. But the number of college graduates with two-year or four-year degrees entering vocational-technical schools to learn a skill should tell us something about the total situation.

"We are happy that our vocational-technical school here has stood the test of time and that vocational education is now being recognized in its rightful place. Now we must be careful that the pendulum is not allowed to swing too far, and that vocational education is stressed to the exclusion of all else.

If you want to see what your vocational school is doing in Thief River Falls, stop out at the school any time this week. The students, faculty and administration would be pleased to have you pay them a visit.

Gettysburg Address

It was over 100 years ago—on Nov. 19, 1863—that Abraham Lincoln delivered his now famous address at Gettysburg. In recognition of one of the nation's great Presidents, whose birthday was observed Saturday, and because the message has greater meaning each time we read it, we reprint it here:

Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent, a new nation, conceived in Liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battle-field of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field, as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

But, in a larger sense, we can not dedicate—we can not consecrate—we can not hallow—this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it, far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth.

Servants Or Masters

Following editorial is from the Granite Falls Tribune:

Apparently, the Minnesota Meat Locker operators are not the only people running into bureaucratic road blocks in trying to operate their facilities.

Several nursing homes and hospitals are withdrawing from the Extended Care Facility program of Medicare services.

One such withdrawing institution stated, "We consider the E.C.F. program a cruel, heartless hoax, perpetrated and prolonged by an overwhelming, overbearing bureaucracy to the detriment of a significant segment of Minnesota's population."

This a strong indictment, but in Congressman John Zwach's efforts to unsnarl the bureaucratic red tape for some of his constituents, he is inclined to think that it might be a fair assessment.

Too many of our federal and state office holders lose sight of the fact that they are, in every sense of the word, the servants and the employees of the people, not their masters. And, our people lose sight of the fact that when they ask for federal aid they are inviting federal supervision and dictation.

Worth Support

It seems that a bill introduced by Rep. Harold Runnels, New Mexico Democrat, is worthy of support. The bill would provide for a one to 10-year prison sentence for anyone convicted of using a firearm in committing a crime. Any later conviction on the same charge would mean a mandatory two to 25-year sentence—with no suspension or probation.

This makes infinitely more sense than the bill introduced by Sen. Philip Hart of Michigan which would confiscate guns from law-abiding citizens without providing any penalty to criminals for illegal actions.

Knowledge that use of firearms in committing crimes will result in far more severe penalties should be a deterrent to potential offenders, although there is some legitimate question if any more gun laws really are needed at all.

The following editorial from the National Rifleman magazine gives cause to a few more thoughts on penalties for crime:

Charles Fitzgerald, who killed a policeman in California during Prohibition and was sentenced to life, got out of Folsom State Prison recently after 40 years there. He is now 85. Chances that he will ever kill anybody else seem extremely slight.

Ernest E. Reed, Jr., 20, who shot down both a store manager and an off-duty policeman in a holdup attempt in Maryland, received a 30-year sentence for the double murder at about the time Fitzgerald was released. Reed will be eligible for parole in 7½ years under Maryland law. He will then be 27½. Is anybody, including the judge who sentenced him for the two murders, prepared to guarantee that he will never kill again?

Gov. Marvin Mandel of Maryland wants a stricter handgun law to curb crime. What Maryland and the rest of the U.S. really need, it would appear, is a system of justice that keeps killers in jail instead of turning them loose within a few years.

Of how much use is a stricter handgun law when the price of murdering two unoffending human beings is 7½ years?

To The Victors . . . .

The following editorial was supplied by the National Guard association of Minnesota:

Young Americans have fought long and hard for the abolishment of the draft and won, but now they are faced with a bigger problem—the defense of the United States.

Zero Draft is becoming a reality. Only 10,070 men received induction orders in the past six months, and Secretary Laird says there will probably be no more draft calls through March 1972. Our active forces are drastically reducing their strengths and heading for an all-volunteer force by 1973.

At the same time, our defense posture calls for more reliance on the National Guard and Reserve in a Total Force concept. According to defense experts, a major role by the Guard and Reserve is the only way we can maintain our national defense forces at a level adequate for the nation's security and at a cost we are willing to pay.

History teaches us that no one can guarantee us the privilege to enjoy freedom. It is ours to retain through our own hard work and sacrifice, just as it was gained by other Americans through their hard work and sacrifice. It takes leadership and men.

The question now, is whether the young men who worked so hard to abolish the draft, and who are still calling for peace and freedom, are willing to volunteer to serve in the Active, National Guard and other Reserves, to make the concept work.

To the victors go the responsibility.

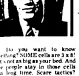
notes from the governor



For many of our state's smaller communities, railroads provide the only available mode of rural bulk freight service.

Yet since 1920, the Interstate Commerce Commission has approved petitions for the abandonment of more than 60,000 miles of railway. From Minnesota alone, 10 petitions are currently pending before the ICC for track abandonments.

There is no question that the economic health of many rural towns and villages, and of industries located in rural areas, is directly linked on the availability of rural rail service.

It is for that reason that I strongly endorse the efforts of 90 Minnesota agricultural, business and government leaders who visited Washington, D. C., last week to urge an end to the progressive abandonment of rural rail lines.

That task force, organized primarily by the newly formed Minnesota Agri-Growth Council, made presentations to the Minnesota congressional delegation, to ICC Commissioner Kenneth Taggle, and to officials of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

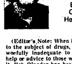
Their visit coincided with the introduction of a concurrent resolution by Sens. Hubert Humphrey and Walter Mondale, which urged President Nixon to declare a national moratorium on rural railway abandonments until all alternatives have been thoroughly explored.

Sen. Humphrey stated the case for such a moratorium as follows:

"If we are serious in our commitment to pursuing a more balanced national growth strategy in this country and in revitalizing our nation's rural areas and smaller communities. . .then we must take a closer look at the importance of continued rail transportation to their future growth and development."

Sen Mondale asked why this nation spends billions for a space shuttle "when there are 20 mile-an-hour trains serving some of our most productive farm country?"

That question deserves a far better answer than the people of our rural areas have received to date.



Give and take: drug rap

By Bob Olander
He's been there.

(Editor's Note: When it comes to the subject of drugs, we feel woefully inadequate to provide help or advice to those who need it. Bob Olander has been in the drug scene for some time and desperately wants out. Some will remember that he spoke in Thief River Falls a year or so ago, meeting face to face with students and adults. His column will be appearing periodically in the Times, and we will forward (unopened) any correspondence addressed to him through our office.)

I am Bob Olander, 24 years old and a former addict. For eight and a half years I was strung out on drugs. I was arrested about 15 times, spent time in eight jails, and was convicted as a felon in 1969. I'm on the methadone program, have been for two years. I'm a senior at the University of Minnesota. I've been doing my best to tell people as accurately as I can some facts about drugs.

I like to answer questions, particularly from young people. If you want to rap, drop a line to this newspaper and they'll send it to me. I'll answer.

Here are a few standard questions I've heard many times:

Why shouldn't I take drugs?

I found out why not by living in jails, losing friends, and having eight and a half years taken straight out of my life—absolutely missing. I lived in the shadow of death. Sounds phony? Of course, I hit absolute bottom. But some of my friends are now dead. Others are still strung out on dope and probably always will be.

What happened to me can happen to you, and it can all happen by easy, comfortable stages. Along the way I became a taker, I took money, love, friendship, everything, to support my habit. Finally, it destroyed my self-respect. I couldn't look at myself, look at other people.

But I just want to smoke a Little grass, take a few pills.....

Sure. Aside from breaking laws and getting yourself busted, maybe you never WILL get strung out as I did. But there is a chance you will. I started on cough syrup, ended up on heroin. When I was a freshman at St. Louis Park High School, I was a three-sport athlete. Before I knew it, I was walking streets, shooting dope every two hours, and spending my life in a 4 x 10 cell. Do you want to know something? SOME cells are 3 x 8! That's not as big as your bed. And some people stay in those cells for a long time. Scare tactics? Sure but it's a frightening fact.

What drug is the most damaging?

Well, I have to say that taken by its total effect on our society, I think that alcohol does far more damage than any other drug. It's what got me started. Stite malt liquor, then cough syrup (grain alcohol in it) with codeine. Latest figures from the National Institute of Mental Health show one out of 12 adults is an alcoholic.

Respect your body. Don't take chemicals into it which will foul up your internal ecology.

I would like to hear from you. Just write me in care of this newspaper and the letter will be forwarded.

Questions and Answers

Internal Revenue Service

Q—My lease will not expire until June 1. Can my landlord increase my rent before that date?

A—No. Rentals under lease cannot be increased until the lease expires or comes up for renewal.

Q—When I renewed my six-month lease last November, my landlord increased my rent because of the ten per cent rule in effect before December 29. Does my landlord have to roll back the increase?

A—No. Where because of the old rent rules in effect before Dec. 29, a landlord raised rent on a lease longer than a month, he does not have to roll back the increase.

Q—Where can I get forms to report wage and salary increases to the pay board?

A—Forms PB-1 and PB-2 may be picked up at the local service and compliance centers of the Internal Revenue service. Instructions for filling out these forms are contained within the forms.

Q—How does a consumer use a retailer's base price to determine if there has been a price violation?

A—You should compare the current price of an item with the base price, i.e., the amount charged during the freeze period. If there has been an increase, you may want to ask the manager to explain to you why the price of the product has increased. You may be satisfied from his explanation that the increase is permissible, because increases are permitted to reflect manufacturer's and other costs. However, if you are not satisfied with his explanation, call your local Internal Revenue service office.

Q—Can a retailer post his base prices in book form?

A—Yes, as long as the book is prominently displayed.

Q—What constitutes a "department" as far as retail posing regulations are concerned?

A—A department is the organizational unit customarily treated by the seller as a department.

4-H CLUBS

Black River

January meeting was held January 20 in the Black River church. Twenty-four members responded to roll call. Thirty-five people were present. Secretary and treasurer's reports were given and approved. Old business was the radio program and play.

New business was 4-H family newsletter. Members were told to read it all carefully. A motion was made to have a skating party. The party was held January 23 at 7:00 in the Thief River Falls arena.

The Robert Sorvig family was in charge of the program and the Lloyd Noreen family in charge of recreation. Lunch was served by the Arlo Scholin family and the Ronald Tollefson family. Pam Steiger, reporter

The American Conscience

by Dr. RUDY SKOGERBOE

As President Nixon prepares to go to China to meet with the two dictators, Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-Lai, I think it worth while to evaluate the trip in the simple terms we can understand.

The gesture of friendship made by President Nixon was not an easy one. It has made many of our Asian Allies very uneasy. Taiwan or Formosa, Japan, South Korea, South Viet Nam, the Phillipines to name a few are really uncertain about what is to happen. They wonder whether the United States will make deals with the Communists in China that will hurt them. Mr. Nixon knew this and felt the risk was worth the good that might come out of such a visit. How did the newly admitted Red Chinese delegation respond in the United Nations?

Mr. Chiao, the Red China Representative, in a formal policy speech to the UN was openly hostile to the United States. It was as if no overtures of peace or understanding had been made at all. He stated the United States was their enemy and stood in the way of their "People's liberation of the world." William Randolph Hearst, Jr., a noted journalist, stated that we minimize the world ambitions of the Chinese Communists at grave risk to our own national interests.

Mr. Nixon knows all these things, but I feel it important for us to know that we already have made great concessions to China. It is now up to his great country that once was our friend to show it is honest and honorable in its intentions. We have no reason however, to suspect this will be so. With this in mind, I would like to suggest something worthwhile that could be derived from this visit.

In China today there are thousands of Christians in prison only because of their faith. Mr. Nixon has been asked to talk about them. We know he will bring up the matter of American prisoners. They might be released. If anything happens to relieve their suffering and to liberate our prisoners of war in South East Asia, the whole venture will have accomplished much.

Although we cannot help but be very skeptical about such a visit, it does open lines of communications. Mr. Nixon is intelligent, clear minded and used to tough negotiations. It is my hope and prayer he will be successful. This mission is a most difficult one. Many important matters hang in the balance. A united country behind our President regardless of party is a reality. The leaders of both parties are united in this venture. We can be too, provided we know the enemy, the dangers, and the reason for going. When the results might seem few, we can remember we didn't expect much. It is a start and our prayers are with our President.

"Coldest Day" Breakfast

Brrrr! On winter's coldest mornings, send family members off to school, work or play with a hot 'n hearty breakfast. These Pineapple Pancake Stacks fit that description perfectly.

Convenient pancake mix made with enriched flour short cuts preparation. Then crisp bacon is sandwiched between the golden hotcakes, and the stacks are topped with grilled pineapple slices and maple-blended syrup. Complete this nourishing breakfast menu with chilled grapefruit juice and hot cocoa or coffee.

PINEAPPLE PANCAKE STACKS

Makes 4 servings

8 slices bacon	1 cup milk
4 slices pineapple	1 egg
1 cup pancake mix	1 tablespoon melted or liquid shortening

Fry bacon over medium heat until crisp. Drain on absorbent paper. Grill pineapple until heated through. Keep warm until ready to serve.

Meanwhile, place mix, milk, egg and shortening in bowl. Stir lightly until batter is fairly smooth. For each pancake, pour about ¼ cup batter onto hot, lightly greased griddle to make 8 pancakes. Turn pancakes when tops are covered with bubbles and edges look cooked. Turn only once.

For each serving, place 2 bacon slices between 2 pancakes, sandwich-style and top with grilled pineapple slice. Serve with maple-blended syrup.

Crookston Pirates Retain District Wrestling Title

Kurt Muzzy
98

155

180

Crookston and Thief River Falls, separated by just four points, each advanced nine men into the championship matches Saturday night, but the Pirates caputred five individual titles, compared to the Prowlers' three champions, as the Pirates successfully defended their district 31 wrestling title in the Warren high school auditorium.

The Pirates led the Prowlers 84½ to 80½ after the first round, and maintained an 89½ to 85½ advantage going into the championship round, with Crookston and Thief River Falls opponents facing each other in six title matches. The Pirates won four of the confrontations to finish the day's activities with 104½ points while the Prowlers were second with 95½, followed by East Grand Forks with 77½ and Warren with 43½.

Individual championships claimed by the Prowlers included Kurt Muzzy (98), Mark Kaushagen (155) and Steve Thorstad (180). The trio will advance with the rest of the district champions to Friday's region eight tournament at Bemidji state college.

Othe individual winners from Saturday's matches were Paul Garcia (105), Warren Mitchell (112) and Mitch Wavra (132) from East Grand Forks; Bruce Hanson (119), Murry Tiedeman (126), Randy Conuette (138), Paul Whitney (145) and Darrell Bye (167) from Crookston; and heavyweight Rick Roley of Warren.

Crookston's four point lead going into the chamipnship round was quickly shaved to just a single point, 89½ to 88½, as Kurt Muzzy broke open a 2-2 match with five points in the third period for a 7-2 triumph over the Pirates' Jim Broekemeier at 98 pounds.

Things looked even brighter for Prowler wrestling fans when Paul Garcia of East Grand Forks knocked off another potential Crookston champion with a resounding 18-8 win over Gae Tiedeman at 105.

With the Prowlers in a possible position to take over the lead, East Grand Forks' Loren Mitchell surprised Ron Kalinoski 10-2 in the 112 pound class.

Crookston went in front 93½ to 88½ when defending district champion Bruce Hanson pinned Prowler freshman Daryl Myers with just six seconds remaining in the first round of their 119 pound title match.

The Pirates pulled away even further at 126 when Murray Tiedeman, another defending champion, pinned Tim Surprenant of East Grand Forks.

Another Prowler hopefull tasted defeat at 132 when Dave Furuseth suffered a third period pin at the hands of "East Side's" Mitch Wavra.

The Pirates pulled out to a 101½ to 88½ bulge at 138 where the Pirates' Randy Coauette pinned the Prowlers' Tim Wold in the first round.

Prowler 145 pounder Perry Omdahl battled Crookston's Paul Whitney to a scoreless draw throughout three regulation periods and two overtime stanzas before Whitney pulled out a 4-3 decision, putting the Pirates on top by 17 points.

Junior Mark Kaushagen gained the second Prowler individual title at 155 when he clobbered Crookston's Rod Hanson 13-4. But the Pirates came right back as Darrell Bye beat the Prowlers' Steve Sorvig 10-2 in the 167 pound championship match.

Steve Thorstad blanked Bill Kirkeby of East Grand Forks 17-0 in the 180 pound match, giving the Prowlers their third individual crown, but not enough points to catch the Crookston squad.

Warren's Rick Rolley defended his heavyweight crown with a 7-5 triumph over Crookston's John Cournia in the night's finale.

The Prowlers also captured two third place finishes with Joe Kezar pinning Warren's Rick Erickson in the 126 pound consolation round, and Larry Panek blanked Fredie Hiracheta 8-0 in the heavyweight wrestlebacks.

The Prowlers' 105 pound entry, Lonnie Olson, did not compete in the meet because of illness.

Bouts featuring Thief River Falls fighters will include Waale vs. Scott Larson, Roseau (120); Mostrom vs. Sorenson (128); Anderson vs. Jim Mekesh, Roseau (146); Breiland vs. Wayne Piefer, Roseau (84); Comstock vs. Pete DeChaine, Brainerd (134); Stevens vs. Jim Bourassa, Brainerd (143); Henry vs. Mark Herron, Brainerd (165); and Folkedahl vs. Svir. An opponent for Langlie has not yet been named.

Advance reserved seat tickets are on sale at the TRF Eagles Club and Wilson's Sports Centre. Reserved ringside seats will be $2, general admission $1.50 and students $1. Tickets will also be available at the door, starting at 7 o'clock.

NORTHLAND GUARD Jay Forney gets off an uncontested jump shot while a Crookston defender watches, during Wednesday's junior college game in the Northland gym. The Trojans broke open a close game in the second half to post an 88-80 Northwest Division victory over the Northmen. Next action for Northland will be tomorrow night (Tuesday) when the Northmen host the Thief River Falls vocational school team in the Northland gym, beginning at 7:30.

Prowler Hoopsters End Bemidji Domination 57-51

Thief River Falls won its first basketball game at Bemidji in twenty years Friday night as the Prowlers defeated the Lumberjacks 57-51, snapping a 26 game Bemidji win streak over the Prowlers.

The last time a Thief River Falls quint had won a game on Bemidji hardwood was during the 1951-52 season, while the Lumberjacks hadn't lost a game to the Prowlers since a 48-46 loss at Thief River Falls during the 1960-61 campaign.

While the win ended 11 years of frustration, it also elevated the Prowlers to an impressive 14-4 record for the year. One of those four losses came at the hands of the Lumberjacks. The Prowlers have just two regular season games remaining, at East Grand Forks Friday night and at home against Warren February 24. District 31 action will take place at UND March 6, 7 and 8.

The Prowlers tenacious man to man defense limited the Lumberjacks to just 16 points in the first half as the Prowlers rolled to leads of 17-7 and 30-16 at the first two stops. The Lumberjacks connected on just 22 per cent of their shots from the field during the first half, hitting just seven field goals.

Bemidji displayed a much-improved offense in the third quarter as the Lumberjacks scored 18 points to climb to within 43-34 going into the final stanza. Bemidji managed to trim the margin to 43-39 at the outset of the fourth quarter, but the confident Prowlers settled down and moved out to a comfortable lead once again before settling for the six-point win.

Although the Prowlers attempted just 36 field goals in the game, they connected on 20 of them for a 55 per cent mark. The Lumberjacks struggled through a bleak 19 for 60 performance for a 31 per cent production. From the free throw line the Prowlers weren't quite as effective as they hit of just 17 of 31 attempts. Bemidji fared better at the gift line with a 13 for 20 performance. Thief River Falls held a 37-23 rebound advantage.

Three Prowlers reached double figures with junior guard Kent Smith netting 18, Jeff Rhoden 12 and Rande Smith finished with 11. Rhoden also led the Prowlers with 12 rebounds. Rande pulled down 10 caroms and Tom Kays picked off 9. Steve Boe led the Lumberjacks with 20 points while Scott Frebrog scored 13.

"We're naturally pleased to win," said Prowler head coach Lee Swanson, "but we felt we're capable of playing better than we did, and we'll be pushing harder for better things in the future. The real key to the game was our rebounding advantage. Smith, Rhoden and Kays all did tremendous jobs pulling down rebounds for us. I think the score was indicative of two teams playing real agressive defense. I was real happy with the defensive play of Kays against Brad Vaugh, Kent Smith on Bruce Daniels and Rande against Steve Vogel. All of those boys were capable of hurting us, but none of them scored over eight points."

Icemen Freeze Baudette 8-2

Lincoln high school extended its winning streak to eleven straight games while increasing its season record to 14-4 Friday night with an 8-2 region eight hockey triumph over the Lake of the Woods Bears.

The Prowlers started the game slowly on Baudette home ice as the Bears managed to gain a 2-2 draw at the first stop. Thief River Falls led just 3-2 after two periods before the Prowlers erupted for five third period goals, clinching first place in the north half of region eight hockey.

Jon Jensen sparked the Prowlers with a three-goal hat trick, while Tom Goddard scored twice. Tom Wurst, Jeff Bottem and John Wangberg added single goals.

Jensen opened the game's scoring, on an assist from Mike Hamilton, with 1:25 gone in the first period. Baudette wasted little time getting the equalizer however, as Rex Block scored an unasisisted goal just 42 seconds after the Prowlers' first score.

Thief River Falls went in front 2-1 on Jensen's second goal with 7:34 remaining. Tom Wurst earned an assist on the play. Baudette answered the challenge once again, as Mark Frieson scored an unassisted goal with 6:45 left to tie the game at 2-2.

Junior wing Tom Goddard gave the Prowlers a 3-2 lead with an unassisted goal in the second period before the Prowlers finally got untracked offensively in the third stanza.

Wurst upped the Prowler lead to 4-2 with 13:47 remaining as he started off a steady stream of Prowler goals. Bottem made it 5-2 with 12:30 left and Goddard scored his second goal of the night, on an assist from Bottem, with 11:39 remaining. Jensen collected his hat trick with 9:24 remaining while Wangberg finished the game's scoring, on an assist from Bottem, with 2:45 left.

Prowler goalie Pete Sullivan was credited with 22 saves in the game, while Bear netminder Greg Daly kicked out 34 Prowler shots on goal.

State Capitol Phone Prefix

Richard L. Brubacher, Minnesota commissioner of administration, announced today the first three digits of the Minnesota state capitol telephone numbers will be changed this weekend when new electronic switching equipment is placed in service. The new prefix 296 replaces the present 221. The last four digits of state telephone numbers do not change, nor do state numbers having prefixes other than 221.

Brubacher said older dial equipment, now occupying space in the Capitol, will be removed and the area will be renovated.

Second Half Surge Lifts Tech Over NSJC 88-80

All-State forward Pablo Ronderos sparked Crookston's offense with nine straight points in a 2:11 span of the second half Wednesday night to propel UMTC to an 88-80 Minnesota junior college basketball victory over Northland before a near-capacity crowd in the NSJC gym.

The exceedingly close game between the two rival schools found the teams exchanging leads continuously through the first and most of the second half, before Ronderos provided a one-man assault force to revive the Crookston attack.

Tony Burke's lone free throw gave the Northmen a 66-65 lead with 8:20 remaining in the game before freshman center Tony Peeters' short jump shot put the Trojans on top 67-66 with 8:08 left. Ronderos, a native of Bogata, Columbia, S.A., then took over as he found openings under the Northland zone defense for easy lay-ups to give Crookston a 76-67 bulge with 5:29 remaining. The only points Northland was able to muster during Ronderos' outburst was a single free throw by freshman forward Dale Hanson.

Crookston moved out to a pair of 12-point leads, the last being 84-72 with 1:41 left. But a Northland press defense limited Crookston to just four free throws the rest of the way while the Northemn climbed back to within contention, 86-80, with 21 seconds remaining. Northland regained possession of the ball immediately, but in the hectic final moments couldn't convert on several close range shots. Sophomore guard Kevin Kopischke sank two free throws with time expired for the final 88-80 count.

The two teams were never more than five points apart in the fast moving first half as the lead changed hands 12 times.

Crookston moved out to a 6-2 advantage with 17:10 remaining before Dale and Kent Hanson found open spots in the Trojan zone defense for four straight field goals and a free throw for an 11-6 Northland lead with 15:46 left in the first twenty-minute half.

Northland maintained a narrow lead until Terry Swanson's baseline jumper put Crookston on top 16-15 with 13:17 remaining. The two rivals then handled the lead like a hot potatoe in the emotion-filled half.

During the last two minutes of the first half neither team had more than a one point lead, with Burke's turnaround jumper giving the Northmen a 44-43 halftime advantage.

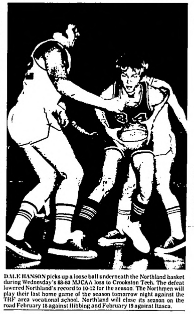
Northland managed a pair of four point leads in the early portion of the second half before offensive turnovers and defensive mistakes gave the Trojans a 54-52 lead with 15:08 remaining.

Again the rivals volleyed for the advantage until Ronderos gave the large Crookston following something to cheer about.

The loss was Northland's twelveth against ten wins while Crookston upped its season log to 11-10.

Ronderos ended the contest as the game's high scorer with 30 points while teammates Peeters had 18, Kopischke 11 and Swanson scored 10. Burke and Dale Hanson tallied 20 for the Northmen while Kent Hanson collected 19 and Jay Forney finished with 13.

Crookston shot an accurate 65 per cent from the field over the Northland zone (36 of 65) while the Northmen registered a 40 per cent mark (32 of 80). From the free throw line the Northmen connected on 16 of 22 while Crookston cashed in on 16 of 25 gift tosses. Northland held a 44-38 rebound advantage with Burke pulling down 14.



DALE HANSON picks up a loose ball underneath the Northland basket during Wednesday's 88-80 MJCAA loss to Crookston Tech. The defeat lowered Northland's record to 10-12 for the season. The Northmen will play their last home game of the season tomorrow night against the TRF area vocational school. Northland will close its season on the road February 18 against Hibbing and February 19 against Itasca.

Fabulous Magicians Play In TRF Tonight

Marques Haynes, "Sugarfoot" Johnson, Art Steele, "El Toro" Johnson and Ken Scott will lead the Fabulous Magicians tonight (Monday) when the comical basketball teams appears in the Lincoln high school gym. Game time will be 7:30.

Competent observers believe the Haynes-owned Magicians can probably move the ball into scoring position with more skill and deft maneuvering than any team in the basketball world.

For the fan who likes scoring, the Magicians can stuff the ball through the nets more ways than a farmer can go to a fair. In such nationally famous shooter as Johnson, Haynes and Steele, the Magicians offer a flock of trick shots ranging from bouncing the leather in, or dunking it from above the laces.

Their behind the back passes, meshed with uncanny dribbling and decoying feed, make the Magicians' fast break a thing of beauty and entertainment. Throughout their classy exhibitions of scoring and rebounding, the Magicians keep an audience entertained with a brand of court comedy unsurpassed in the sports world.

The Magicians have played before audiences in all 50 states and on three continents. The Magicians are working on a record of over 5,000 wins against only 9 losses, including a consecutive winning streak of 857 games in their 19th season of international travels.

Tickets for the game will be available at the door with adults priced at $1.75, junior and senior high students $1.25 and children under 12, 75 cents.

Maintenance On State Highways Cost Less In '71

Minnesota motorists last year experienced a "savings" of $800,000 in maintenance on the state's 12,200-mile trunk highway system (including interstate freeways).

The lesser cost in state highway housekeeping operations is seen in the activity report of James A. Murchie, assistant state highway commissioner, maintenance division. Field maintenance operations cost $30.9 million for fiscal year 1971. This compares with $31.7 million for the comparable preceding period.

Snow and ice control, including application of sand and de-icing chemicals and handling of snow fences cost $9.2 million, the largest single expenditure in the maintenance work program. This figures out to be about $2.37 per capita of the state in the 1970-71 winter.

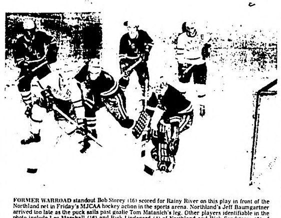
Next to snow handling activities in cost was routine surface maintenance at $6.7 million for fiscal 1970-71. Traffic services involving pavement striping, upkeep of detours, maintenance of signs, markers, lighting and traffic signals, represented an expenditure of $5.7 million.

In the category of "roadside and drainage maintenance" at $6.3 million, were such operations as fence repairs, plantings and sodding for erosion control, litter pickup and maintenance of rest areas.

Special maintenance projects cost $1.7 million. Included in this category were restoration of road surfaces and shoulders, mudjacking of pavement sections, extensive joint and crack filling projects, roadway sealcoating, and repair or replacement of drainage structures.

Bridge repairs were represented by $1 million in expenditures. About $300,000 were costs related to safety operations and load restrictions during the spring breakup.

The state's share of this fund is 62 per cent, with the counties receiving 29 per cent and municipalities of 5,000 population and over getting nine per cent. Currently, Murchie explained, about one-third of the state road user taxes available to the state highway department is required to finance maintenance operations.



FORMER WARROAD standout Bob Storey (16) scored for Rainy River on this play in front of the Northland net in Friday's MJCAA hockey action in the sports arena. Northland's Jeff Baumgartner arrived too late as the puck sails past goalie Tom Matanich's leg. Other players identifiable in the photo include Leo Marshall (16) and Rick Lindegard (4) of Northland and Rick Sandstrom (6) of Rainy River. Next action for the Northmen will be Saturday and Sunday when they will host Lakewood in the TRF arena.

RAINY RIVER forward Rick Sandstrom fired the puck past Northland goalie Tom Matanich on this breakaway during Friday's junior college hockey game in the Thief River Falls arena. The defending state champion Voyageurs swept the weekend conference series by almost indentical scores of 9-4 and 8-5, dropping the Northmen to 10-10 for the year.

Rainy River Voyageurs Sweep Northland Six

Rainy River solidified its hold on second place in the MJCAA hockey standings over the weekend as the Voyageurs swept a two game series against Northland in the Thief River Falls sports arena.

The defending state champs beat the Northmen 9-4 Friday night and came close to matching that score Saturday with a 8-5 triumph. The two losses dropped Northland's record to 10-10 for the season with just two regular scheduled games remaining. Northland will host Lakewood junior college of White Bear Lake in the sports arena Saturday and Sunday, before entering the state junior college tournament March 4 and 5 at Grand Rapids.

Rainy River grabbed a 2-0 lead in Friday's contest on Mike Dalton and Dennis Anderson goals before Northland rallied behind scores by Jeff Baumgartner and Rodney Bolduc, tieing the game 2-2 at the first stop.

Baumgartner surprised Rainy River goalie Bob Moore with Northland's first goal as the sophomore defenseman somehow managed to slip the puck between Moore and the goal pipe while straddling the goal line. Bolduc earned an assist on the play with 5:46 remaining in the first period. Bolduc tipped in a loose puck with one minute left to play, on assists from Rich Ellerbusch and Leo Marshall, for a 2-2 deadlock.

Rick Sandstrom and Bob Storey scored within two minutes of each other in the second period, giving Rainy River a 4-2 advantage, but Marshall's close range blast beat Moore with 5:51 remaining for a 4-3 contest. Baumgartner was credited with an assist on the play.

The Voyageurs grabbed a 5-3 lead on Sandstrom's goal with 1:53 remaining in the second period, but Northland's Mark Hughes lifted the puck over the fallen Moore with 14:33 remaining in the game, pulling the Northmen to within 5-4.

Shaky defensive play and off-target passes, frustrating the Northmen in the first two periods, finally began to show up on the scoreboard in the final stanza as Rainy River scored four straight goals for the conference triumph.

Freshman Tom Matanich kicked out 42 shots in the Northland nets while Moore stopped 32 drives for the Voyageurs.

Northland found itself behind 4-0 at the end of the first period in Saturday's game and the Northmen trailed 5-0 before they got on the board with Ellerbusch scoring an unassisted goal with 10:21 remaining in the second period.

Rainy River increased its lead to 7-1 after two periods before Northland scored four third period goals for an 8-5 final.

Thir d period scores by Northland came from Hughes, Marshall, Ellerbusch and Bob Lundbohm. Rick Sandstrom collected the three goal hat trick for the Voyageurs.

Northland freshman goalie Dave Steen was forced to make 57 saves for the Northmen, including 24 in the first period while Moore turned aside 35 Northland drives for Rainy River.

List Hints For Surviving In Winter Storms

Despite improved communications, automobiles, and highway maintenance, there is still the danger of motorists getting caught in a severe winter storm, Minnesota Department of Public Safety Commissioner W. R. Hoaglund warned today.

There are always periods during a Minnesota winter when snow and high winds restrict the use of plows, and motorists stalled between towns could well be marooned from six to eight hours in sub-zero temperatures.

It is wise planning on the part of all car owners, whether any trips are planned or not, to make up a winter-storm kit to be carried in the car at all times during the winter season.

According to the Colorado state patrol chief, who has many years of experience in rescuing snowbound motorists, here is a list of necessary items to include in your kit:

Two or more blankets or sleeping bags; empty, three-pound coffee can with plastic cover for sanitary purposes; matches and candles, flashlight or signal light; extra clothing such as caps, mittens, boots; car or transistor radio in good working condition; pocket knife and first aid kit; container of sand and shovel; plastic window scraper and snow brush; tow rope or chain and booster cables; compact alcohol stove or other type of portable heater.

If you should be trapped and have your winter-storm kit handy, here are some pointers to follow until help arrives:

Stay in the car—don't get lost wandering around.

Keep a window open slightly for fresh air—beware of carbon monoxide.

Move arms and legs vigorously to keep warm—be sure that at least one person is awake at all times.

Turn on dome light at night to make car visible to work crews.

NSJC-AVS Hoopsters Meet Tuesday Night

Tony Burke

Northland state junior college basketball team will close out its 1971-72 home season tomorrow night (Tuesday) when the Northmen host the Thief River Falls area vocational - technical school Aquarians in the Northland gym, beginning at 7:30.

The Northmen carry a 10-12 season record, including a 132-49 triumph over the Aquarians at the start of the campaign. Tech is 4-5 for the year, playing in the Minnesota vocational school league.

Northland's attack is based around All-State candidate Tony Burke, a 6-6 sophomore center from Bemidji. Burke holds school records for both scoring and rebounding for a single season with 464 points and 353 rebounds this year. Burke averages 21.1 points per game. Also averaging in double figures for the Northmen are Dale Hanson with a 14.7 figure, Willie Bayne 10.9 and Mike Rasch 10.5.

Northland coach Chet Engelman will probably start Burke at center, Dale and Kent Hanson at forwards, and Bayne, along with Jay Forney at guards.

The Aquarians feature a balanced attack with four players averaging in double figures. Randy Nordine carries a 16.6 average while Milo Reck boasts a 12.6 mark, Harlen Gronseth 10.6 and Dan Swenson 10.0. Paul Jacobs is the Aquarians' head coach.

The game will be the Aquarians' last contest of the season while the Northmen travel to Hibbing Friday and Grand Rapids Saturday to wind up the season.

Air Guard Now Open To Women

For the first time in the history of the Minnesota National Guard, women are now eligible for enlistment in the state's Air National Guard. The new policy which became effective on February 1 allows young women between the ages of 18 to 27, to enlist in the WAF (Women in the Air Force) with assignment to Air National Guard bases in Minneapolis-St. Paul or Duluth international airports. They will participate in one weekend of training each month and will also attend an annual 15-day field training period.

UND has won 12 NCC football championships since 1922.

Metropolitan Stadium, the home of the Vikings and Twins is located in Bloomington.

Metropolitan Stadium seats 47,900 fans for football and 45,800 for baseball.

National Water Well Association Certifies Drillers

Now in its third year, the program developed by the National Water Well Association (NWWA) to certify the technical competence of water well drilling contractors across the nation has proven to be a success. Over 500 contractors throughout the country have now been certified under the program.

NWWA's certification program offers one more helpful device to citizens concerned over our increasingly polluted environment. Those about to have a well drilled can insure a job performed capably and minimize potential water pollution problems by contracting with a driller who shows the NWWA certification emblem.

The prevention of ground water pollution is among the major concerns of NWWA. Careless well drilling practices have been identified as a significant cause of ground water pollution.

Water well drilling contractors who apply for certification tests and successfully complete them not only indicate their desire to be recognized as competent workmen but to be known as concerned citizens as well. Examinations are given annually in 12 specific categories of well drilling and pump installations, varying by the type of equipment used and the existing below-ground geological formations.

A far cry from hand-digging of wells of yesteryear, well drilling has become a sophisticated profession requiring many thousands of dollars investment in high-powered drilling rigs, many comparable to those used in oil well drilling. In addition, well drillers must have a working knowledge of geology, hydrology and business to remain successful in their profession.

NWWA serves the water well drilling industry with four membership divisions which unite contractors, manufacturers, wholesalers and technical personnel.

Says Gap Exists Between Science And Citizens

"Tremendous gap between science and the citizen in combatting pollution problems is actually thwarting a sound and total protection of the environment all Americans want," a Minnesota department of agriculture official, has charged.

Dr. Rollin M. Dennistoun, administrator of the Minnesota agency's plant and environmental programs, made the charge in an address at the annual convention of the Weed Science Society of America, being held in St. Louis, Mo.

"Scientific knowledge concerning environmental problems and possible solutions is very substantial. But the understanding of these by many citizens and public and private officials is very limited," Dennistoun stated.

He said the "common misconception that agriculture is one of the major polluters of our environment because of its use of pesticides, fertilizers and the three most basic resources—soil, water and air—is one tragic example of the gap in understanding between scientific fact and emotional diagnosis."

Agriculture has long been and is a leader in the development and implementation of programs to protect the environment, while being dedicated to the production of safe, wholesome and reasonably priced food, Dennistoun declared.

He illustrated his address and pointed up the understanding gap with film slides of current ecological problems and some solutions, on state, municipal, industrial, residential and agricultural properties in Minnesota and neighboring Midwest states.

Dr. Dennistoun said the film slides graphically refute the uniformed determination by many officials and citizens that characterize pollution and environmental quality issues as "good versus bad," as "development is bad and no development is good". . .or in short, that pollution and the environment are painted as "black and white".

No segment of the society has a monopoly on pollution or cures, therefore, he insisted.

"Ecological problems arise from man's quest for comfort and that quest is rooted in the history, philosophy, religion and behavior of man—in short, in his culture. Without an environment compatible to the continuing development of man's culture, including a sound and dedicated agricultural community, society will be faced with problems of health pollution, ecological change, social disintegration and, ultimately, economic collapse, because, without an adequate food supply the human mind loses all sense of values and reverts to an unmanageable person," Dennistoun warned.

He urged the scientific community to more strongly involve itself in communicating its factual findings to regulatory officials and to the public, aso that decisions on pollution problems and control can be made swiftly for the common good and without further waste of time and resources.

HE HAS 'TRUE GRIT' — Roger Janssen of Crookston, Minn., completed the four-day Saint Paul Winter Carnival International 500 Snowmobile race against heavy odds Jan. 28 to win the Hamm's "True Grit Award." Janssen, 32-year-old father of two who lives on a farm near Crookston, was ninth among 45 of the 301 starting drivers who finished the race. The race was won by Yvon Duhamel of Ville LaSalle, Quebec. Janssen displayed the qualities of "courage, tenacity and persistence against heavy odds," criteria for the award, made annually by Theodore Hamm Company, St. Paul-based brewer. Janssen completed the race on his Chaparral machine despite an unrelenting series of physical and mechanical problems. He: crashed into culverts twice; dug snow out of two frozen carburetors; rode into Walker on front ski tips and rear springs after rear ski sections broke off; continued the race from Walker after a doctor advised him to quit because of injuries sufferend in one of the culvert accidents; lost more valuable time when he stopped to assist an unidentified racer who had crashed into a bridge near the Ramsey County line. Janssen, a Chaparral engineering consultant in Crookston, crossed the finish line exhausted, frostbitten, sore, but smiling. "I've driven this race all seven years, finished third the first year, and had all kinds of problems every other year," he said. "But this was the toughest, coldest and longest." Two years ago, he almost finished, but the odds were even more overwhelming than this year: He competed with a pelvis broken in two places, and a cane strapped to the front of his machine. "I could drive okay," he recalled. "But I couldn't walk too well."

"BOSS CAT II" is Arctic Enterprises' successor to the original turbine-powered "Boss Cat". The new machine was first run competitively last weekend at Boonville, N.Y., but a fire from a leak in the fuel line did not allow the run to be completed. In exhibition, however, the new machine was driven by Charlie Lofton, Arctic's racing director, at 139.2 miles per hour.

Arctic Drivers Have Busy Race Weekend

To say that the past weekend was active for Arctic Enterprises at Boonville, N.Y., would be some sort of an understatement. There was some good news and some bad news. In the span of several short days the company lost its turbine-powered "Boss Cat" speed sled in an explosion, watched the piston-powered "Boss Cat II" machine travel faster than the new world's record and saw premiere driver Larry Coltom capture first place finishes in the Modified I and Modified II classes.

Boonville is the site of the New York state championship races and the New York speed trials. In capturing the two first places, Coltom was the only driver to win two races Sunday and Arctic was the only company which had two of its machines finish in first place. Coltom added a third place in the 440cc class for good measure.

Dale Cormican, driver of the "Boss Cat" turbine-powered speed sled, is recovering from a spinal concussion and chipped vertebra suffered in an explosion of his machine Friday. The explosion happened just as Cormican started his speed run and reportedly demolished the machine. Cormican, who had set last year's world record of 125.87 miles per hour with the "Boss Cat", was protected partially from the rear-mounted turbine engine by a metal shield in the machine. At latest report he was still hospitalized.

Ski-Doo set the new world record of 127.3 miles per hour, which was the average time for two half-mile runs. To establish a speed time for the race, two runs are made and the times of each are added together and averaged.

With Cormican out of the race picture following the explosion, Charles Lofton, Arctic's racing director, decided to drive the "Boss Cat II" machine, although he had never driven it before. In an exhibition run he was clocked at 139.2 miles per hour one way and 130.2 on the return run. In the offical run he turned in a time of 128 miles per hour one way, then developed a leak in the fuel line which caused a fire, burning out some wiring and making the machine inoperable. The machine burns alcohol for fuel.

Lofton said that the machine is being repaired and will be ready

DOUBLE WINNER for the Arctic Enterprises racing team at the New York state championships at Boonville, N.Y., Sunday was Larry Coltom of Thief River Falls. He won first place in both the Modified I and Modified II classes, the only driver to capture two first places at the event. Arctic Enterprises was also the only manufacturer to have two of its machines finish in first place in the oval track racing.

GOP CAUCUS will be held at the courthouse in Thief River Falls Tuesday at 8 p.m. with Dr. Arnold Berg as convenor. He is shown with Marie Gustafson who will serve as secretary for the caucus. A similar caucus for eastern Pennington county will be held at the Goodridge agriculture classrooms the same day at 4:30 p.m. with Dr. David Brown as convenor.

Nations Festival Is Monday For TRF Girl Scouts

All Brownie and Girl Scout troops of Thief River Falls will participate in a "Festival of Nations" to be held on Monday, at 7:30 in the city auditorium. The festival is open to anyone interested in Scouting, and there is no admission charge.

Each troop has selected a country and will have a display of items from the country. Girls will be dressed in the costumes of the country. At 8 p.m. a program of skits, songs and dances typical of the countries will be presented.

There will also be a World Association booth where guests and Scouts may view the "Thinking Day Tree", toss a coin into the wishing well, and with each coin make a wish for world friendship.

February is traditionally International Friendship month for Girl Scouts. On February 22 the Scouts celebrate "Thinking Day", a day during which Girl Scouts and Girl Guides everywhere join their thoughts and send them round the world as a powerful prayer that all men shall be friends.

The "Thinking Day" fund was established to start Girl Scout troops in countries where people need help and to establish four World Scout centers. Originally it was hoped that if each Girl Scout gave one coin of the smallest demonination in her country, great things could be accomplished for world understanding.

The "Festival of Nations" is one of the ways Girl Scouts of Thief River Falls are showing that they do care for and are thinking about others, according to local scout leaders. Thinking Day is a day based on friendship and caring to remind us that "A Girl Scout is a friend to all and a sister to every other Girl Scout."

Bargain Blitz Offers Specials To TRF Shoppers

Thief River Falls retailers are participating in a four-day Bargain Blitz promotion beginning Thursday at noon and continuing through Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Monday. Stores will be closed until noon on Thursday to prepare for the special event.

Featured during the event are special bargains on a number of items in each participating store. Included are such items as 39 zip out coats valued to $45 for $10 each, a 17-piece stainless steel cutlery worth $2.69 for 99 cents, a $34.95 wall clock for $19.72, 18 winter coats valued at $40 to $55 for $9.99, record albums at two for $1, 200 dresses and pant suits valued from $10 to $68 for $3.22 to $22.22.

Food stores will be open regular hours.

Rep. Bergland Will Speak To Goodridge FFA

Congressman Robert Bergland will be guest speaker when the Goodridge Future Farmers of America chapter holds an appreciation banquet Monday at the Goodridge high school gymnasium.

The banquet will be held for FFA members, their parents and honored guests at 7:30 p.m. Following the dinner, the public is invited to hear Congressman Bergland speak at 8:30 p.m.

Game Dinner

Annual free wild game dinner sponsored by 40 et 8 Volture 737 will be Saturday at the Thief River Falls American Legion club rooms. Serving is from 6:30 to 8 p.m., and there will be dancing from 9 p.m. until closing.

Council Holds Meeting Tues.

Downtown development committee of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce appeared before the city council Tuesday night to request that the city purchase two downtown lots currently for sale to be used as city-owned free parking lots.

The lots involved include the one bordered on the west by Horace avenue, on the east by Atlantic avenue, and on the south by Fourth street. Purchase price of that lot is $15,000. The other lot, 50 feet deep, is behind the municipal liquor store and the purchase price for that parcel of land is $10,000.

The committee also asked the council to change downtown core area parking regulations to decrease parking time to one hour instead of the current two hours. The recommendation was sharply questioned by council members, and several members of the audience complained that the current time limit is barely sufficient for shoppers at city stores or those visiting medical facilities. No official action was taken on any of the committee's recommendations.

In other areas, the council passed a resolution to establish Atlantic avenue from Eleventh to Thirteenth street west to Main avenue as municipal state aid streets. That move would bring the number of miles of city streets up to the allotment allowed Thief River Falls by the state for street maintenance and construction.

On action of the council the city withdrew as paying agent and accountant for housing for the elderly in Thief River Falls effective March 1. Dr. A. E. Jacobson, mayor, is currently the executive director for the housing committee composed of five local residents and chaired by Kenneth Onken. Housing for the elderly was formerly administered through the city clerk's office, with the housing committee paying the city $400 per month for administrative services.

The council also approved a pay increase for 22 members of the vounteer fire department. The increase of five per cent would average only $1.13 per month on a quarterly basis. The highest increase would be $4.33.

City Clerk Gerald Wigness was instructed by the council to reply to the latest letter from the Teamster's union, which represents many of the city's employees, in regard to wage negotiations. Wigness was instructed to inform the union that the city government intends to keep any salary increases within the 5.5 per cent guidelines demanded by the President's current economic policies.

Representatives of Smiley township also appeared before

DECORATIONS for the Mrs. Jaycees Charity Ball to be held Saturday at the Thief River golf club have been made by participants in the Falls Day Activity center in Thief River Falls. The center is the beneficiary of the annual social event with all proceeds going to the center for retarded persons in the area. In the photo above are Jerry Sandvig, Betty Wisniewski and Kris Stenberg, as the young people get some direction on making the items shown. Charity Ball tickets are available from members of the sponsoring Mrs. Jaycees chapter.

First Date Set For School Negotiation

Setting of the first date for salary negotiations, establishment of a bus stop for elementary students, approval of advertisement for bids on equipment and action on several other matters took place at the regular meeting of the Thief River Falls board of education Monday evening.

The board will meet with the faculty negotiating team on Tuesday, February 29, following the board's business session which starts at 7 p.m. Members of the faculty negotiating team at present includes Andrew (Mike) Lehrer, Donald Hejlik, Walter Redinger, Verne Spengler and Joan Saterness. When the new negotiations law takes effect May 1, Ellen Clark will succeed Lehr.

Also heard by the board was a report from Frank Hamerlinck in regard to a proposed salary schedule for administrators. That report covered principals, administrative assistants, and directors of several school departments. The report was received by the board for study.

After discussion the board agreed to establish one stop at the corner of Barzen avenue and First street from November 15 through March 17 with the intent to transport elementary students to Washington school and deliver other students to shuttle stops.

Resignation was accepted, effective June 3, for Carole Hahn who teaches second grade at Knox school. Employed were Hollie Stone, office production clerk (reimbursed by the federal government under the emergency employment act), and Douglas Mihm, Franklin junior high school instructor, who had been on military leave.

Adjustments were made in the hourly salary schedule for custodians Edwin Stromlund, Gary Housker, David Forsberg, Douglas Olson, Roger Richter and Gerard Gervais.

Administration was authorized to call for bids for equipment for office and classroom machines, office and classroom furniture, industrial arts, audio-visual, physical education, custodial equipment, library, cosmetology, home economics, kindergarten, science, music, art and miscellaneous instructional equipment. All awards are to be within 85 per cent of the contemplated budget for each category.

Also approved was authorization to bid for accounting machinery for the

Pennington GOP Caucuses Set In Two Locations

Precinct caucuses for the Pennington county Republican party will be held in two locations on Tuesday. At 4:30 p.m. Dr. David Brown will convene the caucus at the Goodridge high school agriculture rooms, and at 8 p.m. Dr. Arnold Berg will convene the session at the courthouse in Thief River Falls.

Purpose of the precinct caucus is to elect delegates to the county convention and to discuss and prepare resolutions for consideration by the county convention.

Emphasis is made by county GOP officials that the princinct caucus is the most basic level of organized politeical activity. It is from precinct caucuses throughout the nation that all resolutions to be considered at county, district, state and national conventions will originate.

Delegates to the county convention will elect three delegates to the state and district conventions, with the county Republican chairman and chairwoman also being district and state delegates.

Serving refreshments at the caucus in Goodridge will be Mrs. Justin Dahlen, Mrs. Herb Goethe and Mrs. Wallace Tieman.

Co-chairwomen for the caucus in Thief River Falls are Mrs. Richard Blaha and Mrs. Ed Turenne with servers including Mrs. John Penn, Mrs. Clyde Trickle, Mrs. Donald Loeb, Mrs. James Winjum, Mrs. Jon Metusalem, Mrs. Alma Elofson, Mrs. Clarence Williams, Mrs. Vernon Forsberg and Mrs. Robert Bredeson.

TOTAL POINTS CHAMP at the States - Dominion snowmobile races, Richard Porter of Thief River Falls, received the seven-foot travelling trophy Tuesday evening at a meeting of the local Jaycee chapter. Porter placed second in both the Modified II and Modified III classes Sunday. Jay Borchert, chapter president, made the trophy presentation.

Superintendent Reviews School Proposal

(Editor's Note: Thief River Falls board of education and the local school administration are weighing all factors in consideration of means to solve space shortages in the local schools. The following statement by Dr. William Corliss, superintendent of schools, is intended to explain the current proposal as it relates to students and programs.)

There is a very limited effect upon the learner and learning when a school system changes its grade groupings. There is a lack of evidence available establishing a preferred organizational pattern for the learner. A quality learning opportunity for children involves the learner, the materials, and the teacher. Facilities may, or may not, aid the learning depending upon the use made of the facilities by the learner and teacher.

If education is ready to accept the premise that learners are individuals, and are to have learning opportunities based upon this individual uniqueness, then the sequence of learning materials and learning opportunities is not restricted to any organizational pattern. It matters little whether the organizational pattern be K-3, K-4, K-5, K-6, K-7 K-8, 5-8, 6-8, 7-9, 9-12, 10-12 or 9-10, 11-12. One can find excellent school systems organized about any grouping.

One proposal being suggested to citizens of Thief River Falls to help solve the building space need is the purchase of the downtown Arctic Plant and organizing the learners in K-5 (elementary), 6-8 (junior-middle), 9-12 (senior), adult and center school (high school vocational - technical). This particular organization would assist our district in housing the learners in reasonably good facilities at a minimum of cost and until a more definite enrollment growth or loss emerges.

It is not many years ago that Lincoln high school housed grades 7-12. There is no evidence that the learners suffered. Grouping of children is an arbitrary adult process used to utilize buildings fully.

We have initiated a new instructional department K-12-Adult. The committee structure affords the learner, teacher and parents of the community an opportunity to produce recommendations for program improvements to the board of education. This organization is functioning this year. It is K-12-Adult by design. The specific intent of the superintendent in instituting this new powerful emphasis on program is to insure the learner being considered totally rather than in an elementary, junior high, senior high, adult segmented manner.

This new proposal emphasizes the learner; emphasizes the fact that learning has a scope and sequence; and, emphasizes that committees of learners, teachers and administrators can cross artificial grade and building lines when given the opportunity. This will result in enhancing the quality of education for the learner as he is the focus, rather than building or grade.

There are elements of excellence in our Thief River Falls schools under its present organizational pattern of K-6, 7-9, 10-12, Adult. These elements must be maintained, nurtured and expanded. Staff assignments will be based upon program needs of the learners; competency of the staff member to contribute to the learner and program; and the ability of the staff member to contribute to the learner in all other aspects of learning.

Change has advantages and disadvantages. It is our hope that by suggesting that this change occur in 1973-1974—if the present district-wide proposal of purchase of Arctic plant is approved—we will give the learner, the staff, the program developers, the administrator and the parent adequate planning time to make the transition a satisfying one.

The K-5 (elementary), 6-8 (junior-middle, housed at Franklin), 9-12 (senior, housed at Lincoln), adult, and center school (high school vocational - technical, housed at proposed Arctic site) plan is based upon the premise that the learner needs reasonable facilities as does the teacher; that a community should expend its taxes primarily upon the learning process rather than buildings; and that there is adequate planning time to make the transition a satisfying one.

Public Invited To Make Tours Of Arctic Plant

Public tours of the downtown Arctic Enterprises plant—to show how it is proposed to use the building for school district purposes—will be held Thursday from 7 to 9 p.m. School administrators will be on hand to act as tour guides and explain the proposal to interested residents of the school district.

The public is also invited to attend a special meeting of the board of education on Monday at 8 p.m. at Lincoln senior high school. Discussion will be held regarding the proposed use of the Arctic plant for central offices, vocational center school, high school shops, school bus storage and maintenance, and other items.

Wedding Vows Exchanged By D. Holden - R. Sholin

Diane Holden and Robert Scholin, both of this city, were united recently in a double ring ceremony at Redeemer Lutheran church with Rev. Philip Lathrop officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Warren Nelson of Warren and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Scholin of this city.

The organist was Mrs. William Halbash and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Marilyn Lund, as she sang a selection of nuptial songs.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Nelson, was attired in a floor-length gown of white satin with lace bodice which extended into a full length sleeve. Rows of lace enhanced the hem of the gown. Her long veil was held in place by a satin bow covered with sequins. She carried a bouquet of mums accented with red and blue roses.

Mrs. Denise Stepp, sister of the bride from Grand Forks, was matron of honor. Her floor length gown of blue was stitched with white embroidery and accented with a white satin sash. She wore white gloves and carried a long stem red rose.

Bridesmaids were Sheryl Curfman, friend of the couple and Brenda Holden, sister of the bride. They wore gowns identical to the matron of honor.

Flower girl, Cindy Stepp of Grand Forks, was dressed in a white lace over satin dress fashioned with a matching bow.

Kevin Stepp, newphew of the bride, was ring bearer.

Best man was Ronald Scholin, brother of the groom and the groomsmen were Roger Dyrdal and Terry Dyrdal Jr., brothers-in-law of the groom.

Ushers were Allan LaBine, cousin of the bride from Argyle and Curt Olson, friend of the groom from this city.

The men of the wedding party wore black tuxedoes and white mum boutonnieres.

The bride's mother selected a three-piece gold suit and her corsage was white mums and red roses. The groom's mother wore a one-piece purple dress, styled with a silk scarf. Her corsage was identical to that of the bride's mother.

Honored guests were Mrs. Minnie Steenie, Godmother of the bride, and the groom's Godparents, Mr. and Mrs. Einar Scholin.

The bride's personal attendant was Linda Dyrdal.

A four-tiered wedding cake, decorated with blue and white flowers, was cut and served by Mrs. Minnie Steenie and Mrs. Lillian Anderson, aunt of the bride.

Mrs. Belle Rolandson, friend of the bride, served the punch and Mrs. Alma Larson, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Einar Scholin poured.

Waitresses were Linda Berggren, Shelly Brennan, Gloria Swanson and Shelly Pederson while Susan Dyrdal, Val Quam and Myrna Bakke arranged the gifts.

Host and hostesses for the reception were Linda Dyrdal, Carol Scholin, Gary Quam and Duane Scholin.

The bride selected a two-piece burnt orange pant suit for traveling.

The groom is a 1971 graduate of the Lincoln high school and is employed by the Gibson discount store.

The newlyweds are at home at 415 S Merriam in this city.

Bruggemans Take Young Farmers Trip To Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Bruggeman, Thief River Falls, recently attended the Land O'Lakes Young Farmers program and annual meeting in Minneapolis recently.

The expenses paid trip was awarded them by District 18 association of Land O'Lakes, Inc., as part of its continuing effort to involve young farmers in the affairs of Land O'Lakes and its local member cooperatives.

The local couple was one of 105 such couples selected by the eighteen Land O'Lakes district associations on the basis of their farming accomplishments and their interest in cooperative and community affairs.

The three-day program included a tour of the Felco-Land O'Lakes calf and turkey research farm at Hampton, and the Land O'Lakes general offices in Minneapolis, including the food research and new product development facilities. Other special programs for the young farmers included presentations on Land O'Lakes agricultural services and food marketing operations, as well as discussions on the legal structure of the association, describing how membership participates in its government.

Following this, the young farmers watched first-hand as the voting delegates from all seven states of Land O'Lakes country, representing their respective member cooperatives and voting units, conducted the two-day business meeting.

After the main annual meeting banquet at the Minneapolis auditorium convention hall where approximately 2,500 people were served, a dance and mixer were held at the Young farmers headquarters.

The last day of the program got off to a flying start when Harold Pluimer, Minneapolis writer, speaker and consultant, presented an address titled, "The Challenge of Change," at the Young Farmers breakfast.

This was the third year that the Young Farmers program has been a part of the annual meeting of Land O'Lakes, Inc., a large regional farm supply and food marketing cooperative with general offices in Minneapolis.

Arctic Drivers Have Busy Week At N.Y. Races

for racing at Roseau on Saturday, February 26, at 8:30 a.m., as part of the Mid-Continent Sno-Mo-Cade. It will also race in the WSA event at West Yellowstone, Mont., March 17 and 18.

The "Boss Cat II" machine was designed and built by Denny Ray of Arctic Enterprises as a seccessor to the original "Boss Cat", and made its inaugural appearance at Boonville.

"Boss Cat II" is six feet wide, [illegible] feet long and 30 inches high, weighing about 2,000 pounds. It is powered by a 500 h.p. supercharged V-8 piston engine, with power transferred to dual, all-rubber tracks via two-speed transmission through a quick change differential. Each track is 20½ inches wide and 11 feet long with five feet on the ground. The machine has a reverse gear for easier unloading and maneuverability.

[illegible] se to a foot wider and four [illegible] longer than the original machine, "Boss Cat II" carries a number of technological improvements learned while building and testing the first "Boss Cat", Ray said. Increased width and lower profile will make the machine more stable and offer less wind resistance.

The machine employs production snowmobile skis with shock absorbers and steering is controlled in the cockpit by a small, dish steering wheel. Hydraulic disc brakes and a push button actuated parachute are used to stop the machine following a run. "Boss Cat II" has a theoretical top speed of over 150 miles per hour.

Design of the "Boss Catt II" began in April of 1971 and actual production started in mid-July. The machine was completed in December. In addition to Ray and Cormican, other crew members instrumental in the building of "Boss Cat II" include Wally Aunger, Myron Kaiser and Virgil Aboul.

Slow down and live.

School Proposal Reviewed By Superintendent

It is time to look at the packaging of learning experiences offered the learner. This contemplated change in use of facilities, along with the curriculum committee structure instituted this year with teachers K-12-Adult affording a democratic involvement for change, should result in improving the quality of learning opportunity in Thief River Falls schools.

Has the past been so perfect that change and exploration in a practical manner is unwarranted? Is there a need to creatively and positively contribute to better learning opportunities?

The board of education welcomes your ideas.

Henry Bye, 76, Laid To Rest Last Tuesday

Funeral services and interment for Henry Bye, long-time resident of the Goodridge community, took place on Tuesday, February 8, at Sinding's funeral chapel and interment was in the Star cemetery.

Goodridge Couple Participate In Ayrshire Show

Plans are underway by Minnesota breeders of Ayrshire cattle who will be hosting the 1972 National Ayrshire meeting and Grand National Ayrshire sale in Rochester, April 20-22.

The three-day national event will bring together members from virturally all states, as well as guests from Canada and Mexico. Assisting in plans for the forthcoming event are Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Hanson, route 3, Goodridge, whose registered Ayrshire herd has become well known throughout the country.

Plans for the three-day event include tours to several Ayrshire herds and other points of interest; a business meeting and banquet; and an auction sale on April 22 at the Graham arena in Rochester of some of the Ayrshire breed's finest, from leading herds throughout the country.

The Ayrshire breed has been making continuous gains in growth due to its efficient milk porducing capabilities.

Individual records of 305 days in length with miling done twice daily have been as high as 32,250 pounds of milk, which is approximately 16,000 quarts. Minnesota has ranked in the top five states in numbers of recorded Ayrshires for several years, and during 1971, was the third high state in numbers registered.

Current president of the Minnesota Ayrshire club is Harry Farr, Ellendale; vice-president, Archie Sanborn, Fairbault; and secretary-treasurer is Robert Quimby, Kenyon. General chairman for the national meeting events is Forrest Muetzel of Owatonna.

This red and white dairy breed originated in Scotland and was first imported into the United States in the mid 1800's. The national office is located at Brandon, Vermont, where the recording of approximately 15,000 applications are processed yearly, as well as carrying out other Association activities in behalf of its over 4,000 membership.

SNOW SCULPTURE champion during the Northland state junior college Sno-Fest was this caricature of President Richard Nixon. The sculpture was placed within a few feet of the student commons windows. The first place sculpture was erected by the Leonard's Legion II team.

Richard Hahnen Candidate For Bergland Seat

Richard Y. Hahnen, Moorhead, today announced that he is a candidate for the Republican nomination for the seventh district Congressional seat.

Hahnen, 25, said he feels that the newly enlarged seventh district is entitled to responsible representation according to its needs. He has attended several Republican meetings throughout the district and says that he is pleased with the encouragement he has found.

Hahnen is a veteran of the Army and a member of the American Legion. He presently serves as adjutant of his post.

He spent three years at the University of Minnesota and is now finishing his education at Concordia college in Moorhead where he is editor of the college paper.

Few Cases Heard In County Court Here On Monday

Because Judge J. A. Harren was delayed by a hearing in Red Lake Falls Monday, fewer cases than usual were heard in the criminal division of county court. In the only sheriff's department cases heard, Harlan W. Clausen, Grygla, forfeited a $50 bond for permitting an open container, and Loren E. Carlson, city, forfeited a $60 bond on a worthless check charge.

In Minnesota state highway patrol cases, Roger Duden, Plummer, forfeited a $50 bond for failure to yield the right of way. Lawrence Swenson, Thief River Falls, was fined $300 with $100 suspended for driving while under the influence. Brett K. Bushelle, Sebeka, forfeited a $30 bond for speeding.

In city police cases, Daryl E. Beito, Middle River, was found guilty of speeding and paid a $20 fine. Jon A. Campbell, Thief River Falls, forfeited a $20 bond on a speeding charge, as did Joseph M. Boyle, also Thief River Falls. Burton D. Bassett, Roseau, also forfeited a $20 bond for speeding.

Gerald W. Erickson, Comfrey, was fined $20 with $5 suspended on a speeding charge. Donald M. Thomas, Grygla, forfeited a $20 bond for speeding, and Roy G. Lee, Thief River Falls, was fined $20 with $5 suspended for driving too fast for conditions.

Robert M. Ingersoll, Thief River Falls, forfeited a $20 bond for a stop sign violation. Melville G. Bakken, Newfolden, was fined $300 with $100 suspended for driving while under the influence. Thomas A. Antonson, Thief River Falls, forfeited a $200 bond for driving after revocation of his license.

Jim A. Seibel, Plummer, was fined $25 with $10 suspended for making an improper turn, and Mrs. Judy Olson forfeited a $15 bond for allowing a dog to run at large.

Thief River Falls

STILL BUNCHED UP as they speed into the number two turn are these seven machines in the States - Dominion snowmobile races on Sunday afternoon. Although the first and second turns are usually the most hazardous in snowmobile racing, this crowded corner was negotiated without mishap.

MODIFIED II class winner Sunday at the States - Dominion snowmobile races Sunday in Thief River Falls was Armond Westlund of Strathcona. It was the largest class of the day and had the highest individual payoff. Miss Thief River Falls, Roxanne Langlie, presented the championship trophy.

RLF Man Cited At AF Academy

Cadet Gary E. Grenier, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Grenier of rt. 2, Red Lake Falls, has been named to the commandant's list at the U.S. Air Force Academy.

Cadet Grenier, a member of the class of '72, was selected for his outstanding military performance. He will wear a silver wreath designating the honor accorded him by the academy commandant of cadets.

He has also been selected for the position of a project officer with the rank of cadet major.

The 1968 graduate of Lafayette high school will be commissioned a second lieutenant and awarded a B.S. degree upon his graduation from the academy.

Council Holds Meeting Tues., Airs Parking

the city council Tuesday night with questions regarding fire protection in that area. It was decided that a meeting with Alderman Ole Engelstad, chairman of the council fire department standing committee, would be set up as soon as the alderman is released from the hospital.

It was also announced at the council session that a dinner meeting on the airport master plan currently being formed by a New York City firm will be held at the Thief River Falls golf club next Wednesday at 12:30 p.m. Facts of the plan to date will be reviewed, and the meeting is open to the public.

City Engineer Doug Stewart explained to the council planned sewer and water improvements for 1972 that would cost the city some $59,000. Further plans for improvements may be added to the improvement plan.

The council took no action on several items on the agenda, including an annexation request by Rev. Charles Henderson, who plans to build a new Bible Baptist church on two acres of land near the Seventh-day Adventist church. Lack of city sewer and water services in the area caused the council to table any action on the annexation until Rev. Henderson can be informed of the problems involved.

Also tabled was the appointment of appraisers for land near the airport in the event that more land is needed for airport extension. The council also did not act on a resolution to adopt an agreement with the planning firm of Hodne-Stageberg. A previous planning agreement offered by the firm was turned down by the council after city councilmen decided the plan was too expensive. The firm was asked to submit a less costly plan.

First Date Is Set For School Negotiations

general office.

Supt. Corliss was authorized to prepare an application for vocational construction funds for consideration at the April meeting of the board of education with the intent to utilize funds during 1974-75.

A policy change was adopted providing for cooperation with law enforcement officers in allowing access to juveniles under their custody while school is in session.

Notification of the secretary of St. Hilaire Supply company that the contract for transporting school children by that company would be terminated June 3 was approved by the board with member Edgar Naplin abstaining from voting.

In his report to the board, Supt. Corliss reviewed information presented to the public on the Arctic Enterprises plant proposal. It was noted that a public board meeting would be held Monday at 8 p.m., and a public inspection of the building with administrators as guides was arranged for Thursday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Dr. Corliss also noted that the architect had called to say his bill for services rendered in estimating remodeling cost of the Arctic building and other related services would be $1,500.

The superintendent reviewed the procedure to be followed where certificated people are not being re-employed for the coming school year. This includes a conference, request for recognition, resolution by the board to provide notification and a later resolution approving the release of the individual contract.

Dr. Corliss noted that state department of education personnel will be in the city this week and that discussions will be held and decisions reached on several pertinent matters.

Organ Concert At Goodridge

Rev. Donald Krebs, pastor of Sacred Heart Catholic church in East Grand Forks, will play a dedication concert at Faith Lutheran church in Goodridge Sunday at 4 p.m.

A former pastor at the Middle River Roman Catholic parish, Rev. Krebs will play the new Baldwin chapel organ which the congregation recently purchased. The Faith LCW will serve a benefit supper with proceeds going to the congregation's organ fund following the concert.

Deb Peterson At Conference

Deb Peterson, daughter of Mrs. Henrietta Peterson of Thief River Falls and a second year sales associate student at the Alexandria area technical school, will attend the 1972 Distributive Education Clubs of America state leadership conference in Minneapolis Feb. 27 through March 1.

DECA is a youth group for marketing, merchandising and management students and is designed to develop future leaders in the fields of marketing and distribution.

Howard Legried To Reign Over Winter Shows

An outstanding "Builder of Life in the Red River Basin," King Agassiz XI, Howard Legried of New York Mills, will preside over festivities of the Winter Shows week—Feb. 18-27.

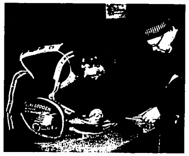
King Agassiz will be a busy man meeting and greeting the public and officiating at a number of functions. A very special duty will be to reign over the crowning ceremonies for King Agassiz XII, who will be named on Feb. 24. Board of managers notes this is the largest number of King Agassiz candidates representing every county in northwestern Minnesota.

The coronation ceremony for King Agassiz XII, who will reign for the coming year, will be held on Thursday, Feb. 24, at 10:45 a.m. in the Winter shows arena, according to Erman Ueland, chairman of the arrangements committee. The Honorable Arlen Erdahl, secretary of state for Minnesota, will be the guest of honor and give the address. Participating in the ceremony will be former kings and their wives.

The hall of fame gallery will be enlarged as two more outstanding citizens of the Red River basin will be honored for their contribution as builders of the Red River Valley Winter shows.

A King Agassiz coronation dinner will be served at 12:30 at the Presbyterian church. George Nornes, Climax, chairman of the special events committee, will preside. The Honorable Arlen Erdahl and the newly crowned king will be special guests. King Agassiz candidates and their wives will be special guests at the 1972 Valley farmers and homemakers banquet that evening at the Trinity Lutheran church.

KITTY KAT demonstration races were held at the States - Dominion snowmobile races Saturday and Sunday. Here three of the entrants line up for one of the demonstration heats Saturday afternoon.



REGISTERING for the women's races Saturday at the States - Dominion snowmobile races was Becki Lodoen of West Fargo. Mike Lehrer is assisting with the registration for the sponsoring Jaycees.

Social Security

Ted Hoversten, field representative of the social security district office in Grand Forks, will be in Thief River Falls at the city auditorium on Tuesday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Beneficiaries coming in for help with their annual reports of earnings should bring their federal income tax returns and W-2's, withholding statements. Those who received annual report of earnings cards in the mail should also bring them.

Last Call For License Plates In Two Weeks

There are just two weeks left to buy and put on your 1972 motor vehicle license plate or sticker. All vehicles must display 1972 registrations no later than midnight, March 1, and law enforcement officials will start issuing citations on March 2.

Minnesota public safety commissioner W. R. Hoaglund warns that all registrations should be made in person at the motor vehicle division office in St. Paul or at one of the deputy registrars located in all counties of the state. At this late date there is no way that registration can be accomplished by mail and the plates or stickers be received before the March 2 deadline.

Hoaglund also had a tip for those who have a change of address during the year. Normally, address changes do not become known until the owner registers for the next year, and his motor vehicle application form is sent to the wrong address.

This can be corrected if the change of address is sent in when the owner moves. He has only to cross out the old address and insert the new address on the registration card, and mail it to the motor vehicle division, highway building, St. Paul, 55155. This procedure will also lighten the load on motor vehicle personnel by spreading these changes over a 12-month period.

Much Equipment Is Stolen From Home In TR Falls

Jerry Doda of Thief River Falls reported to city police Monday that his home had been burglarized and that a large amount of electronic gear was missing, including an Akai tape deck, a Sansui amplifier, an AM-FM radio, a portable television, between 20 and 30 tapes, 20 record albums, a Westbend humidifier and a set of Panasonic head phones. The matter is being investigated.

In other matters reported to police during the last week, last Tuesday at 3:10 p.m. a car driven by Lyndon Pream, Thief River Falls, was headed north on Tindolph when it was struck in the rear by a car driven by Linda May Anderson, Thief River Falls. There was a total of $250 in damages.

In other thefts reported last Tuesday, Lawrence Bjorkman reported the theft of a rug valued at $9 from Midtown Manor apartments, latest in a series of continuing losses there. Mrs. Arnell Johnson reported the theft of two men's snowmobile suits, helmets and gloves valued at $200 from her garage. On the same day Earl Anderson reported that the battery, valued at $25, had been stolen from a car belonging to Sylvia Edmiston.

On Thursday at 11:40 a.m. a car driven by Sheryl Hanson, Thief River Falls, was stopped at Second and Horace when a car driven by Homer Grinde, Thief River Falls, struck her car in the right rear as Grinde attempted to evade a car pulling from a parking place. There was $375 damage in the accident. Also on Thursday a juvenile shoplifter was apprehended in a local store and was turned over to his parents after investigation by police.

On Friday at 8:35 a.m. a car driven by Linda M. Dahl, Thief River Falls, was stopped in the south bound traffic lane on highway 59 south attempting to make a left turn when her car was struck in the rear by a car driven by Roy Lee, Thief River Falls. There was a total of $450 damage to the Dahl vehicle and $1,000 to the Lee car.

Also Friday the manager of a local store reported that his firm was missing a portable color television set valued at $380. City police are investigating. On the same day a representative of Burlington Northern railroad reported that ignition parts were missing from a combine being shipped on a rail car. The missing parts were valued at $25.

At 5:30 p.m. Friday a car driven by Carl W. Carlson, Thief River Falls, was headed east on Third street when it was struck on the left front by a car driven by Gary Finke, Thief River Falls, who was traveling west on Third. There was $800 damage to the Carlson car and $10 damage to a snowmobile trailer he was pulling, as well as $600 damage to the Finke car.

Saturday Gene Patterson, Piney, Man., was driving west on Second street when he was struck by a car driven by Alice Patten, Thief River Falls, who was driving north on LaBree. There was $220 damage in the accident.

Also Saturday a car driven by Gary Ulland, Thief River Falls, was making a left turn on highway 59 south when his car was struck in the left rear by a car driven by Howard Dalager, St. Hilaire, who was attempting to pass Ulland. There was $360 damage in the accident.

PCA Directors In Minneapolis

Thief River Falls Production Credit Association (PCA) General Manager Harlow Johnson and Directors Adolph Erickson, Grygla; Dona Rock, Mentor; and Lenard Johnson, Roseau, will attend a meeting of seventh district Production Credit Associations in Minneapolis Thursday and Friday.

Purpose of the conference is to discuss the changing credit climate in the 1970's.

Livestock Co-op Shipping Ass'n. Meets March 1

Annual meeting of the Thief River Falls Livestock Co-Operative Shipping association will be held in the meeting room of the city auditorium, Wednesday, March 1, at 1:30 p.m., according to Marvin Koop, secretary-treasurer.

Carl L. Spong, Central Livestock association, South St. Paul, and Terry Courneya will address the meeting. The agricultural colored film, "Providers of Plenty", will be shown. Lunch will be served at the conclusion of the meeting.

The officers of the association will submit their annual reports and two directors to fill the expired terms of Otto Saugen and Alfred Solem will be elected.

Present officers and directors of the association are P. J. Gerardy, president; Gordon Hunt, vice president; Marvin Koop, secretary-treasurer; Merton Hutchinson, trucker-manager; Harry Oen, Otto Saugen, Alfred Solem and Sylvester Hesse, directors.

Dr. David Brown Named To GOP Education Group

Dr. David M. Brown, superintendent of schools at Goodridge, has been appointed to the education task force of the Minnesota Republican party. According to Mrs. Lu Stocker, St. Paul, chairwoman for the Minnesota GOP, there are 14 different areas of study as the Minnesota Republican party develops issues for the 1972 campaign.

"The specific subjects were selected by delegates to the 1971 state convention, and the groups have been meeting since the beginning of the year, said Mrs. Stocker. The task force system of issues development is one of the two ways used to build a party platform, according to Mrs. Stocker. "We also feed resolutions passed at our political unit conventions into the platform committee," she said.

The education task force will study several areas, including integrated education, the state department of education, organization of higher education for career education, rural education, urban education, collective bargaining, tenure, professional autonomy and accountability-management objectives.

Final reports to the 1972 Republican platform committee are slated to be presented by March 15.

Hot Lunch Menu At St. Bernard's

Monday, Feb. 21: No school.

Tuesday, Feb. 22: Ground beef gravy, mashed potatoes, green beans, bread, butter, cherry dessert and milk.

Wednesday, Feb. 23: Chicken noodle soup, crackers, peanut butter sandwiches, carrot and celery sticks, raisin bar, and milk.

Thursday, Feb. 24: Ground beef spaghetti casserole, tossed salad, bread, butter, genatin fruit cup and milk.

Friday, Feb. 25: Oven baked rice, cheese slices, egg salad and peanut butter sandwiches, creamed wax beans apple, and milk.

Those attending the funeral of Dean Stephenson at Pelican Rapids on Monday were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Riley of Germany, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Makery of Cheektowaga, N.Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Holbrook of this city. The Rileys and Makeys have been spending the past weeks with their grandparents, the Carl Holbrooks. The Rileys left Tuesday for their home and Makeys will leave on Thursday.

Lenten Season Schedule Begins At St. Bernard's

Lenten services begin tonight (Wednesday) at 7:30 p.m. at St. Bernard's Catholic church here with the reception of ashes and a Mass. An earlier Ash Wednesday Mass was held this morning at 11 a.m. Each succeeding Wednesday at 7:30 p.m., church night in the city, there will be an evening Mass, with the opportunity for penance before services.

Each Friday at 2:45 p.m. meditation on the sufferings of Christ on His way to Calvary will be conducted. During Lent Sunday Mass will be at 8, 10 and 11:30 a.m. Weekday Masses will be on Monday, Wednesdays and Fridays at 8:15 a.m., Tuesdays at 2:45 p.m. and Thursdays at 5:30 p.m. Regular Saturday evening Mass is at 7:30 p.m.

On the first day of Lent, Ash Wednesday, the Roman Catholic church places ashes on heads of its members to symbolize sorrow for sin and the need for repentance on the basis of Old Testament practice and teaching as found in the New Testament.

The churches of Thief River Falls, along with churches throughout the world, will begin their annual observance of the season of Lent today and for 40 days until April 1. Lent's 40 days are kept after the example of Christ's 40 days of fasting in the wilderness; the Christian observance dates back to the early days of Christendom.

Mental Health Workshop Set At Alexandria

Training workshop in group leadership skills will be held February 23, 24, and 25 at the Holiday Inn in Alexandria.

The workshop is open to those who already have leadership responsibilities in running groups and to increase their ability, and to those who see this experimental training as an opportunity for developing leadership capabilities.

Transactional analysis will be the basic theoretical framework for the workshop. Leaders include Russell Osness, marriage, family, and child counselor in transactional analysis in the Southdale medical center in Minneapolis; and Carl Lee, college pastor and director of counseling at Concordia college in Moorhead.

The fee for the workshop is $30 per individual. Register with Dick Quaal, Box 157, Fergus Falls state hospital, Fergus Falls, Minnesota.

VA Submits Record Budget Proposals For '73

Funding levels requested in the President's fiscal year 1973 budget request to Congress to support Veterans administration programs for America's veterans are the highest in the history of the nation.

Donald E. Johnson, administrator of veterans affairs, said the VA appropriations request of $11.7 billion—up about $790 million over FY 1972—marks the fourth consecutive year in which record VA budget requests have been recorded.

In Minnesota, the VA operates a general, medical and surgical hospital in Minneapolis and a neuropsychiatric hospital at St. Cloud, as well as a veterans' benefits center and a data processing center, both at Fort Snelling.

The total budget authority for VA in FY 1973, Johnson added, amounts to $12.4 billion, an increase of one billion dollars over FY 1972. The total is the highest in VA history for the third straight year.

The new budget calls for an increase in VA's average employment of 11,640 to bring the work force total to 183,876. Nearly 11,000 of the employment increase is earmarked for VA's department of medicine and surgery which operates the agency network of hospitals, clinics and other health delivery facilities. Average medical employment in the new fiscal year is targeted at 162,246, the greatest number of employees in the department's annals.

The VA head said a record medical care appropriation request of nearly $2.5 billion—up $166.1 million over FY 1972—will permit VA to achieve these new levels:

Provide inpatient treatment to some 949,000 veteran patients, an increase of 24,200 over the previous year.

Handle 10.8 million outpatient medical visits, an increase of 1.4 million over the previous year.

Increase by 20 per cent the care provided in VA nursing care units.

Devote more money than ever before to medical and prosthetics research. VA expects to obligate $78 million for this purpose, an increase of eight million dollars over the prior year. The amount obligated for prosthetic research is expected to jump 50 per cent from $2.1 million to $3.2 million.

Add seven employees for each 100 patients, bringing the VA hospital staffing ratio to 149 employees for each 100 patients.

Activate 248 new medical service units including additional drug treatment centers, intensive care units and renal transplant centers.

Provide medical training for nearly 62,000 physicians, dentists, nurses and other health personnel—a record number up by 5,500 trainees over the prior year.

The VA administrator noted these other highlights in the budget just submitted to Congress:

The biggest single item in the VA budget is the payment of VA compensation and pensions to nearly five million veterans and dependents. The amount for these payments in the new budget is set at $6.4 billion, an increase of $331 million over the previous year.

A hospital construction program of $155 million—up $61.6 million over the previous year—providing the highest level of construction since 1951.

Included in the construction program are provisions for multi-million-dollar hospital projects at Bronx, N.Y.; Columbia, S.C.; Hampton, Va.; Boise, Idaho, and Loma Linda and Los Angeles, Calif.; air-conditioning funds for ten VA hospitals and the construction of 1,415 additional nursing care beds at a number of VA stations.

An increase of $204.7 million for GI bill training and other readjustment benefits. The total $2.2 billion for these benefits represents a more than 200 per cent increase over the figure of just four years ago, and provides for the training of more than two million young veterans, an increase of 105,500 veterans over last year's record number of enrollees.

A continuing advance in the GI bill home loan program with a forecast of more than 340,000 loans on homes valued at $7.2 billion. This is a five per cent increase over the previous year, which in turn, marked the highest loan volume since 1957.

A total of 18.4 million in-person and telephone interviews with veterans and their dependents in VA's veterans assistance program "outreach" effort—a 91.7 per cent jump over the interview total of 1969.

Major legislative proposals are also recommended by the President in his new budget, Johnson said.

These proposals include an average 8.6 per cent increase in payments under the GI bill and other VA education and training programs at an FY 1973 cost of about $174 million. . .a nearly six per cent increase in compensation paid service-disabled veterans at an FY 1973 cost of $148 million. . .authority to make advance payments to GI bill and other educational trainees. . .an increase from 50 per cent to 65 per cent in the federal contribution for construction and alternation of extended care facilities constructed by the states. . .and providing shift differential pay for VA nurses working overtime, or on holiday, weekend or night shifts.

The budget also includes a ceiling increase in the number of nursing care beds authorized for VA facilities from 6,000 to 8,000 beds.

Johnson said the record new VA budget, which accounts for nearly five per cent of the total 1973 federal budget, will to mainly—to veterans in direct benefit programs. Approximately 74 per cent goes for direct benefits; 22 per cent for medical care; 1.4 per cent for hospital construction, and 2.6 per cent for VA general operating expenses.

Bergland Votes For Halt In Dock Strike

U. S. House of Representatives last Wednesday night approved a modified version of the Nixon administration's emergency legislation to end the West Coast dock strike through compulsory arbitration, according to 7th District Congressman Bob Bergland, a supporter of the bill.

Bergland joined farm-belt Democrats in support of the bill "as a last resort to insure that the 130-day-old strike will be ended this week in case the tentative agreement, reached last week should fail to be ratified." Bergland emphasized that the bill could not have been passed without the President's promise not to impose compulsory arbitaration unless the tentative agreement failed.

Explaining the reason for his vote Bergland said: "While I strongly believe in our system of collective free bargaining, I feel that the impact of this prolonged strike has made such legislation necessary. It has threatened to reduce agricultural exports, hindered the export of other commodities and prevented the shipping of important supplies. The devastating effect on our hard pressed farm economy is reason enough to ask for this legislation," Bergland concluded.

4-H'ers Invited To Horse Judging At Winter Shows

Officials handling the 4-H horse judging clinic at the approaching Red River Valley Winter shows indicated today that this feature is open to all horsemen interested in observing the judging procedure.

However, only 4-H members will be allowed in the ring to complete a judging card. It was also clarified today that 4-H members do not necessarily need to have a horse entered in the other phases of the show in order to take part in the judging clinic.

Judging cards will be distributed to the 4-H'ers. They will place the horses in each class as they see it, and finally the official judges of each breed will place the horses and give their reasons for the placings. 4-H participants will also judge western pleasure and horsemanship riding classes in this same manner.

Active participation by 4-H members will be limited to those who are signed up in horse projects in their respective states. They must have the approval of their county agent. Both Minnesota and North Dakota state offices have reviewed the contest rules and have given approval.

Entries will remain open until noon Feb. 25. Premium books and entry blanks can be obtained from the Red River Valley Winter Horse Show, 4-H Manager, Crookston, 56716.

Arabian horses will be provided by Morrow's Arabians, Dilworth; and Appaloosa horses will be provided by Jorgenson's Appaloosas and Archie Krum, Fisher. The Quarter Horse class will be provided by Hagen's Quarter Horses, Dr. Lloyd Ralston, and Gerald Meehan, East Grand Forks, along with Dorothy Raymond of Crookston.

Hjelmer Wessels, Spearfish, S. D., will judge the American Quarter Horse halter class. Judge for the Appaloosa horses will be Joey Jorgenson, Fisher. Bill Morrow, Dilworth, will judge the Arabian classes.

The performance and show events for 4-H will begin at 1 p.m. on Feb. 25 with eight performance events scheduled. Two high point performance awards will be given—one for youth 12 years and under and one for contestants who are 13 years of age or older.

Mrs. Vernon Hagen, East Grand Forks, is chairman and secretary of the show.

Letters to the Editor

Mr. Editor:

I am writing in regard to the issue of buying the Arctic building and its alternatives. I realize in black and white the Arctic building looks like the perfect solution to our over crowded problems; but lets ask ourselves a few questions:

1. How can it cost only $125,000 to remodel and evidently add the facilities to the Arctic building when it will cost $1,030,000 just to add facilities to the Franklin junior high and area-vocational - technical school?

2. How is it possible for there to be a difference of $661,000 between the estimate of an architect and the local contractor in the remodeling and does this price include all the "extras" that will inevitably develop once the remodeling is underway?

3. This building was evidently not built for housing students according to state code in regard to lighting, heating or plumbing—therefore how much time will it actually take for it to be made fit by state specifications to house these students—our children.

Taking all this into consideration I think we should try to work out some more sensible alternatives, lest we find ourselves saddled with a "dead horse", so to speak.

To the Editor

More and more in this community people are becoming unemployed.

However, the problem of finding a job seems to be greater.

A few weeks ago my husband was refused a job simply because he's not originally from Thief River Falls.

I see no reason why a man ready, willing and able to accept a job, any job, should be denied. Instead of some people complaining about the great number of people on welfare, why don't they give them a chance and hire them instead of using their past to block them out of society.

Better yet, why don't they help them find a job—isn't that what they're there for?

Dear Editor:

The Jaycees are to be commended for their many fine projects and the races Saturday and Sunday were no exception for their part, but it certainly was a disgrace to our city to have to listen to that ignorant, ill mannered announcer they had. His comments were in very bad taste on every subject he tried to be funny at.

It was plain to hear that he was no Arctic-lover, which is his prerogative, but no place to express his opinions when trying to take the part of an announcer at a public event such as this.

We have many good announcers in our community that can do an outstanding job of announcing without importing a clown like this. Jay, Marv and Andy have all done excellent jobs announcing past events for the Jaycees—let's stick with the good local talent we have and let Detroit Lakes have theirs.

Senior Citizen Day Set At Winter Shows

Senior citizens are especially invited to make plans, organize groups, and come to the Red River Valley Winter shows on the opening day, Friday, Feb. 18.

The board of managers suggests that any golden age or senior citizen group from communities up and down the valley organize car caravans or buses for a visit to the show.

All senior citizens arriving in groups of four or more on Friday, Feb. 18, will be admitted for 50 cents per person.

Any senior or "not-so-senior" citizen arriving in a wheelchair with a nurse or other responsible attendant will be admitted free of charge along with the attendant any time during the week or at the Winter Horse show.

According to B. E. Youngquist, president, the board of managers will try this for a year and maybe other plans will be appropriate next year as the new armory becomes available for special activities such as a craft show, senior talent show, registration of senior citizens, etc.

Fire Destroys Rented Home

House owned by Roman Radniecki and rented by the Richard Scramstad family was totally destroyed in a fire that began at approximately 8:45 this morning, the Pennington county sheriff's office reported.

The fire at the residence was fought by fire units from Oklee and Goodridge. No one was in the residence at the time the fire started, officials reported.

Although no cause for the fire has been determined, firemen speculated that a malfunctioning or overheated furnace may have been the origin of the fire. The house was located 12 miles east of highway 59 on county state aid highway3.

Marshall County Hot Lunch Menu

Monday, Feb. 21: Spaghetti tomato casserole with meatballs, cheese wedges, white and dark buttered bread, bars and milk.

Tuesday, Feb. 22: One-meal casserole, apple sauce, white and dark buttered bread, pudding and milk.

Wednesday, Feb. 23: Chicken noodle soup or chili, soda crackers, peanut butter sandwiches, cookies and milk.

Thursday, Feb. 24: Mashed potatoes with cubed beef, carrot sticks, white and dark buttered bread and milk.

Friday, Feb. 25: Creamed tuna on baking powder biscuits, buttered peas, plain bread and butter, sauce, and milk.

Confused about cooking with herbs? Here are a few tips as described in the St. Joseph Family Almanac Calendar, available free at your local pharmacy. Be miserly—too little is better than too much. Let your herb choice "soak" in an uncooked mixture such as salad dressing, cheese spread or sour cream topping to bring out best flavor. In soups, stews, add the herb during last hour of cooking. Use saffron in chicken and rice dishes, rosemary for meats and string beans. Tarragon is tasty in fish and seafood dishes, hot or cold.

Warriors Surprise Prowler Sextet 5-3

Warroad scored a third period two man advantage power play goal last night to upset Thief River Falls 5-3 in region eight hockey action at Warroad, snapping the Prowler winning streak at eleven games.

The Warriors raced to a 3-0 lead midway through the second period before the Prowlers fought back to tie the game 3-3 on Tom Goddard's goal just 53 seconds into the third period. But back to back penalties on Rory Anderson (tripping) and Jeff Bottem (charging) found the Warriors capitalizing on the 5-3 advantage.

Senior wing Tim McKinnon scored what proved to be the winning goal, on an assist from Dave Kvarnlov, with 3:29 played in the final period, and just 14 seconds into the second Prowler penalty. The Warriors added an insurance score 2:18 later when sophomore wing Ron Johnson scored his second goal of the game, on assists from Scott Marvin and Les Storey.

Warroad opened the game on Johnson's goal with 4:13 gone in the first period, with Cal Olson picking up an assist on the play. The Warriors made the 1-0 lead stand up throughout the rest of the first period until junior center Les Sutherland scored, on assists from Jack Ganyo and Jerry Hangsleben, with 2:38 elapsed in the second stanza.

The Warriors raised their lead to 3-0 on junior Bob Fish's goal with 10:06 played. Ganyo and Deric Balagus were credited with assists on the second period goal. The Prowlers then scored twice in the final minutes of the second stanza as Rob Swenson's long range shot got by Warroad goalie Jason Schnurr with 12:55 gone, starting the Prowler comeback effort.

John Wangberg brought the Prowlers to within 3-2, on an assist from Tom Goddard, with 1:09 remaining. Goddard, on assists from Jeff Bottem and Mike Protz, tied the game with 14:07 remaining of the third period, before the Prowler penalties were called.

Prowler goalie Pete Sullivan stopped 18 Warroad shots on goal while Schnurr kicked out 28 shots in the Warriors' nets.

THE PROWLER junior varsity skated to a 2-2 tie in the preliminary game with Rob Almquist and Ross Gutterud picking up the Thief River Falls goals.

UND has had 16 head basketball coaches.

WINNER of the valentine's day free throw shooting contest for the Lincoln high school basketball team was Randy Carlson (right), shown here receiving the traveling trophy from Phil Hess, sponsor of the event. Members of the Prowler squad took part in the second annual event as each player shot 100 free throws in groups of ten. Carlson turned in the top performance, hitting on 86 of his 100 tosses.

Spartans Defeat Warren Freshmen

Franklin junior high school freshman basketball team plays at Bemidji tonight (Wednesday) as the Spartans try to extend their modest three game winning streak.

Coach Bill Blankenfeld's freshman quint climbed over the .500 mark Saturday with a 64-42 triumph over Warren. Franklin improved its record to 5-4 with the win over the Warren frosh.

The Spartans led 16-6 at the first quarter stop against Warren, and pulled out to a 36-14 halftime bulge. Franklin led 46-35 after three quarters before outscoring the visitors 18-9 in the last stanza.

Jerry Sandahl led Franklin with 28 points while Wayne Peterson added 10 for the Spartans who shot at a deadly 50 per cent clip from the field.

The Spartans will also see action Sat., Feb. 26, when Franklin travels to Goodridge for an 8:30 contest.

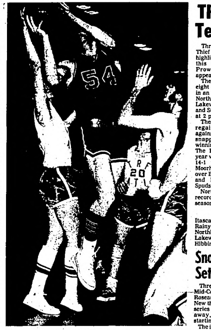
Sportsman's Club Meeting Tonight

Pennington county sportsman's club will hold its monthly meeting tonight (Wednesday), beginning at 8 o'clock, in the meeting room of the city auditorium.

A movie on wildlife in Alaska will be shown and lunch will be served. All interested area sportsmen are urged to attend.

MIKE RASCH gets tied up in heavy traffic as he tries to pass the ball during last night's Northland - vocational school basketball game in the Northland gym. The Northmen won the game 88-57, improving their record to 11-12 for the year, while the Aquarians ended their 1971-72 campaign with a 4-6 slate. Northland will be back in action this weekend when the Northmen travel to Hibbing and Grand Rapids for a pair of season - ending conference games.



NORTHLAND CENTER Tony Burke drives for a lay-up against the smaller vocational school team in last night's game in the NSJC gym. Burke, a 6-6 sophomore from Bemidji, made his last home appearance for the Northmen as the squad finishes its season with two road games this week. Burke has set new school records for both scoring and rebounding in a single season this year, while also erasing the old standard for career rebounds.

Northland Drubs AVS Five 88-57

Northland state junior college basketball team ended its 1971-72 home schedule last night with a lopsided 88-57 triumph over the Thief River Falls area vocational - technical school.

The win improved Northland's record to 11-12 for the year while Tech slipped to a final 4-6 mark. Northland will be back in action this weekend when the Northmen travel to Hibbing Friday night and to Grand Rapids Saturday afternoon for a pair of MJCAA conference games.

Northland rolled to a 21-12 first quarter lead as the Northmen raced to a 10-0 bulge before the Aquarians were able to score with 5:22 remaining in the first ten-minute stanza.

The Northmen continued to pull away from the smaller and less experienced Aquarians in the second quarter as Northland displayed an occasional well executed fast break to move out to a pair of 23-point leads enroute to a 45-24 halftime advantage.

After an Aquarian field goal to open the second half, the Northmen reeled off twelve straight points over a 3:15 span to post a 57-26 lead with 5:43 remaining in the third quarter.

Northland settled for a 30-point, 67-37, lead at the third stop before pulling out to their biggest lead of the game, 78-43, midway through the final quarter.

Sophomore guard Jay Forney was the game's high point man with 20 while Dale Hanson scored 16 and Mike Rasch 12 for the Northmen. Randy Nordine and Dan Swenson each collected ten points for the Aquarians.

Northland connected on 37 of 83 field goal attempts for a 44 per cent performance, compared to the Aquarians' mere 27 per cent production on 26 of 94 attempts. From the free throw line the Northmen shot 61 per cent on 14 of 23 while Tech made 5 of 14 charity tosses for a 35 per cent mark. Northland held a commanding 60-34 rebound advantage with Rasch pulling down 15, Tony Burke 11 and Kent Hanson, along with Jamie Tronnes had 10.

TRF Hockey Teams Home

Three hockey games in the Thief River Falls sports arena highlight the area sports action this weekend with both the Prowlers and the Northmen appearing at home.

The Prowlers will host region eight foe Moorhead Friday night in an 8 o'clock contest while the Northmen host MJCAA opponent Lakewood Saturday night at 7:30 and Sunday afternoon, beginning at 2 p.m.

The Prowlers will be trying to regain their winning ways against the Spuds after Warroad snapped their eleven game winning streak Tuesday night. The Prowlers are 14-5 for the year while Moorhead carries a 3-14-1 record into the game. Moorhead wins have been posted over Baudette (6-4), Hallock (3-1) and Fergus Falls (3-1). The Spuds tied Detroit Lakes 3-3.

Northland owns a 10-10 season record including a pair of early season triumphs over Lakewood.

Sno-Mo-Cade Is Set At Roseau

Three big events will mark the Mid-Continent Sno-Mo-Cade at Roseau on February 25-26-27. New this year will be a drag race series over a 1½ mile straightaway, running against new starting and timing devices.

The international cross-country race into Canada will again bring out some of the area's fastest drivers. The lap races on the half-mile oval will thrill fans in the Sunday afternoon grandstand event.

Activities begin Friday with everyone in the area urged to ride their snowmobiles to Roseau to partake in the bean feed at the municipal auditorium from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. During the day they can view displays of old snowmobiles, take tours of interest now being arranged and partake in a big dance in the auditorium that evening.

Saturday morning will feature the ultra-horsepower races at the Bonanza farms north of Roseau beginning at 8:30. Both Polaris and Arctic have scheduled their special machines for these races. Other classes will be held at the speed runs as well.

The international cross country race begins at 2:00 p.m. Saturday to be followed by a 7:00 o'clock victory banquet.

Oval track lap races occupy the Sunday program on the half-mile oval track. Stock and modified class races are highlighted by the powder-puff and La Verendrye tropy races, the latter for newsmen from both the U. S. and Canada.

There will be 100 per cent payback on entry fees with $300 cash awarded the high-point driver each day plus trophies.

Lunches are to be available at the grounds during the events and surrounding communities are nominating girls to compete for the title of Sno-Mo-Cade queen who will rule over festivities.

This is the ninth annual Sno-Mo-Cade sponsored by the Roseau Lions Club as a scholarship benefit.

Quarter Horse Show And Clinic

Plans are being made by members of Region 9-10, Minnesota Quarter Horse association to hold a clinic the last of April or the first part of May. Also being planned by the group is a horse show this coming summer. Hopefully this show will be Minnesota approved and state points may be gained.

Negotiations with Bob Bliss, president, Minnesota Quarter Horse association, are being held to determine the best time to have the show and whether it will be approved or not.

Inquiries about the organization and its goals may be directed to the president, Richard Pollick, Route 1, St. Hilaire 56754.

Seventh & Eighth Grade Basketball

Action in Franklin junior high school seventh and eighth grade basketball play Saturday, February 12, found the Knicks beating the Globetrotters 35-29 and the Bucks defeating the Kings 31-18.

The Knicks assured themselves of at least a tie for the league title with the victory over the Globetrotters as Brian Peterson and Mike Dahle scored 14 and 10 points respectively for the winners. Mark Folkedahl scored 14 points for the Globetrotters.

With only two games remaining, the Knicks need only one victory to clinch the title outright. The Lakers are the only team with hopes of upsetting the Knicks, but the Lakers must win all three of their remaining games to keep their title chances alive.

In Saturday's first game, Dave Peterson's 18 points paced the Bucks to their 31-18 triumph over the Kings. The Bucks limited the losers to just two points in the third quarter and only eight points in the entire second half. Russ Sparby and Brad Johnson each managed to score six points for the losing Kings.

Games scheduled for Sat., Feb. 19, will pit the Globetrotters against the Bucks at 9:30, and the Lakers against the Knicks at 10:30.

The current league standings are as follows:

Knicks	6	0
Lakers	3	2
Bucks	3	3
Globetrotters	2	3
Kings	0	6

Lincoln Cagers Travel To East Grand Forks Fri.

Lee Swanson's Lincoln high school basketball team will travel west to "East Side" Friday night when the Prowlers face the Green Wave in an important Big Five and district 31 game.

The Prowlers hold down first place in the Big Five Conference, but just by a single point over East Grand Forks. Each team has a 4-1 league record, but the Prowlers have five points and the Wave has four, along with Crookston. Swanson would also like to win to move the Prowlers into the top seed for the district 31 tournament March 6, 7 and 8 at UND.

Thief River Falls will enter the game with a 14-4 record, including a 73-59 win over East Grand Forks earlier this season. The Green Wave will present a 12-4 record following last night's 61-43 triumph over Grand Forks Central.

The Green Wave fast break offense will be led by the Big Five's leading scorer in senior forward Kurt Knoff. The 6-2 sharpshooter carries a 31.8 average in five conference starts while leading the league in shooting with a .653 percentage from the floor. Knoff also ranks among the conference leaders in rebounding with a 10.4 average.

The rest of the Green Wave line-up will probably find junior Rip Thompson (5-10) and senior Dean Avery (5-10) at guards, senior Bryan Johnson (6-1) at the other forward spot and senior Roger Hagen (6-3) at center. Avery leads the Big Five in assists with an average of six per game while Johnson carries an 11.4 scoring average in league action.

East Grand Forks leads the conference in four of the six team categories, including shooting percentage (.497), assists average (21.4), offensive average (83.8) and defensive average (56.8).

Meanwhile, the Prowlers boast of three men among the league's top five scorers with Rande Smith (18.5), Jeff Rhoden (16.0) and Ordean Peterson (15.4) ranking second, fourth and fifth in the scoring parade. Smith also leads the league in rebounding with a 19.8 average while Rhoden ranks second in rebounding (13.4) and fourth in shooting percentage (.557). Peterson ranks fifth in assists with an average of 3.7 per game while Kent Smith ranks fifth in free throw shooting with a .682 mark.

As a team, the Prowlers lead the league in rebounding (50.2), and rank second in assists (14.8), third in field goal percentage (.407), third in free throw shooting percentage (.580), third in offense (71.8) and third in defense (61.0).

Game time at the East Grand Forks senior high school gym will be 8 p.m., with junior varsity action slated for a 6:15 start.

The Prowlers will wind up their regular season action February 24 at home against Warren.

The Big Five Conference standings are as follows:

Bantam & Pee-Wee

The Thief River Falls Squirts continued their winning ways over the weekend as they extended their winning streak to five games and increased their record to 7-2.

On Saturday the Squirts defeated Bemidji 5-1, then on Sunday, a Steve Storhaug goal with 32 seconds gone in an overtime period, defeated Roseau 3-2. This weekend the Squirts will host Crookston Sunday at 3:30 in the old arena.

The Bantams competed in the district VFW tournament in East Grand Froks and finished in the second place. B.J. Broughton scored the hat trick in Thief River Falls' 4-2 semi-final win over Roseau, but East Grand Forks won the tourney by beating Thief River 10-4 in the championship game.

The Eagle Pee-Wees traveled to Fergus Falls for an invitational tournament on Saturday. They were beaten 6-4 by Fort Gary of Winnipeg in the first game and lost to Roseau 10-2 in consolation action.

The Bantam "B" team won two and lost one over the weekend for a 7-5-1 season record. On Friday the Bees defeated Crookston 13-1, but were beaten 7-3 by Red Lake Falls on Saturday. They finished the weekend activity with a 6-2 triumph over Roseau. The Bantam "B" team will host Crookston on Sunday afternoon in the new arena, beginning at 2 o'clock.

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL wrestling coach Ed Krystosek jokes with his three district 31 champions who will be competing in the region eight tournament Friday at Bemidji. The Prowler hopefuls include, left to right, Kurt Muzzy (98), Mark Kaushagen (155), Krystosek and Steve Thorstad (180). Serious wrestling action will begin at 12 noon Friday in the Bemidji state college gym. Consolation round matches will start at 7 and the finals will begin at 8 o'clock.

CHAMPIONS of the three events in the States Dominion bonspiel held Saturday and Sunday in the Thief River Curling club were these three out of town rinks. Winner of the first event was the Hank Monson rink of Grafton, N.D., (top photo). They defeated the David Guest rink of Winnipeg, Harold Halvorson of Thief River Falls, Leonard Bergstrom of Bemidji, Les Campbell of Winnipeg and the Jim LaBlanc of Winnipeg in an extra end for the championship. Members of the Monson rink include, left to right, skip Bob LaBonte, Frank Aasand, John Aasand and Hank Monson. Second event winner was the David Guest rink of Winnipeg (middle photo). Rink members include, left to right, skip Syd Parsons, Doug Honeyman, Bill Hudson and David Guest. Third event winner was the Lloyd Adam rink of Winnipeg (bottom photo). Squad members include, left to right, Bob Dennis, Lloyd Adam, skip Bill Bennett and Thom Fasano. The Thief River Curling will host its annual mixed bonspiel February 25, 26 and 27.

LHS Matmen Enter Region 8 Tourney

A wide open battle for the championship trophy is expected Friday when Bemidji state college hosts the annual region eight wrestling tournament, beginning at 12 noon. Consolation matches will start at 7 and the finals will be staged at 8 o'clock in the BSC gymnasium.

Among the teams expected to battle for the region crown are Grand Rapids, Bemidji, Greenbush, and Park Rapids. Each of those schools have eight wrestlers entered in the meet, while Fertile with seven and Mahnomen with five, are also entered into the title race.

Thief River Falls will be represented by three district 31 champions, Kurt Muzzy (98), Mark Kaushagen (155) and Steve Thorstad (180). Muzzy and Kaushagen both received first round byes in the tournament while Thorstad will face Dave Snobl of Bagley in his first round match. Thorstad pinned Snobl during dual meet competition this season.

Muzzy was seeded second in his 98 pound class, behind defending region champion Mike Hanlon of Bagley. Other top competitors in the bracket will be Jeff Dale of Fertile and Ricky Fulton of Bemidji.

Kaushagen will face the winner of the match pitting first seeded Jim Willie of Mahnomen against Rick Polaris of Cass Lake in quarter final action. Also expected to challenge for the 155 pound title are Kelly Lundin of Oklee, Rich Hedlund of Roseau and Mike Proudfoot of Park Rapids.

Among Thorstad's toughest challenges in the 180 pound class will be Jim Spaeth of Mahnomen, Brad Whelan of Bemidji and Ron Granum of Roseau. Granum has gained two decision over Thorstad this season, the Prowler senior's only losses all year.

Three 1971 champions return to defend their titles, including Hanlon, Mark Costello of Park Rapids at 105 and Murray Tiedeman of Crookston at 126. Hanlon and Costello will be seeking their third straight titles. Bemidji is the defending team champion.

Happy Acres

February meeting of the Happy Acres 4-H club was called to order February 8 by Vice President Nancy Finstad. Flag and 4-H pledges were said. Roll call was taken, and the leaders report was given. Nancy Hogan gave her radio speaking program talk for which she won second prize.

Old business was discussion of the play and "Share the Fun". New business included discussion of the winter show and the favorite food show. There was also a discussion on visiting the Thief River Falls water plant.

Reports were given by Lori Finstad on wildlife protection; Lisa Deterling on eating food with enough protein and vitamins, and by Lori Lundin on the favorite food show. Lunch was served by the Marlan Johnson and Ray Schindler families. Kraig Lerud, reporter.

Elementary Cage Play-offs Begin

Thief River Falls elementary school basketball play-offs were scheduled to begin this afternoon (Wednesday), with eight teams fighting for the eventual championship.

Games scheduled today found the Knox Celtics facing either the Mark Twain Panthers or the Mark Twain Trotters at 4 o'clock, with the Knox Spartans taking on St. Hilaire in the second game.

Friday afternoon the Washington Lakers will play the Northrop Green Wave at 4, and the Washington Bucks tackle the Northrop Bullets in the second contest.

Semi-final action will take place Wednesday, February 23, with the winner of the Knox Celtics-Mark Twain game facing the St. Hilaire - Knox Spartan winner at 4 o'clock. In the second game, the winner of the Washington Lakers - Northrop Green Wave game will play the winner of the Washington Bucks-Northrop Bullets contest.

All first and second round games will be played at Knox school, with the championship game scheduled for Sat., Feb. 26, in the Lincoln high school gym, beginning at 1 p.m. All eight teams will see action the final Saturday, with consolation, third place and championship games scheduled.

The citizens of the Town of Hickory, in the county of Pennington, State of Minnesota, who are qualified to vote at general elections are hereby notified that the annual town meeting for Hickory township will be held at the Hickory Town Hall, on Tuesday, the 14th day of March, 1972, between the hours of 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. for the following purposes: To elect one supervisor for the term of three years, to elect one clerk and justice of the peace for two years and to transact any other business proper to be done at said meeting when convened. Anyone wishing to file for office may do so with the clerk on or before the 28th day of February, 1972. Selma T. Johnson, Clerk of Hickory Township. 1t14c

Card of Thanks
I would like to express my thanks to all my friends and relatives who visited me while I was in the hospital, also thanks to those who sent cards and letters. Thanks to Dr. Van Rooy and the Nurses for their wonderful care. Your kindness will always be remembered. God Bless you all. Mr. Arne Markuson. 1t14p

Card of Thanks
I wish to thank everyone who visited me and sent cards, gifts and flowers while I was in Deaconess and Northwestern hospitals. A special thanks to Fr. Patnode and Fr. Bernauer for their many visits and prayers. God Bless you all. Mrs. Agnes Reller. 1t14p

Card of Thanks
We wish to express our sincere thanks to the many friends, neighbors and relatives for all the kindness and expressions of sympathy shown us after the death of our beloved husband, brother, and uncle Clarence A. Wold. Thanks to Pastor Ivan Carlson and Pastor David Molstre, Mrs. Edsel Lindquist the organist and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hanson for their songs; the pallbearers and the circle of the Evangelical Free church for serving lunch. May God Bless you as you have comforted us during this time of sorrow. Mrs. Clarence Wold and his brothers and sisters. 1t14c

Card of Thanks
We wish to express our thanks and appreciation for the many acts of kindness and sympathy shown us during the illness and death of our brother Edward G. Graff. We especially want to thank Rev. Biegner for his comforting words and his many visits to the hospital; Mrs. Hammer for the songs, the ladies who sent food for the lunch, to Mrs. Ann Muzzy for serving the lunch and to all who sent memorial gifts and flowers. May God bless you. The family of Edward G. Graff 1t14p

VA Disbursed $221.8 Million In Minnesota

Veterans administration disbursed over $221.8 million in Minnesota during fiscal year 1971, an increase of more than $22.1 million over the previous year. Payments in Pennington county were $458,083.

In announcing the federal agency's expenditures for the state, John R. Murphy, director of the St. Paul VA center, said today that close to one-half the total, about $111.7 million, represented disability compensation and pension payments to veterans, their dependents and survivors.

More than $35.2 million provided for GI bill educational vocational rehabilitation programs for Minnesota veterans, and over $16.1 million was for insurance and indemnities, he said.

Much of the remainder went for construction and operating costs for the Minneapolis and St. Cloud VA hospitals and the VA center located at Fort Snelling.

In Hennepin County, disbursements totaled more than $88.8 million, of which $41 million was for construction and hospital and regional office operating costs, and over $32.7 million paid in compensation and pensions, Murphy said.

In Ramsey county, the VA expended over $21.7 million, with more than $14.8 million for compensation and pension benefits.

Payments in Stearns county, where the VA hospital at St. Cloud is located, totaled $14.2 million, with almost $10 million for construction and hospital operating costs. Compensation and pension payments amounted to over $2.7 million.

Women Voters Will Present Resolutions

Ecology, housing and quality of opportunity are three areas of concern covered by resolutions being prepared by the League of Women Voters of Minnesota to be presented by their members at the political party caucuses, Feb. 22.

Mary Ann McCoy, president of the League of Women Voters of Minnesota says, "Although the league is non-partisan in its activities, it strongly urges its 5,400 members to participate actively in political parties, not only as good citizens, but as an effective way to impliment league positions."

To improve the quality of the environment, the league recommends that an office of environmental quality be established to oversee all state programs dealing with the environment in Minnesota. It also recommends that the state government increase its appropriations for improving sewage treatment plants in order to qualify for maximum federal assistance and also that there be mandatory vehicle inspection for air quality control.

The time is past for empty talk that sounds good, but in fact amounts to nothing. Positive steps must be taken now because the time lag between the passage of the law and the implementation of the law is often measured in years—the time is running out, says the league.

To improve the housing situation, the league recommends that regional and metropolitan housing assistance and development agencies be established to prevent haphazard growth and to promote economic integration by providing housing for low and moderate income families.

In addition, it suggests that state and local tax structures be examined and revised to benefit communities that build housing for lower income families, encourage private owners to improve their homes, and reduce speculative land costs.

The league is seeking the extension of the Minnesota state act against discrimination to prohibit discrimination on the basis of sex in the areas of education, public services, housing and public accommodations. And to give teeth to the law, it recommends that the department of human rights receive adequate funding to carry out the provisions of the Minnesota state act against discrimination.

Students Find Loans Can Mortgage Future

by Valerie Cunningham

For more and more students at the University of Minnesota—and across the nation—receiving a college degree signals not only the start of a new life but the beginning of a long period of indebtedness.

To get through school these days, with tuition increasing, part-time jobs decreasing and a rising inflation, more and more students are having to borrow a great deal of money.

The office of student financial aid on the Twin Cities campus has a study which shows that the average debt of a graduating senior who received loans for school was $2,068 last year, ranging from $100 to $5,167 for the individual student. And the amount of students' indebtedness is steadily increasing.

After a grace period, usually nine months after leaving school, payments on those college loans begin:

Whether the student has found a job, which is becoming harder and harder to do, especially for students with general liberal arts degrees;

And whether he has borrowed money from several sources, requiring three or more separate payments a month.

The financial aid office figures it costs about $2,400 to $2,700 a year to attend the university for a student living on or near the campus. Even if he works—and 75 per cent of the students in any quarter hold part-time jobs—and even if his parents contribute, he'll still need some financial aid.

Student Cases

Anne graduated from the university two years ago with a major in art history. She hasn't been able to find a job in her field and is now working as an aide in a nursing home, earning $216 a month after taxes. Out of this comes rent for a one-room apartment, upkeep on an old car, food for herself and a cat, and $35 every month to pay for a $1000 loan she took out to get through her senior year.

After graduating three years ago, Pat got a job and has spent nearly all of those years heavily in debt. She used three different kinds of loan programs to get through college, for a total debt of nearly $4,000. Out of a monthly take-home pay of $412 she has paid a total of $135 each month to three different lending institutions.

Another student is still in school, in his senior year. He has a wife and three children and owes $9,470 to four different sources. He's majoring in education but with the current overflow of teachers he may find it difficult to get a job after graduation. Even if he does find one he's going to have a difficult time making all his loan payments.

Middle-Income Loans

What these three people have in common—other than a long period of hand-to-mouth budgeting while they pay off their loans—is that they all come from middle-income families.

Although their parents did not have enough income to contribute much to their education, what they did earn was enough to cut the students off from several kinds of aid programs whose major criterion is low family income.

The student from a middle-income family, then, is frequently left to fend for himself through loan programs. The two most frequently used by college students are the Guaranteed Student Loan (GSL) program, referred to as bank loans, and National Defense Student loans.

Too Easy To Get

A student can borrow up to $1,500 a school year from a bank offering GSL loans, simply by indicating the amount he wants to borrow. Last year more than one million students in the U.S. borrowed more than $1 billion through this program, for an average of a $1,000 loan per borrower.

"If the bank's got it, they'll probably lend it to him," said Samuel Lewis, head of the university's financial aid office. And that's what worries him. "The loans are so easy to get," he said, "that I don't feel some students think about the type of indebtedness they're getting into."

What Lewis would like to see is more control of the program. "There should be some sort of need criterion and the educational institution ought to have something to say about whether a student should get one," Lewis said. "At the very least, the banks should check with us to see if the student is actually enrolled at the university."

However, Lewis feels that the bank loan's disadvantages must be balanced against the number of students it allows to go to school. He estimated that about 10,000 students at the Twin Cities campus, one-fourth of the student body, receive bank loans each year. (Minnesota holds the dubious distinction of having the highest average loan rate in the GSL program in the nation.)

Defense Loans Better

A better loan program, from the financial aid office's point of view, is the National Defense Student Loan (NDSL) program.

"It's a better program because it's based on a student's need," Lewis said. "The Maximum a student can borrow for a school year is $1,000; he has to file proof that he is enrolled in a degree-program in day school and his parents must file a financial statement."

Another advantage is that payments on NDSL loans are spread over a 10-year period, often with quarterly payments, compared to bank loans which require monthly payments.

However, as with other federal aid programs for students, the amount of money available is simply not enough to meet the need, so federal guidelines suggest that NDSL loans go first to students with the highest financial need, which often means they go to students from low-income families.

"There are a lot of students borrowing from banks who could have received a National Defense loan if we had the money," Lewis said.

He acknowledged that the current aid situation for students from middle-income families could produce a double bind. Forced to borrow once from a bank, many students continue to do so, because of the ease of obtaining a loan and the availability of money.

As more and more students take this route it may begin to appear, on the surface, that there is no need for large increases in federal aid programs. The GSL loan program could become the only readily available aid for middle-income students.

'Starve, Don't Borrow'

Neither the bank loans nor the National Defense program require collateral or a co-signer. When a student graduates it's his debt.

And it may make the difference, for several years, between a trip to Europe, a larger apartment, a car or even a marriage—especially if both the man and the woman are heavily in debt.

As one university graduate put it: "I just don't believe how bleak the last two years have been. Up until now even buying a record album was a real luxury.

"If anyone ever asks me, I'd advise them not to take out any loans. Drop out of school and get a fulltime job for awhile, or starve—but don't borrow a dime."

Offer Pamphlets For Cyclists, Pedestrians

Two new highway safety pamphlets have now been published and are available for distribution, Minnesota Department of Public Safety Commissioner W. R. Hoaglund announced today.

One is "Walking for Life," a booklet designed for pedestrians of all ages. Printed in 50,000 copies, this booklet will be distributed principally through highway patrol safety education officers to the schools of the state.

The other, entitled "Bicycling Can Be Fun and Safe, Too," deals with do's and don'ts for bicyclists, information on reflectorization and traffic signs, the law as it relates to bike drivers, and how to choose the right bike and equipment. This booklet also will be distributed principally through the schools.

These booklets are also available in quantity to law enforcement agencies and organizations that conduct safety programs for cyclists and pedestrians of all ages.

Schools throughout the state may contact these highway patrol officers for materials as well as safety presentations to students. There are 11 safety education officers throughout the state, with one assigned to each of the highway patrol district headquarters. These are located at Rochester, Mankato, Thief River Falls, Marshall, St. Cloud, Duluth, Brainerd, Detroit Lakes, Virginia, and two in the Twin Cities metropolitan area.

	Saturday Ephesians 1:3-11

When does a baby start to think?

Nobody knows, but thoughts come by association. Baby eagerly responds to the sight of a bottle. Experience proves that the bottle offers both satisfaction and comfort.

Because baby does learn by association, it is important that parents expand their children's horizons. A very small child will respond to a simple prayer. And a child of three will enjoy attending Church School geared for youngsters of that age.

Religious instruction and guidance is not only for the mature — it is needed regularly by everyone. The spiritual life of your child needs constant cultivation and the mind needs day by day development.

TRAVELING MAN

Wives of traveling businessmen are experts in the art of packing. These days he needs more than a few clean shirts to present himself successfully. To take care of his pressing problems, buy him one of the new mini steam wrinkle removers. Keep his samples from falling out of his portfolio by sealing the bottom of the acetate carriers with Scotch book tape to form a pocket. Clean his attaché case with Scotch desk and office cleaner. (You can learn something from his secretary!) Tuck an encouraging note in his suitcase — a little inspiration may be just what he needs to get him through a difficult meeting.

Kids . . . that's what PTA is all about. It began 75 years ago in February, 1897, when founders Alice McLellan Birney and Phoebe Apperson Hearst recognized the need for improving the conditions affecting children and youth. Since that time, the National PTA has been instrumental in activities ranging from the establishment of hot lunch programs to lobbying for the passage of the recently enacted Drug Abuse Education Act. PTA believes that if a single child is lost, a part of the nation is also lost. As in 1897, PTA continues to help parents, teachers and students provide a better life for children growing up in modern America.

"Thank God every morning when you get up that you have something to do that day which must be done, whether you like it or not. Being forced to work, and forced to do your best, will breed in your temperance and self-control, diligence and strength of will, cheerfulness and content, and a hundred virtues which the idle never know." —Charles Kingsley

A Tough Decision

Members of the Thief River Falls board of education face a tough decision in finding a method or methods of providing needed school space. Of current interest is the possibility of securing and utilizing the downtown plant of Arctic Enterprises which is available.

Looking forward to next fall and to the next several years, acquisition of the building would solve a lot of immediate problems. It would provide expansion space which would not only take the pressure off existing buildings but would permit changes providing for greater utility of existing buildings.

On a cost per square foot basis, the purchase or lease-purchase price is not excessive. The vocational center school, which has been carried on experimentally on a controlled basis and is now being greatly expanded, would have an immediate home. There could be consolidation of some offices and services which might be helpful in the total school operation.

On the other hand, the building being considered was not built for school purposes. Most of it is not of the type of construction which is generally considered long-term, permanent construction. Location, although within walking distance of the senior high school, is not the most desirable. Adding yet another building would further decentralize local post-elementary educational facilities. Movement of students from one building to another during the school day is acceptable but not the most efficient.

Quite likely the building is not a solution to the long term needs of the district. Lease-purchase of the Arctic plant would be a means of buying time, and the probable question which the board must answer is whether the cost of that time is reasonable or too high.

It seems that each school bond issue which the people of this or any other community has passed has been sold on the basis that it would provide for the needs of the district "for the foreseeable future". At least on a local basis, we think these have been honest appraisals. For Thief River Falls, the "foreseeable future" has evaporated into the "immediate crises" much sooner than anyone connected with education thought it would.

Residents of the district may be assured that additional space will have to be provided to meet the needs of students. That space will cost money. The more permanent the buildings and the longer the term for which they are built the more they will cost. The most economical immediate solution is acquisition of the Arctic plant.

The answer to the question of what to do depends on your perspective. If you're looking at next year's taxes, acquiring the most economical immediate space is the reasonable way to go. If you're looking very far beyond the mid-1970s, it makes sense to do it right the first time.

The Monday night informational meeting at Lincoln high school at 8 p.m. is intended to inform the public. That's the place to get the facts straight. We are sure the board and administration would appreciate a representative turn-out and a reflection of public opinion to guide their actions. A final decision will be made very soon.

Dangerous Pickles?

With tongue in cheek, we pass along the following letter which was written to the Nordic Times of Northglenn high school at Northglenn, Colo.:

"Dear Editor:

"With all of the attention being showered upon dangerous drugs, immorality, atomic weapons and threats to the environment, I believe that attention must be focused upon the most serious threat of all to our existence, the pickle. Too long has this danger been ignored!

"Every pickle you eat brings you nearer to death. Amazingly, man has failed to grasp the terrifying significance of the term "in a pickle." Although leading horticulturists have long known the dangers of cucumis staivus, traffic in pickles continues to expand.

"Fact! Nearly all sick people have eaten pickles. The effects are obviously cumulative.

"Fact! 93.1 per cent of juvenile delinquents come from homes where pickles are served frequently.

"Fact! Surveys of cucumber eaters show they started experimenting with pickles at an early age.

"Fact! Of the people born in 1839 who later dined on pickles, there has been a 100 per cent mortality rate.

"Fact! Most pickle eaters born between 1890 and 1900 have wrinkled skin, have lost most of their teeth, have brittle bones and failing eyesight.

"Fact! Even more convincing is the report of a team of medical specialists: Rats force-fed with 20 pounds of pickles a day or 30 days developed bulging abdomens. Their appetites for wholesome foods were destroyed.

"What makes the pickle so frightening is the fact that little is known about its pharmocology, and that no basic research into the biochemical properties of pickles is being done. I trust that students seeking a relevant issue to focus their attention upon, will no longer be led astray by the establishment stratagem of ecology, sex, drugs, and peace, and will address their actions toward elimination of the real threat to our survival, the pickle."

Poor Management?

St. Paul Pioneer Press recently had the following to say about the Minnesota tax situation:

The Minnesota State Tax Department collected nearly $1 billion in revenues during 1971 ($992.9 million, to be more exact). In 1970, the tax collections amounted to $907.9 million. Basically, the tax formulas for the two years were about the same. It can be concluded, then, that natural economic growth increased by about 9 per cent from 1970 to 1971. Tax collections undoubtedly would have shown a better rate of annual increase had the economy of the state and nation been better.

The effect of economic factors can be seen in the reduction of corporate income taxes by about $5 million from 1970 to 1971. The year 1971, it seems, was not a good year for business firms in the state.

Most of the annual growth in tax receipts derives from the personal income and sales taxes, and the special excise taxes on cigarettes and gasoline. The Tax Department figures do not include revenues from liquor taxes, as these and a few other special taxes are collected by other departments.

An annual increase of 9 per cent in tax collections is not bad in times of a sluggish economy. It meant that the state, even without revising tax formulas, had at least $85 million more to spend in 1971 than in 1970. Projecting the increased tax revenues over a biennium, the state could budget for nearly $200 million in additional income.

That's what the state could do. But that is not what state government is doing. Lawmakers, goaded by the governor, not only made quick work of spending the natural growth tax revenues, but enacted measures to collect almost $600 million in additional tax dollars during the biennium. True, some of those additional tax dollars will result in lowered property taxes for schools and local governments. But in no case will that property tax relief come close to the additional tax dollars exacted from individuals and business firms of the state.

A well-managed government, it seems, should be able to plan its budget so that spending increases reflect the natural growth in tax increases. That is the way people plan their budgets, and that is the way businesses plan their budgets. Why not governments?

It is appropriate, even desirable, that government strives to enact tax reforms, replacing inequitable tax measures with a revenue-producing system that represents ability to pay. But the 1971-enacted increases in the sales tax and income taxes of individuals and corporations did very little in many areas of the state to lessen the burdens on the inequitable property tax. The net effect of the 1971 tax bill, then, was not real tax reform. It resulted in higher rates for some forms of taxation (sales and income) with only minimal reductions in the property tax—reductions that very well may prove to be temporary.

A government that cannot manage its finances to the point where new spending does not exceed natural growth revenues—particularly when that growth amounts to nearly 10 per cent a year—is a poorly managed government. And that, Minnesotans, is the situation today.

To many travellers on Highway 52 west from St. Cloud, Collegeville is just a signpost. Many pass by, unaware that the sign indicates a road which leads to one of Minnesota's most unusual communities.

Despite its name, Collegeville is more than a college village. It is the site of St. John's university, St. John's preparatory school, St. John's seminary and St. John's abbey. It is an entire community of students, monks and buildings dedicated to religion and education, all administered by the Catholic Order of St. Benedict.

In 1954, the community announced the beginning of a 100-year building plan. In explaining such a long-term project, Abbot John Dworschak said, "After all, what are a few generations to the Benedictines?"

Since then, Collegeville has built a new dormitory, the Abbey church, the liturgical press building, preparatory school buildings, a new library, a science building, a sanitation service facility, a student union and a recreation center.

But St. John's church is what really stuns visitors to this community of 2,000. Designed by the famed Hungarian architect Marcel Breuer, the $2.5 million structure is large enough to seat the entire population of Collegeville.

The tremendous concrete bell banner fronting the church contains five million pounds of concrete. All the stone in the building came from the quarries at Cold Spring, about 15 miles away, except for the white granite of the altar, which came from Vermont.

Visitors are encouraged to tour the church and pamphlets are provided to help explain its unusual architecture.

St John's, and Collegeville, was established by an act of the Assembly of the Territory of Minnesota in 1857. The century-long building plan is expected to increase enrollment in its institutions while maintaining the traditional, Benedictine family atmosphere of the campus.

All told, Collegeville is well worth a brief side trip during that journey to Minnesota's lakes district.

Economic Stabilization

Questions and Answers

Internal Revenue Service

Q—Are small retailers subject to the price commission's posting requirements?

A—Retailers with sales of less than $100,000 are not subject to price controls, including price commission posting requirements.

Retailers with annual revenues of $100,000 or more but less than $200,000 do not have to post signs listing the base prices or signs announcing the availability of base price information. However, these retailers are still required to make available base price information if asked by customers. They are also still subject to monitoring and spot checking by the Internal Revenue service and must make available to the IRS documentation of base prices if requested.

Generally, retailers with sales of $200,000 or more must fully comply with the posting requirements.

Q—Are restaurants treated as retailers or service organizations under the economic stabilization program?

A—A restaurant is considered a service organization. This means that restaurants are not subject to price commission base price posting requirements as are the large retailers

Q—Should I contact the IRS with questions about phase two dividend guidelines?

A—No Persons with questions concerning dividends should contact their local department of commerce field office.

Q—What types of rental units are exempt from controls?

A—The following types of rental units are exempt from controls:

(1) Industrial, farm and non-residential commercial property;

(2) Rental units on which construction is completed and a certificate of occupancy or similar document is issued for the first time after August 15, 1971;

(3) Rehabilitated dwellings for which the cost of rehabilitation exceeds one-third of the total value of the rehabilitiated property and for which a certificate of occupancy or similar document is issued for the first time after August 15, 1972;

(4) Apartment units renting for $500 a month or more;

(5) Owner-occupied dwellings of four or less units having longer than a month-to-month rental agreement; and

(6) Single family rental dwellings rented for longer than month-to-month periods where the landlord owns four units or less.

Q—What are the rules employers should follow in making payments of retroactive pay in accordance with the recent amendments to the economic stabilization act of 1970?

A—In general, where increases were called for in employment agreements, or practices that were agreed to or were in effect before the freeze was imposed on August 15, 1971, but were prevented from being paid because of the freeze, retroactive payment of salaries and wages, including fringe benefits, of no more than seven per cent is permitted.

If before August 15, 1971, employers had raised prices, increased productivity, raised taxes, made appropriations or otherwise raised funds to cover pay hikes prevented by the freeze, retroactive pay increases are to be granted regardless of the amount of increase.

Category II and III employers whose increases amount to seven per cent or less, or who meet the requirements of having raised funds for increases, may make payment without prior approval from the pay board. However, they must report their actions by letter to the Internal Revenue service within 20 days after payment. Where retroactive payment in such instances would amount to more than seven per cent, it may be permitted after approval by the pay board.

Category I employers must prenotify the pay board before granting retroactive pay regardless of the amount or circumstance. If the board does not challenge such increases within two weeks, they may be paid.

When meteorologists came up with the chill factor, it explained why we can feel a whole lot colder today at 10 degrees Fahrenheit than we did yesterday with an identical reading on the thermometer.

Wind makes the difference. A mere 20 miles per hour—hardly uncommon in the winter months—hits us with the bone-chilling equivalent of 25 below zero, even though the mercury reads a modest ten. That's two and a half times as cold.

Should the wind reach 40 mph, as it easily does during a January blizzard, the chill factor delivers an effective temperature of minus 37 degrees.

Wind-driven chill places a heavy burden on home heating systems, greatly accelerating heat loss through the walls and roof of the house. Fuel consumption soars accordingly as we jack up the thermostat to maintain a semblance of comfort.

Storm windows and weatherstripping around doors are highly desirable. They help hold drafts and cold air currents to a tolerable level while the wind howls outside.

But, according to experts at W. R. Grace & Co. Construction Products Division, the attic is highly vulnerable to wind-driven chill. Frigid air forces itself under the shingles, literally refrigerating the space beneath the rafters.

To reduce heat loss through ceilings of the rooms below, they recommend pouring a few inches of Zonolite vermiculite granules over existing attic insulation. Supplied in bags, the loose-fill material flows readily between the joists; can be leveled with a board to the desirable six inch depth.

This simple step is said to reduce home heating bills as much as 40-60%, and takes much of the sting out of the chill factor.

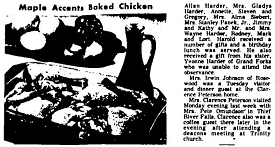
Maple Accents Baked Chicken



When you find chicken at bargain prices, treat the family to Mapley Baked Chicken. A flavorful marinade, based on maple-blended syrup, is seasoned in the Oriental fashion with soy sauce, garlic and onion. The chicken, basted with the marinade during baking, has a special flavor your family will enjoy.

When you purchase the Aunt Jemima Syrup for this recipe you'll notice that it's now packaged in new plastic bottles. These lightweight, shatter-resistant bottles are drip proof and contain the same delicious syrup you know from previous use.

MAPLEY BAKED CHICKEN

Makes 8 servings

Marinade:
1 cup maple-blended syrup
¼ cup lemon juice
¼ cup soy sauce
1 clove garlic, minced
½ cup chopped onion
¼ cup chopped green pepper
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
Two 2½-lb. frying chickens, cut in pieces

Combine the marinade ingredients and pour over chicken pieces in shallow baking pan. Cover; refrigerate at least 3 hours, turning chicken several times. Drain chicken, reserving marinade.

Arrange chicken pieces, skin side down, in shallow baking pan or dish. Baste with ⅓ of marinade. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350°F.) 20 minutes. Baste with ⅓ of marinade; bake 20 minutes. Turn chicken pieces, baste with remaining ⅓ of marinade. Bake an additional 20 minutes. Baste with pan juices.

HONOR DAIRYMEN for Pennington county, Mr. and Mrs Marvin Koop of Thief River Falls were honored Friday evening at the Red River Valley Winter shows. They are shown above in the farm kitchen, posting entries to the account book used for their participation in the farm management program of the Thief River Falls area vocational - technical school.

Koops Are Selected As Honor Dairymen

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

Honored Friday evening at the Red River Valley Winter shows as honor dairymen for Pennington county were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Koop of Thief River Falls. Koop gave the response for dairymen at the banquet, held annually to honor dairy producers in the Red River Valley.

For many years the Koop farm was known for its herd of Guernsey cattle, but the herd of 25 head of milking cows is now almost equally divided between Guernseys and Holsteins. And while owners of the two breeds may sometimes disagree on advantages of one breed or another, the brown - and - white cows and black - and - white cows scarcely seem to notice the difference.

The Koop farm was acquired by Marvin's father, Fred, shortly after coming here from Illinois about 1920. It is located two miles south and a mile west of Thief River Falls, and consists of 320 acres of land, all open for farming. In addition to the milking herd of 25 cows, Koop has about 60 head of young stock on the farm—including a number of Holstein calves which will be marketed as feeder steers at 450 to 500 pounds.

Koop has been a participant in the farm management program of the area vocational - technical school for 15 years, and Mrs. Koop has been employed recently in bookkeeping for the school's record analysis reports. The herd is on DHIA test and the farm operates under a farm plan prepared in cooperation with the Pennington Soil and Water Conservation district.

A basic four-year rotation is used on the farm, with annual production including about 40 acres of pasture, 40 acres of hay, 15 acres of corn for silage, 40 acres of oats - wheat - barley mixture for feed and the remainder for cash grain crops, mostly wheat and oats.

Since there is no silo on the Koop farm, the corn cut for silage is piled and packed, then fed with a tractor and loader. Most of the silage is fed as a supplement to late fall pasture and during the early winter.

Happy with the results of his mixture of oats - wheat - barley for feed, Koop seeds a mixture of about two bushels of oats, half a bushel of wheat and half a bushel of barley per acre. To reduce the problem of variance in maturity of the different crops, he tries to select varieties with about the same maturity.

In 1960 Marvin assumed full operation of the farm when his father retired. He had been married on Feb. 2, 1957, to Shirley Santl of Roseau, and they moved into the Koop farm home in 1960. Two years later they lost their dairy barn in a fire. That same year it was replaced with a 34x60 structure, and in 1970 a 40x60 barn was attached, forming a T-shaped complex. Until the 1970 construction, the Koops had rented a nearby barn from a neighbor. The farm has been a

INTO THE TANK goes more of the milk produced by the Marvin Koop dairy herd on the Koop farm two miles south and a mile west of Thief River Falls. The farm became a Grade A dairy operation in 1962 after a new barn was built to replace one which had burned.

DAIRY PRODUCTS have a prominent place on the table at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Koop, honor dairymen for Pennington county. Topping the list of wholesome dairy foods is plenty of cold, fresh milk—consumed in quantity by the Koops' three growing children, Karen, Marilyn and Tom.

Local Girl Is Queen Attendant

Debbie Halvorson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Halvorson of Thief River Falls, was named an attendant to the Mid-Continent Sno-Mo-Cade queen at Roseau Friday night. She will participate in other events of the Sno-Mo-Cade this weekend. Named queen was Marcia Olson of Roseau.

RRV Crop Show Has 809 Exhibits

Red River Valley 1972 Winter Crop show opened with the largest number of entries and exhibits in the history of the crop shows. The facilities for display are completely filled with some 809 exhibits.

Larry Vanderin of Red Lake Falls had the champion hay.

'70 Census Shows 3,903 Homes In County Have TV

Census of housing for 1970 counted 4,451 housing units in Pennington county, and 3,903 households had at least one television set (586 UHF-equipped), the bureau of the census, U.S. Department of Commerce, announced today. The figures are from the first report for Minnesota which presents detailed statistics on housing for each county.

The report shows that in the county there were 267 housing units with air conditioning (230 with room units and 37 with a central system), 3,402 units with a clothes washing machine, 2,124 with a clothes dryer, and 421 with a dishwasher.

The 1970 population was 13,266, with an average of 3.1 persons per housing unit.

A total of 3,089 housing units were built before 1949, 496 during the 1950's, 266 during 1960-64, and 277 within the five years preceding the April 1970 census.

Utility gas was used to cook the meals in 742 households, electricity in another 2,533, and bottled, tank, or LP gas in yet another 831.

There were 3,901 occupied housing units with complete kitchen facilities and 3,643 with complete bathrooms, both for the exclusive use of the households. The number of bedrooms in all housing units ranged from none (in 226 units) and one (in 779 units) to four or more (in 696 units).

Owners occupied 3,085 units, renters 1,079 units and a total of 264 units were vacant year round with 27 for sale and 76 for rent.

Copies of the report, Detailed Characteristics, 1970 Census of Housing, Minnesota, HC(1)-B25, are available for $2.50 each from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402, or from U.S. Department of Commerce field offices located in major cities.

Horse Drawing Contest Winners Are Announced

Officials of the 1972 grade school competition for horse drawing, a feature of the Red River Valley Winter shows, have announced several local winners in the event from the nearly 700 entries in the final round of judging. Nearly 1,200 drawings had been screened previously.

Michael Brateng of Grygla won first place in the first grade division. Keith Hanson of Goodridge took first place in the second grade division of the drawing contest. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hanson. Laurie C. Reep, Red Lake Falls, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Reep, won first place in the sixth grade division. She is a student at St. Hilaire school.

Among the 31 elementary school pupils receiving honorable mention awards for their horse drawings were Rodney Hagen, Grygla; Mike Johnson, St. Hilaire; Brian Schultz, Red Lake Falls; and Eileen Evenson, a student at St. Hilaire elementary school.

Arctic Conducts Grafton Survey

Labor survey of Grafton, N.D., and the surrounding area was conducted last Thursday by the garment division of Arctic Enterprises of Thief River Falls. The company took applications for power sewing machine operators, cloth cutters and cloth spreaders. The applications were used to determine the supply of labor available in the Grafton area.

Grafton officials, in urging a large turnout of applicants, said they were hopeful that from 600 to 1,000 persons would register in Grafton on Thursday. If that number of registrants were reached, they said they expected further announcements on the project to be made in the near future.

To Start Course On Premarriage

Starting at 2 p.m. on Sunday at St. Bernard's parish hall in Thief River Falls, under sponsorship of Our Lady Of Lourdes Knights Of Columbus council, will be the first of four weekly premarriage programs.

No preregistration is necessary; simply arrive a few minutes early for the first meeting.

Through the use of movies, recorded presentations, pamphlets and speakers, a complete marriage preparation course will be given. The public is cordially invited to attend.

To Air School Proposal At Meet Tonight

Public board meeting for discussion of the Arctic Enterprises plant as potential school space will be held tonight (Monday) at 8 p.m. in Lincoln senior high school. All persons interested in the local school situation are invited to attend the meeting. There will be opportunity for questions from the public and discussion of proposals and alternatives.

A small attendance was noted at open house at the Arctic building Thursday evening, at least part of which is attributed to stormy weather. Administrators did conduct several tours of the building.

Pennington SCD To Elect New Dist. Supervisor

A new supervisor for the Pennington Soil and Water Conservation district will be elected on March 14. The position will be filled from the townships of Goodridge, Hickory, Star and Reiner.

Garfield Iverson of Goodridge is the present supervisor representing these four townships. Iverson has served a five-year term and has decided not to seek re-election. Anyone interested in running for the position should contact the soil conservation district office in Thief River Falls, or see Garfield Iverson at Goodridge. Nominations close February 29. Township elections are March 14.

District supervisors have an important role to play in promoting good land use along with the needed soil and water conservation practices.

CHAIRMAN of the center school board for vocational-technical education is Wallace Sparby of Thief River Falls. Members of the board will meet with superintendents of the districts involved on March 13 to further discuss plans for the vocational center next fall.

VOCATIONAL - TECHNICAL education was the topic of discussion for area leaders in that field on Thursday in Thief River Falls. Mrs. Joleen Durken, coordinator of secondary vocational education programs for the state department of education, is shown at right reviewing materials with area and state officials. Standing are Art Hagge, left, Plummer, and Orlin Hanson, Goodridge, members of the vocational center school board. Seated are William Mamel, left, supervisor of industrial arts education, and Jerry Schmehl, consulting supervisor in program planning and development for vocational - technical education, both from the state department of education.

Tourism Is Subject For Historical Meet

"Historical Romance of the Red River Valley" will be the topic for the main address by M. J. G. McMullen in Thief River Falls Friday evening. Known as "Mr. Manitoba" for his promotional efforts, McMullen will address a regional tourism and travel conference at 6:30 p.m. in St. Bernard's Catholic church.

The conference is sponsored jointly by Red River Land, N.A., the Red River Valley historical society and the Pennington county historical society. Emphasis will be placed on the theme of "Heritage-Tourism and Travel" as a dynamic new rural area economic development concept for the Manitoba, Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota Red River Valley area.

Representatives of Red River Land will be present to explain the group's new Valley-wide tourist development program and how each community can benefit from it, according to Mrs. Inga Geving, president of the Pennington county historical society. "They will show how each town will be provided with an opportunity to reach over a quarter of a million tourists and travelers from all over the world with its message," she said.

Expected to be particularly interested in attending are mayors, Chamber of Commerce officers and directors, city council members, historical society officers and members, business leaders, lay historians and others interested in the growth of their communities and the heritage of the Red River Valley. Reservations may be made locally by calling Mrs. Kenneth Lindberg at 681-2422, and should be made as soon as possible.

M. J. G. McMullen.

Friday's speaker has devoted a major portion of his career to promotion of the concept of heritage-travel and tourism as a powerful economic development package. He has made many platform appearances in the Valley and initiated unique and imaginative promotions to acquaint people with the beauties, recreational heritage attractions of the region.

As the administrative head of the "Manitoba Golden Boys" movement, the Manitoba manager of the Provincial Federation of Chambers of Commerce has traveled the Red River region extensively, visiting

Merle Kruschke Named To River Studies Group

Northland state junior college announces that Merle Kruschke of the social science department was one of 21 professors, selected from 14 regional colleges and universities, to develop proposals for improving the Red river water basin.

The interdisciplinary team of 13 Ph.D. and eight M.S. degree holders was organized under a U.S. department of interior and North Dakota water research grant of $115,410. The grant was awarded to North Dakota state university last spring and was administered through the North Dakota water resources research institute under the direction of Dr. Dale Anderson.

The scientific study of the Red River water basin was conducted during the summer of 1971. The study includes the entire 41,000 square mile Red River Basin and its major tributaries ranging from Canada to South Dakota and 100 miles east and west from either side of the Red River. It was the first systems approach study (team attack) applied to water resources research in the U.S.

Members of the team received input from a variety of groups, agencies and individuals, interacted with the other members of the team, and finally worked as a team in synthesizing an end product—a 175 page report entitled "River".

Recommendations and observations are found throughout the "River" report. In all, the team made about 44 observations and recommendations. With hopes of implementing some of the recommendations and pursuing some of the objectives, the NDSU group called for:

(1) A basin wide approach to planning through local involvement;

(2) Public educational programs leading to a better understanding of the problems and concepts of long and short-term water planning;

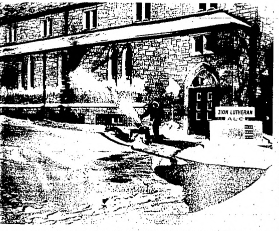
(3) Careful studies before initiation of projects that could produce large - scale environmental effects; and

(4) A comprehensive system of urban and rural land use zoning, considering the inherent physical and biological capabilities of the land so as to minimize undesirable effects produced by misuse of the land.

Persons interested in reading this comprehensive scientific report are encouraged to contact the Northland college library or Merle Kruschke, social science instructor at Northland (681-2181).

Jacobs Named

Paul Jacobs, distributive education instructor of the Thief River Falls area vocational - technical school, has been appointed to the state advisory committee on adult distributive education.



A LITTLE MORE SNOW but no blizzard has hit the Thief River Falls area yet this winter. As February rapidly advances on toward March, there is still ample opportunity for a good snow and blow session, but none of the snowfalls or wind squalls this winter has produced an honest - to - goodness storm here. But if you want to impress your relatives out of the area, go ahead and tell them that the snow is 10 feet high on the wall of Zion Lutheran church. Just don't tell them how it got there.

Andrew Qualley Retirement Is Noted At Party

Andrew J (Andy) Qualley retired recently from the Minnesota highway department after more than 20 years of service to the state.

Andy started working for the highway department in 1951 as a Labor.. and rose to the position of project highway technician. He has been employed by the highway department as an inspector on grading, bituminous and concrete paving projects and for the past 15 years has inspected and supervised bridge construction projects in District 2 and throughout the state.

A retirement party was held in his honor at the Elks club in Thief River Falls with over 80 guests attending from all parts of the state. Erv Pearson and Cliff Larson were co-master of ceremonies and brief talks were given by Carl Larson, district engineer; Herb Dale, assistant district engineer; Herb Bergstrom and Gene Ofstead from the bridge department; Glen Ellinger, area maintenance engineer; Bernie Lieder, Don Nolting and Joe Seidel representing county engineers; Ralph Sickhof, Arlen Sondral, Don Nelson, Lon Buzey and Walt Swingan representing bridge contractors.

Sending regrets was Ken Pearson, retired district engineer, who was hospitalized in Thief River Falls. Erv Pearson presented Andy with a rod and reel and a gift of money from the group. Cliff Larson presented him with a 1972 state highway map which had been autographed by all in attendance. Les Larson gave him a gift of money from which local 1328. Walt Swingen presented him with a framed poem about bridge inspectors and Herb Dale presented him with several BARR notes.

Qualley will continue to reside in Thief River Falls during the winter and spend his summers at his cottage at Maple Lake.

Miss Rhea Arnold and Barry A. Lindahl exchanged marriage vows recently at a 4 p.m. ceremony at the Plymouth Congregational church in Des Moines, Iowa.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Ralph Arnold of Des Moines. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Glen N. Lindahl of Dubuque, Iowa. His grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Lindahl of this city and Mrs. B. A. Hanson of Middle River were special guests at the wedding as were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Drague of Sioux City, Iowa.

Dr. K. A. Swett officiated at the double ring ceremony attended by approximately 200 relatives and friends. Accenting the altar were two large floral arrangements. The pews, along the center aisle, were marked with tall candelabra trimmed with greenery. "Trumpet Voluntary" played by the organist, formed the background music for both the processional and recessional.

The bride, escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor-length gown of white imported organza over peau de soie. The gown was styled in A-line fashion with a raised waistline, high ring collar and full bishop sleeves. Rows of Val lace, accented with blue satin bows, trimmed the bodice, sleeves and the skirt which swept back into a full circular, chapel length train. A Camelot headpiece held her floor-length veil. She carried a large bouquet of white roses, daisies and mums accented by babies' breath.

Miss Nancy Hanish of Marshalltown, Iowa was maid of honor. Other attendants were Danelle Lindahl, sister of the groom, Susan Holland of Hinsdale, Ill., and Mrs. Michael Yukna of Waukegan, Ill., friends of the bride. They wore identical gowns of pink and blue flowered voile in wallpaper print. Fashioned in colonial style, the gowns featured high collars and softly gathered skirts. Embroidered trim marked the wide waistbands and encircled the cuffs of their full-length sleeves. Each carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses, pink and blue daisies and babies' breath. To complete their attire, they wore pink and blue daisies in their hair.

Attending the groom as best man was Robert Beach of Iowa City. Groomsmen were fraternity brothers of the groom: Douglas Wright of Cleveland, Ohio, Mike Mikkelson of Toledo, Iowa and Mark Falb of Des Moines. Robert Trievieler of Dubuque assisted in ushering. All wore black tuxedos with the groom wearing an Edwardian walker jacket while the groomsmen wore stroller type attire. White carnation boutonnieres were pinned on their lapels.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Arnold wore an A-line dress of Kelly green with lattice work at the neckline and on the short sleeves. Matching accessories and a large yellow orchid completed her attire. The mother of the groom wore a light coral dress of bonded crepe complemented by beige accessories and a large white orchid corsage.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Highlighting the serving table was a seven tiered wedding cake with the five bottom tiers consisting of cupcakes individually iced in white and decorated in pink. A bouquet of fresh daisies topped the cake.

A rehearsal dinner, the evening before the weddding, was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hinkle, friends of the couple. Guests were members of the bridal party and immediate families.

For traveling on the wedding trip to Colorado, the bride wore a gray A-line dress trimmed in purple and complemented by coordinating accessories.

The bride and groom are graudates of the University of Iowa where she was affiliated with Alpha Phi and he with Delta Upsilon. The bride is now employed at Iowa State Bank and Trust in Iowa City. The groom, who recently returned from a tour of duty with the U. S. Army Artillery in Vietnam, is attending the University of Iowa College of Law.

Anna Anderson Feted At Party In California

Mrs. Anna Anderson, a former Thief River Falls resident, was guest of honor at a combined family reunion of four generations and a party in honor of her 89th birthday. The event was hosted by Mrs. Anderson's daughter, Mrs. Phil Packard, at their home in Sherman Oaks, Calif. Thirty-five relatives were present for the buffet dinner.

Mrs. Anderson was born in Minneapolis and at the age of three years came to Thief River Falls with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Amund Johnson, Norwegian immigrants, who homesteaded in this area.

According to the article in the Van Nuys (Calif.) newspaper, Mrs. Anderson's parents were involved in the building of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroads, one of the first railroads in Wisconsin. From childhood, Mrs. Anderson continued living in Thief River Falls until about four or five years ago when she moved to Spencer, Iowa to be near a son, William. Although she maintains an apartment in Spencer, she spends part of her time visiting with her other children in California. She has seven children, 11 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Present at the party, held February 8, were 35 relatives. In addition to Mrs. Packard, other daughters present were Mrs. Reginald Smith of Burbank, Mrs. Charles Bulkley of Thousand Oaks and Mrs. Evelyn Weston of Los Angeles. Also in attendance was a son, Andy, who resides at Reseda, Calif.

Completing the four generation reunion, in addition to the honored guest, and her daughter, Mrs. Weston, were a granddaughter, Mrs. Richard Ortiz of North Hollywood, Calif., and a great-granddaughter, Lori Ortiz, nine years old.

Mrs. Anderson's husband, Andrew, is deceased. A brother, Albert Johnson, resides on South Tindolph.

BIRTHS

Rev. and Mrs. Rodney Stueland, Newfolden, boy, Feb. 17, 7 lbs., 11¾ oz., Luther Thomas.

Ilene Hagen-James Smeby Vows Spoken In Bemidji

Bethney Lutheran church, Bemidji, was the scene of the recent wedding of Miss Ilene C. Hagen and James Smeby. Rev. Stockdale officiated at the double ring candlelight ceremony.

The bride is the daugher of Mrs. June Hagen of Roseau and the late Oscar Hagen. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. John Smeby of Grygla.

Serving as organist was Mrs. Richard Ness, aunt of the groom. She played the traditional wedding marches and also accompanied Baryth and Julie Hagen, cousins of the bride, as they sang "The Wedding Song", before the ceremony, and "The Wedding Prayer", as the couple knelt at the altar.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother. For her wedding she chose a white velvet empire fashioned, floor-length gown featuring a lace collar. Matching lace, enhanced the bodice, trimmed the wide cuffs of her full-length sleeves, and edged her mantilla of bridal illusion. She carried a cascade arrangement of yellow roses and white pompons centered with a large white orchid.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Dale Anderson. Miss Nancy Smeby, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. They wore matching gowns of deep purple with white lace trim on the bodice and cuffs. In their hair, they wore purple ribbons with yellow roses and white pompons. Each carried a long-stemmed yellow rose.

Mrs. Floyd Grindahl, cousin of the bride, was the bride's personal attendant.

Lowell Smeby attended his brother as best man and Edward Dunham, cousin of the bride, was groomsman. Ushers were Owen Hagen and Myron Ostby, cousins of the bride and groom, respectively.

Honored guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. James Teigland, grandparents of the groom.

A reception followed with Mr. and Mrs. Andy Wells, uncle and aunt of the groom, as host and hostess. Kathy Stevens, a friend of the couple, registered the guests as Janice Hagen and Pamela Smeby, sisters of the bride and groom, respectively, served the punch and carried the gifts.

Centering the serving table was a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with touches of purple. The upper tier, supported by swan pillars, was topped by miniature bride and groom ornament. Mrs. Floyd Grindahl, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Gene Teigland, aunt of the groom, cut and served the cake. JoAnn Smeby, sister of the groom, distributed the groom's cake. Pouring coffee were Mrs. Newell Dunham and Mrs. Clayton Ostby, aunts of the bride and groom. Waitresses were Marlene and Mavis Hagen, cousins of the bride.

After a short wedding trip to Duluth, the newly-weds are now at home at Westwood Trailer court in Bemidji.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the Kitchen of

Ellen M. Spray

After seven weeks of enforced vacation, which included lolling in bed at Northwestern hospital, I'm back at my desk and typewriter so please bring me your news, meeting reports, weddings, recipes and anything of interest.

During the time I was gone, I received the "Queen for the Day" treatment. Everyone was most kind. To all I say thank you, but a special thanks goes to my husband and family who saw to my needs and tried so hard to arouse my appetite; the pastors of this city as well as Father Keough Patnode of Oklee, for their prayers; the many friends for their solicitude, and last, but not least, the staff at the Times, who all pitched in to help my replacement, Norma Hanson, do my work while I was gone. I shudder to think of the utter chaos I would cause, if tables were turned and I were to balance the books, keep the mailing list straight, or write a football story.

Long-stemmed roses should also go to everyone at Northwestern hospital. If I were to change anything about that institution, it would be to place on the wall in the lobby, a mural of a group of people, dressed in colors designating their work or rank. Above their heads would be the words, "We Care." And they do care, as witnessed by their many deeds performed beyond the call of duty. Everyone was most considerate of my needs, from the women in the housekeeping department with their constant warning, "Don't slip on the wet floor", or the girls in pink who took the wrinkles out of the bedding and were ever by my side as I took those first walks down the halls; and the dedicated women in white with their instructions and assurances. It was interesting to note how the young girls in yellow were conscientiously following the footsteps of Florence Nightingale.

How fortunate we are to have a hospital such as Northwestern in our city and how thankful we should be, when our towns are in dire need of doctors, that we have an excellent staff to care for our needs. What a comfort to know that even with their knowledge and skills, there are doctors that acknowledge the power of the Great Physician and ask for His guidance.

As I've said so often before, I'm proud to be a part of Thief River Falls. (EMS)

Since Tuesday is Washington's birthday and since it has become a tradition to serve cherries, I hope that you will enjoy this salad as much as I have.

Cherry Salad

2 small packages cherry gelatin
2 cups boiling water
1 cup cold water
1 can cherry pie filling

Method: Dissolve gelatin in hot water, add cold water and the cherry filling. Stir well and pour into a 9x13 inch pan. Set until firm.

Topping

8 oz. cream cheese
1 envelope whipped cream mixture milk according to directions on package
1 cup crushed pineapple, well drained

Method: Whip the cream mixture according to directions on package. Add softened, cream cheese and beat well. Fold in drained pineapple. Spread over the gelatin mixture. Garnish with chopped nuts, grated cheese or chopped maraschino cherries.

KCs And Masons Set Card Social

Fourth annual Masonic and Knights of Columbus card social will be held Tuesday from 7 to 9 p.m. at St. Bernard's Catholic church hall with the KC group as hosts. All members of both organizations are invited to attend and note is made that bowlers on the second shift will be excused in time to meet their regular commitment. Charles Ness is worshipful master of the Masons and Clayton Mack is grand knight of the KCs.

Family Planning Stamp Issued

Family planning commemorative stamp will be issued for the first time March 18 in New York City. This stamp follows the policy of issuing stamps to focus attention on areas of major concern to this nation and other nations of the world. It serves as a reminder to all members of society of the current world environmental situation and the need for planning to have a better America.

Requests for first day cancellations should be directed to Family Planning Stamp, Postmaster, New York, N.Y. 10001 enclosing the proper remittance and with the request postmarked no later than March 18.

Specialist Says Child Punishment Is Ineffectual

One of the most frequently asked questions is—"When and how should children be disciplined?" Punishment is ineffectual in the long range as a means of eliminating inappropriate behavior. Unless the punishment is directly related to the misbehavior, fear, resentment or confusion result, says Ronald Pitzer, extension family life specialist.

Pitzer is the host of the University of Minnesota's second TV program on "Your Child's World". John Wright, University of Kansas human development expert, appears Tuesday evening with "Your Child's Conscience." Aspects of the parents influence on conscience formation are considered. The show can be seen from 8:30 to 9 p.m. on KFME-TV, channel 13, Fargo-Moorhead.

The aim of discipline is to enable the individual to control his own behavior. Internalized control is the only really effective manner of changing behavior, says the specialists. A child develops this internal control with the help and guidance of trustworthy, loving parents.

In order for growth and maturation to be possible, a child needs to feel accepted and secure in an atmosphere of warmth and esteem. When the reasons for considering certain behaviors desirable or undesirable are explained, the internal control or a healthy conscience are developed.

A child tends to adopt the parents' values and standards of behavior, so much in fact that when they become parents, the tend to rear children as they have been reared, even though they may disapprove of their own childhood. Discipline is a specific example. Patterns of dealing with frustrations and anger are frequently set by parental models. Instead of seeking appropriate methods of control, parents sometimes resort to a physical means of exerting their power.

Pitzer suggests that a better method of controlling behavior would be to have the demands fit the stage of development. As much as possible, have consequences match the behavior. Parents create many problems by not enforcing limits. When behavior gets too far out of hand, they issue an ultimatum.

In doing so, the parents have assumed the responsibility for the action. The child has not learned to direct his own behavior or be responsible for the natural consequences of his behavior. Of course, in the case of physical safety, immediate intervention may be necessary, he says.

A child grows and develops through many stages. The parent needs to take into account the age, ability and individual style of the child. If a parent is there when needed, a child feels more secure in his actions. His sense of values are molded by many influences before they become his own.

Give Advice On Treatment Of Common Cold

During February, the peak month of the common cold season, you, your family and 30 million other Americans may catch a case of the sniffles.

And, unfortunately, a cure for the common cold is still unknown. In fact, notes the a major life insurance company, the cold has been defying scientists for over 3,000 years.

Ancient Chinese farmers tried to ease their cold miseries by inhaling vapors of horsetail, a broomlike plant which contains ephedrine, a common ingredient in modern nose sprays.

In the fifth century B.C. the Greek physician Hippocrates wrote that bleeding was a popular Athenian therapy for cold. But, he confessed, "It didn't do any good."

Augustus Caesar tried to fight his sneezes with the equivalent of a heavy overcoat, four waistcoats, an underwaistcoat and a stomacher. Powdered Egyptian mummy was treatment in the 1500s. Seventeenth century doctors had their patients put strands of their hair between two slices of bread and feed it to a dog. And years ago Russians wrapped around their sore throats a cloth containing one salted herring.

Although a cold cure remains elusive, doctors do know that often the main carrier of the cold virus is the young school child. And because parents may sometimes neglect to give him the proper cold care, his cold will usually be more contagious.

So to ward off that infectious cold, immediate attention should be given to its early signs. Even though there is no sure fire cure, says the insurance company, you can relieve the symptoms, help your child to feel better and, perhaps, prevent the cold from spreading throughout the family.

They suggest that you follow a few practical steps which, while not cures, will help you to lick that cold.

Stay home for the first day or two, when the typical cold is most contagious. This will keep you from giving the cold to others. Also other illnesses may start out feeling like colds.

Take a hot bath. As muscles relax and some arteries open up, you will probably feel better.

Go to bed. Tucking yourself in will help your body regulate its temperature. Also, since a cold is a sickness, you need rest. Keep comfortably covered. Avoid chilling or drafts.

Eat a balanced diet. Quantity? As much as you desire. Starving yourself is unnecessary. Drink when you are thirsty. No need to force liquids upon yourself, though.

When you blow your nose, blow gently and blow both sides.

Avoid getting too close to others. Cover your coughs and sneezes. Use paper tissues and put them in a disposable paper bag. Don't save hankies in a pocket or under a pillow. Also use your own towel, dishes and drinking glasses, use a vaporizer, and call your doctor if your cold lasts beyond a week, if you have more than one degree of fever, or if you have more than four colds a year.

Red Lake DHIA Annual Meeting Reviews Report

Annual meeting of the Red Lake county Dairy Herd Improvement association was held in Red Lake Falls recently, beginning with a pot-luck lunch at 12 noon followed by the business meeting.

Orville Knott of Red Lake Falls was elected to the board of directors for a three-year term. Other board members include Marlyn Jacobson, Crookston, president; Richard Weiss, Red Lake Falls, vice president; Conrad Zak, Angus, and Donald Taus, Angus, directors.

Dr. George Marx, dairy scientist at the Northwest experiement station in Crookston, was the guest speaker.

During the year the association had 1,125 cows tested from 41 herds, with production averages totaling 12,527 pounds of milk, 454 pounds of butterfat and 3.6 per cent average test, according to the annual report.

Seven herds produced an average of 300 to 399 pounds of butterfat, 14 herds produced 400 to 499 pounds of butterfat and four herds averaged 500 to 599 pounds of butterfat during the year. The 266 registered cows in the association included 222 Holsteins, 25 Miking Shorthorns and 19 Guernseys while the grade total of 859 included 857 Holsteins and two Guernseys.

Six individual cows produced less than 200 pounds of butterfat, 59 produced 400 to 499 pounds, 198 produced 300 to 399 pounds, 263 produced 400 to 499 pounds, 127 produced 500 to 599 pounds and 39 produced 600 pounds or more of butterfat during the year.

Top cow in the association was a registered Holstein owned by Donald Taus which produced 21,460 pounds of milk and 854 pounds of butterfat. A close second was an animal from the Northwest experiment station which produced 24,680 pounds of milk and 852 pounds of butterfat. The third, fourth and fifth place cows and eighth and ninth place cows all were owned by the experiment station and produced butterfat totals of 841, 778, 768, 682 and 679 pounds.

Paul and Ron Olson has the sixth place cow with 729 pounds, Erwin Vanek had the seventh place cow with 704 pounds and Conrad Zak had the 10th place animal with 678 pounds of butterfat.

Mr. and Mrs. Koop were selected as honor dairymen for Pennington county and recognized Friday evening at the Red River Valley Winter shows banquet at Crookston.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

A judge, attorneys, staff writers, editors and others have gone to some length in recent weeks informing the public that the right of Leech Lake Indians to hunt, fish, trap and gather wild rice on public lands of the former Leech Lake Reservation, without being subject to State conservation laws, was set forth in treaties years ago. But no one has explained just how the treaties they talk and write about set forth such rights. So we ask, what treaties? We do not believe that anyone can give a fitting answer to that question.

The Leech Lake Indians assented to the provisions of the Nelson Act of January 14, 1889 in writing by more than two-thirds of the male adults over eighteen years of age. In doing so they agreed to the "complete cession and relinquishment, in writing, of all their title and interest in and to all" of the Leech Lake Reservation. And the President of the United States did accept and approve such cession and this did "operate as a complete extinguishment of the Indian title without any other or further act or ceremony whatsoever." (underlining supplied)

Websters Dictinary informs us that complete means "having all the required or customary characteristics." That it means "all its parts or elements; lacking nothing; whole; entire; full; total; finished."

If the Congress and the Indians of that day intended to exclude fishing, hunting, trapping and ricing privileges from the cession, there is no question but that they would have made provisions for it in the Act. This is supported by the experience of abrogating such rights as set forth in the Treaties of 1837 and 1842 by President Zachary Taylor in 1850.

The Indians were permitted to pick 80 acre tracts which the government assigned to them from the 588,684 acres of public domain which was created by the Nelson Act. All of the land ceded was paid for in accordance with values of that day. In addition, the pine timber was paid for at rates varying from $3.00 to $20.00 per thousand board feet.

Leech Lake Citizens
Action Committee
Lyle W. Chisholm, Chairman

Dear Sir:

The proposed purchase of the uptown Arctic Cat property by our local school district is of interest to me. I listened intently to the deluge of information put over the air and published in the newspaper as presented by our Superintendent. It is of interest to me that in spite of all these figures he threw out that he neglected to advise the taxpaying public of the following information. From the local tax record I was shown that the estimated market value on that property was $276,000 for 1970 and apparently because of either reappraisal or some additions done, the estimated market value for 1972 is $282,260.

What immediately comes to mind is the fact that our school officials are contemplating paying $700,000 to our largest corporate taxpayer for a piece of property upon which they are paying taxes based only on the above values. It doesn't seem possible that the recent appraisals could have missed the true market value of that property as far as it appears that they have.

It would appear to me that it would be more economical for the taxpayers of this school district to let Arctic Cat keep their property at the so called bargain price of $700,000 as the market value and let them pay taxes accordingly which would approximate $35,000 a year.

Yours truly,
(Name Withheld on Request)

Orient Theme For Food Class At Crookston

"Salute to the Orient" has been selected as the theme for the annual restaurant operation project of the restaurant seminar class of the division of hotel, restaurant, and institutional management of the University of Minnesota technical college, Crookston.

The menu will include such classical oriental entrees as roast Peking of duck, five fragrance beef, butterfly shrimp tempura, and traditional items like sweet and sour pork, egg foo young, shrimp and rice, and chow mein.

The restaurant will be located in the Trojan Inn on the University of Minnesota campus, two miles north of Crookston on U.S. Highways 2 and 75. The dates are March 4 and 5. Serving hours for Saturday, March 4, will be 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. and for Sunday, March 5, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The restaurant seminar class is made up of sophomores who are applying their two years of technical education to practical experience. The students are responsible for planning the menu, ordering all necessary supplies, and creating an effective atmosphere, as well as for acting as department heads of the restaurant.

The class has extended an invitation to the public, promising that the food, decorations, and atmosphere will make the dinner a unique experience.

Gov. Anderson Proclaims FFA Week In Minn.

Governor Wendell Anderson has officially proclaimed the week of February 19-26 as "FFA Week" in Minnesota. The week will be observed in Minnesota as a part of the nation-wide week honoring the National Association of FFA with over 430,000 members in 8,176 affiliated organizations.

There are 13,606 members of FFA in Minnesota's 268 affiliated local high school chapters. The theme for FFA Week is "FFA-Youth With A Purpose."

FFA Week will officially open the 42nd anniversary celebration of Minnesota Future Farmers as the first state FFA chapters were founded in Minnesota in 1929 and the first annual meeting was held in May, 1930. Since then, Minnesota has had about 80,000 Future Farmers.

Membership in the FFA is made up of youth between 14 and 21 who are or have been students of vocational agriculture in high school. Agricultural education in high school provides training in agriculture occupations for FFA members who plan to farm, enter agricultural college or seek satisfying and rewarding careers in the agricultural industry. For every opportunity for an FFA'er in farming today, there are three to four in agribusiness and natural resources.

State headquarters of the FFA is in the agriculture education unit of the state department of education, vocational technical education section, St. Paul.

The strength of the FFA organization lies in the local secondary school FFA chapter. There, student officers and members are developing into agricultural leaders and environmentalists for tomorrow under the guidance of their chapter advisor, the high school teacher of vocational agriculture.

Lundstrom Team Here Tuesday

Lundstrom team of evangelists will appear at the Thief River Falls city auditorium Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. after being rescheduled due to last Thursday's storm.

Rev. Lundstrom and his group have been conducting evangelical crusades in the U.S. for the past 13 years, and their radio program, "Message for America", is heard on 53 radio stations.

The team has appeared in more than 1,000 churches during the past decade. The team spends most of the year ministering at Youth for Christ rallies, camp meetings, and youth conventions. Other members of the team are Mrs. Lundstrom, Rev. Lundstrom's brother, Larry, and his wife, and Paul Secord, pianist.

Unemployment Lower In Jan. In Minnesota

Minnesota's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate for January declined to 5.1 per cent from 5.3 per cent for December, Commissioner Emmet J. Cushing of the Minnesota department of manpower services announced today.

The latest rate equals the 5.1 per cent level of a year ago. The number of unemployed in Minnesota was 98,800—up 9,900 from December and up 500 from one year ago. The national seasonally adjusted unemployment rate also declined 0.2 of a percentage point to 5.9 per cent.

The total number of persons employed in Minnesota in January decreased by 18,800 over the month to 1,541,300. Seasonal influences accounted for declines in most major industrial categories. This was especially evident in the non-manufacturing industries as construction employment declined 6,300 or 10.4 per cent and trade employment declined 9,200 from last month.

Total manufacturing employment decreased 2,900. The decline was evenly distributed over the durable and nondurable goods sectors.

Compared with the same month last year, non-agricultural wage and salary employment in Minnesota has increased by 33,000 or 2.6 per cent. The increase is attributable to gains in non-manufacturing employment, especially trade, government and construction. Employment in manufacturing industries was essentially unchanged from a year earlier.

Production workers in manufacturing industries earned an average of $156.82 per week in January, as compared with $156.75 per week in December. The average hourly earnings increased from $3.88 in December to $3.95 in January.

The average workweek for manufacturing in January was 39.8 hours per week, as compared with 40.8 hours per week in December and 39.0 hours in January, 1971.

U.S. Employment Service Places 122,000 Veterans

Federal-state employment service placed 122,000 Vietnam-era veterans (age 20-29) in jobs during the first five months (July-November) of the President's intensified employment program for veterans, Assistant Secretary of Labor Malcolm R. Lovell, Jr., announced.

He said he expects the employment service to put about 200,000 more returning servicemen into jobs in the next six months, and enroll nearly 200,000 in job training programs. Over 40,000 were enrolled in manpower training programs in the first five months.

Lovell said the employment service is playing a key role in the President's program to bring returning servicemen quickly back into the mainstream of American life.

If the veteran's military job skill is directly transferable to a civilian job, such as truck or auto mechanic, he may be "job-ready" when he reports to the employement service.

If not, he may be given classroom training to acquire a job skill; or—he may be "hired and trained" in an on-the-job type of training, with manpower funds subsidizing the employer for the costs of training the new employees, and for related education and orintation.

Such services as career counseling, aptitude testing and remedial education are available through the employment service.

Employment service representatives regularly furnish employers with job market information, and take their job orders. Job banks covering more than half the nation's work force now print daily up-to-the-minute listings of all available job openings. The banks are presently being extended into statewide systems in all states.

The President has issued an executive order requiring most firms doing business with the government to list most job openings with the local employment service office, giving veterans a wider choice of job selection at a central location. Since these firms employ more than 24 million workers, it is estimated that over a year they could be listing several million job openings with the employment service.

The employment service plays a special role for veterans under provisions of the emergency employment act, which is creating nearly 140,000 transitional jobs in state and local government, subsidized with federal funds.

All job vacancies created by the act must be listed with the employment service, which is given 48 hours to recruit and refer veterans before vacancies are filled from other sources. Thus far, more than 30,000 of the nearly 100,000 jobs filled have been by Vietnam-era veterans.

To spur employment service assistance to veterans, 800 additional staff, many of them veterans themselves, have been added to local offices to interview, test, counsel, and place veterans in jobs.

The service has assigned counselors to European and Far East military bases to assist soon-to-be-discharged servicemen in making plans for jobs or schooling.

With 900,000 servicemen expected to be discharged in the year ending next June 30, the goal of the employment service is to place a third of them in jobs.

Private industry, through the National Alliance of Businessmen, has pledged to furnish jobs for 100,000. The federal government itself plans to hire 75,000 Vietnam-era veterans by June 30.

About 300,000 are expected to re-enter school or college.

Peace Officers Will Sponsor Essay Contest

Sgt. Richard Feider of the St. Paul police department and president of the Minnesota Police and Peace Officers association has announced that the statewide organization will again sponsor an essay contest for high school students in Minnesota. The subject this year will be, "The Prevention of the Use of Drugs by Juveniles".

The contest has been conducted annually as part of the association's juvenile delinquency prevention program for the past 25 years. In 1971 over 6,000 essays were received.

"It is our belief," Feider said, "that participation in this contest will provide the student with an opportunity to examine in depth the drug use problem as it relates to youth and to suggest methods of prevention."

A total of $750 in cash will be awarded to students for the best essays. The first place winner will receive $300. A St. Anthony Village high school girl, Joan Hara, was declared the winner in 1971.

Rules of the contest have been mailed to all high schools in the state. Essays are limited to not more than 1,500 words and must be submitted for judging not later than April 1, 1972. Winners will be announced on May 15, 1972.

The panel of judges includes: Governor Wendell R. Anderson; Senator Walter F. Mondale; C. Donald Peterson, associate justice of the Minnesota Supreme Court; Richard G. Held, special agent in charge, FBI; Milo Tasky, Duluth chief of police; and Richard Feider, president, Minnesota Police and Peace Officers association.

Further information on the contest may be obtained from: Executive Secretary, Minnesota Police and Peace Officers Association, 3000 France Avenue South, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55416.

Most Fatal Rail Crashes Are Close To Home

Study of fatal crashes at railroad crossings in Minnesota during 1971 revealed that all but two occurred within a few miles of the victim's home, Minnesota Department of Public Safety Commissioner W. R. Hoaglund reported today. Nine of the 35 deaths occurred in the immediate neighborhood of the drivers' homes.

Eight of the 25 fatal accidents occurred during daylight hours, and a majority took place in clear, dry weather. Snow and ice were present at three accidents, ice at two, fog or rain at three. Only two of the night-time accidents occurred after midnight.

Seventeen of the crossings at which the fatal accidents occurred were guarded only by crossbucks or stop signs. Only eight of the crossings were protected by electrical signals. Officers' reports on the accidents at these crossings affirmed that the signals were operating at the time of the accidents.

December was the worst month for railroad crossing accidents last year, with five crashes and eight deaths. November was second with four crashes and five deaths. However, a comparison with other years indicates that there is no consistent relationship between this type of accident and the season.

Unfavorable weather conditions were, however, factors in all of the December crossing accidents. But all four of the September accidents occurred during clear, dry weather, three of them during daylight hours.

Of the 25 drivers involved, seven were 21 years of age or under.

The Veterans administration's department of medicine and surgery is testing a new system of record-keeping capable of accommodating its one million hospital patients a year.

Federal Milk Orders Amended By Government

U.S. Department of Agriculture has amended all federal milk orders except the South Texas order, effective February 1, it was announced today.

USDA's consumer and marketing service said the amendment would require that the Class I (bottling) prices for each month be announced by the fifth day of the preceding month and use the basic Minnesota-Wisconsin manufacturing milk price for the second preceding month, instead of for the immediately preceding month, in computing Class I prices.

C&MS officials said the South Texas order was not included in the present action because of proceedings pending in a U.S. district court, and a further hearing to be held by the court involving an earlier action to terminate the order.

The amendament was first proposed at a public hearing in Washington, Dec. 13. The hearing was held at the request of the Milk Industry foundation representing handlers doing business under all of the orders. A final decision, subject to appropriate dairy farmer approval, was announced Jan. 25. The amendment was adopted following approval by the required majority of farmers affected by the action.

Copies of the amended order may be obtained from the market administrators of the orders, or from the Dairy Division, Consumer and Marketing Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

As a platform speaker, McMullen is in demand as an authority on tourism from coast to coast, having appeared as a featured speaker in Britsh Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Ontario and Nova Scotia. Several years ago he delivered the main address at the state of North Dakota's annual community betterment awards banquet at Williston.

In 1963 at the annual Golden Boys good citizenship awards banquet in Winnipeg, Lieutenant Governor Errick F. Willis presented McMullen with a special "Service to Manitoba" award citation.

He has served as councillor and school trustee in the Winnipeg suburb of Transcona, was president of the Manitoba Education week association, coordinator of the annual teachers' bus tours of Manitoba, deputy minister of Manitoba's department of industry and commerce, general manager of the Golden Boys organization and is author of 12 poems on Manitoba and four books.

Koops Selected Honor Dairymen For Pennington

Grade A dairy operation since the new barn was built in 1962, and milk is sold to Land O'Lakes in Thief River Falls.

As on most dairy farms, there is something for all members of the family to do. Karen, 14, draws the task of cleaning the milking equipment and the bulk tank in the Grade A operation. Marilyn, 12, feeds the calves and 10 - year - old Tom draws the assignment of bedding the animals.

All of the children are members of the City View 4-H club, and Marilyn and Karen both showed dairy animals last year as club projects. Mrs. Koop also gets involved in 4-H club work as an adult leader.

Although no one will deny that dairying is a full-time occupation, the Koops find time for other activities. Marvin is president of the Pennington County Farm Bureau, president of the Thief River Falls Grade A Milk Producers association, secretary - treasurer of the Thief River Falls Livestock Shipping association and an elder of St. John Lutheran church.

Shirley is treasurer of the St. John ladies aid in addition to her 4-H club leadership and part-time job in the farm management program.

And when harvest time comes around and the time required for evening chores conflicts with the time required for combining crops, Shirley gets her added share of work as a farm wife. Rather than milk cows, however, she goes to the field and Marvin goes to the barn. It seems to work out best that way.

"Last year she plugged the combine," Marvin said, "but the neighbors came over and unplugged it for her. I don't think they would have taken the time to do that for me."

Chances are they won't come over and help him milk cows, either.

Former Student Speaks To NSJC Problems Course

Richard Brown of Thief River Falls, a 1966 graduate of Lincoln high school and 1968 graduate of Northland, was the guest speaker on Thursday in Merle Kruschke's contemporary social problems course.

Brown, who served for a year with Volunteers in Service to America (VISTA), showed slides and talked about his experiences working at a public housing project in Honolulu, Hawaii.

Following his experience with VISTA, Brown attended Mankato state college. He graduated in 1971 with a B.S. degree in sociology from Mankato state.

Discussing the contrast between poverty and plenty in Hawaii, Brown was asked by the students to return for an extended in-depth discussion on the nature of poverty. He accepted the students' request and returned the following day to discuss the poverty problem in Hawaii.

$2,500 Given By United Fund For Heart Research

Thief River Falls United Fund has allocated a total of $2,500 to the University of Minnesota hospitals and Mayo Clinic in Rochester for heart research, with action taken at a recent meeting of the board of directors.

The contributions of $1,250 to each institution are made as the community's gift to heart research through its United Fund campaign. The United Fund is making a concentrated effort to meet the charitable obligations of the community through one appeal for funds rather than separate campaigns by individual charitable groups.

Assurance has been given by the University of Minnesota hospitals and Mayo clinic that 100 per cent of the funds contributed will be used in heart research.

Dr. Nelson's Sister And Her Husband Killed

A four-car accident Saturday evening, February 12, claimed the life of Rev. Philip J. Halverson, 58, and his wife, Elaine, 51 of Perley, brother - in - law and sister of Dr. Edward T. Nelson of this city.

The accident happened four miles north of Kragnes, on Highway 75 when two cars, headed in the same direction, collided. The impact sent one of the vehicles into the path of the Halverson car. Moments later, a fourth car became involved in the crash. The Halversons were returning from a meeting in the Cities and had almost reached their home when the tragedy occurred.

Funeral services for Rev. and Mrs. Halverson were held at the Kirkebo Lutheran church at Perley on Wednesday with Dr. Cecil Johnson, president of the Northern Minnesota District of the American Lutheran church, officiating.

Rev. Halverson was born in Rosholt, Wis., and was a veteran of World War II. He attended schools at Rosholt and in Minneapolis at the Lutheran Bible Institute and at Augsburg college and seminary. He also held a teaching degree from Moorhead State college. He had served parishes in Pukwana, S.D., and Pembina, N.D., before moving to Perley in 1964.

Mrs. Halverson, the former Elaine Nelson, was born in Kennedy and attended the Lutheran Bible Institute where she met Mr. Halverson. They were married Aug. 3, 1941 at Kennedy.

Surviving are six children: Dennis of Fargo, N.D., David of Pickstown, S.D., Dean of Moorhead, Kathy, a student at Moorhead State college who is living at home; Phyllis and Mary, both at home; and one grandchild.

Mrs. Halvorson is also survived by her mother, Mrs. Lillie Nelson of Kennedy, two brothers: Dr. Nelson of this city and Donald of Champaign, Ill., and two sisters: Mrs. Allen Anderson of Kennedy and Mrs. Alfred Christiensen of Minneapolis.

Rev. Halverson's survivors include his father, two brothers and two sisters, none of this area.

Services Held Thurs. For Mrs. Willie Fossell

Funeral services for Mrs. Willie (Marie) Fossell, 78, of this city, were held Thursday at 2 p.m., at the First Baptist church, Thief River Falls. A resident of 904 North Horace, Mrs. Fossell died Monday, February 14, at Northwestern hospital.

Officiating at the services were Rev. Duane Espeseth and Rev. J. A. Riveness. Special vocal selections were by Mr. and Mrs. Ingolf Ingebrigtsen with Mrs. Ingebrigtsen as organist. The Green Funeral home was in charge of arrangements. Interment will be in the Karlstad cemetery.

Honorary pallbearers were Roy Fossell, Julius Fossell, Lloyd Nelson, Jesse Vedum, Dewey Rodd and A. V. Brodin.

Serving as active pallbearers were Merle Nelson, Ronald Fossell, Duane Fossell, Marvin Mattson, William Ingebrigtsen and Thomas Fossell.

Mrs. Fossell, the former Marie Clausen, was born at Kennedy on Sept. 18, 1893 to August and Clara Clausen, now deceased. She attended school at Kennedy and was married there on Dec. 31, 1918 to Willie Fossell. Following their marriage, the couple farmed first at Kennedy, then at Stephen and at Viking. They then worked at the Augustana Rest home for 15 years and for the past five years had made their home in Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Fossell was a member of the Faith Lutheran Brethren church.

Survivors include her husband, two daughters: Mrs. Roscella Dahl of Minneapolis and Mrs. Trygve (Lucy) Ingebrigtsen of Fosston; three sons: Glenn Fossell of Montevideo, Lawrence of Minneapolis and Randolph of Karlstad; 18 grandchildren, 11 great-grandchildren and one sister, Mrs. Fred (Julia) Myllerberg of Minneapolis.

She was preceded in death by a son, who died in infancy, three brothers and six sisters.

Trail's Pioneer, Johanna Handy, Dies At 106

Mrs. Johanna Handy, 106, pioneer resident of the Trail area, died Tuesday morning, February 15. She was one of the early settlers of the Trail area when it was opened for homesteading in 1896.

Funeral services for Mrs. Johanna Handy were held Saturday at 2 p.m., at the Sand Valley Lutheran church. Rev. A. T. Daniel officiated. Interment will be in the Lund cemetery.

Mrs. Handy, the former Johanna Larson, was born Nov. 18, 1865 in a small village near Oslo, Norway. She immigrated to the United States in 1872 with her parents, who made their home in Douglas county, near Alexandria. On Nov. 9, 1888, she was united in marriage to Nels Peder Handy. In 1892, the couple homesteaded in the Trail area where she was a member of the Sand Valley Lutheran church and ladies aid. Since April of 1969, Mrs. Handy had been a resident of the Good Samaritan home in Clearbrook.

She is survived by three sons: Johnnie Handy of Trail, Arthur of Gully, and Elmer of Detroit, Mich.; three daughters: Mrs. Milton (Alice) Thompson of Clearbrook, Mrs. A. A.(Minnie) Dahl of Minneapolis and Mrs. Josephine Carlson of Duluth; and one sister, Mrs. Lena Walstad of San Diego, Calif.

National Guard Will Take Part In Exercise

Military personnel of the Minnesota Army National Guard will participate in a 14-state mobilization exercise, "Cabin Cruiser I" during February and March. The exercise, first of its type for Minnesota Guardsmen since 1967, will simulate full mobilization of the National Guard and reserve military forces to meet the needs for an expanded military force in the event of a national emergency.

The 14-state exercise will be controlled for the Fifth Army emergency headquarters at Fort Sam Houston, Tex. Participation of Minnesota National Guard units will be controlled and evaluated from the office of the adjutant general at the veterans service building in St. Paul.

Maj. Gen. Chester J. Moeglein, adjutant general of Minnesota and deputy director of the exercise for the state, said that "Exercise 'Cabin Cruiser I' is one of a continuing series of training exercises designed to improve the training status of our National Guard forces, and in no way indicates an actual or contemplated mobilization of any National Guard Forces." The February portion of the exercises was held this past weekend, and the next part of the exercise will be March 11 and 12.

Capt. Ronald P. Anderson, commanding officer of Company B, 2nd Batt. (Mech), 136th Infantry, Thief River Falls, said "We are looking forward to the challenge this exercise presents to our unit. During the training we will be required to complete the administrative, logistical and medical action incident to mobilization.

"Problems presented to our unit will be similar to those which would be encountered if the unit was activated and moved to a mobilization station. The training and experience will be invaluable in the event of a national emergency."

New Research Underway On Studded Tires

Further study of the safety aspects of studded tires is being made in Minnesota this winter by the Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory, Inc., of Buffalo, N.Y., the same research organization that carried out a survey on the safety effects of studded tires in accidents for the state highway department last winter. The present ban on studded tires offers Cornell a unique opportunity to compare accident experience on a 'before and after' basis.

Cornell's survey last winter was part of a broader study authorized by the 1969 legislature to assess the effects of studded tires on both pavement wear and safety. The pavement research was done by the American Oil Company at Whiting, Ind. Contract cost of the safety survey was approximately $70,000.

Unlike the earlier survey, the current study is being made at no direct cost to the state. The Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory will reimburse state agencies involved for the nominal cost of employee and computer time required to excerpt data from accident and driver license records.

The new study, sponsored by the American association of state highway officials in cooperation with the federal highway administration, is a project of the association's national cooperative highway research program. Cornell is carrying out the new study as a contractor of the highway research board, the administrator of the program. The highway research board is a subdivision of the National Acedemy of Sciences. The cooperative highway research program is financed by all state highway departments jointly, Minnesota's subscription being $80,000 a year.

According to K. W. Henderson, Jr., program director, a primary objective of the study is to measure the effect of studded tire use on highway safety under winter driving conditions. Tentative plans for this follow-up study were laid before the research program's advisory group by Kenneth Perchonok,

FRANK HALL, a folksinger from Nebraska, will appear at Northland state junior college Wednesday at 10 a.m. at the college theatre. Hall started his career as a member of a folk trio performing in coffee houses near the University of Nebraska in the early 1960's. He began performing as a soloist when the other members of the trio entered military service and since then has been doing concerts at college campuses throughout the country. He has also worked in nightclubs throughout the country. The public is invited to attend the concert.

Cornell's principal investigator, on August 26, 1971. Perchonok wrote the 78-page report summarizing the findings of the earlier survey.

In evaluating the results of last winter's research, Henderson stated that while that survey provided some measures of the safety effectiveness of studded tires, the data available for it precluded definitive, quantified measures of the results of banning studded tires.

In the earlier survey, Perchonok's data led him to conclude that cars with studded tires were involved in fewer accidents, and that those accidents tended to be less serious than the rest insofar as injury and vehicle damage were concerned.

As in last season's survey, accident and driver license records will be made available by the state to the research organization on a confidential basis. Cornell will survey by mail those drivers who have had accidents, to find out whether they were using regular tires, snow tires, or tire chains at the time of their accidents.

In addition to data received from drivers who have had accidents, Cornell is polling a random sample of Minnesota motorists by mail to determine 'driving exposure' in winter. This questionnaire asks the motorist six simple questions about any driving he did the day before. Among them are what type of vehicle was used, what kind of tires were on it, and what driving conditions were like.

The questionnaires are accompanied by a letter from Governor Wendell Anderson and a postage-free, self-addressed envelope for reply. The letter requests the cooperation of participants and asks them to return their questionnaires even though they may be incomplete in some respect or their return unavoidably delayed.

Courage Center Being Built In Golden Valley

"To help them help themselves." This is the incentive for the new rehabilitation facility called "Courage Center," presently under construction in Golden Valley, and scheduled for completion next August. The facility, comprising some 115,000 square feet, is being built by the Minnesota Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc. (MiSCCA).

The organization is seeking to raise $2.8 million, and already has collected about 80 per cent of this amount. In addition, special appeals are being made to individuals and organizations for help in furnishing and equipping the rooms in the center.

MISSCCA is dedicated to Minnesota's physically handicapped children and adults, who lack adequate facilities and opportunities to help themselves. The Society already has gained national recognition for its famed Camp Courage at Maple Lake, Minnesota. This facility, established in 1955 and operating primarily during the summer months, provides recreational and therapeutic services to some 800 handicapped people each year.

Courage Center will provide a significant extension of services for the handicapped, because it will serve them 12 months a year. The building, a model of barrier-free architecture, will house a physical restoration department, a vocational training center, recreational facilities, a section for homebound training and employment, as well as MiSCCA's Statewide headquarters.

Since the United Fund traditionally does not make grants for capital purposes, funds for buildings and equipment necessarily must come from specially approved campaigns. The Courage Center building fund drive is approved by the major United Funds. It needs and deserves your support.

Birth Rate In State Lowest Since Depression

Minnesota's birth rate dropped 9.5 per cent in 1971, according to provisional figures from the Minnesota department of health's section of vital statistics.

The 1971 rate of 16.2 births per 1,000 population, down from the 1970 rate of 17.9 is the lowest rate recorded in Minnesota since the state began keeping complete and reliable records of births. The next lowest rate (17.1) occurred in the depression year of 1933.

A provisional total of 63,040 live births was recorded in Minnesota in 1971. This is 5,238 below the 1970 total of 68,278 and 25,254 below the all time high total of 88,294 reached during 1959 when the birth rate peaked at 26.2.

The number of illegitimate live births declined from 5,510 in 1970 to 5,120 in 1971. This is the first decline experienced in the annual illegitimate birth total since 1955, although the 1971 total is the second highest Minnesota has had.

The 1971 illegitimate birth rate of 81.2 per 1,000 live births is the highest ever attained in the state. The 1970 rate was 80.7. Corresponding rates for 1960, 1950 and 1940 were 28.8, 22.5 and 22.3, respectively.

While the number of deaths occuring in Minnesota during the past four years has been almost constant (varying between 24,391 and 34,500), the 1971 crude death rate of 8.9 per 1,000 population is the lowest rate ever reached in the state.

The 1971 infant death rate of 17.9 per 1,000 live births is the second lowest Minnesota has experienced, the low rate of 17.1 having been reached in 1969. The year 1971 is the fourth consecutive year in which the infant death rate has been below 20.0.

A total of 616 fetal deaths was registered in Minnesota during 1971 with a rate of 9.8 per 1,000 live births. This is the lowest fetal death rate attained in Minnesota.

An estimated 31,300 marriages were reported in Minnesota in 1971 with a rate of 8.1 per 1,000 population as compared to a total of 31,280 and a rate of 8.2 for 1970. Divorces increased from 8,288 to 9,430 between 1970 and 1971, following an upward trend which began in the early 1960s.

The standard deduction is up this year. But maybe you should itemize.

Your best buddy Lenny might have told you to itemize your deductions because it would save you more tax dollars.

Your neighbor possibly suggested taking the standard deduction because you'd pay less taxes that way.

And Frank down at the office... he helps everybody with their return... what did Frank recommend?

If there's some way to save you money on your income tax, H & R Block will know how to do it.

Itemized - and - standard deductions are nothing new. We've been preparing returns for years using both. We'll figure out your situation both ways and then prepare your return using the method that's best for you.

You see, for only a few dollars more than it costs to do it yourself (with advice maybe from some other amateur), you can have your tax return prepared with complete confidentiality by a specially trained member of the H & R Block team. There are thousands of them in over 6,000 conveniently located offices.

Each member of H & R Block is warm, friendly and anxious to help you. A visit to H & R Block usually takes just a short time. Once in our office, you sit down over a free cup of coffee and possibly learn things about your income tax that you never knew existed. Things that we know, because income tax returns are our only business.

H & R Block's fees start at $5 and the average cost was under $12.50 for over 7 million families we served last year.

Furthermore, if your return is audited we will accompany you, at no extra cost, to the Internal Revenue Service and explain how your return was prepared, even though we will not act as your legal representative.

It means that H & R Block also offers you year 'round tax service for just one low fee, with no extra charge for audits and estimates.

Yes, it's true. The standard deduction is up this year.

It's one of the many things we'll consider when we do your return.

DON'T LET AN AMATEUR DO H&R BLOCK'S JOB.

Canadian Singer Appears At Winter Shows

Reggie Gibson, well-known Canadian entertainer, just happened to be a horseman in his own right and attended the Red River Valley Winter Horse show some years ago. The show committee was in a spot at the last minute to obtain someone who could sing the Canadian national anthem while sitting in the arena on a horse, part of a feature of the grand opening of the horse show.

A bystander suggested that Reg Gibson probably could do the job. He gracefully accepted and solved the problem for the horse show management.

The next year, the management noticed that Reg was again in attendance. In fact, he was showing some horses at the winter event. They again requested his services and he again helped out with a rendition of "O Canada."

Word finally trickled through—not from Reg Gibson, he remained the modest performer—that the show management had been receiving this wonderful performance gratis from one of Canada's outstanding country and western performers.

This year, after asking for some detailed information on Reg, the show committee finds that he started singing on radio shows at the age of four. He has appeared on many national television and radio shows in Canada. He has acted in numerous films, some of which were award winners, and has written much background and theme music for films in Canada and the United States.

He had four scores which won special awards. He performed for the Queen and royal family in 1970. He has toured Canada, Europe and the Middle East entertaining Canadian and UNICEF troops.

He recently returned from an engagement on the S.S. France on its famous 91-day world cruise. He has recently been elected national president of the Association of Canadian Television and Radio Artists.

As the members of the Winter Horse show committee attested, he is a horseman. His wife, Mildred, and children Janine, Bonnie, Bill and Jim, who help run the Thunderbird ranch east of Winnipeg in the Pine Ridge area, all enjoy raising, riding and grooming quarter horses.

Reggie enjoys cutting horse competition and has owned a couple of provincial champions. They even won a little gold at Crookston a couple of years ago. He is past president of the Manitoba Cutting Horse association.

Reggie Gibson has again accepted the invitation to sing the Canadian anthem at the Feb. 25-27 Winter Horse show at Crookston. The horse show committee is not worried about whether he can handle it. But they are hoping that the USA gives him a warm welcome.

Crisis Foreseen In Production Of Paper Pulp

By 1980, it is estimated that the forests of Minnesota, the Pacific Northwest, and elsewhere in the country will be unable to supply all the raw material requirements for paper products in the U. S.

For some, the solution to that problem is simple: Cut fewer trees and recycle more used paper products. But the problem for Minnesota as well as the rest of the country is not that simple, according th University of Minnesota forest products specialist Lewis Hendricks.

One problem is that recycled paper is usually not a high quality paper and costs more than regular paper. For example, recycled paper in bulk quantities now costs about 15 per cent more than regular paper.

Also, the color in recycled paper is seldom "true" or consistent and the recycled paper is not as good for certain kinds of printing.

If people are to use more recycled paper, one result could be an increase in the price of newspapers, magazines and many other everyday paper products from bathroom tissue to phone directories, Hendricks explained.

But that's only a start on the recycling problem. In Minnesota there is extra pressure to continue cutting trees for pulpwood to provide jobs for thousands of residents in the northern part of the state.

Furthermore, for a few years at least, Minnesota will have adequate resources for the pulp and paper industry which adds nearly $330 million to the state's economy each year.

Now the state's total aspen pulpwood harvest is over one-half million cords a year, but aspen is growing faster than it is being cut. Aspen is undercut by more than 300,000 cords a year. When a forest is undercut, trees are maturing and dying faster than they are being harvested consequently many trees are wasted.

Companies and workers aren't the only ones that like to see a viable pulpwood industry. Hunters like to see forest harvested for pulpwood because of the favorable wildlife habitat that it creates for deer and grouse, Henricks said.

Even with all the pressures to continue to cut trees for pulpwood, the fact that recycling paper saves trees cannot be disputed, Hendricks said. On a national basis, over 11 million tons of paper stock are collected, processed and returned to the manufacturing cycle each year. This amounts to about 20 per cent of total production—or a saving of 200 million trees a year, he explained.

But the trees cut for pulpwood are often small diameter trees or larger trees with rot or flaws in them that make them uneconomical to use for lumber. So the forests "saved" by recycling are not necessarily the Minnesota pine forests or magnificent fir forests of the Pacific Northwest pictured on postcards.

Nevertheless, the estimates that our forests cannot keep up with the quickening pace of cutting for pulpwood cannot be taken lightly. It looks as if more recycling of waste paper may be a reality in the near future if a crisis is to be avoided, Hendricks said.

Get In The Act

If you have any inclination toward finding out how political action works, now is the time to get in the act. Precinct caucuses are being held by both political parties Tuesday, and both parties have invited participation through notices in this newspaper.

The following informational summary—which shows that no one has anything to fear from attendance at a caucus—was prepared by the League of Women Voters of Minnesota:

WHAT IS A PRECINCT CAUCUS?

It is a neighborhood meeting of all eligible voters of a political party living within a precinct.

WHAT IS A PRECINCT?

It is a designated geographical area which is served by one voting place. In a city this might be a few blocks. In the country a precinct might be a township or a village.

WHY HAVE A PRECINCT CAUCUS?

Precinct caucuses are the basis for the whole political party structure. They are the FIRST STEP in the process that ultimately adopts your state party platform, selects your party's officers and endorses candidates for state and national offices. In presidential years it is also the FIRST STEP in the process that selects your party's delegates to its national convention.

MAY ANYONE ATTEND A PRECINCT CAUCUS?

You may attend a precinct caucus if you are a qualified voter or will be qualified by the next general election in the State of Minnesota and are living in the precinct for which the caucus is held. No prior party affiliation is required. Young people who are under voting age may attend as observers.

Caucuses are not closed political club meetings. You won't be the only one attending for the first time. You will be comfortable and feel at home with neighbors who share the same party affiliation and the same concern for good government.

HOW DO I KNOW WHICH PARTY'S PRECINCT CAUCUS TO ATTEND?

You should be in agreement with the principles of the party and have either voted or affiliated with the party at the last general election, or intend to do so at the next general election. No person may vote or participate at more than one party's caucus in any one year.

HOW MUCH OF MY TIME WILL THE PRECINCT CAUSUS TAKE?

Precinct caususes are held only once every two years preceding the general election, and by law need last only one hour. If you want to influence the choice of delegates and to discuss issues, you should be prompt.

WHO CONVENES THE CAUCUS?

The caucus is called to order by a convener designated by party officials. There is no quorum required so a group of ANY size may meet and make decisions for ALL.

WHAT IS THE BUSINESS OF THE CAUCUS?

A permanent precinct chairman and other officers are elected to serve for two years. Delegates and alternates to the county convention are elected to serve for two years. Resolutions on issues and candidates may be presented and voted upon.

All voting for precinct officers, delegates and alternates is by secret ballot.

There may be discussion of responsibilities of precinct officers, delegates and alternates, as well as discussion of issues and candidate.

HOW CAN I BE EFFECTIVE AT MY PRECINCT CAUCUS?

If you have a particular interest in a candidate or issue, planning your caucus strategy before hand is wise. Possible methods include informing yourself and meeting with your neighbors to gather support before going to the caucus.

MAY I INTRODUCE A RESOLUTION?

Yes, this is your opportunity to voice your ideas and help form the thinking of the caucus. You need not be formal in the wording. It is more important to be clear.

WHAT HAPPENS TO MY RESOLUTION?

If your resolution is passed by the caucus, it is forwarded to the resolutions committee of the county convention. If it is adopted by the county convention, the same process is repeated at the congressional district level and then the state. It could be incorporated into the party platform.

If your resolution is not passed by the caucus and you still feel strongly about it, you may personally present it to the resolutions committee at the county convention.

WILL I BE EXPECTED TO ACCEPT A PARTY OFFICE?

No, but the opportunity is there for you. There are other ways you can help at the precinct level through block canvassing, coffee parties, telephoning and other party work.

HOW DOES A POLITICAL PARTY BECOME RECOGNIZED IN THE STATE OF MINNESOTA?

For recognition as a political party in Minnesota the political group must be statewide and have presented in every county at the last general election one or more candidates who polled 5 per cent of the total vote cast.

WHAT PARTIES ARE REGULATED BY THE LAWS GOVERNING PRECINCT CAUCUSES IN THE STATE OF MINNESOTA?

There are only two parties which consistently qualify under Minnesota laws. They are the Democratic-Farmer-Labor and Republican parties.

Other parties or groups may place one or more candidates on the general election ballot by nominating petitions signed by 2,000 voters for a statewide office, 1,000 voters for Congress, 500 voters for county or legislative office.

Register Guns?

Committee for Effective Crime Control has issued the following list of reasons why gun registration would be no solution to crime, and we concur with the reasons given:

1) It isn't effective: Criminals don't register guns. Registration cannot and will not prevent or reduce violence. Registration actually creates more problems than it solves.

2) Registration will create a black market in guns as surely as prohibition stimulated bootlegging.

3) The legitimate gun owner faces a tremendous burden of red tape. Consider the fact that millions of guns were manufactured without serial numbers and millions more were produced with lot serial numbers rather than consecutive individual numbers.

4) A registration list can be misused by criminal interests for their own ends, e.g., as a burglar's catalog. The Internal Revenue Service has been selling a list of names and addresses of 140,000 gun collectors and dealers gathered under the Gun Control Act of 1968. Regional lists are available to thieves who cannot afford to pay $140 for the national list. Current federal record-keeping requirements are adequate for tracing firearms.

5) The actual cost of registration is high, at least $10 per gun. Somebody has to pay.

6) The costs will inevitably be passed on to the gun owner. Eventually the fee may become annual. Once guns are registered, they can be used as a source of revenue and a means of making gun ownership increasingly difficult. Drastically curtailed gun ownership is what many groups in our society desire.

7) A registered gun is easily confiscated. Registration is an irreversible step. The presidential commission on violence, the Fellowship of Reconciliation, the Americans for Democratic Action, and many individuals have publicly called for outlawing firearms. In the face of this growing threat, sportsmen can hardly be expected to jeopardize the existence of their sport by registering their guns. Firearms owners are increasingly coming to the conclusion that they must band together to defeat any political candidate who advocates registration or confiscation.

Farm Facts

Every once in awhile we run across some research findings that prove of interest for some reason or another. They may not be of vital interest or concern to a lot of people, but they are rather fascinating.

For instance, did you know that a dairy cow producing 11,000 pounds of milk a year consumes 43 tons of fuel to produce that milk? We didn't think you did. Such a cow would eat 4,000 pounds of grain, 4,700 pounds of hay and 34,000 pounds of silage, all washed down with 75,000 pounds of water.

The cow eats and drinks 237 pounds of feed and water a day and about 10 tons of blood pumps through her udder a day to produce 40 pounds of milk. There are over two million dairy cows in the United States which produce 11,000 pounds of milk or more per year.

In the last several years farmers have become targets for people expressing concern over pollution. But did you know that an average adult requires about two pounds of oxygen per day, and one acre of 100-bushel corn produces sufficient oxygen for 12 people per year?

However, proper fertilization to increase corn yields to 150 bushels per acre will remove more than one-half of the carbon dioxide in the atmosphere above the corn and release oxygen for 18 people for a year. How about that for helping to clean up the environment?

End of today's lesson; class dismissed.

Interesting Opinions

"Every system should allow loopholes and exceptions, for if it does not it will in the end crush all that is best in man." — Bertrand Russell

notes from the governor

The people of this state and nation, increasingly, are demanding that their public officials introduce more accountability and efficiency into government at all levels.

We in state government are fully in accord with those objectives, and last week we introduced a new program designed to help us achieve those ends.

Under a program entitled "Minnesota Businessmen in Government", 25 key business executives will soon enter state government on a full-time basis to help us identify areas where the management techniques and skills of the business community can be put to good use.

We are most fortunate to have Douglas J. Dayton, former senior vice president of the Dayton-Hudson corporation, as the head of this businessman's team.

The executives are being "loaned" to us, at no cost to the state, by various Minnesota companies and major business organizations who share our goal of a more responsive, effective and efficient government.

I have promised the Dayton businessmen's committee that they will have the widest possible latitude in working with state officials and employees in helping us to produce demonstrable improvements in the efficiency and quality of state government services.

One area in which some of these men may work is in the possible decentralization of state government to make government services more readily available in outstate Minnesota.

In developing possible decentralization plans, it will be helpful for us to know, for example, what we can learn from 3M's decentralization policies when that company decided to locate its plants in Fairmont, Hutchinson and New Ulm.

We may then be able to apply this knowledge in making more effective local delivery of state services in such fields as corrections, welfare education, drug abuse, and mental health.

I think the "loaned executives" understand their mission well. We will expect them to be broadly innovative and imaginative as they use the "know-how" of business to help us run the business of government. It is an enormous challenge.

Give and take: drug rap

By Bob Olander
He's been there.

What's happening with opiate drug addiction? Are there more and more opiate addicts, the same, less, or what?

That's a pretty important question. You just don't slough off opiate addiction. The most reliable statistics we have on this come from the federal hospital in Lexington, Kent. The most recent figures show a relapse rate of about nine out of ten. Only one—I repeat, one—opiate addict out of 10 stays cured. Some kinds of chemical dependency can be kicked more easily. But nobody has yet figured out what to do about opiate addiction; these kind of addicts are generally for life.

It's become an accepted "rule of thumb" that for every death that is positively identified as a result of opiate overdose, there are 200 addicts in the area. In 1970 there were nine known deaths in the Twin Cities metropolitan area. This means about 1,800 addicts. But in 1971 there were 12 overdose deaths. So we can pretty well figure on an increase of several hundred addicts, 1971 over 1970. This "yardstick" for estimating opiate addiction was developed at New York addiction service council, but it is supposed to apply to any metropolitan community.

I need not point out that 2,400 opiate addicts—all of whom have but one thought in mind, feeding their terribly expensive habit—can cause a lot of pain and grief. Grief to themselves, grief to others.

But this doesn't mean that opiate addicts are equally distributed around the country as a whole. They tend to go where they can get the drug easily, and where they can escape detection. Many of them, in order to make $60 and $100 minimum a day they need to sustain their habit, have to take to selling the drug to others. It's hard to do this in a small town, so they naturally end up where "customers" are. The National Institue of Mental Health estimates that about half of the heroin addicts in the entire country lie in New York.

I'd like to make another point, that's not well understood.

Kids get started on drugs, generally, in junior high school. Sometimes a group of them manage to convince others that it's "smart" to smoke marijuana, or pop "pep" pills. Perhaps several groups will form and occasionally in parked cars or down in the basement (while the adults are upstairs watching drug commercials on TV!) the kids are passing around a joint and telling each other how keen it is.

Now, this is as far as it goes for many kids. That's all they do. But some of them move on to other groups that are into more serious drugs, and abandon the friends in the first group. The individual moves to another group; the group as a whole doesn't move on up. Eventually, after two or three of these "jumps," some of these kids get into the hard stuff.

That's when the real problems begin with hard-core addiction, problems that bring tragedy into so many lives, problems for which our society has not yet found solutions.

Economic Stabilization

Questions and Answers

Internal Revenue Service

Q—Are tuition and room and board charges exempt from price controls?

A—Yes. Tuition and room and board charges for state colleges and universities and private, non-profit schools, colleges and universities are exempt from price controls. However, private institutions, operating for profit are not exempt from price controls.

Q—Is every price increase above 2.5 per cent a violation of stabilization program guidelines?

A—No. The basic policy of the price commission is that price increases will not be allowed except as justified on the basis of cost increases, taking into account productivity gains. Thus, many price adjustments will be below 2.5 per cent and some will be above 2.5 per cent as justified on the basis of cost increases and other factors. The 2.5 per cent figure is the goal the price commission is aiming at as the average price increase across the economy.

Q—I rent out a room in my home. Is the rent I charge subject to control under the economic stabilization program?

A—Owner-occupied dwellings of four or less units having longer than month-to-month rental agreements are exempt from rent controls.

Q—Are small service firms, such as laundries, restaurants and television repair shops, exempt from price controls as are retailers with sales of less than $100,000?

A—No. This exemption applies only to retail firms and not small service firms.

Q—Is a department, such as a jewelry counter, which operates under a concession in a large department store exempt from posting requirements if the department has less than $200,000 annual revenues even though the store itself has more than $200,000 revenues annually?

A—No. A concessionaire whose parent company has an annual sales volume of less than $200,000 is subject to the posting requirements if the store in which it operates had an annual sales volume of more than $200,000.

A concessionaire whose parent company is less than $200,000 is not subject to the posting requirements if the store in which it operates also has an annual sales volume of less than $200,000.

A concessionaire whose parent company has an annual sales volume of more than $200,000 must post base price lists regardless of the annual sales volume of the retail establishment in which it operates.

Q—Are the new Forms PC-1, PC-50 and PC-51 now available at Internal Revenue service offices?

A—Yes. These forms are now available at IRS offices in many cities throughout the country. A PC-50 is filed only once, to detail base period profit margin data, by any Tier I and Tier II firms which have raised prices or desire to raise them.

A PC-1 must be filed by Tier I firms when ever a price increase is sought. Tier II firms must file a PC-1 for the quarter in which a price increase has occurred. A PC-51 is a report of price increases, sales, costs, and profits and must be filed quarterly by Tier I and II firms.

Q—If a state law or state pharmaceutical board or other official agency prohibits the posting of legend drug prices, what should a pharmacist or pharmacy owner do?

A—The pharmacist or pharmacy owner, like other retailers, must comply with federal price commission regulations and post prices if sales total $200,000 or more.

The American Conscience

by Dr. RUDY SKOGERBOE

One characteristic of the American scene in the last ten years has been protest movements. The SDA (Students for Democratic Action), the Weatherman, the Chicago Seven, The Barrigan Brothers, Father Groppe, the numerous communist fronts found in the New Political Left, and their many sympathizers in certain Clergy and Lay church groups have all created their special kind of noise. The result has been hate and fear and reaction. The methods used to gain attention has varied from sit downs to riots. Buildings have been burned, the flag disgraced, Washington D.C. threatened, bombs have even killed innocent people. Some political leaders have seemed to join the protest idea with severe criticisms of our country and its policies. The Communists in Hanoi, for example, have taken special delight in listening to these voices. They seem to gain strength and determination by getting the impression that we're too divided to be strong and tough.

This sort of thing is what one could call a negative protest. It is destructive and it hurts. It builds no bridges.

In this same recent history, there is another protest going on. It is quiet, beautiful and effective. It is the ultimate fulfillment of an ordinary man seeking peace of mind through a clean conscience. It is a revolution, all right, but not in a political or social sense. It is a revolution of the spirit. Since it is actually centuries old, it is not new, but we know it today as the "Jesus Movement."

Last week one of these articulate young men led a discussion in a local church. He didn't cut anyone to pieces. He didn't rant and rave against the establishment or any political group. He didn't even criticize the church. He merely talked about his wonderful discovery. Although raised in the church he had wandered from its teachings. His life found no meaning in the so called freedom of the new left. He openly admitted there were some who called themselves Jesus Freaks who were looking more for a new thrill than a really changed life. He differentiated very carefully between the new believers who were true and the fly by night emotional groups who were really a minority.

As he talked fluently to about 50 teenagers, it was easy to see how his life was better than before. He had a direction and was determined to help his particular part of the world find what he had. He, as so many others like him seemed to be more interested in service than financial security. He said he had refused a $60,000 contract because he felt the Kingdon of God needed people more than it needed money. He taught a powerful lesson. The church may never be the same again as this spirit grows. Along with a revived church, the secondary benefits are many.

I therefore salute these honest, clear minded and spiritually motivated young people. It is quite possible the hope of our nation's future is in their hands.

Doings of Week at Rosewood

Mrs. Bert Kron, Rt. 1, Newfolden, [illegible]

Mr and Mrs Douglas Martinson, Rodney and Brenda and Mr and Mrs Alfred Honer drove to Detroit Lakes last Wednesday to be with their sister, Helen Martinson who had been involved in a car-train accident by Detroit Lakes that day. They stayed until Friday morning also visiting with the William Martinson family. Mrs. Honer stayed longer to be with her sister.

Guests for the afternoon and supper a week ago Sunday at the Irwin Johnson home were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Peterson of Silverton, Mr. and Mrs. Roger DeLap of Thief River Falls and Mr. and Mrs. Thorvald Myhrer of Rocksbury.

Last Saturday Mrs. Irwin Johnson attended the funeral services for Clarence Wold held at Our Saviors church in Thief River Falls. Other families knowing bereavement the last two months have been the Olaus Mattsons with the death of Mrs. Mattson's brother, Emil Gustafson of Viking with services held at the Zion Lutheran church of Viking; the Bert Kron family with the death of Mrs. Kron's youngest sister, Mrs. Curtis Berg (Ruth) of Little Rock, Iowa with memorial services there where she taught and at Goodhue, Minnesota where they have their farm and formerly lived; the Emil Hellquists with the death of Mrs. Hellquist's sister, Mrs. Melvin Pederson (Laura) who had moved last fall from Lynwood, Wash. to make her home at the Valley home in Thief River Falls. Funeral services were held from the Green Funeral home with interment at the Rindal cemetery; and the Sam Oswald family with the death this week of Mr. Oswald's brother, Henry of Viking. Funeral services will be held at the Mission church of Viking.

Mr. and Mrs. Glendon Hanson of Center City, Minnesota visited at the Ray Holmstroms when they came to attend the funeral services of Herbert Hanson of Middle River which were held Jan. 13.

Mrs. John Thompson, Mrs. Victor Ranstrom and Mrs. Bert Kron attended the February meeting of the Town and Country Garden club held last Wednesday afternoon at the Wayne Peters home at Viking. Valentine treats were prepared for the community shut-ins.

Francis Montry observed his birthday recently with a Sunday dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Gary Carlson and Gilbert Gilbertson of Thief River Falls as guests. Other guests at Montrys who enjoyed supper with them were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Fering, Charles Schafer and Tony Blawat of Greenbush.

Keith Kron drove home from California the last of January after completing two years with the Navy in Hawaii. Enroute home he visited in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kron and the Warren Kron family in Lancaster, California, at the William Glatiotis home in Denver and the Alton Nelson home in Yankton, S. D. He left by plane Thursday afternoon for Adak, Alaska, an island in the Aleutian chain, where he will be stationed at the Naval base for the coming year.

Dwight Johnson attended the afternoon snow-cat party held by the Redeemer church Luther leaguers recently at the Merle Dagen home. That same evening the young people of the Redeemer church and of the Black River Lutheran church had a joint ski party at the Timberland Ski resort near Red Lake Falls.

Steve Holmstrom has started working in the test driving department of Arctic Cat this winter.

A week ago Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Bert Kron, Keith, Laura and Leonard were guests at the Oscar Swanson home of Viking. Mr. and Mrs. Van Swanson of Mayville, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Granstrand of Viking and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Sorenson of Thief River Falls were also there so the young people had a most interesting social evening as most of them had been classmates at school.

Best wishes are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Vern Aaseby who were married January 21 at Our Savior's Lutheran church in Thief River Falls. Mrs. Aaseby is the former Bonita Bruggeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Bruggeman of Thief River Falls. Last Thursday afternoon at the Hjalmar Aaseby home, Bonnie was honored with a bridal shower with many neighbors and friends attending. Mrs. Albert Walker led an afternoon of contests and games before the bride opened her gifts and a festive lunch was served by Mrs. Hjalmer Aaseby, Ramona and Lorette.

School Activities

Neil Johnson has had a busy winter with hockey games with the Franklin junior high team in Thief River Falls and with the Bantam hockey team of the recreation division. Lyle Johnson has been playing with the Northrup grade school hockey team.

Tim Wold has continued an outstanding year this school term with the Lincoln Prowler's Wrestling team.

Jon Sabo is one of the wrestlers on the newly formed wrestling squad organized at Marshall County Central at Newfolden this year.

On the Junior High "C" basketball team at Marshall County Central Leonard Kron has been competing with the team against neighboring school teams.

Danny Olson got back into the old school routine this winter when he started driving school buses for Marshall County Central.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Langlie, Cheryl, Steve and Mark and Linda Langlie of Minneapolis spent the weekend two weeks ago visiting with relatives in the area. On Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hellquist joined them with Mr. and Mrs. Albin Langlie at the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Norel Langlie in Newfolden. The afternoon was spent snowcatting and the evening spent observing the birthdays of Mrs. Noral Langlie, Albin Langlie and Mrs. Emil Hellquist. Home-made ice cream was especially enjoyed by all.

The Rosewood Homemakers had their last meeting at the home of Irwin Johnsons with most of the members able to attend. The lesson "A Look at Todays Textiles" was presented by Mrs. Bert Kron. The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. John Bauer with plans made for the homemakers to help contribute cookies for the Valentine treats to be given by the county homemaker groups to the residents of some of the rest homes in Thief River Falls. This year the homemakers also drew names among themselves to have a Secret Pal as a special "fun" activity. Mrs. Johnson served a tray luncheon at the close of the afternoon meeting.

Karen Holmstrom celebrated her 9th birthday a week ago with an after school birthday. Guests included Nancy Hanson of Viking, who was also an overnight guest, Robin Skoglund, Marlene Sorenson, Stephanie Larson, Kim and Kelly Olson all of Holt and Sharlene Mansueto. Barbara Holmstrom and Annette Mansueto had games planned for Karen's party that were enjoyed by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mansueto and family moved into the buildings on the Irvin Jarshaw home last fall. Mr. Mansueto is a racer for the Arctic Cat company and has been taking part in many out of state races for the company.

A week ago Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Meyer, Patty and Teresa of Mitchell, S. D. visited at the Bert Kron home Saturday evening. They had come to the area to attend the funeral services on Monday for Mrs. Meyer's father, Helmer Gulbranson of Fertile.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hellquist and Albert Hellquist visited a week ago Wednesday in Thief River Falls with Mrs. Marie Anderson.

Gordon Harold Hall is the new first born child of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hall. Born on January 28th, he weighed 6 lb. 4½ oz. Best wishes are extended to the proud parents and their son.

Last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. John Hellquist of Bemidji visited at the Emil Hellquist home. Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. John Hellquist and Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hellquist were supper guests at the Randall Erickson home in Thief River Falls.

Minnesota Teens Attend 4-H Congress

Four Minnesota youths have just returned from their visit to Chicago after attending the 50th National 4-H Congress Nov. 28-Dec. 2.

They received expense-paid trips as state winners in their 1971 4-H projects.

The four youths, who were selected by the Cooperative Extension Service, are: Kathy Olson, 19, of Bethel, Isanti County; Renee Janas, 18, of Columbian Heights, Anoka County; Dave Strand, 16, St. Paul, Ramsey County, and Richard Hoyme, Minneapolis, Hennepin County.

Miss Olson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Olson, won her high honors in food preservation and had her trip to Chicago sponsored by Kerr Glass Manufacturing Corporation.

A sophomore at University of Minnesota, Miss Olson feels that she has "learned to profit from mistakes and try harder the next time." She tried hard enough to prepare 152 meals in her nine-year project, besides freezing fruits and making preserves.

As a project leader, she became experienced in teaching children. As a result of working with mentally retarded children, Miss Olson has decided on a career in that field, working on a double major in social work and psychology.

Miss Janas, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chet Janas, began her 4-H health project because of an interest in diseases of the heart. She continued with other related projects in foods and nutrition and creative writing in order to describe her health project to others.

She has received 22 blue awards in six years of 4-H work, a grand champion and four reserve champion awards for food projects. Several medals have been won by her for health demonstrations and essays.

Donor of her trip to Chicago was Eli Lilly and Company.

Strand, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Strand, has spent five of his seven years in 4-H work on his electric project. This has resulted in his trip to Chicago, which was sponsored by Westinghouse Electric Corporation.

He has won three trips to state fairs for his outstanding exhibits and has given demonstrations for television stations in his area. Other achievements have been earning his short-wave radio operator license and leadership of other youths.

A high school junior, he is planning on a career in electronics.

Hoyme, the son of Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Hoyme, had his trip to Chicago sponsored by Eastman Kodak Company, program donor.

Hoyme's photography project has netted him some 340 black and white photographs, 25 color slides and championship ribbons at county events for four consecutive years.

A freshman at North Hennepin State, Hoyme's ambition is to become an electrical engineer.

The four young people were among about 30 4-H'ers from Minnesota attending the congress.

The 4-H awards programs are arranged by the National 4-H Service Committee, headquartered in Chicago.

East Side Presses Prowlers 81-74 In Big Five Action

East Grand Forks displayed a devastating full court zone press defense to build a 22 point second quarter bulge Friday night as the Green Wave rolled to an 81-74 Big Five conference basketball triumph over Thief River Falls in the Wave gymnasium.

The aggressive "East Side" defense was so effective that for a 2:11 span in the second quarter Thief River Falls was able to attempt just two field goals, as the Wave prevented the Prowlers from even crossing the center line on four straight occasions, stealing the ball for easy buckets as "East Side" outscored the Prowlers 15-0 in the two-minute period.

Surprisingly enough, the game started in a slowed-down manner for two teams notoriously noted for their fast break offenses. But after a time out, the Wave grabbed an 8-5 lead with 5:22 remaining in the opening stanza.

The contest stayed close until "East Side's" sharp, on-target passes found openings for easy shots and a 23-17 lead at the stop.

The Prowlers stayed within four points, 26-22 with 6:38 remaining in the half before the outburst of frustrating turnovers led East Grand Forks to a 43-22 bulge with 4:44 left. Behind the deadly outside shooting of Kurt Knoff and Dean Avery and the timely rebounds by Jeff Shook, the Wave coasted to a 53-37 halftime advantage.

Thief River Falls cut the difference to 11, 56-45, with 5:11 remaining in the third quarter as the Prowlers looked as if they had solved their turnover problems. But, behind the standout play of Knoff, the Green Wave once again built a 15-point, 60-45 lead with 4:08 left.

Ordean Peterson's eight points in the third quarter kept the Prowlers within contention as they trailed 65-54 going into the final eight minutes.

Rande Smith's two free throws opened the fourth quarter, bringing the Prowlers to within 65-56, but the Wave washed out the Prowlers comeback momentarily as "East Side" went in front 73-58 with 4:50 remaining.

Six straight points by Rande Smith, Tom Kays and Kent Smith trimmed the margin to nine, 73-64 with 3:16 left, but East Grand Forks still received the key bucket when the Wave needed it for a 77-64 lead with 1:54 left.

A four-point play by the Prowlers cut the Wave lead to just 79-72 with 38 seconds remaining as Jeff Rhoden stuck in a rebound and Kays made two free throws on the same play.

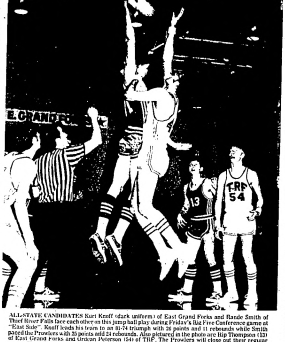
Kays again came through at the gift lane with 31 seconds remaining as he made both attempts on a two-shot foul for a 79-74 contest with still 31 seconds left to play.

Rhoden cleared the boards on a missed Wave free throw with 23 seconds remaining, but the Prowler junior lost control of the ball when he slipped starting out on a TRF fast break and Knoff picked up the loose ball for an easy lay-up with 10 seconds left for the final 81-74 count.

Rande Smith turned in the top performance for the Prowlers with 25 points to go along with 24 rebounds. Kays finished with 20 points while Rhoden had 12 and Peterson added 11. Knoff took game scoring honors with 26 while teammates Rip Thompson scored 14, Bryan Johnson 12, Dean Avery 11 and Dave Rohy 10.

In what Prowler coach Lee Swanson termed the "key" to the game, the Prowlers committed 28 turnovers compared to just eight for the Green Wave. Thief River Falls was also out-rebounded by a 42-38 margin. The Prowlers connected on 46 per cent of their shots from the floor while the Wave hit at a 52.7 clip. From the free throw line the Prowlers made 20 of 30 with the Wave hitting on 13 of 20 gift tosses.

The win elevated the Green Wave to a first place tie with the Prowlers in the Big Five conference standings. Each team has five points, but the Prowlers have just one league game remaining (Thursday at home against Warren) while East Grand Forks has two loop contests left. A key showdown will take place Friday night when the Green Wave travels to Crookston. The Pirates are also in the thick of the pennant race with four points. East Grand Forks also plays Climax in a conference game.



ALL-STATE CANDIDATES Kurt Knoff (dark uniform) of East Grand Forks and Rande Smith of Thief River Falls face each other on this jump ball play during Friday's Big Five Conference game at "East Side". Knoff leads his team to an 81-74 triumph with 26 points and 11 rebounds while Smith paced the Prowlers with 25 points and 24 rebounds. Also pictured in the photo are Rip Thompson (13) of East Grand Forks and Ordean Peterson (54) of TRF. The Prowlers will close out their reguar season Thursday night when they host Warren in the Lincoln gym.

PROWLER WING John Wangberg (far left) fires home his team's second goal of the night in Friday's 11-0 drubbing of Moorhead in the Thief River Falls sports arena. Moorhead goalie Dave Morinville looks over his shoulder to see the puck resting in the net as the Prowlers' Jeff Bottem (6) looks on. Thief River Falls finished its regular season with a 15-5 record and will face the winner of the East Grand Forks-Fergus Falls sub region game in the first round of the region eight tournament.

LHS Skaters End Regular Season 15-5

Lincoln high school hockey team completed the regular season portion of its 1971-72 schedule Friday night with an easy 11-0 win over Moorhead in the Thief River Falls sports arena.

Five Prowlers collected a pair of goals each as John Schmitz' puckster upped their season record to 15-5 heading into this week's region eight tournament in the city arena.

Goalies Pete Sullivan and Stan Ehrenstrom collabroated for the second time this season in recording a shut-out victory as the pair jointly turned aside 22 Moorhead shots. Earlier this season they combined to blank Red Lake Falls 13-0 in the TRF arena.

Senior wing Rory Anderson opened the game's scoring, on assists from Mike Hamilton and Jon Jensen, as he beat Moorhead goalie Dave Morinville from close range with 10:35 remaining in the first period.

John Wangberg made it 2-0 on a power play goal from directly in front of the Moorhead net with 7:19 left, with Tom Goddard getting an assist on the play.

The Prowlers led 4-0 at the end of the first period as Mike Fitzgerald scored twice within a 1:25 span. The senior wing scored from close range on an assist from Jon Jensen with 4:13 remaining and added a long range solo blast with 3:39 to go.

Thief River Falls added five goals in the second stanza with Wangberg scoring from the rifht side with 12:37 remaining to start the barrage. Goddard and Jeff Bottem assisted on Wangberg's second goal of the game.

The Prowlers received two quick goals from Jensen, spaced just 1:15 apart, for a 7-0 bulge with 8:34 remaining in the second period. Jensen scored from close range on assists from Hamilton and Tom Wurst with 9:49 left and added an unassisted long range shot from just inside the blueline with 8:34 to go.

Tom Goddard, assisted by Bottem, made it 8-0 on his close range goal with 7:30 left and Don Brown, on assists from Jon Markstrom and Fitzgerald, gave the Prowlers a nine-goal lead on his scoring shot from 20 feet out with 6:06 remaining.

Rory Anderson knocked in an unassisted goal from the right wing with just six seconds gone in the final period while Wurst, assisted by Hamilton, scored the final goal on a hard slap shot from inside the blue line.

Morinville was tested 41 times in the game, coming up with 30 saves. Sullivan kicked out 13 Moorhead shots before being relieved by Ehrenstrom in the second period. The Prowler senior stopped nine Spud shots the rest of the way.

THE PROWLER junior varsity squad finished its season with a 15-1-2 mark with a 6-2 come-from-behind win in the preliminary contest.

Moorhead led 2-1 going into the third period before Thief River Falls scored five goals. Scoring for the Bees were Tim Votava, Mike Drury, Tony Dorn, John Restad and Mark Thrall, who collected two goals in a 1:34 span of the third period.

Hockey Tickets On Sale Thurs.

Pre game ticket sales for the region eight hockey tournament scheduled for the Thief River Falls sports arena February 25, 26, 28 and March 1 will go on sale at the Lincoln high school gymnasium ticket booth starting Thursday, February 24.

Tickets will be sold Thursday and Friday from 8 a.m. to 12 noon and from 12:30 to 4 p.m.

If Thief River Falls wins its first-round game Friday night, pre game sale for Monday, February 28, semi-final game will be held Saturday from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and Monday from 8 a.m. to 12 noon and 12:30 to 4 p.m. at the ticket booth.

Steve Thorstad Captures Region Eight Mat Crown

Senior Steve Thorstad gained revenge for two regular season losses to Mike Grahn of Roseau with a 4-1 triumph in the 180-pound championship match to claim an individual region eight wrestling crown Friday night in the Bemidji state college gymnasium.

Thorstad lost 5-0 and 3-0 to Grahn during the season, the Prowler grappler's only losses all year, but gained the win when it really counted as he provided Thief River Falls with its lone state meet entry. Two other Prowler district champions, Kurt Muzzy (98) and Mark Kaushagen (155) suffered second round defeats and finished fourth in their respective weight divisions.

Thorstad took a 2-0 lead after the first period on a takedown and added a second period escape for a 3-0 lead going into the final two minutes. Grahn scored one point on a penalty call, but Thorstad added a point on riding time for the championship.

Thorstad pinned Steve Snobl of Bagley at 1:21 in his first-round match and gained a win in the semi-finals when Mahnomen's Steve Spaeth was disqualified.

Muzzy was given a first round bye in the 98 pound weight class and automatically advanced into the semi-finals but lost a 1-0 decision to Jeff Dale of Fertile on riding time. The Prowler junior lost to Bemidji's Ricky Fulton in consolation action.

Kaushagen was also given a first round bye but lost a 5-0 decision to eventual champion Jim Wille of Mahnomen in semi-final action. Kaushagen lost to Mike Proudfoot of Park Rapids in consolation wrestle-backs.

Fertile captured just one individual championship, but the well-balanced Falcons added a number of place finishers to outdistance Mahnomen and Greenbush for the team championship. Fertile finished with 46 points, Mahnomen 44 and Greenbush had 40.

District 31 had three individual champions with Crookston's Murray Tiedeman winning the 126 pound title, Loren Mitchell of East Grand Forks won the 112 pound championship and Thorstad captured the 180 pound crown. It was Tiedeman's second straight region eight crown while Mitchell caputred East Grand Forks' first ever region eight title. Thorstad's win marked the seventh straight year that Thief River Falls head coach Ed Krystosek has had an individual region champ.

The complete team totals were as follows:

Fertile 46, Mahnomen 44, Greenbush 40, Bagley 39½, Park Rapids 36, Bemidji 32, Walker 27, Oklee 24, Thief River Falls 20, Crookston 18½, East Grand Forks 15, Roseau 8, Fosston 6, Blackduck 3, Waubun 3, Remer 3, Cass Lake 0 and Warren 0.

The championship matches found the following results:

98—Mike Hanlon, Bagley dec. Jeff Dale, Fertile 15-0.

105—Mark Costello, Park Rapids dec. Terry Handyside, Mahnomen 5-0.

112—Loren Mitchell, East Grand Forks dec. Chuck Merchant, Walker 11-2.

119—Terry Brown, Walker, pinned Paul Remark, Fertile 0:50.

126—Murray Tiedeman, Crookston dec. Jerry Sanness, Fertile 7-0.

132—Bob Wright, Fertile dec. Jeff Miodzik, Greenbush 7-1.

138—Steve Winter, Mahnomen dec. Craig Balstad, Fertile 7-4.

145—Steve Schauer, Park Rapids dec. Lance Mandt, Oklee 9-1.

155—Jim Wille, Mahnomen dec. Kelly Lundeen, Oklee 10-3.

167—Dan Zak, Greenbush dec. Keith Monson, Bemidji 4-0.

180—Steve Thorstad, Thief River Falls dec. Mike Grahn, Roseau 4-1.

Heavyweight—Bill Lanners, Bagley dec. Arge, Greenbush 1-0.

DAN CRAFT looks helplessly back at the puck as it slides past the Lakewood goalie toward the opener Lancer net during first period action in Sunday's junior college game in the sports arena. Northland won the game 10-2 behind the four goal performance of John Barger and the three goal production of Rich Ellerbusch.

NSJC Pucksters Sweep Weekend Series Vs. Lakewood 5-3 & 10-2

Northland state junior college fired a staggering 93 shots, including 53 on net, Sunday enroute to a 10-2 Minnesota junior college athletic association triumph over Lakewodod in the Thief River Falls sports arena.

The Northmen swept the two-game weekend series, posting a 5-3 win Saturday night, to finish their regular season with a respectable 12-10 record. The Northmen will be back in action this weekend when Northland competes in the junior college state tournament at Grand Rapids.

Freshman wing John Barger led Sunday's scoring barrage with four goals while sophomore Rich Ellerbusch collected three and sophomore Leo Marshall added a pair. The triumph over the Lancers was the fourth without a loss this season over the White Bear Lake school.

Sophomore goalie Dan Craft had trouble with the rebounds after making the initial save during his tenure in the Lakewood nets as Northland jumped out to a 3-2 first period lead with two carom scores.

Marshall, one of 10 sophomores making their last home appearance for the Northmen, opened the game's scoring as he knocked in a loose rebound with 17:44 remaining in the first period. Sophomore defenseman Jeff Baumgartner was credited with an assist on the score.

Lakewood came right back, however, as freshman defenseman Dan Mielke stickhandled past the Northland defense and lifted a lose range backhand over Maurie Pearson with 16:11 remaining.

Bob Lundbohm fed Barger a perfect centering pass on a Northland power play to set up the Hallock product's first goal with 15:08 left and the Northmen grabbed a 3-1 lead with 14:54 remaining with Ellerbusch poked in a loose rebound.

Lakewood cut the difference to just 3-2 at the first stop as sophomore wing Bob Cardinal's backhand beat Pearson wit 7:15 left.

Northland's defense tightened up in the second period as the Northmen continuously prevented the Lancers from mounting an offensive thrust. Barger, again assisted by Lundbohm, picked up his second goal of the game with 18:24 remaining in the second stanza as he steered in Lundbohm's centering pass for a 4-2 Northland lead.

Ellerbusch capitilized on faulty defensive play by Lakewood with 10:09 remaining as he intercepted a Lancer clearing pass for an unassisted goal an a 5-2 advantage.

A change of goalies midway through the second period for both teams made little difference as Northland scored three more second period goals while holding Lakewood scoreless. Freshman Devin Peltier replaced Craft for the Lancers while Pearson reinjured his dislocated shoulder on a save and was replaced by freshman Tom Matanich.

Northland went in front 6-2 when Marshall scored, assisted by Rodney Bolduc, on a two on one rush with 8:26 remaining. Just 13 seconds later Northland led 7-2 as Barger scored, on assists from Mark Hughes and Lundbohm.

The Northmen went in front 8-2 at the end of two periods when Hughes scored on a two on one rush for the Northmen while they were skating shorthanded. Lundbohm picked up his fourth asisist of the game on the play.

Nuisance penalties hampered both teams in the final period, although the Northmen added two more goals in the third stanza.

Barger and Lundbohm once again combed to give Northland a 9-2 bulge as Barger scored his fourth goal and Lundbohm picked up his fifth assist with 8:00 remaining. Ellerbusch collected his hat trick with 1:13 remaining as he scored from close range, on an assist from Paul Johnson, giving the Northmen a 10-2 triumph.

Craft and Peltier combined to kick out 43 Northland shots while Pearson and Matanich turned aside 30 Lancer drives.

Saturday night's game was a closely fought contest with Northland overcoming a 2-1 third period deficit before posting a 5-3 victory.

Northland held a slim 1-0 lead at the end of the first period on Bolduc's close range goal with 12:08 remaining. Ellerbusch gained an assist on the play.

Lakewood wasted little time before scoring once the second period began, as freshman wing Ed Lamson beat Pearson with just nine seconds gone. The sophomore goalie was unbeatable the rest of the period though, as Pearson produced a 20-save stanza.

The visiting Lancers opened up a 2-1 third period lead on freshman Jim McCoy's goal with 17:57 remaining.

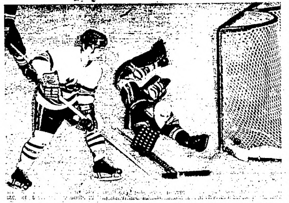
Northland finally started to roll offensively as the Northmen scored three goals in a 2:40 span to take a 4-2 lead with 12:20 remaining in the game.

Lundbohm and Marshall, the squad's leading scorers, started the third period comeback effort with a pair of unassisted goals with 15:00 and 14:06 remaining to give the Northmen a 3-2 advantage before Lundbohm added a second unassisted score with 12:20 left.

Bolduc added his second ogoal of the game with 1:07 remaining ofor a 5-2 margin before Mielke made it 5-3 with just 47 seconds remaining.

Pearson was credited with 36 saves in the Northland nets while Craft kicked out 46 Northland shots.

Among the sophomores playing their final home game for the Northmen in the series were John Hellquist (TRF), Rick Lindegard (Hallock), Gary Halvorson (Roseau), Baumgartner (Roseau), Bolduc (Anoka), Ellerbusch (Warroad), Leonard Kotta (Roseau), Lundbohm (Roseau), Marshall (Warroad) and Pearson (Crookston).



LAKEWOOD GOALIE Devin Peltier dives for a loose puck while an unidentified teammate looks on, during Sunday's Northland - Lakewood MJCAA hockey game in the Thief River Falls sports arena. Northland won the game 10-2 to complete a weekend sweep of the Lancers after winning Saturday's game 5-3. Northland ended the regular season with a 12-10 record and will compete in the junior college state tournament this weekend at Grand Rapids.

Northland Ends Cage Campaign With Wins

Northland state junior college basketball team wound up its most successful season in the history of the school with a weekend sweep at Hibbing and Grand Rapids to finish its 1971-72 campaign with a 13-12 record.

The Northmen beat Hibbing 90-57 Friday night and added an 84-72 win over Itasca Saturday afternoon in a pair of MJCAA conference games. This season marked the first time a Northland basketball team has finished the year with a winning record. The best previous record posted by the Northmen was an 8-14 slate during the 1967-68 season.

Northland head coach Chet Engleman was real pleased with his squad's performance over the weekend and generally satisfied with the season's results. "I felt we had a real good weekend, especially defensively," stated Engelman, "we kept them from getting many good shots in both games and we had some fine offensive performances also. We received an outstanding weekend from (Mike) Rasch and Tony Burke; Willie Bayne and Dale Hanson all played well for us."

Friday's game at Hibbing started off in an unexpected slow fashion with Northland scoring the first points, but not until almost three minutes had elapsed. Burke put the Northmen in front 2-0, but Hibbing came back to take the lead 4-2 on buckets by Jon Enderle and Fred Zbacnik.

Northland pulled out to an 8-4 advantage only to have Hibbing tie the game 12-12 with 11:16 left. But in a span of 2:04 Northland scored ten straight points behind the offensive fireworks of Dale Hanson and Burke to grab a 22-12 advantage with 9:12 remaining in the first half.

Hibbing cut the difference to just 30-26 with 3:59 left, but Northland again turned on the steam to pull away to a 41-30 halftime lead.

A 47-33 Northland lead at the outset of the second half was stretched to a whooping 60-33 bulge when Northmen erupted for 13 unanswered points in a two-minute duration.

The Cardinals trailed 78-45 with 7:16 remaining, but Northland lengthened its lead even more with a spurt of 10 straight points for an 88-45 game with 4:38 left to play enroute to the 90-57 final.

Northland was led by Dale Hanson's 24-point production while Burke scored 19, Rasch 16 and Jay Forney added 13. Best effort by Hibbing was Bob Loushine's 12 points. Northland shot 49 per cent from the field (33 of 68) while an NSJC zone defense held Hibbing to a 37 per cent showing (26 of 71). Northland connected on 24 of 43 free throws with the Cardinals making just five of 14 from the gift line. Northland held a 68-37 rebound advantage with Burke pulling down a state record 28 caroms. Rasch and Kent Hanson added 10 rebounds and Dale Hanson grabbed 9. Freshman guard Darrell Stromlund picked-up six assists and seven recoveries i the game.

Saturday's game was a little tighter as Northland and Itasca fought on even terms throughout the first half. With the game tied 18-18 with 10:56 left in the half, Northland outscored the Vikings 12-3 to pull out to a 30-21 advantage with 5:25 remaining enroute to a 41-30 halftime lead, matching the same lead at intermission as the night before.

A long jump shot by Stromlund built Northland's lead to 60-41 midway through the final half, giving the Northmen their biggest lead of the night as they coasted to the 84-72 win.

Bayne scored 22 and Burke 21 to lead a one-two punch while Rasch added 12 points. Jack Olwell poured in 27 for the Vikings while Sam Gebhart had 10.

Northland connected on 35 of 80 shots from the field for a 44 per cent performance while Itasca shot 33 per cent, hitting 29 of 88. From the gift line the Northmen shot at a 58 per cent clip on 14 of 24 while the Vikings turned in a sparkling 73 per cent performance on 14 of 19 free throws. The Northmen held a wide 71-47 rebound advantage with Burke grabbing 21, Dale Hanson 13 and Rasch 11.

Tony Burke Breaks Two MJCAA Records

Northland state junior college sophomore center Tony Burke set two new MJCAA rebounding records over the weekend while leading the Northmen to conference wins over Hibbing (90-57) and Itasca (84-72).

Burke set a new state junior college record for rebounds in a single game with 28 caroms in Friday's win at Hibbing while also setting a new state standard for rebounds in a season with 313 in 18 conference games.

The old record of 27 rebounds in a single game was held jointly by Jim Mitchell (Vermilion) and Josh Strub (Normandale), both set last season. Strub also held the season mark of 286, set during the 1970-71 campaign.

Burke, a 6-6 product of Bemidji, grabbed a total of 413 rebounds in 25 games this season, an average of 16.5 per game, while average 17.7 rebounds per conference game.

In two years at Northland Burke pulled down 716 rebounds, an average of 15.2 over a 47 game career.

Arctic Drivers Claim 14 Places

Arctic Cat race drivers captured 14 placings over the weekend at the Arrowwood races at Alexandria.

In the stock A class Arctic swept the first three places with E. Wilwert of Dubuque, Iowa claiming first place, Roger Hible of Thief River Falls was second and Don Eide of Oslo placed third.

Arcitic also swept the stock B races with Eide placing first, Bob Bromley of Thief River Falls was second and C. Dayne of Buffalo was third.

Polaris took over in the stock C class with a clean 1-2-3 sweep with T. Morel of Sauk Centre taking first, D. Gingerich of Rushmore was second and B. Winterlee was third.

In D stock races Dennis Bakke of Thief River Falls was first on an Arctic, K. Geer of New London was second on a Rupp and J. Anderson of Fergus Falls placed third on an Arctic Cat.

Arctic took two of the top three places in Mod I races with Hible placing first on an Arctic, C. Strock of Garfield was second on a Sno Jet and Steve Mittelstadt of Thief River Falls placed third on a Cat.

Mod II races found another Arctic Cat sweep with Mittelstadt placing first, Rich Porter of Thief River Falls was second and Armond Westlund of Strathcona was third.

G. Peters of Superior, Wisconsin claimed the Mod III championship on a Ski-Doo while Porter was second on a Cat and H. Howe was third on a Polaris.

Polaris took the top two places in the Mod IV races with G Palmer claiming first and Marty Devins second. D. Woerle of Superior took third on a Ski-Doo.

K. Elmer of Evansville captured the Mod V races on a Sno Jet while D. Roone of Pensfored was second on a Ski-Doo and Marty Debrois was third on a Polaris.

The Arctic Cat race team competed at Spokane, Wash. over the weekend, but the results were not yet available from that race.

Willmar Wins Vo-Tech Title

Willmar defeated Alexandria 87-68 in the championship game of the Minnesota vocational-technical school state basketball tournament behind the 40-point scoring effort of Darrell Lippert.

Staples defeated Moorhead 77-64 for consolation laurels in the tournament held at Brainerd.

Willmar eliminated Moorhead 75-55 in the opening round while Alexandria stopped Staples 84-50 in the other first round game.

Pollution Clinic And Display At Winter Shows

Agencies concerned with agricultural pollution control have teamed up with the board of managers on a special educational booth at the 1972 Red River Valley Winter shows. Cooperating groups are the Northwest agricultural experiment station, the regional office of the Soil Conservation service, Thief River Falls, and the solid waste division of the Minnesota Pollution Control agency.

Research agencies, regulatory agencies, and a conservation action agency have teamed up to demonstrate pollution control methods, to inform the public on what research is being conducted, and to provide opportunities to consult on some questions which show visitors might have on the matter of agricultural or other pollutants in our environment.

A continuous color slide presentation of the research work under way at the Northwest experiment station will illustrate the concerns of the university in solving the problems of agricultural waste management.

Experts from the three agencies will man their section of the booth during the entire show and will be available to visit, to listen, and to answer questions throughout the show.

Fisher Captures Conference Title

Fisher claimed sole possession of the Polar conference championship and the number one seed in the sub district 31 basketball tournament Friday night with a 64-60 triumph over Goodridge.

The loss gave the Flyers the league title and dropped Goodridge into a second place tie with Alvarado. Oslo and Plummer tied for fourth while Red Lake Falls finished in the cellar. Alvarado was awarded the second seed in the sub district tournament after a flip of the coin with Goodridge.

The well-balanced Fisher quint raced to an 18-11 first quarter lead before Goodridge coach Gary Monson switched to a zone defense and held the Flyer offense in check while the Huskies climbed to a 27-26 halftime lead.

The two evenly matched clubs exchanged leads numerous times throughout the third quarter with the Flyers holding a narrow 46-45 lead going into the final eight minutes.

Senior center Pete Anderson led the Flyers with 31 points while senior forwards Kent Gunderson and Mark Kummer each collected 10. Goodridge was paced by senior guard Aldon Hyland's 19 points while junior center Harlen Iverson scored 17. Iverson and Hyland were also the Huskies' top rebounders with 11 and 10 caroms respectively as Goodridge held a commanding 41-22 board advantage.

Sub district 31 action begins Monday, February 28, with Goodridge facing Red Lake Falls and Oslo taking on Plummer. On Tuesday Alvarado will face the winner of the Goodridge-RLF contest while Fisher takes on the winner of the Oslo-Plummer affair. The championship game will be played Thursday, March 2, with the top three teams advancing into district action the following week. Sub district games will be played at Crookston.

Fishermen Eye Crack In Ice At Long Point

Fishermen at Long Point eyed a crack in the ice suspiciously a week ago Saturday, and with good reason. After about 20 cars had gone beyond the crack on planks Sunday, the ice opened far enough so that the 12-foot planks used as a makeshift bridge were too short to provide support for vehicles to cross.

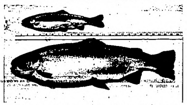
Some 20 vehicles, some of them campers with fishermen from long distances away who wanted to go home, were stranded Sunday by the gap.

Russell Bergren and his son took their tractor and filled a large area of the crack with snow which, when it froze, was strengthened with planks so the vehicles could cross safely. It was about 3 p.m. Sunday when the vehicles could be routed over the makeshift bridge safely and fishermen could begin their journeys home.

University of North Dakota fullback Mike Deutsch led teammates in rushing yardage in 1970 with 797 yards.

MOORHEAD GOALIE Dave Morinville gets an assist from a Spud defenseman in covering up a loose puck during Friday's 11-0 Prowler win in the sports arena. Prowler players Don Brown (12) and Mike Fitzgerald (far right) were prepared for a possible rebound while Jon Markstrom (14) watches the play in the background. Sub region eight action starts tournament play beginning tonight (Monday) with the winners advancing into the region eight classic in the city arena February 25, 26, 28 and March 1.

FRESHMAN WING John Barger scored one of his four goals Sunday on this play as he slipped the puck past Lakewood goalie Devin Peltier. The Northmen won the conference game 10-2 to finish the season with a 4-0 mark against the White Bear Lake school.



A THREE-YEAR-OLD Donaldson "supertrout," weighing in excess of 10 pounds, dwarfs a two-year-old "wild" rainbow trout weighing just over one pound. In addition to growing faster and larger than their wild cousins, the selectively-bred Donaldson rainbows can also withstand greater fluctuations in water temperature.

Donaldson Rainbow Trout Is Developed

by Charles Wechsler
DNR

In this age of sports heroes, it is only fitting that the ancient sport of angling finally has its own superstar.

Our "superstar" is a huge Donaldson rainbow trout currently living a life of copious contentment at the Department of Natural Resources fish hatchery in St. Paul.

Proundly nicknamed "supermother" by hatchery officials, the giant trout weighs a pampered 14 pounds though just three years old. A wild rainbow of the same age would weigh one-tenth of that. (Applying a comparable growth rate to a human, an eight-pound baby would weigh in excess of 448,000 pounds as a 30 year-old man.)

Supermother was the first-round draft choice of the DNR's section of fisheries in 1969, when a batch of Donaldson trout eggs were obtained from Dr. Lauren Donaldson of the University of Washington.

Dr. Donaldson developed his special strain of supertrout through 40 years of controlled selective breeding. His goal, which he attained, was to develop a strain of rainbow trout that would grow faster and larger than native rainbows and withstand greater fluctuations in water temperature.

The current goal of DNR's section of fisheries in quite similar. Biologists hope to maintain and improve the high quality and production of the Donaldson strain in state hatcheries. Coinciding with this objective, more and more lakes can thus be stocked with these hardy, fast-growing fish which of course will greatly enhance the quality of fishing in Minnesota.

In recent weeks, these goals seemed closer to fruition as rainbow brood stock at the hatchery has yielded more than 100,000 quality eggs. Hatchery workers will be like mother hens to these eggs during their one month incubation period. Later, when the figerlings reach two inches in length, they will be kept in outdoor ponds where temperatures will be maintained at about 65 degrees to stimulate maximum growth.

According to Don Woods, trout research coordinator, the best of supermother's 12,000 eggs along with 380 young trout from last year's super-select egg take will become the future brood stock for the Donaldson program. The reminder of this year's eggs, however, are destined for stocking into several Minnesota lakes.

"Our brood stock program entails a complex method of intensive inbreeding and mass selection from among four choice families of Donaldson rainbows to produce high-performance fish within each family," Woods explained.

Each of the brood stock will receive an I.D. tag and serial number. The results of each subsequent mating will be recorded to compare the number and survival rate of eggs, and the growth rate of the fingerlings. Parent fish that score high on all counts will be saved for another year. Their offspring will also be saved to begin selection of the next generation of superior brood stock. The reminder of the fingerlings will be stocked into lakes.

To date, limited stocking of Donaldsons into 13 inland lakes has demonstrated the tremendous potential of these trout. In June of 1970, approximately 2,000 Donaldson fry were stocked in Little Mayhew Lake, Cook county. After one year, the rainbows averaged 11 inches and nearly one pound in weight. Six months later, they averaged 18 inches and 2¼ pounds with the largest being 21 inches and 4½ pounds.

"The Donaldson program will include stocking on an annual basis because natural reproduction is virtually nonexistent," Woods said. In a few cases, catchable size rainbows will be stocked. This method assures anglers of from 30 to 90 per cent of the fish being caught, but unfortunately it is too expensive for general use. For this reason, the section of fisheries will rely primarily on stocking fingerling trout.

Survival of fingerlings is erratic with actual returns to fishermen varying from less than one per cent to more than 80 per cent. Highest mortality occurs during the first summer. Disease, handling, shock caused by the new environment and predation by fish and birds take a heavy toll of the young trout.

To enhance trout survival, more and more emphasis is being placed on fall stocking. Additionally, predacious and competitive fish species are now eliminated from most lakes before trout are stocked. The population is thus shifted from one involving many species, with most fish of a size and type undesirable to the angler, to a single species able to prosper on the minute plankton and insect organisms that exist in every lake.

"Trout will often reach catchable size (up to nine inches) if they can just survive for three to four months," Woods noted. "We can then anticipate that 70 to 90 per cent of the survivors will be caught by anglers."

"We hope to increase the number of lakes that will carry Donaldson trout populations," Woods said. "High returns might be achieved by managing some lakes for trout that were previously thought to be too warm and shallow, but are fertile, productive and will be fished intensively."

In addition to inland lakes, Woods said, Donaldson and Kamloops rainbow trout (a wild cousin of the Donaldson) will be stocked in Lake Superior over the next two years. Creel censuses in Lake Superior and in inland lakes will evaluate these stocking efforts.

"We think the Donaldson will prove to be an outstanding game fish for stocking in a number of Minnesota lakes," Woods stated. "These fish grow exceptionally fast and can withstand wider fluctuations in temperature than other trout. And most important, they are easy to catch."

Woods hastened to add that anglers hoping to catch supermother when she is put out to pasture are in for a disappointment. Instead of a lake, she will probably go on display at the state fair next fall.

And why not? It isn't everyday that you can come face to face with a superstar.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Q—If I surrender my national service life insurance permanent plan policy for a paid up policy, would I still receive dividends?

A—Yes, but they would not be as large as dividends on your existing policy.

Q—How can I get my claim for a pension considered since I have no doctor and cannot afford the cost of an examination required by the Veterans administration?

A—Suggest you notify the VA office handling your claim what your disabilities are, describing them as best you can. Be sure to make clear you don't have money to pay for the examination, and perhaps arrangements can be made for a VA clinic to examine you.

Q—I have never used my World War II GI loan entitlement. May I use it now to buy a mobile home?

A—Yes. The mobile home loan benefit is available to eligible veterans and servicemen who have $12,500 guaranty toward the purchase of conventional homes. The Veterans administratinon will guarantee up to 30 per cent of approved loans for mobile homes.

Successor Readied For Old Smokey Bear

As many a school child knows, a real Smokey Bear lives in the National Zoo in Washington, D.C. Though brown in color, Smokey is a black bear. Smokey is approximately 22 years old, which, for a bear, is getting up in years. He is turning a little gray around the nose and eyebrows.

Smokey Bear, as almost every school child and his parents know, is the living symbol of the world's most famous forest fire prevention program. Originally the creation of artist Albert Staehle, Smokey Bear joined the cooperative forest fire prevention program (U.S. department of agriculture, state foresters, and the advertising council) in 1945.

In the spring of 1950, a real cub, slightly singed by a bad fire, was found on the Lincoln national forest and nursed back to health by Ray L. Bell, a New Mexico state game warden. Pictures of the little cub appeared in newspapers throughout the country, and people noted his resemblance to the Smokey Bear on the fire prevention posters. So it was decided that the little bear should be brought to the national capital and be named Smokey. A special house was built for him in the national zoo, where he has since observed countless thousands of people. Zoo officials report he is the most popular of all the animals in the zoo.

In 1962, Ray L. Bell, by then New Mexico state forester, entered Smokey's life again. He flew to Washington on an important mission, bringing with him a fine, tawny female bear named Goldie, who had been sent to brighten Smokey's bachelorhood. As Forester Bell, now retired, has tactfully stated, "We had hopes that this much publicized marriage would provide Smokey with a son who would carry on the fire prevention tradition when he was no longer able to do so. Unfortunately, Mr. and Mrs. Smokey Bear have not had a cub in the nine years they have been together."

Smokey's executive committee agreed this was unfortunate, and asked Bell to find a suitable cub for Goldie and Smokey to adopt. He promised he would. Late in 1971, he brought a third black bear, named Little Smokey, to Washington, D.C.

As fate would have it, Little Smokey was also found on the Lincoln national forest. He first came to the attention of the New Mexico game and fish department as a scrawny, 40-pound nuisance. District wildlife supervisor Roy Owens got word from the owner of some summer cabins outside Cloudcroft that a marauding bear cub was gobbling food put out for the raccoons. The cub had somehow lost its mother. "For almost a week, the bear was stealing the food and keeping other animals at bay," Owens said. "I was called in to get rid of it."

Owens picked up the little bear and took him first to the Alamagordo Zoo and then to the Ghost Ranch museum near Abiquiu, where the forest service maintains conservation exhibits and a small zoo. Ray Bell said and the state forestry officials decided that this was the cub they had been looking for, the perfect heir for Smokey Bear.

In presenting Little Smokey to the nation, Bell said, "I know that the governor, the officials of the New Mexico forest conservation commission, and all of the good folks in New Mexico share my pleasure in presenting Little Smokey to the children of America as a living symbol of forest fire prevention. I am confident that the little fellow will help carry on the fine Smokey Bear tradition in a manner that will make us all proud."

Chief Edward P. Cliff of the forest service, in accepting Little Smokey, noted that he "bears some resemblance" to his foster father. "He will continue working toward the kind of accomplishments we can attribute, in great part, to Smokey," he said.

"During the past five years, more than 7,000 square miles of forest and related lands were burned each year. But more than 47,000 square miles burned each year a little more than a generation ago. A good part of the credit for this decrease must go to the effort of Smokey and his campaigns, aided by the state foresters and the advertising council. Five years from now, perhaps even a smaller figure will be quoted on forest lands burned by wildfire. We of the U.S. department of agriculture are proud to be associated with Smokey Bear."

After the ceremonies Little Smokey was given a police escort to the national zoo where he will reside next to Smokey and Goldie. He'll learn forest fire prevention tips from his famous Dad, and, when the time comes, he'll be ready to wear that Smokey Bear hat.

Valla Halla Cabin Is Burglarized At Camp Ripley

Valla Halla, a log cabin located at Camp Ripley and utilized as temproary quarters for visiting dignitaries and senior military personnel, was burglarized recently.

In addition to glassware, linens, blankets and cooking utensils, several items of historical or sentimental value donated to the military department were taken. Two coats of chain mail, two Toledo swords, a large Moroccan rug and two large oval braided rugs were among items missing following the burglary.

The cabin, located within the confines of the Camp Ripley military reservation located near Little Falls, has served as visitors quarters for national dignitaries such as President Truman, President Eisenhower, former Governor and Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman, visiting general officers, and governors of the state from Floyd B. Olson to the present.

Major General Chester J. Drugged Drivers Are On Increase In Minnesota

Driving while under the influence of drugs is a relatively new, but seriously treatening traffic problem, Minnesota Commissioner of Public Safety W. R. Hoaglund said today.

"Although it is impossible to judge the extent of drug involvement in highway crashes, because we have no simple screening tests for drugs in body fluids, we know that the use of such preparations by drivers is increasing alarmingly.

"Last year, the Minnesota highway patrol requested chemical tests for drugs in connection with 58 drivers. The year before there were 16 such cases; in 1969, eight, and in 1968, three. Last year's tests positively identified drugs in 40 cases. The drugs identified included marijuana, hashish, LSD, codeine, amphetamines, barbiturates, and other preparations.

"Most of the negative tests were performed on blood and urine samples, in which it is difficult to detect the presence of drugs. Where physical samples of drugs were available, the analyses were generally positive. Thus it seems evident that many violations are escaping detection.

"A good indication of the extent of the problem and its growing importance is to be found in the crime bureau's estimate that of the 2,702 persons arrested in Minnesota last year on drug charges, more than 700 were what the bureau terms 'heavies'. These are big dealers with a turnover up to $4,000 a day. This clearly indicates large numbers of users, possibly in the hundreds of tousands.

"Knowing that a heavy user of marijuana, amphetamines or barbiturates is subject to fatigue, altered reflexes or hallucinations, and that this might occur while driving, you realize that this could result in some deadly highway situations," Hoaglund said.

The Times—A Great Gift!

Red River Land Group To Offer Travel Brochures

Over 100,000, full-color heritage, tourist and travel brochures and over 25,000 comprehensive heritage, tourist and travel guides (for the first time exclusively devoted to the vast array of colorful and exciting attractions and events in the Manitoba, Minnesota, North Dakota, and South Dakota Red River Valley offered to the tourist and traveler) will be distributed world-wide beginning April 1, 1972 by Red River Land, N.A., which is the heritage promotion and public relations division of the Red River Valley historical society.

The Red River land heritage, tourist and travel guide, reaching over a quarter million tourists and travelers world-wide, provides each community, county and region in the valley with a valuable heritage, tourist and travel promotion package, a valuable economic development program which will draw thousands of vital new dollars into participating towns.

The travel guide and brochure will provide each community participating in the program with a chance to tell thousands of tourists and travelers from all over the world what there is to do and see in their town and region.

Complete details on how much world-wide coverage each community can receive in the first Red River land tourist and travel guide and brochure can be obtained by writing to Don Myrold, Executive Director, Red River Land, N.A., Minard Hall, North Dakota State University, Fargo, N. D. 58102.

Arrangements for inclusion in the 1972 publication must be made by each community, no later than March 1. It is a "must" for each town and region in the valley to have many pages of coverage in this guide, and thus reach hundreds of thousands of tourists with its message; but arrangements must be made very soon.

Jam-packed full of things for tourists and travelers to do and see in Red River land, the guide and brochure will include coverage of pioneer villages, historic sites, parks, museums, tourist and service facilities, and events such as pioneer days threshing bees, and centennial celebrations.

World-wide distribution of the publication will be accomplished with the cooperation of Viking Land, USA; Explorers Highroad; Tourist and Convention Association of Manitoba; North Dakota, Minnesota and Manitoba Travel Departments; U.S. Travel Service; Canadian Government Travel Service; and Valley Chambers of Commerce; sports and travel shows; tourist service centers; business firms and museums.

Schools Posting Top Immunization Levels Honored

Minnesota elementary schools that achieve high immunization levels among their school enterers will be honored with a certificate jointly granted by the Minnesota department of health, the Minnesota state medical association, and the Minnesota Congress of Parents and Teachers, Inc.

This recognition has already been given to Groveland and Scenic Heights grade schools in Minnetonka. These two schools met and surpassed the goal of having 90 per cent of their current kindergarten classes immunized against rubella, polio, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough, and—as required by law—had 100 per cent immunized against measles.

D.S. Fleming, M.D., director of the state health department's division of disease prevention and control, made the presentation of the awards in February to Theodore W. Foot, Ph. D., superintendent of schools in district 276. Mrs. Edwina F. Neal is the supervisor of school health services for the district.

Groveland and Scenic Heights are the first schools in the state to report levels of protection against communicable diseases high enough to merit the award. The schools held clinics during the school year to raise immunization levels to the desired point. In figuring percentages, children who were not immunized because of medical contraindications or religious reservations, were not counted.

Dr. Fleming points out that "preventable diseases will stay under control only if we keep our guard up. That's why every school should do what these two schools have done." He adds that many schools that should qualify for the award fail to do so because of low immunization levels against rubella.

Jobs For Vietnam Vets Ahead Of Federal Schedule

Federal-state employment service is running 26 per cent ahead of schedule in its placement of Vietnam-era veterans directly into jobs, but a massive effort must still be made, Secretary of Labor J. D. Hodgson said.

Hodgson said that under the President's program for veterans the employment service put 145,000 veterans, age 20 to 29, into jobs from July through December. The program's original goal set for this period was 115,000.

This performance is encouraging, but the number of unemployed veterans is still at an unacceptable level, he said. Furthermore, more veterans than ever are entering the labor market. The number of servicemen released from military duty averaged 75,000 a month last year, while this January over 110,000 were separated in one month. In addition, the temporary suspension of the draft means that thousands of men who would have left the labor market remain in it.

"Thus," the secretary said, "despite our heartening progress we need a greater effort to meet increased demand. I am confident the employment service can meet its goals if we receive the full cooperation of the nation's employers. Most of the firms who have signed contracts with the government since Sept. 24, 1971, must, of course, list most of their jobs with the appropriate employment service office.

"But it is my hope that other employers will also list their jobs with the employment service and that all employers will hire the qualified veterans who are referred.

"As a result of what the employment service has been able to do in the first six months of the President's program to help returning servicemen re-enter the mainstream of American life," Secretary Hodgson said, "I am happy to announce we can raise our long-range goal in the six-point effort launched last July.

"Initially, we had hoped the employment service could place 230,000 veterans in jobs between July, 1971, and July, 1972. By October it was possible to raise the target to 300,000. Then in December, we boosted it to 350,000.

"Job placements of Vietnam-era veterans through December—26 per cent ahead of the target pace—now warrant my raising the June 30, 1972, goal to 375,000."

Hodgson said the efforts of the state employment service were a contributing factor to the moderate improvement in unemployment among veterans, which declined to 8.1 per cent in December from 8.2 per cent in November.

Assistance by the employment service is being increased not only for Vietnam-era veterans, but for all veterans, the secretary reported. He said that in the first six months of the President's program, monthly placements of all veterans averaged 78,000 compared with 65,000 in the same period in 1970.

By act of Congress, veterans are given preference in services offered by the public employment service.

State Farmers Plan To Cut Grain Acreage

Minnesota farmers intend to cut production of the principal grain crops by 566,000 acres this year, according to a special survey conducted in early January by the state-federal crop and livestock reporting service of the Minnesota department of agriculture.

Corn, still staggering under one of the lowest prices since World War II due to 1971 overproduction nationally, is earmarked for the biggest cutback, by 460,000 acres to a projected Minnesota total of 6,112,000 acres in 1972. That would still be the fourth largest acreage in state records.

Predictably, the only crop Minnesota farmers intend to increase, as of January, is soybeans, by 231,000 acres to a total of 3,120,000 acres. That would be the sixth biggest soybean crop in state records. Soybeans are the only grain crop bringing higher prices than a year ago.

Barley, which has been fairly stable in the price index, although eight cents below the mid-January average compared to a year ago, is earmarked for the same 857,000 acres as last year.

Minnesota farmers indicated they will cut back spring wheat production by 66,000 acres, oats production by 217,000 acres, and flaxseed by 54,000 acres. Projected acreages this season are spring wheat 1,434,000 acres; oats 2,883,000 acres; flaxseed 191,000 acres.

Compared to national intentions, Minnesota farmers have indicated they plan sharper reductions for corn, durum wheat, oats and flaxseed, while making lesser than average cutbacks on other spring wheat, no cut in barley (U.S. down nine per cent), and planning to increase soybean production eight per cent against a national increase of four per cent.

A more acute outlook on 1972 planting intentions, incorporating changes in plans farmers are expected to make now that the new season federal set-aside and price support program has been announced, is scheduled for release on March 16.

Building Code

In July of 1971 the Minnesota State Building Code was adopted for the state of Minnesota. It went into effect as of that date.

Now in 1972, all buildings in Thief River Falls will be built in accordance with this State Building Code. We will need a building plan for every building that is constructed in 1972. It should be given to us about ten days before starting the construction.

If you have any questions about this, feel free to call or see me at 681-2500.

A FEW SHEEP around the farm give it the life and appearance a farm needs, according to Malcolm Stucy of the River Valley community. Mr. and Mrs. Stucy are Pennington county's Valley Farmer and Homemaker at the Red River Valley Winter shows. They have rented out their farm after an active farm life, but still maintain a flock of about 30 ewes and maintain their farmstead in an attractive manner.

Malcolm Stucys Are Farmer-Homemaker

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

To be honored Thursday evening as Valley Farmer and Homemaker for Pennington county at the Red River Valley Winter shows are Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Stucy of rural Oklee. The Stucys own a farm about a half-mile east of the River Valley bridge—two miles south and two miles east of Highlanding.

Although the Stucy's are not presently operating their own farm—having rented it to a cousin, Edward Stucy—they have a long record of farm operation and community service. And "Mac" still maintains a commercial flock of about 30 ewes, partly because "the place doesn't look like a farm without animals on it."

Malcolm's parents came to Thief River Falls from Waseca and Malcolm was born in Thief River Falls while his father, Otto, worked for the lumber mill here. The family homesteaded in the River Valley area in 1907 on a farm about three miles east of the present home site. Later Otto's brother Edward assumed operation of that farm and in 1913 Otto purchased a quarter section which is part of Malcolm's present 676 acre farm. About 450 acres of the farm is in cropland and the remainder in pasture.

After reaching the age of 21, Malcolm worked for wages for his father, then assumed operation of the farm after his father's death in 1937 when he bought out the interest of the other heirs in the estate. He had dairy cattle for a number of years. A 32x50 barn was built in 1951 and the Stucys moved into a new house on the farm in 1953.

Malcolm has been treasurer of the Deer Park township board for more than 20 years. He had been secretary of the board of the River Valley cooperative store for a number of years and is a former township clerk. He served on the board of School District 47 before consolidation of the rural school.

A member of the Pennington soil and water conservation district board for one term, he also served two terms on the board of the Red Lake River drainage and conservancy district. He is a trustee and past treasurer of Oak Park Lutheran church, member of the Farmers Union and NFO, and served a number of charitable organizations by assisting with neighborhood fund raising campaigns.

Mrs. Stucy, the former Opal Halvorson of Highlandign township, is treasurer of the Oak Park ladies aid where she has been a member for a number of years. She taught Sunday school for about eight years, was an adult leader of the Deer Park 4-H club for three years and a member of the Deer Park garden club for some time.

Although she is no longer a garden club member she maintains her interest in trees and flowers. The Stucys have planted a number of trees around the farm for decorative effect and as a farmstead windbreak. In earlier years the Stucy grove of oak trees was the setting for church and community picnics, including at least one major Fourth of July event.

Mr. and Mrs. Stucy have two daughters, Nancy and Faye, both of whom have been church organists at the Oak Park

COMFORTABLE KITCHEN is the focal point of most farm homes, and this is no exception at the Malcolm Stucy farm. Opal pours coffee for Mac in this photo as they discuss their selection as Valley Farmer and Homemaker for Pennington county. They moved into their modern farm house in 1953.

A FEW MINUTES now and then to do a bit of embroidery is appreciated by Mrs. Malcolm Stucy. Although the Stucys have rented out their farm, both are employed at Arctic Enterprises in Thief River Falls and don't feel they have an over abundance of free time.

Annual Meeting Of Jobs Inc. Slated March 6

Tickets for the annual meeting of Jobs Incorporated are now on sale at Thief River Falls banks, according to Donald M. Olson, president of the organization. The annual meeting will be held at 6:30 p.m. on Monday, March 6, at the Elks club rooms.

Following the dinner, reports will be given by a number of area industries to up-date members of the local industrial promotion group.

Nursing Home Board Meets

Marshall and Pennington county nursing home board held its regular annual meeting February 15 at 1:30 p.m. at the Oakland Park nursing home here.

Officers elected for 1972 were Odin C. Hanson, Thief River Falls, chairman; Oscar Rokke, Newfolden, vice chairman; Nilo Rantanen, Middle River, secretary; and Glenn Tasa, Trail, member of the executive committee.

City Will Host RRV Historical Society Friday

Greetings from a number of local people will be presented at the spring seminar of the Red River Valley Historical society to be held Friday at St. Bernard's Catholic church in Thief River Falls. The banquet will be served at 6:30 p.m. and tickets are available at $2.75 each.

Persons who plan to attend the seminar are asked to make reservations immediately with Mrs. Kenneth Lindberg at 681-2422, so that the St. Bernard's women's guild will have an indication of the number of people to be served.

Mrs. Inga Geving, president of the Pennington county historical society, will bring greetings from the host organization. Rev. Gerald Foley of Red Lake Falls, Red River Valley society president, will preside at the meeting.

Bringing local greetings will be Mayor A. E. Jacobson; Willard Kottke, community services director of Northland state junior college; Arnt Aune, director of the area vocational-technical school; and Jon Larson, first vice president of the Chamber of Commerce.

The Canadian and United States national anthems will be sung with Mrs. Lindberg as accompanist. Rev. Bernauer of St. Bernard's church will give the invocation and comments will be made by Don Myrold of Fargo, N. D., executive secretary of the valley society.

Also invited to attend are Neil Mattson of Warren, president of the Minnesota Historical society, and Gordon Pruden of Winnipeg, president of the Manitoba Historical society.

Guest speaker for the banquet program will be M. J. G. McMullen of the Winnipeg area, referred to in that province as "Mr. Manitoba". His topic will be "Historical Romance of the Red River Valley", as he outlines the opportunities for promotion and tourism which this area has.

Following the banquet program the Red River Valley historical society board will meet to plan the fall seminar and discuss other current business of the organization.

'Need' Is Title For New Hotline Calling Service

"Need" is the title adopted for the new "Hotline" service being offered in Thief River Falls beginning March 14. The service is simply a telephone number which can be called by anyone who has a problem of any kind, an emergency or is lonely and wants to talk to someone.

"Need" is open to anyone of any age and will be staffed by young people of the community who are specially trained to help others find an answer to their problems.

Once begun, the hours of operation will be from 8 p.m. to 12 midnight on weekdays, and 8 p.m. to 2 a.m. on Friday and Saturday. The number to call will be 681-2288 beginning Tuesday, March 14.

Swensons Offer Assistance

School Board Acquires Arctic Downtown Plant

As a result of action taken by the Thief River Falls board of education Monday evening—and an offer of financial contributions from Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Swenson on a personal basis—Thief River Falls school district can expect improved and expanded programs at far less cost than would normally be expected.

The board of education—upon introduction of a resolution by Kenneth Murphy and second by Maynard Wedul—voted unanimously Monday evening to acquire the downtown Arctic Enterprises property for school district purposes. The action followed a public session at which the proposal and alternatives were discussed by board members and administration with interested citizens.

Following the board's vote to adopt the resolution, Supt. Corliss read the following announcement which he said he had been authorized to make in behalf of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Swenson:

"It is the plan of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Swenson to contribute to the school district over a period of a few years substantial amounts that will provide the school district with funds representing perhaps 50 per cent of the cost of the building. The donations over a period of time, together with state and federal program funds, will substantially pay for the cost of the building."

The announcement was greeted with spontaneous applause from the group of citizens assembled for the meeting.

Swenson, president of Arctic Enterprises, Inc., told the Times in a special interview Tuesday that he and his wife had been discussing for some time ways to do something for Thief River Falls. "We feel that Thief River Falls has done a lot for us," he said, "and that we should in turn do something for Thief River Falls. We believe education is very important and that this is one way in which we can do something for a large number of people, both young and adult."

There can be no written agreement, the Arctic president added, "but we will fulfill the commitment which we have made to the school district and the people of Thief River Falls. It will be done over a period of time."

Swenson said that Arctic Enterprises has also made a contribution to the school district in setting a sale price well below the figure at which the plant was carried on the company's books. He said that Arctic would not have sold the building to another buyer for that low a price, but would have retained it and given it full utilization. He also said that Arctic would not have made the sale if it wasn't in the best interest of the school.

Plans are currently underway for an extension on the main manufacturing plant which will at least equal and probably exceed the square footage of the building sold to the school district. Construction on this building extension is expected to start very soon so that the transition in use of the downtown plant can be accomplished as soon as possible. The downtown plant currently houses the company's parts and accessories division, including clothing design.

Among information presented at the public meeting Monday was a report from an independent appraiser from Grand Forks, N.D. The appraiser's final determination of value was $751,002, which included $9,997 for land value, $234,446 in office building value and $506,559 in factory buildings value. The appraisal reflected depreciation allowed of $86,711 on the office building and $52,940 on the factory building prior to listing of the $751,002 figure.

The board of education plans to acquire the building on a lease-purchase agreement which would cost about $80,000 per year for 10 years with a final settlement at the end of that time. Rental of space to the vocational center school, saving of about $11,000 in present rentals, and other aids is expected to reduce the cost to the district to about $40,000 per year.

And while the remodeling figure had been placed at $125,000 by a local contractor, is planned to save considerable labor cost by having work performed by students in the vocational-technical carpentry program. Those students will work on the

Petition State To Take Over Airport

Petition to the Minnesota Department of Aeronautics to have the state take over ownership, control and management of the Thief River Falls municipal airport was approved by the Thief River Falls city council in regular session Tuesday evening.

The action was taken upon recommendation by the local airport commission after study of the needs of the local airport and the costs required to fulfill those needs.

Among items mentioned in a letter to the council from Les Sabo, chairman of the commission, were a new administration building, lengthening and strengthening of the runway, installation of an instrument landing system, additional hangar space and acquisition of land necessary for such improvements. The letter indicated that the commission did not feel the city would be able to handle the financial load which such work would require.

The state of Minnesota is authorized by law to own and operate airports in the state but does not do so on a general basis. In addition to the department of aeronautics, approval for state operation must be received from the state administration and appropriate legislative committees.

Local needs have been discussed with state aviation personnel over a period of time and a long-range plan is being developed for the airport at the present time. Since this plan is being developed with the state, it is expected that the same priorities would be followed under state or local ownership.

It is understood by the local airport commission that the state has funds available to provide the improvements mentioned, although it would not be committed to the city to provide them if a transfer is made. If state approval of the petition is eventually granted and state ownership takes place, the city will convey to the state the airport land and city owned structures—subject to existing leases and agreements. Local control would be relinquished.

The state currently owns and operates only one or two airports, neither of substantial size. If the Thief River Falls proposal should be approved, it would be a virtual "first" in the state.

In other city council business Tuesday night, representatives of Arctic Enterprises, Inc., appeared before the council to explain their need for additional water at the plant site. The city engineer was instructed by the council to prepare preliminary cost estimates for the project which would probably be built in two parts using some federal funds and with the probable eventual construction of an additional water tower at the factory.

There were seven bids for new raw water intakes for the city water facilities. Sornsin company

Precinct Caucus Attendance High For Both Parties

Pennington county precinct caucuses of both the Democrat Farmer - Labor and Republican parties drew larger than usual attendance and a high percentage of youth involvement Tuesday evening.

Delegates were elected to the county conventions of both parties and a number of resolutions were adopted for presentation at the county sessions or study by the county resolutions committee.

Registered attendance at the DFL caucus held in the municipal court room of the city auditorium was 178 people, according to Neil McEwen, county DFL chairman. Nearly 100 delegates from the various precincts were elected to the county convention to be held March 26. McEwen estimated that 30 to 40 per cent of the people attending the caucus were 21 years of age or younger.

The GOP caucuses were held at Goodridge and Thief River Falls with combined attendance of approximately 70 at the two meetings. More than 50 delegates were elected to the county convention to be held March 28 at the American Legion club rooms in Thief River Falls.

A number of resolutions were adopted, one defeated and another referred to the county resolutions committee for study. Several of the resolutions generated active discussion before passage.

Sorenson And McEnelly Vows Spoken At Grygla

Grace Lutheran church at Grygla was the scene of the recent wedding of Miss Mary Sorenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Sorenson of Grygla, and Jamie McEnelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver McEnelly of Goodridge.

Rev. Leland Uden officiated at the double ring ceremony witnessed by approximately 250 guests. Miss Marilyn Byklum, a friend of the bride, was the organist. She played "Theme from Romeo and Juliet" and Lohengrin's "Wedding March" for the processional and "We've Only Just Begun" for the recessional. She also accompanied Miss Valerie Hanson, a friend of the couple, as she sang, "Wedding Song," "Wedding Prayer", and "Prayer of St. Francis."

Forming the setting for the ceremony were spiral candelabra graced with greenery and red ribbon bows.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her parents. She was attired in a floor-length gown of winter white character peau, styled in A-line princess styling. The bodice of Venise lace was the same bodice worn by the bride's maternal grandmother on her wedding gown. It featured full sleeves with wide Juliet cuffs which were fastened by a row of miniature pearl buttons. Edging the skirt was a double row of Venice lace. Her chapel-length mantilla of bridal illusion was edged with matching lace. She carried a cascade arrangement of red roses and white carnations. Her pearl and gold earrings were a gift from the groom. To complete the traditional, old, new, borrowed and blue theme in her attire, she wore her paternal grandmother's wedding band.

Miss Alice Sorenson of Grygla attended her sister as maid of honor. Other attendants were Miss Helen Johnson of Thief River Falls, friend of the couple, and Mrs. Kathleen Loeffler of St. Cloud, sister of the groom. They wore identical gowns of maroon crushed velvet featuring sheer maroon sleeves. Co-ordinating braid trim marked their necklines, empire waistlines and formed a border at the bottom of the A-line skirts. Their circular headpieces were fashioned of maroon crushed velvet with brief back-veils of sheer maroon. The maid of honor carried three long-stemmed red roses and the others carried one solitary long-stemmed red rose.

Wearing similar attire, was Miss Sherry Peterson of Grygla, a cousin of the bride, who served as flower girl. She carried a colonial styled bouquet featuring a red rose surrounded by white carnations. Carrying the rings was Steven McEnelly of Champlin, a nephew of the groom. He was attired like the men of the wedding party, in a black double-breateed tuxedo, white shirt with black edged ruffles and a black bow tie.

LeRoy Elg of Goodridge, a friend of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were Michael McEnelly of Champlin, brother of the groom, and Wayne Loeffler of St. Cloud, a brother-in-law. Serving as ushers were Wesley Sandsmark of Grygla, cousin of the bride, and David Vezina of East Grand Forks, friend of the groom. The men of the wedding party wore red roses pinned on their lapels and the ushers had white carnations.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Sorenson chose a pale blue, double-knit, A-line dress with pale blue lace trim on the sleeves and at the waistline. Black accessories accented her attire. The mother of the groom wore a medium blue, double-knit, A-line dress trimmed with buttons and lace down the front. Both wore identical corsages of red roses and white carnations.

Special guests at the ceremony were Mrs. Lena Iverson, grandmother of the groom, and the bride's aunts Mrs Sharlotte Baasen and Mrs. Agnes Smith, who were her personal attendants.

A reception in the church parlors followed with Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Wilkens as host and hostess. Mrs. Mary Ann McEnelly, sister-in-law of the groom, registered the guests as Miss Jody Peterson, cousin of the bride, served the punch.

The round, five-tiered wedding cake, which highlighted the serving table, was supported by white pillars and decorated with red roses. An open Bible inscribed with the couple's names and date of wedding, graced the bottom tier. Topping the cake was a Christogram, entwined with wedding rings. The cake, baked and decorated by Mrs. Janice Peterson, was cut and served by Mrs. Bill Thompson, aunt of the bride, and Mrs Orris Olson, aunt of the groom. Pouring were Mrs. Lloyd Thorstad and Mrs. Selmer Ramsey, aunts of the bride and groom, respectively. Waitresses were Paul Thompson, Naomi Johnson and Bonnie Sistad.

For her going away attire, the bride wore a maroon velvet dress.

The newly-weds are now at home in this city at 1015 North Main. Both are employed here. The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school and the Agassiz Valley school of nursing and attended Mankato State college for a time. She is now employed by Northwestern hospital. The groom is a graduate of Goodridge high school and is employed by Detweiler company, serving his apprenticeship with United Association of plumbers and pipefitters. Mary Ellen Walsberg And Steven Johnson Vows Said

Miss Mary Ellen Walsberg and Steven Johnson exchanged marriage vows at 3 p.m. on January 2, at Redeemer Lutheran church in this city.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Victor Walsberg of rural Thief River Falls and Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Johnson of Austin, Texas.

Rev. Philip Lathrop officiated at the single ring ceremony. Mrs. William Halbasch served as organist. She played the traditional nuptial selections and also accompanied the assembled guests as they sang "Blessed Jesus."

Candelabra and potted poinsettias graced the altar. Marking the pews were large, bright-red poinsettias accented with white satin bows.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her parents. She was attired in a semi-fitted, A-line gown designed and made by her sister, Mrs. Dennis Hallstrom. Fashioned of candlelight satin, the gown featured princess seaming, and imported Belgium lace on the skirt and on the cuffs of the leg-of-mutton sleeves. Miniature buttons cascaded down the center front of the yoke. To complement her gown, she wore a headpiece of braided candlelight satin trimmed with Belgium lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses interspersed with red starflowers and holly.

Miss Paula Wendt of Minneapolis was the bride's only attendant. She was attired in a floor-length gown of Christmas green velveteen, accented by a gold choker, a gift from the bride. Long, green ribbon streamers were worn in her hair. She carried a cascade arrangement of large white mums, fresh holly and green starflowers.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother, Kent Johnson of Thief River Falls. The ushers were Dennis Hallstrom of Thief River Falls, brother-in-law of the bride, and Greg Halbert of Halma, cousin of the groom. All wore dark tuxedos. A red rose boutonniere was worn by the groom and white mums by the best man and ushers.

The mother of the bride wore a purple double-knit dress with black accessories and a corsage of lavender tipped carnations surrounded by red starflowers and holly. The mother of the groom wore a brown, two-piece ensemble with matching accessories and a corsage of gold carnations. A similar corsage was also presented to the honor guest, Mrs. Olena Halbert of Halma, grandmother of the groom. She was attired in a brown dress with co-ordinating accessories.

A reception in the church parlors followed. Centering the serving table, covered with a white satin, sequined cloth, was a three tiered cake, decorated in red and green with gold accents. Topping the cake was the golden bell ornament that graced the cake for the 50th wedding anniversary observance of the bride's parents. Fresh holly surrounded the cake and arrangements of holly graced the tables at which the guests were seated. The head table, at which the bridal party was seated, was covered with red netting over white and centered with red poinsettias. To correspond with the red, green and gold decor, were fancy cookies and candies on golden plates.

Assisting at the reception were friends and relatives of the couple. Mrs. Ralph Walsberg of Two Harbors, sister-in-law of the bride, registered the guests as Kristi Engelstad of Thief River Falls and Denise Halbert of Halma, cousin of the groom, ladled the punch. Cutting and serving the cake was Mrs. Robert Walseth, sister of the bride. Mrs. Lawrence Wold, a friend of the bride's family, poured. The gifts were arranged by Pam Wendt and Alene Gjernes. All were presented with corsages composed of fresh holly, gold leaves and Christmas ribbons, designed by Jim Nelson of Spring Lake Park, a friend of the bride.

For her going away attire, the bride wore a midi-length navy blue polyester coat-dress trimmed with deep orange.

Following a wedding trip along te North Shore drive, to Faribault and Wichita, Kans., the newlyweds are now at home at 4504 Hank Avenue, Austin, Tex. The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school and completed one year at Northland State junior college. The groom is a graduate of the Austin high school and is stationed with the U.S. Air Force in Austin. Both are attending classes at Austin University.

BPW Members See Slides Of The Holy Land

Slides of the Holy Land highlighted the February meeting of the Thief River Falls Business and Professional Women's club held at the Elks club rooms. Showing the slides were Rev. and Mrs. Harold Peterson, who recently returned from a tour that included Athens, Bethlehem and Jerusalem. Slides included views of the birth place of Jesus, the garden of Gethsemane, and where Jesus was crucified and buried.

Planning the program were members of the World Affairs committee: JoAnn Wedul, chairman, Dorothy Larson and Karen Gustafson.

President Marjorie Hanson presided at the meeting and welcomed two guests: Jane Anderson and Lori Heidel, employees at Northwestern hospital. They were introduced by Lydia Dahlen. A new member, Elda Rausch, who is employed at Mr. Duane's, was introduced by Clarice Collins.

Mrs. Hanson announced that the annual Northern Blood bank drive for donors has been set for March 16, from 9 a.m., to 9 p.m. The event will be held at the City Auditorium. Volunteering to assist Mrs. Hanson, chairman, were Lydia Dahelen, Gloria Bugge, Inga Sheller, Clarice Collins, Eileen Horejsh, Nora Hanson and JoAnne Wedul.

Plans were also made for a rummage sale to be held the last part of April, and for the District One spring conference to be held at the Elks club on April 8.

Several members, who joined the club during this year, were appointed to fill vacancies on committees. Una Mae Penne was selected to serve on the personal development committee and Mildred Dallmann and Jaye Johnson were appointed to serve on the scholarship committee.

The next meeting of the BPW club will be held March 21 with members of the Finance committee in charge of the program.

C. Broten-B. Stokke Engagement Revealed

Mr. and Mrs. Omer Broten of rural Newfolden announce the engagement of their daughter, Cheryl, to Byron Stokke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percey Stokke of Newfolden.

Valerie Hanson Will Speak To VFW Auxiliary

Valerie Hanson, winner of the Voice of Democracy contest, will be the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Thief River Falls VFW auxiliary 2793, to be held February 28 at 8 p.m., at the club rooms. All members are encouraged to attend.

President Lorraine Morben requests that all members abide by the by-laws that no pants suits or slacks be worn at the meetings. Mrs. Morben stated that according to a letter received from District President, Gladys Opperud, all units are asked to comply with the rules and with the wishes of the National Department and District presidents.

At the January meeting of the unit, it was reported that United States flags had been presented to two Girl Scout troops and two Brownie troops. Books on flag etiquette had also been presented to each group.

It was also reported that Lorraine Morben has been asked to serve on the registration committee at the National VFW convention to be held in Minneapolis in August.

At a previous meeting, four new members were welcomed into the local unit. They are Delores Genereux, LaVerne Nelson, Nadine Johnson and Bette Lord. At that meeting, the unit also voted to donate two dollars per member to the National Cancer Grant fund.

Soo Line Will Extend Central Agency Service

Soo Line Railroad company will extend its centralized agency service to cover an additional 12 communities in northern Minnesota beginning March 1, 1972.

Points served by the Soo Line between Plummer and Bejou as well as from Plummer to Leonard, will be put under the plan.

L. H. Boltz, currently resident agent at Plummer, has been appointed travelling agent for the territory to call directly on customers. He will work out of the Soo's regional service center at Thief River Falls.

Centralized agency service is one of the most recent concepts in railroading. A travelling agent is assigned and works with customers over a wide territory previously served by the traditional station agent at each community. The service center he is assigned to is equipped to quickly handle car location, orders and billing as well as other services essential to on-line shippers.

Though the stations Boltz will serve may be physically closed, they will be termed "open" in railroad parlance. An open station is one at which railroad business may be transacted and to which freight charges need not be pre-paid. The plan permits the shipper to do business with the travelling agent in his own office as convenient, or by contacting the Thief River Falls service center via its toll-free Zenith 1200 number.

Centralized agency service is a proven concept already being used extensively by the Soo Line throughout Wisconsin, Illinois, North Dakota, Minnesota and the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, a railroad spokesman said.

Winter Horse Show Officials List Entries

Tenth annual Red River Valley Winter Horse show, final feature of the regular 62-year-old Red River Valley Winter shows, Crookston listed the final totals in the horse events which conclude the show on February 25, 26, 27.

Mrs. Charles Malarkey, show secretary, totaled the entry list which numbered over 1,000 entries and according to past experience may climb considerably due to post entries. Post entries cost the horseman double but many decide at the last minute to proceed to Crookston for the competition.

The total entry list includes American Quarter Horse competition which is now rated as a "Class '" feature due to the large number of entries in this division. The registered Appaloosa classes are down slightly from last year but are representative of champion calibre. The open show is well listed with horses from all breeds.

Ten queens representing clubs and associations have requested to participate.

The new 4-H day, Friday, February 25, begins at 9:00 a.m. with a clinic which is already overflowing with participants. In the afternoon on Friday over 120 contestants are listed for 4-H competition with entries still open. North Dakota advisors indicate that more North Dakota 4-Hers will be forthcoming.

Officers of the Red River Valley horse breeders association who are coordinating this winter event under the auspicies of the board of managers are John Dean, Hatton, N.D., president; Gene Miller, Crookston, vice president; Margaret Donahue, East Grand Forks, secretary, and Mrs. Shirley Schraeder, Crookston, treasurer. Everett Solheim of Crookston is the superintendent of this year's show.

Bank Debits In January Increase Here

Bank debits in Thief River Falls during January, 1972, showed an increase of 31 per cent from the same month a year ago, according to statistics released by the Federal Reserve bank of Minneapolis. In dollars Thief River Falls bank debits volume during January was $24,712,000, as compared with the January total figure last year of $18,833,000.

For Minnesota the January volume of bank debits for reporting cities increased 21 per cent from January of last year. Debits for the 12 months through January, 1972, increased nine per cent from the previous 12-month period.

The volume of bank debits reported by the total sample of Ninth Federal Reserve district cities in Montana, North and South Dakota, Minnesota, northwest Wisconsin and upper Michigan for January increased 20 per cent from a year ago. The cumulative total for the 12 months through January, 1972, indicated a nine per cent increase from the previous 12-month period.

Bank debits for the most part are checks against depositors' accounts and thus represent payment for goods, services and debts. They also include all debits against checking accounts of individuals, partnerships and corporations, and of state and political subdivisions. They do not include debits to the accounts of other banks, the United States government and savings accounts.

Cigarette And Liquor Taxes Are Distributed

Liquor and cigarette tax disbursement was made in Pennington county recently, according to Ellsworth Jorgenson, county treasurer. Liquor tax distribution totaled $3,500.28 or 84 cents per capita while cigarette tax totaled $3,750.30 or 90 cents per capita.

A year ago the liquor tax disbursement was $4,077.79 at 83 cents per capita and the cigarette tax distribution was $4,913 or $1 per capita. Distribution is made to townships entirely, with city and villages receiving their share of the distribution directly from the state.

Area Residents Play Role In Winter Shows

In the dairy heifer class Saturday afternoon at the 1972 Red River Valley Winter shows, Lori Kasprick of Angus received the Holstein grand champion plaque from the Red River Valley dairymen's association, while Mary Kay Kasprick, also of Angus, took the reserve grand-championship for her Holstein heifer.

Kurt Muzzy, Thief River Falls, received the showmanship plaque award from James R. Muzzy of Thief River Falls and Bridgeman Creameries of Crookston. Randy Jorden, a 16-year-old member of the Thief River Falls FFA chapter, scored 116 points for second place in the cow clipping contest. He was beaten by Gerald Bruun of Climax with 175 points.

Halstad FFA chapter took first place in the FFA crop judging contest Saturday at the winter shows. The Thief River Falls team placed second and the Ada team placed third. The Minnesota Crop Improvement association awarded the Halstad team of 12 bushels of Era wheat and Thief River Falls received nine bushels, while Ada received six.

There were 35 head sold at the bred ewe sale Saturday afternoon at the show. Top selling ewe was a Columbia consigned by Harold Osborne of Wimbledon, N.D., to Wendell Green of Greenbush for $150. The top suffolk ewe was sold to Roger Green of Greenbush for $145 by Lawrence Sinner of Moorhead, who also consigned the top-selling Hampshire ewe for $125 to A. Roger Kilen and Sons of Middle River.

Also held Saturday at a Crookston radio station in conjunction with the Winter shows was the 4-H speaking contest. Co-champions in the contest were Anita Grove of West Polk county and Debbie Ball of Mahnomen county. Alternates are Cleo Sedlacek of Marshall county and Tim Grahn of Roseau county. The co-champions will represent this area in the state contest to be held later in St. Paul.

Attendance through Monday evening at the Red River Valley Winter shows was reported at 12,997. This mark is 1,030 above last year's attendance total. There were 3,364 attending the shows Monday.

Area Students On Dean's List

Several students from the Thief River Falls and surrounding communities are among 1,021 students at Concordia college, Moorhead, who have been named to the dean's list. Students must receive a grade point average of 3.10 or better to be eligible and carry at least 12 semester credits.

Thief River Falls students on the dean's list for the first semester included Bruce E. Eldevik, Constance Hillyer, Margaret E. Semrud and Cristy Amundgaard. Other area students included Luann Lillevold, Grygla; John R. Tunheim, Newfolden; and Lewis A. Westlake, Plummer.

Aviation Safety

Andy Detroi, accident prevention specialist from the general aviation district office in Minneapolis, will be in Fosston Wednesday, March 1, to show a film on radio communications and will discuss the radio in flying. He will also have a question and answer period on the subject and discuss any phase of flying.

The meeting will be held at the Fosston Civic center at 8 p.m. All pilots, student pilots and anyone interested in flying is welcome. Detroi has conducted many safety seminars throughout the state and is a highly qualified speaker with many experiences to relate to his audiences.

No Make-up Time For TRF Schools

Because Thief River Falls public schools had scheduled with allowance for one "snow day", there will be no student make-up time required for students as a result of school being closed today, according to Supt. William Corliss.

Faculty members are on duty, he said. The decision to close school was based on conditions and weather forecast which indicated likely storm conditions.

Congregation Of Methodists Picks Service Topics

People of the congregation selected the topics for the Wednesday evening Lenten services at the United Methodist church, according to Rev. Jonathan Law, Pastor. Ash Wednesday's topic was: "Can Suffering Accomplish Good?" First stanzas of a dozen favorite hymns were sung, all selected by those in attendance.

This Wednesday Mrs. E. L. Bittenbender, missionary from India, will speak and show slides, and answer questions. March 1 the topic will be "Will Damnation Be the Sinners' Lot?" March 8 the topic will be "What About the End of the World?" March 15 the topic will be "With So Many Religions in the World, How Can Christianity Be the 'Right' One?" March 22 the topic will be "How Does One Become a Christian?"

Palm Sunday's topic will be "Why Is It All Right to Kill in War?" Maundy Thursday's service will be the ancient Seder service, the jewish service which Jesus and his disciples celebrated together.

All Lenten evening services begin at 7:15 p.m. Each service will be different. Some will have old hymn singing time, two others will be the old-fashioned "Love Feast" of the early Methodists, and one will be built around shared prayer and testimony. Visitors are welcome at all services, Rev. Law said.

BSC Will Host Summer Seminar Of Philharmonic

Bemidji state college will host the Saint Paul Philharmonic summer music center July 30 through August 20, according to an announcement made jointly by Dr. R. D. Decker, president of BSC and Stephen Sell, general manager of the Saint Paul Philharmonic society.

According to Dr. Decker and Sell, the summer music center will be a cooperative effort by Bemidji state college and the St. Paul Philharmonic society and the move to BSC is calculated to add appeal to a program that enrolls from 150-200 orchestra students per week during the three weeks of concentrated musical study.

The program will be in its twelfth year next summer and has annually shown steady growth. It was first held in a boy scout camp in Wisconsin, then moved to the campus at Wisconsin state university at River Falls. In recent years the summer music center's home was at the College of Saint Benedict, Saint Joseph.

Several new features of the camp are of particular interest. Leading virtuosi from around the country will join the musicians of the Saint Paul Chamber orchestra as "artists-in-residence". For example, Rafael Druian, concertmaster of the New York Philharmonic orchestra will be in residence the first week. Instruction throughout the 1972 summer music center will be provided by the professional musicians of the Saint Paul Chamber orchestra. There will be an increase in the emphasis on chamber music performance this year, and a guitar program will be offered in addition to the graded orchestras, ensembles and the keyboard program.

Dr. Fulton Gallagher, chairman of the BSC music department, and Dr. Theodore Thorson, director of BSC bands and director of the annual BSC music clinic, are both looking forward to next summer's visit by the Saint Paul Chamber orchestra.

"We look at it as a cooperative venture with our music students gaining from the expertise of the professional musician while we make the facilities of the new and comprehensive Bangsbergs Fine Arts Center and the college available to the orchestra personnel and the students," Dr. Gallagher said.

Gallagher also noted that the St. Paul Philharmonic Center will inherit those string students who would normally attend the annual BSC Music Clinic, which will run concurrent with the St. Paul Center and draws more than 1300 registrants to Bemidji each year. The orchestra section of the BSC music clinic will no longer be offered.

Students will have the option of attending the summer music center for two or three weeks, at a charge of $90 per week for room, board and tuition. Limited tuition assistance will be available and will be granted on the basis of talent and financial need. There will also be work opportunities available for some students with tuition fully paid by the Philharmonic society.

Auditions in person or on tape will be required of all applicants. These will determine admission, placement and possibly the amount of financial aid. Notification of acceptance will be sent following auditions.

Covenant Church To Show Film

Evangelical Covenant church will show the color film "3" on Sunday at 7:45 p.m. in the church with the public invited to attend. The movie is a story of a young man who transfers to a large university campus and discovers in a personal way the dynamic concepts of faith, hope and love. Young people in particular are expected to find the film appealing.

City To Petition State To Take Over Airport

of Fargo was successful low bidder at $92,255. A delegation of citizens living on county state aid highway 62 appeared before the council to ask that the road be paved. A resolution was passed by the council, but county commissioners must be consulted by the delegation for final approval.

Council also passed ordinances prohibiting open burning, changing the number of legal holidays for the city from 11 to nine, and reducing the rate for electrical usage over 100,000 kilowatt hours per month. The council also heard the first reading of an ordinance that would allow 3.2 beer and set-up licenses in the same establishment and another ordinance that would annex a small parcel of property on Greenwood boulevard near Kendall that was overlooked in a previous annexation.

A group from the Pennington county fair board appeared before the council for advice on where to locate new sheep and cattle barns on the county fairgrounds. They were asked to return to the city council meeting next week for a decision.

Dr. A. E. Jacobson, Thief River Falls mayor, appointed Orville Feragen to the cemetery commission for a five-year term and Ole Engelstad to the park and recreation commission for seven years.

Malcolm Stucys Named Farmer And Homemaker church.

Nancy is married to Gene Teigland and they live in Minneapolis with their two children. She is a graduate of the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks and is employed at St. Barnabas hospital in Minneapolis as a registered medical technologist.

Faye, who was very active in 4-H club work while in high school, is married to Carl Johnson and lives in Lincoln, Neb. She is a graduate of North Dakota state university in Fargo and is employed in a food laboratory operated by research doctors while taking graduate courses toward a master's degree. Her husband is studying for his doctorate in agronomy.

Even after an active life on the farm for a number of years, the Stucys are not ready to become inactive. They both work in the assembly plant of Arctic Enterprises in Thief River Falls and have been employed there for two and one-half years.

The Stucys will be honored with other selected Red River Valley farm couples at the Farmer and Homemaker banquet Thursday. About the honor of being selected, Malcolm says: "We appreciate it, but we didn't expect it. In fact, when we got the letter we had to check to make sure it wasn't a mistake."

School Board To Acquire Arctic Downtown Plant

remodeling rather than building a house as has been done the past several years.

In acquiring the 118,000 square feet of space which the Arctic plant provides, the board paved the way for a number of other adjustments in the school program.

For the 1973-74 school year the local district expects to have kindergarten through grade five and all special education classes housed in the elementary schools. Grades six, seven and eight will attend classes in the Franklin junior high school building. Relocation of offices and several departments from the Lincoln senior high school building is expected to free enough space for grades nine, 10, 11 and 12 there.

Neither the board nor Supt. Corliss indicated that securing the Arctic building would satisfy the long term needs of the district. "This district faces the need for a new facility in about 10 years," Supt. Corliss said. In reponse to a question, he said that the district would still keep the Arctic building at that time for operation of school business.

Maynard Wedul, board chairman, said that lease-purchase of the Arctic plant would be "buying time for a minimum of five years".

Present proposals call for the district to divide the Arctic building as follows: 6,000 square feet for high school business education and distributive education; 6,000 square feet for district offices; 6,000 square feet for shipping and receiving; 5,000 square feet for maintenance shop; 14,000 square feet for high school agriculture and industrial arts; 51,000 square feet for high school vocational-technical education (center school): and 30,000 square feet for transportation (bus garage).

Meeting in discussion session following the public meeting, the board discussed a number of items relating to negotiations with teachers which are scheduled to begin Tuesday.

Ruth Johnson, Formerly of TRF, Dies In Calif.

Mrs. Ruth Johnson, 62, a former Thief River Falls resident, died unexpectedly last Thursday at Bothell, Wash. Funeral services are being held today (Wednesday) at Bothell.

She is survived by one son, Harold Johnson of Sheriden, Calif.; eight grandchildren, two sisters: Mrs. Andrew Larson of Crookston and Mrs. Anna Lane of Canoga Park, Calif.; and a brother, Ben Brekke of Modena, N. Y. A niece, Mrs. Laurel Schuster, resides in this city.

Preceding her in death were her husband, Luther; three sons, a daughter, and three brothers.

Daniel Metheny Services To Be Held On Friday

Funeral services for Daniel Metheny, 65, of this city, will be held Friday at 2 p.m., at the Green Funeral chapel. A resident of Thief River Falls for the past eight years, Metheny died Saturday at Northwestern hospital.

Rev. Jonathan Law, pastor at United Methodist church, will officiate at the services. Mrs. Sherman Idso will be organist and soloist. Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery at Warren.

Pallbearers will be Roy Jorgenson, Morris Jorgenson, Einar Jorgenson, Milton Jorgenson, Maynard Laidley and Duane Laidley.

Daniel Metheny, a son of the late Albert and Mary Metheny, was born Feb. 8, 1907 at Elwood, Ill. At the age of three years, he came to Minnesota with his parents, settling at Warren. There he attended school and lived for many years. For the past eight years, he had made his home in this city with his sister, Mrs. Mary Jorgenson. He never married.

Surviving are two brothers: Kelso Metheny of Phoenix, Ariz., and Albert of St. Hilaire; three sisters: Mrs. Mary Jorgenson of this city, Mrs. Sophia Laidley of Newfolden and Mrs. Elizabeth Bruss of St. Paul, and a number of nieces and nephews.

One brother and a sister preceded him in death.

Services Held In TRF Monday For Roy Roman

Funeral services for Roy Roman, 55, of Goodridge and formerly of Plummer, were held Monday at 2 p.m., at the Green Funeral chapel. Roman died Thursday at Northwestern hospital.

Rev. Harold Peterson, pastor at Trinity Lutheran church, officiated at the services. Mrs. Sherman Idso served as organist and soloist. Interment will be in the Finnish cemetery a Plummer.

Serving as pallbearers were Frederick Jorgensen, Wilbur Koop, William Satre, Lloyd Pugh, Stanley Erickson and Wilmer Brekke.

Roy Roman was born April 23, 1916 at Lawton, N.D., to Oscar and Lydia Roman. In 1925, he moved with the family to Grygla and two years later, they moved to Plummer. There he attended school and grew to manhood.

He was a veteran of World War II and served for three years in the United State Army. Since his discharge from the Army, he had been engaged in farming. He was also employed by Arctic Enterprise, Inc. He never married.

He is survived by his mother, Lydia Roman of Thief River Falls, one brother, John Roman of Hallock, and two nieces and a nephew, Charlette, Lynette and Timothy, all of Hallock.

His father and one sister preceded him in death.

Mrs. Zavoral, 71, Dies At Home

Mrs. Robert Zavoral, Sr., 71, of the Goodridge community, died Tuesday at her home in Star township, Pennington county.

Funeral services for Mrs. Robert Zavoral, Sr., will be held Saturday at 11 a.m., at St. Bernard's Catholic church. Rev. James Bernauer will officiate. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

Bible Vigil service will be held Friday at 8 p.m., at the Green Funeral chapel where the body will repose from Friday noon.

A complete obituary will be in the Monday edition of the Times.

Edwin Stennes Rites Are Held At Strandquist

Edwin O. Stennes, 76, of Strandquist died Saturday afternoon at the Karlstad Memorial hospital. He had been in failing health for the past two years.

Funeral services for Edwin Stennes were held Tuesday at 2 p.m., at the Bethesda Lutheran church. Rev. George H. Johnson officiated. Mrs. Gilman Stennes was the soloist and Miss Yvette Boen, organist. Interment was in the English Lutheran cemetery at Strandquist with the Collins Funeral home, Karlstad, in charge of arrangements.

Honorary pallbearers were Ingvold Rokke, Oscar Carlson, Carl Johnson, Marvin Boen, Charles Kranz and Leo Renstrom.

Active pallbearers were Clarence Borsvold, Eddie Nelson, Ervin Larson, Earl Hougard, Dick Weller and Gust Johnson.

Edwin O. Stennes was born May 7, 1895 at Shelly to Ole and Caroline Stennes, now deceased. He attended school at Shelly and grew to manhood there. On June 1, 1916, he was united in marriage to Miss Florence Bergh at Hendrum. Following their marriage, the couple made their home at Neilsville and at Great Falls, Mont. In 1920, they moved to Strandquist where they operated a cafe and barber shop. They lived in Crookston from 1927 until 1931 and since then have made their home in Strandquist.

After returning to Strandquist, Stennes served as acting postmaster for seven years. He was later engaged in the implement business and in barbering.

He was very active in community affairs. He served as mayor of Strandquist, was clerk of the Village council, had been clerk of the Strandquist school board for over 10 years, and was secretary of the Bethesda Lutheran church board.

He is survived by his wife; a son, Larry Stennes of Louisville, Colo.; two daughters: Mrs. Cameron (Vernice) Thibodo of Stephen and Mrs. Gene (Caroline) Farmer of North Bridge, Calif.; 12 grandchildren, seven great-grandchildren, four brothers: Curtis of Minneapolis, Kenneth of Kent, Wash., and Roy and Gilman, both of Strandquist; and one sister, Mrs. Gladys Hope of Fergus Falls.

Two sons: Willis and Lowell, preceded him in death.

John Franzman Funeral Services Held At Grygla

Funeral services were held at the Grace Lutheran church at Grygla on Sauturday for John Franzman, 69, of Colton and Estacada, Ore. A former resident of the Grygla community, Franzman died on February 15 at Portland, Ore., after a brief illness.

Rev. Leland Uden officiated at the services. Special music was provided by Mrs. Roy Nordby, organist, and Bobby and Bonnie Ruud, the soloists. Interment will be in St. Olaf cemetery. The Green Funeral home was in charge of local arrangements.

Serving as honorary pallbearers were Melvin Sorenson, Arnie Nelson, Adolph Erickson, Rudolph Levorson, Lawrence Hesse and Eric Kiesow.

Active pallbearers were Harley Bucholz, Ronald Bucholz, Harvey Ness, Morris Stenberg, Cheslie Ruud and Duane Lusignan.

John Franzman, a son of the late John and Katrina Schick Franzman, was born July 3, 1902 on the original homestead, west of Grygla, where his pioneering parents had homesteaded in 1897. He grew to manhood on that homestead. In June of 1926, he was united in marriage to Mabel Johnson. They lived on the farm near Grygla for many years before moving to Becker and then to Minneapolis. Mrs. Franzman died in 1967.

He was married in June of 1969 to the former Evelyn Sheldrew, old-time resident of Grygla. Since then, he had made his home in Oregon.

Survivors include his wife, two sons: Eugene Franzman of Monticello and Douglas of Rochester; four daughters: Mrs. Eugene (Adeline) Dare of Hopkins, Mrs. Lloyd (Luverne) Toll of Minneapolis, Mrs. Dennis (Carol) Dargan and Miss Terri Franzman, both of St. Paul; a step-son, Alan Stahlnecker of Estacada, Ore., 14 grandchildren, and three step-grandchildren;

Also three sisters: Mrs. Fred (Minnie) Bucholz of Grygla, Mrs. Edward (Ida) Lutz of Farmington and Mrs. Henry (Alice) Ennen of Elmore.

In addition to his first wife, he was preceded in death by his parents and one brother.

Motor Vehicle Mail Volume Is Reported High

Motor vehicle division is still processing many thousands of registrations received by mail on or before January 10, Minnesota Department of Public Safety Commissioner W. R. Hoaglund reported today. These are in addition to an even greater volume received through the 129 deputy registrars located throughout the state.

Hoaglund urged those who have not yet registered their vehicles for 1972 to do so now at any deputy registrar. Better service can be obtained now rather than at the last minute during late February.

Because of the heavy mail load and time required to process registrations, applying through the mail is not recommended at this late date. Every owner who has his 1971 registration card and 1972 motor vehicle tax notice can apply at his local deputy registrar. The deputy registrars will also accept file letters or post cards from the motor vehicle division at a basis for conditional 1972 registration.

For those applicants who have nothing to prove ownership, Hoaglund suggests they contact the motor vehicle division records section for verification of registration. If verification is in some other owner's name, the present owner will have to obtain bills of sale to complete the chain of ownership.

Inability to register does not exempt a motor vehicle owner from registration penalty fees or possible violation tickets issued when 1972 registration enforcement begins on March 2, 1972.

Lions Eye Bank Being Promoted By Lions Clubs

Over 900,000 Lions club members are working to promote good vision throughout the world by sponsoring eye clinics and eye bank programs. Here in Minnesota one of the finest eye bank programs has been in operation since 1961. Over 500 eye transplants and other eye operations have been conducted using eyes received from eye donors.

The Minnesota Lions eye bank is located at the University of Minnesota ophthalmology department and is financed by the Lions clubs of Minnesota. The eye bank acts as a clearing house between the person donating his eyes after death and the individual physicians who will perform the sight-saving operation of a corneal transplant.

Governor Wendell Anderson has proclaimed March 5-11 as Minnesota eye bank week. March 5 has been proclaimed eye donor Sunday. Throughout Minnesota 15,000 Lions club members will be asking you to join thousands of other Minnesotans as eye donors, the first step in providing eyes so others may see.

A good example of the benefits of corneal transplants are in diseases known as corneal dystrophies. This is an inheritable disease of the cornea which, in certain instances, may become manifest in the late teens or early twenties as a disturbance in vision. There are several such families in Minnesota.

The mother of one such family was first seen at the age of 40. She has since had bilateral corneal transplants. She had not read a book since she was 20 years old and is now making up for it at the rate of a book a day. Four of her children are afflicted by the disease. Three of the children have already received corneal transplants, two at the age of 20 and one at the age of 10. This has enabled them to continue school and to lead a more normal life.

Letters to the Editor

Mr. Editor:

I am writing in regard to Vernon E. Nelson's comments on the announcer at Saturday's and Sunday's States-Dominion snowmobile races.

First of all: Who is he to judge! Calling a stranger ignorant and ill mannered?! Perhaps, this says something about his own character and personality.

Second: It was obvious Mr. Nelson didn't attend Saturday's races as the announcer kept the audience entertained and made many fine comments complimenting, "our fine city"; "Home of the Cat"; "something to be proud of".

Third: The announcer is a fine community man and came here to serve ours for the second year—even brought his family!—How many of us can say the same?

Fourth: I called 10 families that attended the races and asked them "What did you think of the announcer?" It boiled down to a well meant, "he was better than the races!"

Fifth: Some people that hadn't the opportunity to attend this year's races, remembered the announcer from last year and said "If he was half as good as last year terrific!"

Sixth: I have heard many shocked retorts concerning Mr. Nelson's unkind letter—we hope his attitude towards the presence of outsiders doesn't speak for our community.

Respectfully,
Mrs. Sharon Iverson

Home Loans To State Veterans Up From 1970

Home loans guaranteed in Minnesota in 1971 by the Veterans administration exceeded the 1970 total by 47 per cent, John Murphy, director of the VA center at Fort Snelling, said.

His loan guaranty office approved 6,330 home loans in 1971 compared to the 1970 total of 4,303. He said 1971 represented the "best year in over 10 years".

He attributed the 1971 gain to at least three factors, including a "great improvement in the general availability of mortgage money for home building and buying".

Last year also was the first full year of operation under the Veterans housing act of 1970 signed by the President on Oct. 23, 1970. The law restored eligibility for loans to veterans of World War II and the Korean conflict, eliminated the one-half per cent loan funding fee previously required by post-Korean veterans, and made other changes providing greater flexibility in the loan program.

"Another factor," said Murphy, "was the first reductions in history in the maximum interest rate set for GI home loans." The administration lowered the interest rate from 8.5 per cent to eight per cent on Dec. 2, 1970, then to 7.5 per cent effective Jan. 13, 1971, and then down to the present seven per cent rate on Feb. 18, 1971.

The VA director said big gains were also registered in other facets of the GI home loan program in Minnesota in 1971.

A total of 20,475 veterans in the state requested determinations of loan eligibility from the VA, an increase of 64 per cent from the 12,467 total of 1970; 7,666 applied for loans, up 62 per cent from the 4,731 total of 1970, and 10,905 requests for property appraisals were received, a hike of 53 per cent from the 7,119 total of 1970.

The popularity of the GI home loan program with younger veterans in Minnesota was underscored by the fact that the large majority of the 1971 home loans were made to veterans 25 to 35 years of age.

Murphy said the successful home loan activities in Minnesota in 1971 were similar to the national picture which saw a 14-year high in the number of GI home loans guaranteed.

Nationally, the Veterans administration approved 284,000 home loans in 1971, exceeding the 1970 total of 167,000 by 70 per cent, representing the best year since 1957, said Murphy.

Although most GI loans continue to be made on existing homes, Murphy said that nationally there was a nearly 52 per cent increase in appraisal requests on new houses, from 143,800 in 1970 to 217,900 in 1971. However, the VA official said he noted no marked increase or significant trend in appraisal of new homes in Minnesota by the agency over previous years.

Auto Dealers To Post Base Price For New Cars

Retail automobile dealers with gross sales of over $200,000 are required by the economic stabilization act to post their base prices for new cars.

In answer to questions posed by many automobile dealers, George O. Lethert, IRS district director for Minnesota, stated that base prices are the actual prices charged for new cars in a substantial number of transactions during the base period. The actual prices charged during the base period may or may not be the "sticker price."

Lethert added that it is common knowledge that the purchaser of a new car is rarely required to pay the "sticker price." However, if the "sticker price" was the actual price charged in a substantial number of transactions during the base period, then the "sticker price" may be posted as the base price.

Lethert stated that further information on these posting requirements may be obtained from the internal revenue service.

Connections On Engine Heaters Need Checking

Motorists who use electrical devices for warming their engines were warned today by Commissioner of Public Safety W. R. Hoaglund to take special care that outlets, plugs and cords used to carry the electricity are in first-rate condition.

These heaters take a very heavy electrical load, and if there is a poor connection or a faulty cord there is real danger of serious fire. One of the more frequent hazards is the use of a cord not heavy enough to carry the load, resulting in overheating. It is necessary to use heavy duty cords and fittings for such heaters. One recent serious residential fire has been tentatively blamed on a defective extension cord to a car heater.

He explained that ordinary house circuits and outlets in good condition are adequate to service car heaters. "But if the outlet is worn out, or if there is a loose connection somewhere, you can expect trouble."

He offered these suggestions:

Make the cord connection from house current to car as short as possible.

Use a heavy duty cord of the type used for power tools. If it is a used cord, inspect it carefully for possible breaks.

All connections should be of a heavy duty type. Three-pronged plugs should be used. Discard any that show signs of wear or malfunction.

After plugging in the heater, inspect the full line for signs of heating. If your fuse blows or the circuit breaks, it might be well to try another circuit, and again inspect the full line carefully for overheating.

Keep an eye on the line all the while it is in use. Sometimes the overheating develops over a long period, but it can still cause a serious fire.

MPCA Acts On Regulations For Towns In Area

Minnesota Pollution Control agency (MPCA) approved regulations aimed at eliminating junk cars throughout the state, agreed to a legal stipulation for improvement of sewage treatment facilities in Oklee, and approved a variance in state odor regulations for the rendering plant in Red Lake Falls.

Agency board of directors, at its regular monthly meeting on February 14, okayed plans for a state-financed clean-up, collection, and ultimate recycling of abandoned motor vehicles, as authorized by the 1971 Minnesota legislature.

Briefly, the new regulations authorize units of government to contract with "any qualified person" for collection, storage, reduction, transportation or other services necessary to prepare abandoned motor vehicles and other scrap metal for recycling or for other methods of disposal.

Where such a contract with a qualified person has been approved by the MPCA, the contracting unit of government will be reimbursed by the state for costs incurred. Funds will be available to establish one or more permanent collection sites in each of the state's 87 counties.

The regulations state that county governments would be the "most desirable" unit of government to contract for services, because they encompass large geographical areas and can provide better coordination of cleanup activities than smaller governmental units.

State funds totaling $1.6 million are available for fiscal 1972 and 1973 to operate the program.

Vo Ag Programs May Help Solve More From Farms

For the past two decades, the agricultural population of the United States had declined by six per cent each year. Reasons for this steady loss are numerous—soaring real estate taxes, widening urban encroachment, the inability of many farmers to realize a substantial profit.

But it isn't the older, more experienced farmers who are looking elsewhere for increased opportunities; the attrition rate is observed among young people who have rejected agriculture as a way of life.

This six per cent annual drain represents a tremendous loss in talent, manpower and resources, but is often overlooked—or dismissed—when compared with rising productivity. In 1950, 16 persons were supplied by each farm worker; today that figure, by necessity, has jumped to 44. A paradox exists because, in the face of a depleting manpower supply, agriculture's capacity to produce continues to advance.

America's population is expected to increase by more than 70 million people over the next 20 years. The "food crisis" that was evident during the early 1960s is not the threat it once was. Scientific methods of planting and harvesting, combined with modern machinery and techniques, have had a positive effect on our nation's food supply.

But if the decline in agricultural manpower continues at the current pace, even the most optimistic predictions suggest that in the not-too-distant future a leveling-off point will occur where the demand for food will surpass agriculture's ability to provide.

The National Vocational Agricultural Teachers' association (NVATA) has as its main goal the encouragement of young people to seek agricultural related careers. The NVATA met recently in Portland, Ore., and honored six of its members for the imagination they have used, and the results they have achieved, in the creation and implementation of vocational agriculture programs. The six have received the NVATA career orientation award, top honor in a national competition.

Government Is Exempt From Price Controls

Federal, state and local governments have been exempted from most of the price controls of the economic stabilization program, according to George O. Lethert, internal revenue service district director for Minnesota.

Lethert said that new price control regulations published in the Federal Register on Jan. 27, 1972, allow federal, state and local governments to adjust prices on any work, service, publication, facility, license or other similar items of value performed, furnished or issued by the governmental unit.

Tuition and other charges for schools, colleges or universities owned and operated by a state or local government have also been exempted under this price commission ruling, as have charges for water and sewage disposal services.

Lethert noted, however, that price controls have not been lifted on fees and charges for health services or utility services, including gas, electricity, telephone, telegraph or public transportation, provided by government agencies.

Anyone needing further information or assistance on the economic stabilization program regulations should contact the internal revenue service.

Rural Housing For Elderly Is Meeting Topic

Rural housing for the elderly will be the main topic of discussion at a meeting in Northome on March 25.

Mrs. Lucille Matheson of Northome and Mrs. Geney Rockstad of Big Falls, community service aides of the Koochiching - Itasca Community Action program, who have been working with the senior citizens in Koochiching county for many years, are leading the campaign. Applications for grants to construct multiple housing units have been made by Littlefork and Northome, but prospects for the money seem as remote as when first applied for.

Majority of the elderly who need help live in substandard houses in isolated areas, have low fixed incomes, lack of communication and transportation, and the ever present threat of illness or accident. They feel that urban areas are being given priority and little consideration is given to the problems of the aging in rural communities.

To help solve the situation and other concerns of the elderly poor, Mrs. Matheson and Mrs. Rockstad have sent invitations to local, state and federal legislators, and to the heads of governmental housing divisions to attend the meeting and discuss probable solutions with the senior citizens and all other interested persons in northern Minnesota. This seminar has the support of the people, governmental sub-divisions, and Rep. Irvin Anderson and Sen. Gene Mammenga. Rep. Anderson has also consented to chair the event.

Preceding the 1:30 p.m. meeting in the high school at Northome, the senior citizens organizations from Littlefork and Northome will serve a noon smorgasbord to invited guests.

St. John Members Issued Summons To Lent Service

Members of St. John Lutheran church of Thief River Falls and Redeemer Lutheran church of Plummer were served with official-looking subpoenas last week through a church mailing and the Sunday bulletin. Signed by Rev. Paul R. Biegner, pastor of the two churches, the summons was as follows:

No. 72-47-L

IN THE CHRISTIAN COURT OF THE STATE OF THE CHURCH THE PEOPLE, Plaintiff.

vs.

JESUS OF NAZARETH, Defendant.

SUMMONS

TO: Fellow Citizens with God's People:

You are summoned by this notice to serve on the jury in the retrial of Jesus to be held at our church in the season of Lent. The following persons have been subpoenaed to serve as witnesses: Peter, May Magdalene, Judas, Nicodemus and Caiaphas. On the basis of their testimony the prosecuting attorney will endeavor to establish that the world would be better off without Christ and the church. The defense attorney will plead for their lives. You will be the jury.

Just a gimmick to get you to church? Maybe so. But we predict that if you take part in the first session you will come back for all the others—also that you will talk about them months later. And that will be good—talking about your reasons for setting Christ free to do His work in the world and in your lives.

Come to these sessions with an open mind. Come prepared to be shocked by accusations made against the church which reflect on Christ. Come prepared to make an honest commitment to your faith. This is what Lent is all about.

The penalty for ignoring this notice without excuse is a minimum of five hours of exile from your family of fellow-worshipers who will miss you.

Western Frontier Art Exhibit At History Society

"Artists of the Western Frontier," an art exhibit prepared by the Joslyn art museum of Omaha, Neb., will open Sunday afternoon in the headquarters of the Minnesota Historical society, 690 Cedar Street, St. Paul. The exhibit will run through February 29.

Arranged through the courtesy of the Northern Natural Gas company and the Joslyn art museum, the works span nearly 150 years of American history. Included in the collection are art treasures by such widely acclaimed artists as Charles M. Russell, Frederic Remington, George Catlin, Albert Bierstadt, William Tylee Ranney, N.C. Wyeth and Seth Eastman.

Each artist chosen for inclusion in this exhibition had special interests and experiences. Some artists had professional training in the East and in Europe. . .others were self taught. Consequently, each reacted to the West in a different way with the results providing a vivid panorama of an age now dead.

Many of the artists represented in the collection were first introduced to the West through military service and several remained after receiving their discharges. As settlements grew, the waning frontier lost none of its romanticism. It continued full of color, contrasts and violence.

On loan to the Minnesota Historical society from February 6 to 29, the exhibit will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturdays, and 2 to 5 p.m. on Sundays.

Santl, Sistad Attend Central Exchange Tour

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Santl and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Sistad of Grygla have returned home after a "Sun Break" at Tampa, Fla. They were among the nearly 1,500 Farmers Union Central Exchange "Go With the Winners" participants that recently traveled to Tampa via chartered aircraft.

While in Florida the group visited Busch and Cypress Gardens, Disney World and other scenic areas.

They also toured the Bartow Phosphate Works owned by CF Industries, Inc., a major manufacturer and distributor of basic chemical plant foods, owned by Central Exchange and 17 other regional farm supply cooperatives in the United States and Canada.

THIEF RIVER FALLS POLICE

Chief's Corner

— by —

Roland E. Waller, Chief
Thief River Falls Police Dep't.

This past two weeks there have been two stories floating about town as to the way some persons have been treated as they were arrested. It is my full intention to keep you informed and to correct any mis-information.

The first story that was brought to my attention was as follows: A certain gentleman was arrested by two officers and brought to the Thief River Falls jail to be booked. He was alleged to have asked to call his wife to inform her of his being in jail. He was supposedly told by the booking officer that if she did not have $300 cash bail money, it was of no use to call her until morning. He was not allowed to call the wife until morning. She then came down after going to the bank and she posted the bond.

The facts of this situation as I have been able to dig them out are thus: The man was indeed brought to our jail by two highway patrol officers. There was conversation about the necessary bond money. One patrol officer remembers the man requesting to call his wife. He mentioned this to the booking officer.

The booking officer remembers being told this by the patrol officer and states explicitly that he asked the defendant if he wanted to call his wife before entering the jail cell. He states the man answered no, he did not want to call her, so he was put in the cell. He made no further telephone requests even though the desk man that came on at 4 a.m. was in to see and talk with him several times.

At 8 a.m. he did make a call that took about 20 minutes to complete. No mention then about any refusal to call earlier. Both of the desk men are veteran officers and I trust their statements implicitly.

The other incident is a little more involved. The story is that two young men of this city were arrested in a car, one for driving while intoxicated (DWI) and the other for minor consuming alcoholic beverage. They were supposed to have been asked to drive the car to the station where they were taken upstairs. The driver was given the breathalyzer test and was put in jail. He was refused the request to make a phone call to his parents.

The other boy was permitted to call his father and the father came to get him. This father was allowed to see the driver in the cell and was requested by the boy to call the other father. He came out and wanted to call the boy's father but was obstructed from doing so by the officer at the desk. The father reportedly then grabbed the phone and made the call anyway. The second father came up to get his son. After some conversation about being held for six hours and the raising of bond money, he bonded his son out and left. The story has him being held in jail for more than four hours before any calls were made.

After talking to a number of persons including both fathers and as many officers that were present, I have found out the following on this case:

The two young men were stopped in a car by the officers and arrested for the liquor violations. The car was driven to the station by an officer-intern and not the arrested driver. The driver was given the breath test which took about an hour. On completion, he was being taken to the jail cell when an important domestic call came and all but the desk officer left to handle the call.

The desk officer in the interests of security and safety put the young man in the cell with the statement that he would make any calls the young man wanted made or would let him make a call when the other officers got back to the station. In the meantime, the other boy had called his father who came to get him. This father did talk to the boy in the cell and was requested to call the other father. He was not obstructed in any way and made the call from the office of the daytime violations clerk. He then took his son and went home.

The driver's father came down and there was discussion about the six hour rule for allowing a person to sober up before going back out onto the street. There was also discussion about the bond money needed. The father went home and then came back a little later to talk to the new desk officer. He was allowed to sign a check for the bond with a promise to bring cash in the morning. He then took his son home. The young man had been at the station a total of two hours and 40 minutes.

As an aftermath of these situations, I have now instructed the officers to ask the persons if they want to make a phone call. They are to be allowed to do so if they are at all cooperative. If they are belligerent and disruptive, they will be allowed to have the officer call the person they want notified of their whereabouts. They will not be held six hours if they can be released to a competent person.

Christmas Seal Education Grant Sparks Interest

Minnesota Respiratory Health association, state Christmas Seal organization, has earmarked $3,000 for grants - in - aid in health education, Managing Director Josiah G. Neal announced recently.

The grant has been established to spark statewide interest in the development of educational material and health education teaching tools related to respiratory health problems. All interested state residents teaching in public and non-public schools and graduate students at colleges and universities are invited to apply for the funds.

Questions of media and design brought to bear in introducing the facets of respiratory health into the classrooms are left to the choice of the applicants. Funded projects are to be geared to elementary and secondary levels, and will be disseminated by MRHA on completion.

Proposal forms for the grant - in - aid have been mailed to elementary and secondary school principals and to health education departments at all state colleges and universities. Further application material is available from MRHA at 614 Portland Ave., St. Paul, 55102.

The application deadline is March 20, 1972.

N.Y. Times Article Datelined T.R. Falls

New York Times news service recently carried an article on snowmobiling with a Thief River Falls dateline. The article apparently appeared in the New York Times and a clipping from the Winnipeg Tribune has been received in this office.

The article was written by Andrew H. Malcolm, apparently one of two men who joined a recent ride by the Thief River Falls Sno-Drifters snowmobile club. Because of its local interest, the article is reprinted here:

An eerie humming sound, much like the buzzing of bees in their hives, fills the crisp air around Thief River Falls these nights. Unusual lights, resembling fireflies, dance across the flat fields, which carry the smooth meandering tracks of some monster dragging its weight through the deepening snow.

Then, suddenly, a covey of creatures streaks by, plummets down a slope, scoots out on the frozen river and disappears in the darkness at 60 miles an hour, their red tails glowing softly.

What kind of animal was it?

It was a native North American species, the Snowmobilus Americanus and the gaggle of "creatures" were the Sno-Drifters, the masked men of Thief River Falls, astride their snowmobiles winding their way to the woods for a subzero winter wiener roast.

Such incidents happen frequently here in the capital of United States snowmobiling, where the noisy, 30-horse-power machine has clearly revolutionized winter life and created its own special culture complete with costumes, regulations and rites.

It is all part of a burgeoning national phenomenon which has in recent years seen some two million Americans take to the snowmobile in the 19-state northern snow belt both for recreation and utilitarian purposes.

The snowmobile's snowballing popularity has, however, brought with it a number of problems, including thoughtless and careless riders (a number of them now deceased) and its own peculiar noise, which resembles an outboard motor but, in a pristine wilderness, sounds much louder.

Such characteristics have prompted a growing number of states and towns to set curfews, prohibited areas and a blizzard of other rules to curb the sound and the as yet undetermined environmental impact of the sometimes smokey machines.

But, except for closing downtown to snowmobiles, Thief River Falls doesn't go in much for snowmobile rules. It is too thankful for the one boom in its 76 years.

Once said to have been the headquarters of marauding Indians (the thieves) who lived on the river (the river) near the rapids (the falls), Thief River Falls had a sawmill once, but it closed. The farming and rural business haven't been too good either.

So the young people had been leaving this compact collection of single-family homes on the eastern edge of the prairies and heading for the twin cities—Minneapolis and St. Paul—300 miles southeast. In 1960 the population was 7,151 and aging.

But then came Arctic Enterprises, now the nation's largest producer of snowmobiles, actually a winter tractor first built over 30 years ago. Life here will never be the same.

From rented quarters, the firm has grown in about seven years from three local employees to 2,300 with an annual business of $120 million.

In 1966 Arctic sold 1,100 snowmobiles; this season it built 11,200 (actually 112,000) and the worthless stock some early employees got in place of pay now trades for around $30 a share after splitting several times.

The town's population is now over 10,000, the more prolific young people are returning and the three local banks advertise savings accounts instead of loans.

Practically every yard here contains a snowmobile, often three, lovingly parked waiting for that delicious moment of freedom when the owner yanks the starter rope, clambers aboard and steers out across the frozen fields for nowhere in particular, the complete master of his own destiny.

Of course, if you aren't dressed properly, the wind chill factor at 30-miles-an-hour equals 70 degrees below zero. One recent snowmobiler froze an eyeball into uselessness.

Or if you are careless for a second, the machine could rip your kneecap off against a tree or, more frequently, splinter a leg against an auto bumper. Two snowmobilers had their heads severed by barbed wire fences while their machines continued on riderless.

In Minnesota this season at least 20 snowmobilers have perished, four more than died in the snow all last year.

Nevertheless, the other night Stan Gibson, a real estate agent, pocketed his $12 snowmobile registration, threw on his special snowmobiling suit, boots, helmet, goggles, gloves and mask and jumped on one of his five $1,200 Arctic Cats for a short spin. Three hours and 50 miles later he returned, saying "It gets in your blood. I just couldn't stop. The snow and wind and the moon. Once I just sat in the middle of nowhere. It was beautiful."

Horse Breeders Select Hagen As Horseman

Vernon G. Hagen and Marilyn Hagen, East Grand Forks, were named today as horseman and horsewoman of the year by the Red River Valley horse breeders association.

This all-breed association operates in the Red River Valley area to coordinate the interests of all horse activities and to provide leadership in development of the Winter Horse show activity at Crookston. Nominations from the entire valley area are reviewed and voted on by the board of directors of the association.

Vernon G. Hagen, horseman of the year, was a charter member and past president of Agassiz Riders, Inc. He was one of the major contributors to the Red River Valley Winter shows building construction fund and has been an annual contributor to the sustaining fund of the Winter shows since that time.

Hagen has shown horses continually at the Winter Horse show for 12 years, having been an exhibitor even prior to the new building. He has owned, shown and ridden his horses in all of the surrounding states and Canada.

He is an annual exhibitor at the Minnesota State fair and his interest and activity in promoting the quarter horse breed has resulted in four American Quarter Horse champions within his stable. Recognition for his Minnesota Quarter Horse champions, and also as an out-of-state exhibitor in North Dakota, has resulted in top awards from both of these state organizations.

He was producer of the Great Midwest Rodeo events, which were approved by the Rodeo Cowboys of America, held in Crookston. He is a member of the American Quarter Horse association, the North Dakota Quarter Horse association, Western Saddle Clubs association, Red River Valley Appaloosa association and the northern chapter of the Pony of Americas club. He is director of Region 10 Minnesota Quarter Horse association.

A thrilling moment in Vern's life was the recent opportunity to be chauffeur for his daughter, Cindy, and to help guide her to winning the title of national high school rodeo queen. Hagen has also been named a state director of the Quarter Horse association. Minnesota rates high in the nation, a close second to Texas, for Quarter Horse activity.

Vernon's wife, Marilyn, has been named horsewoman of the year. They have one married daughter, Gloria Mecham; Cindy, a senior in high school, and two children, Mark and Melanie in grade school.

VALENTINE PARTIES were staged by the Thief River Falls Mrs. Jaycees for special education classes and the Falls Day Activity center recently in Thief River Falls. Working on the parties were Mrs. William (Nancy) Wood, chairman, Mrs. Richard (Nancy) Listiak and Mrs. Mike (Karen) Lehrer, and a special participant was Roxanne Langlie, Miss Thief River Falls. Groups in the photos above include the following: Top photo—Roxanne Langlie reads to (clockwise from left) Jim Leidberg, Betty Kazmierczak, David Larson, Krista Foster, Paul Johnson, Bradley Nelson and John Hanson; Second photo—Participants in Miss Tande's class are, left to right, front row, Mark Lerum, Kurt Jablinske, Conley Larson and Carmen Souto; back row, Miss Tande, Steven Sletten, Candie Hilligoss, Miss Langlie, Terry Knutson, Jeffrey Meyers, John Zavoral and Mrs. Listiak; Bottom photo—Participants in the Day Activity center at St. John Lutheran church.

It had to happen. Now there's a status symbol mouthwash. It smells like filet mignon!

Bankruptcy Gains In U.S. Popularity

Number of Americans turning to bankruptcy as a way out of their debts is on the rise again. Over 200,000 bankruptcy petitions were filed in 1971—up 3.6 per cent from 1970.

Bankruptcies have risen steadily since World War II, setting new records each year until they reached an all-time high in 1967. They declined somewhat in '68 and '69 and now are creeping up again.

According to a recent survey by the family economics bureau of a major life insurance company, the number of bankruptcies has risen almost 600 per cent since 1950, when only 34,000 were filed. Over a billion dollars in debts is now washed down the drain every year.

Some bankruptcies—like those of the huge Penn Central railroad or a member of the wealthy DuPont family—make newspaper headlines. Although the vast majority involve small businesses and consumers who don't make headlines, the results of their bankruptcies are felt by every American.

The losses written off by bankruptcy are reflected in increased interest rates all borrowers are charged and in the price consumers pay for goods and services.

When the federal bankruptcy act was passed in 1898, consumer credit was virtually unknown. The years following World War II saw consumer credit mushroom. And Mr. and Mrs. Average America began filing bankruptcy in increasing numbers. In 1950 there were 9,000 business and 25,000 consumer bankruptcies. By 1960 there were 12,000 business and nearly 100,000 consumer bankruptcies. Last year businesses accounted for 19,078 bankruptcies and consumers for 182,143! In 1950, 22 out of 100,000 people filed bankruptcy. For 1971, the figure was 90 per 100,000 population.

The family economics bureau found several factors have contributed to the rise in consumer bankruptcies. For one thing, credit is easily available. Also, pressures are exerted on families to "buy now and pay later".

Some consumers themselves may be faulted for their itch to spend and their inability at times to distinguish between luxuries and necessities. The "new morality" which tends to put a lower priority on financial responsibility, and harsh collection laws in some states are also contributing factors.

The reason for filing bankruptcy is different for each individual, but in all cases there are both "basic" and "triggering" cases. The most common basic, or underlying cause, is poor money management. A desire to "keep up with the Joneses", impulsive buying and failure to provide for emergencies all lead to careless and reckless use of consumer credit.

Sudden fluctuations in earnings as a result of lay-offs or elimination of overtime pay are also primary causes. Other basic reasons include large hospital bills, medical expenses and casualty losses, such as caused by a fire or tornado, often inadequately covered by insurance.

The triggering cause, or the "straw that finally breaks the camel's back", and sends the debtor to bankruptcy court is usually threatened or actual garnishment of wages. Attachment and repossessions of such things as a car used to get to work and harassment by creditors are also triggering causes.

Studies have shown there are four types of debtors. The first is the debtor who is the victim of circumstance—the honest person struck by misfortune.

Second is the mismanager, who, while honest, simply lacks the ability to budget his income and gets deeply in debt. These two comprise the majority of all debtors. The other two types are the "won't pay", who has no intention of paying his bills, and the "skip", who leaves town after running up huge bills.

The average consumer bankrupt is not lazy or dishonest. He works hard. He is 30 years old, married and has a larger-than-average family. He is a blue-collar worker with a tenth grade education and few marketable skills. He owes money on furniture, his car, appliances, tools and clothes. He is also behind on his rent or his mortgage payments, and he owes money to a small loan company, his wife's doctor and the children's dentist. But the largest portion of his debt is owed banks and loan companies. Medical and dental bills are another large item.

In one bankruptcy court a study revealed that 78 per cent of the debtors surveyed had at least one hospital or medical bill; for three per cent, health expenses were more than half of their total debts.

Eighty-five per cent of all consumer debtors file straight bankruptcies. This discharges all debts except taxes, alimony, support payments and liability for injury to another person or to property.

The remaining 15 per cent file under Chapter 13, the wage-earner plan, enacted in 1938. This enables a debtor to work out a plan, subject to approval of his creditors, to pay his debts under court supervision over an extended period of time, usually 36 months. Chapter 13 is suitable when the debts are not excessive and the debtor has sufficient earning capacity to pay. While under court supervision, a Chapter 13 debtor is protected from garnishment, repossession and harassment.

Even though a person may be head over heels in debt, he'll find it costs money to file bankruptcy, according to the company. In all cases, there are filing fees and attorney's costs.

In Chapter 13 cases, a percentage of the debts must be paid to a court-appointed trustee. In straight bankruptcies, the bankrupt loses whatever assets he has, except those exempt under state law.

There is still a stigma attached to going bankrupt, although doing so no longer means financial ruin. When money is tight, it is doubtful that a bankrupt can get a home mortgage, but this is not true when money is relatively easy. He would not have any trouble in obtaining new credit for any item that can be repossessed. Some retailers encourage a bankrupt to open new lines of credit, knowing that the law prevents him from filing bankruptcy again for six years.

While the bankruptcy law is a federal one, it is subject to different interpretations in each state. Different personal exemptions of property from creditor's claims, and different collection laws create 50-sets of laws in 50 states. Designed originally for businesses, the bankruptcy act is still geared to business bankruptcies, despite nearly 100 amendments over the years.

One weak spot in the whole picture is a lack of counseling and education in credit and money management. Until recently, school systems taught students little about managing their personal affairs. Almost without exception, experts say, the person who is heavily in debt—a likely candidate for bankruptcy—can be saved if he gets help.

A Presidential commission was recently formed to study the problems of bankruptcy and to recommend changes to Congress in 1973. It seems that some changes are needed.

As long as credit is available, some families will get into trouble over their debts.

3,600 Jobs In State Provided By Japan Trade

More than 3,600 jobs in Minnesota have been provided by export of this state's agricultural and industrial products to Japan, Agriculture Commissioner Jon Wefald reported today.

He said that figure is disclosed, along with the fact that Minnesota's export sales to Japan in 1969 exceeded $44,324,100, in a new report just released by the United States-Japan trade council.

Almost 45 per cent of the jobs, or some 1,620, are provided by the sale of over $19,900,000 in Minnesota agricultural products to Japan in 1969.

Manufactured goods from Minnesota, principally electronic equipment, represented 55 per cent of the jobs and $24,400,000 of the export sales to Japan that year.

Minnesota ranks 22nd in the nation in total export sales and jobs provided by the Japanese market according to the report. Minnesota ranks 14th in the U.S. in agricultural exports to Japan during 1969.

"Actually I think we are doing much better than that. The report does concede that some state exports are not properly credited, because it was impossible to trace all goods from the U.S. seaport of shipment to Japan back to the actual state of origin," Commissioner Wefald observed.

He noted that Minnesota agricultural and food exhibitors brought home over $1-million in initial new business and have enjoyed continued growth in exports to Japan since the first trade mission there in April, 1971, co-sponsored by the 12-state Mid-America International Agri Trade Council (MATCO) and the U.S. Department of Agriculture foreign agricultural service.

"That mission was so successful for our 12 states that by mutual demand we will be returning to Japan in an expanded export sales promotion in Japan, the All American Foods Festival, this April 17-21," Commissioner Wefald said. He added that Minnesota expects to have at least ten exhibitors in the 1972 festival and may again have the largest state exhibit as it did last year.

Minnesota is listed in the Japan trade report as one of the major export suppliers in the United States for oilseeds, hides and skins, electronic computers and equipment. Other Minnesota exports include processed foods, transportation equipment and chemicals.

Ceilings For Livestock Prices Opposed By FU

Imposing federal ceilings on livestock prices or relaxing meat import quotas would only hurt livestock producers without doing much—if anything—to lower prices to the consumer, according to a statement submitted today by Minnesota Farmers Union (MFU) to the cost of living council in Washington.

"It seems to us," said MFU acting President Cy Carpenter in today's letter to CLC Director Donald Rumsfeld, "that the crucial question is whether domestic supplies plus the current level of imports will provide an adequate supply." Carpenter also opposed imposition of price ceilings on livestock prices, an action which has been rumored.

In 1971, Carpenter said, American appetites consumed about 114 pounds of beef per capita and have averaged about 65 pounds of pork per capita in recent years. Current prospects indicate that U.S. farmers will produce that much meat all by themselves in 1972.

"Since the domestic supply will clearly be sufficient," Carpenter said, "we see no rationale for enlarging the import quotas or removing restrictions altogether."

Imports could depress farm prices, the MFU statement said, "without having a significant effect on retail prices. Since the retail prices have recently increased principally as a result of wider marketing margins, it is hardly to be expected that the marketing margins will be shortened because a larger amount of imported beef will be available."

Marketing margins are the price spread between what the farmer receives and what the retail shopper pays. The price to the farmer has gone up slightly since 1949, but the marketing margin has doubled in that same time—thus driving up the retail price and increasing the farm-to-retail disparity.

Carpenter also noted that "in recent years, the bulk of the beef imports have been of processing meat (to be used in hot dogs, bologna and sandwich meats) and these tend to compete with the domestic ground meat and trimmings rather than with the popular cuts which command the higher consumer outlays."

Concerning a proposed farm price ceiling, Carpenter said it would be "unfair, unprecedented and might decrease American meat production," thus causing a rise in retail prices instead of a decline.

He pointed out that even at their present levels, beef prices to the farmer are only about 90 per cent of parity.

"It would be discriminatory to place a lid on farm prices at a level which would assure the producer less than a fair return," Carpenter said, noting that price ceilings have never been placed on farm products at less than 100 per cent of parity.

Minnesota Farmers Union, Carpenter said, is "convinced that increased marketing spreads are the principal cause of rapid increases in retail meat prices and the reduction of the purchasing power of the American consumer. Farmers are not the major beneficiaries of the increased prices being paid by consumers."

Bemidji State Offered Aid To Pakistanis

While Bemidji state college may rank well down the list of international centers, the recent upheaval in Pakistan thrust international affairs to the top of the list of concerns by BSC officials.

With 17 students from Pakistan enrolled fall quarter at BSC, and 11 returning for winter quarter, BSC felt the effect of the recent civil war in that country with more than usual impact.

"We first became aware of a problem in December, when fee statements, rent payments, and other costs began to pile up for Pakistani students," Dr. Cletus Kemper, vice president for student affairs, notes.

"At about the same time these payments were due for the students, events in their country made it almost impossible to mail or telegram funds out of the country."

A survey of the Pakistanis at BSC showed that six of the boys could not afford to leave Bemidji and had no funds for rent payments through the holiday break from school.

Kemper contacted John Schullo of BSC financial aids office, who arranged to advance the students funds to live in motels over the Christmas break. A check showed this was cheaper than attempting to keep open a residence hall for the students.

Mrs. Philip Nelson, head of the international students' host-family program in Bemidji, notes that the organization found places for the six boys who could not leave and that several families had them stay in homes, while others invited them for meals.

All six of the Pakistani students spent Christmas day with Bemidji families and another family took the boys skiing as a break from routine. A relative of the Nelson's in Minneapolis hosted the boys for New Years in the metropolitan area.

When school resumed Jan. 3, BSC officials found that 10 of the 11 Pakistani students returning to school needed financial assistance. By collaborating and using emergency funds, the college was able to loan each of the 10 needy students enough money to live until their funds from home arrived.

Officials report that several of the foreign students have now received money from home and are repaying their loans.

"We did not allow much above the cost of room and board," Kemper notes. "Our primary concern was to cover their needs at the moment, and hope that the situation in their home country was straightened out by the time the loans were due for repayment."

"The college has no fund for such loans, so it became a matter of getting emergency money from other funds," Schullo notes. "We are reasonably sure that all of these students will receive their money shortly and repay us at that time."

Foreign students must sign vouchers that they have sufficient funds before they are allowed to attend American Schools and Kemper notes that these vouchers were signed by all of the Pakistani's.

"None of these students are poor, or from needy families. It was just a case of civil turmoil upsetting what would have been a normal routine of the parents sending these students the money for their education," he states.

"Fortunately, we were able to help them with funds that we had in reserve."

So the furor over the new nation of Bangladesh momentarily touched Bemidji state college—even as 11 BSC students gained a little additional education by feeling what it is to be without money in a strange country.

Auto Safety Features Can Save Lives

Energy-absorbing steering columns and lap safety belts have proved to be highly effective safety factors in motor vehicle crashes, W. R. Hoaglund, commissioner of public safety, pointed out today.

Citing research carried out at the University of North Carolina in which crash data for two years was studied in detail, he said the results indicated that the energy-absorbing steering column reduced fatal and serious injuries by 14 per cent at all speeds and 27 per cent at medium speeds (from 30 to 49 miles per hour).

"Lap belts brought a reduction of serious and fatal injury of 43 per cent in all crashes at all speeds, and were particularly effective at high speeds," he said.

He explained that the energy-absorbing steering columns were relatively less effective at high speeds when the lap belt was not used because they tended to "bottom out", that is that the crash produced more impact upon the column than it was able to absorb.

Its relative ineffectiveness at low speeds, he explained, was because a low-speed crash results in minor impact upon the steering column, and the result was about the same as a crash at comparable speed of a vehicle without the energy-absorption feature.

The research was based upon four categories of vehicles: those containing one of the safety devices, those containing one or the other, and those containing both.

The energy-absorbing steering column has been required equipment on all automobiles manufactured after January 1, 1968.

Prowlers Open Region 8 Tournament Against EGF

Thief River Falls and Bemidji rate as the probable favorites, but three or four other teams will be ready to step right in should the two powers sputter, in the 28th annual region eight hockey tournament starting Friday in the Thief River Falls sports arena.

First round games will pit Thief River Falls against East Grand Forks at 7 p.m. Friday, while Hallock and Detroit Lakes tangle at 9 o'clock on the first night of the classic. Saturday night activity will send Roseau against Bemidji at 7, with Warroad facing Moorhead at 9 p.m. to end the first round of action. Semi-final games will be held at 7 and 9 p.m. Monday and the championship contest is slated for a 7:30 start Wednesday, March 1.

As far as the Prowlers and Lumberjacks are concerned, things couldn't get much closer. The Lumberjacks are 15-4-1 on the year while the Prowlers finished the regular campaign with a 15-5 record. Both were automatically seeded into the regional tourney with first place finishes in the north and south standings during the year. In the latest Minneapolis Tribune state poll the Lumberjacks were rated eighth and the Prowlers ninth. During the regular season the two teams split against each other with Bemidji winning the first game 4-3 at Bemidji while Thief River Falls won 4-2 on home ice.

The home ice advantage for the Prowlers could be a factor in the tournament since the Prowlers ended the regular season with an 8-1 mark in the city arena; the only loss being to Grand Forks Red River 3-1.

Both the Prowlers and Lumberjacks are well balanced teams, but both are blessed with an individual leader also. The Jacks are led by premiere defenseman Gary Sargent, an All-State selection in baseball, football and hockey. Meanwhile the Prowlers are led by an All-State candidate, center Mike Hamilton, the team's leading scorer this season with 23 goals and 11 assists in 20 games.

Thief River Falls and Bemidji will both have to look out for early round opponents, however, especially the Lumberjacks who are paired in the stronger lower bracket. The Jacks must face an unpredictable Roseau team in the first round and the Rams, despite their sub par 7-12 record, are rated as a darkhorse in the tourney. Should the Lumberjacks beat Roseau, their next opponent would be either Warroad or Moorhead in the semi-finals and the Warriors are rated as serious challengers for the regional title. Warroad owns a 4-4 tie with the Jacks during the regular season.

The Prowlers meanwhile must face another unpredictable opponent in the likes of East Grand Forks in their first round assignment. The Green Wave suffered two losses to the Prowlers during the regular season, but "East Side" claimed a win and a tie against Red River, a team that defeated the Prowlers. The Green Wave also posted two wins over a highly regarded Crookston team.

If the Prowlers defeat the Green Wave they would face the winner of the Hallock - Detroit Lakes contest Monday night at 7 o'clock. Detroit Lakes has presented itself as a darkhorse candidate for the title with a 13-6-1 record during the regular season, including wins over East Grand Forks and Hallock. The Hallock Bears threatened the Prowlers 3-2 during the regular season.

Only four different teams have claimed the region eight crown since the tournament began in 1945. Roseau has won 17 titles, including 1971, while Thief River Falls has had six region eight champions, Warroad three and Williams the 1950 crown. Roseau has won 10 of the last 11 tournaments, with Warroad's 1970 winner the only interuption in the Ram win streak since 1961.

Pre-game tickets for Friday night's games will go on sale starting Thursday morning at the Lincoln high school gymnasium ticket booth and at the Franklin junior high school office. Tickets will be sold Thursday and Friday from 8 a.m. to 12 noon and from 12:30 to 4 p.m. at Lincoln and during regular school hours at Franklin. There will also be approximately 700 adult and 700 student tickets on sale at the arena ticket window every night of the tournament.

University of Minnesota football record for most total offensive yards gained in one game is 609, set against North Dakota State in 1937.

University of Minnesota football record for most points in a single game is 69, set against North Dakota State in 1937.

Steve Thorstad Faces Waseca Opponent

Steve Thorstad, Thief River Falls' lone entry into this week's Minnesota state high wrestling tournament, will face a Waseca opponent in his first round match Thursday night.

The state meet will again be held at Williams arena on the University of Minnesota campus Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 24, 25 and 26. Matches Thursday night will begin at 7:15 and will continue Friday afternoon and all day Saturday. The championship round matches will get under way around 1 o'clock Saturday.

Thorstad, the district 31 and region eight champion, will face Brad Eustic of Waseca in his first round match. Eustic was the runner-up in the region one tournament last week. If Thorstad should beat Eustic, the Prowler senior would face the winner of the Ron Bromenshenkel (Sauk Centre)-Tom Wilmes (Osseo) match. Bronenshenkel is one of the favorites for the 180 pound title after claiming championship honors in region six. Duane Knutson (Moorhead) and John Backstrom (Owatonna) are also expected to offer serious challenges for top honors.

Two other district 31 champions will also wrestle in the state classic. 112 pound Loren Mitchell of East Grand Forks and 126 pound Murray Tiedeman of Crookston will also carry district 31 honors. Mitchell will face Bob Bezdichek (LeCenter) in his first round match. Bezdichek was a third place finisher in region four competition. Tiedeman will go against Leo Thies (Cold Spring) Thursday. Thies was a runner-up in the region five meet.

Prowlers Host WHS Tomorrow

Lee Swanson's Lincoln high school basketball team will close out its 1971-72 regular season schedule tomorrow night (Thursday) when the Prowlers host Warren in the LHS gym. Game time will be 8 o'clock, with junior varsity action starting at 6:15.

The game is an important Big Five Conference contest for the Prowlers who must win to have a chance to tie the conference title. The Prowlers are currently in a two-way tie with East Grand Forks in the league standings. Both teams have five points, but the Green Wave have two league games remaining. A big showdown will take place Friday night when East Grand Forks travel to Crookston. If "East Side" beats the Pirates and Climax Saturday, the Green Wave would win their third straight crown. Should the Pirates win on their home court, a three-way tie could develop with Thief River Falls, East Grand Forks and Crookston sharing the crown and more important—first seeding into the district 31 tournament.

Sub District Opens Monday

Sub district 31 basketball tournament action starts Monday, February 28, with Oslo facing Plummer and Goodridge taking on Red Lake Falls in the Crookston high school gym.

The Bobcat-Cardinal game will start at 7 p.m. and the Goodridge-RLF contest is slated for an 8:30 start.

Semi-final action Tuesday night will find Fisher taking on the winner of the Oslo-Plummer game at 7, while Alvarado plays the Goodridge-Red Lake Falls winner at 8:30.

The championship game is set for an 8:30 start Thursday, March 2. The consolation game will begin at 7 p.m.

The top three finishers will advance into the district 31 tournament March 6, 7 and 8 at the University of North Dakota fieldhouse.

TR Curling Club Hosts Bonspiel

Thief River Curling Club will host a mixed bonspiel Friday, Saturday and Sunday, February 25, 26 and 27.

Curling starts Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Championship games will begin at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Sponsors of the event include Tunberg Motor, Wilson Brothers, Furuseth &Nelson Inc., Northland Chemical, Inter-City Gas and Si-Mar Sunflowers.

Among the entries are 17 Canadien rinks. Merchandize prizes will be awarded to the winners.

Spectators are welcome to watch the curlers in action.

Defensive end Jim Marshall holds the Minnesota Vikings' club record for longest wrong way fumble return, 66 yards for a safety against San Francisco during the 1964 NFL season.

HALLOCK DEFENSEMAN Dave Money (13) races for a loose puck in front of the Hallock net during last night's sub region action in the Roseau arena. Hallock and Baudette provided the sparse crowd with the best action of the night as the two squads skated on even terms throughout the entire game. The game was tied 2-2 going into the final period before Hallock posted a 6-4 triumph to gain entry into the region eight tournament starting Friday night in the Thief River Falls sports arena.

Spuds Surprise Pirates 8-2 In Sub Region Eight Hockey

Moorhead provided the only surprise in last night's six sub region eight tournament games played at Roseau and Fargo as the Spuds upset favored Crookston 8-2 in the Fargo Coliseum.

In other south sub region games Detroit Lakes blanked Alexandria 5-0 and East Grand Forks stopped Fergus Falls 5-1. In Monday night's special play-off game Alexandria edged Brainerd 3-2 in overtime to gain a spot in the sub region tournament.

Action in last night's north half play at Roseau found Roseau shutting out Indus 12-0, Warroad bombed Red Lake Falls 15-2 and Hallock got by Baudette 6-4.

All six sub region winners will advance into the region eight classic starting Friday in the Thief River Falls sports arena.

Roseau had an easy time of it against Indus in the opening game of the north half tournament as the Rams skated to period leads of 5-0 and 7-0.

Senior forward Mike Hallie scored the game's first goal just eight seconds into the contest on an assist from freshman Bruce Olson. Defenseman Dana Byfuglien made it 2-0 on a hard slap shot from the left point with 9:19 remaining.

Byfuglien added his second goal of the first period on another slap shot from the point, this time with Indus skating a man short.

Playing uninspired hockey in the second period the Rams managed just two goals, both by freshman Bruce Olson who collected four goals in the game. Olson scored with 9:04 and 7:01 remaining for a 7-0 Roseau lead going into the final stanza.

Bill Christianson stickhandled his way past two Indus defensemen and scored on a close range backhand with 12:42 remaining. Just 18 seconds later the Rams added another goal when Hedlund flipped in a loose puck for a 9-0 bulge.

Olson picked up his hat trick with 11:11 remaining for a 10-0 lead and added the final goal of the game with 16 seconds remaining after Byfuglien had collected his hat trick two minutes earlier.

Roseau goalie Willard Comstock kicked out 20 Indus shots while Dale Erickson stopped 22 shots in the Trojan nets.

Red Lake Falls surprised Warroad in the first period of the second sub region game at Roseau as the Eagles skated on even terms with the heavily favored Warriors.

Warroad opened up a 2-0 lead on goals spaced just 10 seconds apart at the outset of the game. Senior wing Pete Roberts scored from 10 feet on the left side with 9:48 remaining and linemate Bob Fish poked in a loose puck just ten seconds later for a quick 2-0 Warrior lead.

Red Lake Falls fought back however, behind the superb goaltending of sophomore Lex Prenevost as the Eagles climbed to within 2-1 with 7:46 left in the first period. Sophomore Ira Cota scored on an Eagle two on one rush.

Warroad went back out in front 3-1 moments later as senior wing Tim McKinnon knocked in a rebound with 7:09 remaining.

The determined Eagles trimmed the margin to just 3-2 going into the second period when Tim Schmitz and Tony Demarais combined on a picture-perfect goal with 5:09 remaining in the first period.

Warroad began finding the range early in the second period, however, as the Warriors scored in individual pairs for an 11-2 bugle going into the final period.

Warroad added four goals in the last conto with Gordon Olson, Don Ross, Jerry Hangsleben and Ganyo scoring.

Red Lake Falls goaltenders Alan Stokke and Penevost kicked out 42 Warroad shots on goal while Gordon Schnurr and Gordin Landin combined for 12 saves in the Warrior nets.

In the most exciting game of the north play-off's, Hallock scored four third period goals to trip Baudette 6-4.

Hallock center Scott Person was outstanding as he scored four goals and logged more ice time than anyone else during the night's activity.

Person scored the game's first two goals, both unassisted, with 12:52 and 10:06 remaining in the first period before Baudette came back on freshman Tim Davidson's goal with 4:15 left, cutting Hallock's lead to 2-1 going into the second period.

Baudette tied the contest 2-2 on senior defenseman John Hoscheld's unassisted blast from the left side with 3:19 remaining in the second period.

Person's third goal of the game made it 3-2 with 13:05 remaining in the game. But Baudette bounced back with goals by Rex Black and Mitch Tolpingrud to take a 4-3 lead with 10:01 remaining.

Hallock's Dave Bergh tied the game 4-4 on an unassisted goal with 10:37 left and Person added his fourth goal with 9:35 remaining for a 5-4 Hallock lead. Roddy Gustafson scored an insurance talley with 4:34 remaining for the 6-4 final.

Hallock goalie Tom Woodard kicked out 16 shots in his tenure in the Bears' nets while Greg Dally stopped 19 Hallock drives for Baudette.

Announce State Trapping Season

Minnesota's beaver trapping season will open Friday, March 17, and otter trapping Saturday, April 16, the Department of Natural Resources announced. Both seasons will run until April 30.

With the exception of 19 townships along the north shore of Lake Superior in Cook county, the beaver trapping season will be open statewide. Otter, however, may only be taken in northeastern and north central Minnesota.

Licenses, regulations and a map showing the open and closed areas will be available at county auditor's offices.

No more than ten beaver nor more than three otter may be taken by a trapper during the season.

Trappers must obtain a permit from the refuge manager to take beaver on the five national wildlife refuges in Minnesota.

Permits issued by a state game manager will be required of anyone taking beaver or otter from state-owned game refuges, public hunting grounds or wildlife management areas. The permit is in addition to the beaver trapping license.

All state parks are game refuges and neither beaver nor otter may be trapped within their boundaries.

Beaver may be taken in other statutory game refuges except the Paul Bunyan refuge in Hubbard county.

All beaver must be tagged at the site where trapped with a self-locking metal tag issued with the license. The tag must be attached to the pelt by inserting it through themouth and out the eye and locking it.

Both beaver and otter pelts must be submitted for inspection and sealing to a conservation officer not later than two days after the close of the season.

Traps may not be set in or upon beaver houses or closer than six feet from the waterline of the houses and it is illegal to molest or damage any beaver house or dam.

Traps may not be set or tended between the hours of 6 p.m. and 6 a.m.

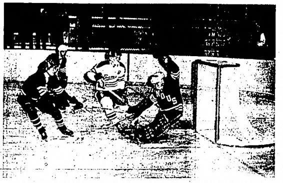
No geaver licenses may be issued to anyone after the third day of the open season. Otter trappers were reminded that they will need the 1972 regular trapping license to take otter.

In addition to either the beaver or regular trapping licenses all trappers must also have a 1972 small game hunting license unless they are trapping on their own land upon which they reside.

Mike Casey, game and fish director, stated that the season was set later this year to take advantage of open water trapping conditions.

The Minnesota Vikings stayed at the "Fontainebleau Hotel" when they played at New Orleans during the 1971 football season.

FIVE SENIORS will be making their final home appearance in the Lincoln high school gym tomorrow night (Thursday) when the Prowlers host Warren in a Big Five Conference game, beginning at 8 p.m. The five upper classmen include, left to right, Lee Sorensen (15), Tom Kays (53), Rande Smith (55), Warren Seaverson (41) and Randy Carlson (21). The Prowlers will close out their regular season schedule against the Ponies before entering district 31 tournament action beginning March 6.



ROSEAU WING Bill Christianson tipped in a Ram goal in the third period of last night's sub region eight game against Indus in the Roseau arena. Indus goalie Dale Erickson couldn't stop the puck despite his sprawling attempt. Roseau advanced into this week's region eight tournament with a 12-0 drubbing of the Trojans.

WARROAD SENIOR Pete Roberts slides the puck past Red Lake Falls goalie Alan Stokke for his team's first goal in the second game of the sub regional play at Roseau. The Warriors were held in check by the Eagles in the first period, leading only 3-2, before the perennial region threats finally exploded in the second stanza for an easy 15-2 win.

Restrictions On Ice Houses Start

After February 28, ice fishing shelters may not be left on the ice between the hours of midnight and 7 a.m., the Department of Natural Resources reminded today.

Shacks found on the ice after February 28 outside the allowed hours will be confiscated or removed and destroyed by conservation officers.

The contents of such shelters will be seized and held for 60 days and if not claimed by theowner will become the property of the department's game and fish division.

Reason for the regulations is to prevent the dangerous littering conditions resulting from broken fishing shacks floating about on Minnesota lakes after the ice goes out.

The remains of the shelters become boating and swimming hazards.

Officials suggested that anglers not wait until the last day to get their shacks off the ice since they may find them frozen in and difficult to remove.

Those who delay also run the risk of a late February snow storm with high winds and drifting which may make shack removal a very unpleasant job.

You don't need a magazine-layout kitchen to be an efficient cook. The 3M Company office efficiency experts suggest ways to get your kitchen together: 1) Can't tell basil from oregano? Label your spice jars with Scotch package sealing tape. 2) Organize your canned foods according to category. 3) A loop of Scotch Magic transparent tape will tack your recipe in view while you work. Keeps frequently-used recipes from getting smeary, too. 4) Keep pretty pots and pans in the open on a pegboard. 5) Build a shelf for small appliances so they won't cause counter clutter.

Pool Schedule

Wed., Feb. 23—7-8 open swimming. 8-9 ladies lessons.

Thurs., Feb. 24—7-8 open swimming. 8-9 mask, fins and snorkel.

Fri., Feb. 25—7-9 open swimming.

Sat., Feb. 26—closed for maintenance.

Sun., Feb. 27—closed for maintenance.

Mon., Feb. 28—7-8 open swimming. 8-9 couples lessons.

Be sure of the target before you pull the trigger.

MJCAA State Cage Tourney Begins Friday

Fergus Falls will face Worthington and Vermilion goes up against Normandale in the first round of the Minnesota junior college state basketball tournament Friday night at Inver Hills J.C.

The Spartans and Ironmen captured the Northwest and Northeast Division titles of the MJCAA during the regular season while Worthington won the Southern Division championship. Normandale tied Golden Valley for the Central Division crown, but the Lions defeated Golden Valley 71-70 last night in a special play-off game.

The championship game will be held Saturday night, preceeded by the consolation contest in the St. Paul suburb of Iver Grove Heights.

The winner will advance into the region 13 play-off's against teams from North Dakota, Montana, Michigan and Wisconsin for the right to enter the national junior college tournament in Hutchinson, Kansas.

The final MJCAA regular season basketball standings are as follows (conference games only):

Boundaries Are Adopted By DNR

All five divisions within the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources now share common regional boundaries for administrative purposes, Commissioner Robert Herbst announced.

Formerly, each of the department's divisions carried out its duties utilizing its own regional boundaries for administration.

Establishing common regional boundaries permits the setting up of five common regional headquarters for all divisions, increasing efficiency, cutting costs and improving liaison between divisions.

Herbst said one of the primary benefits would be realized by those who have business at the regional headquarters with more than one of the divisions. Previously, this could require traveling many miles from one headquarters to another, while under the new plan this business can be transacted under one roof.

Presently, consolidated regional headquarters have been established at Brainerd (central region) and Bemidji (northwest region). The next step will be a regional headquarters for the southwest region at a site still to be selected.

There are five regions and studies are currently underway to determine the best site for the remaining headquarters to be established.

Counties included in the northwest region are Pennington, Becker, Beltrami, Clay, Hubbard, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Ottertail, Polk, Red Lake, Roseau, Wadena and Wilkin.

We wish to express our most sincere thanks to our neighbors, relatives and friends for the kindness extended during the illness and death of our dear wife and mother; a special thanks to the doctors and staff at Northwestern hospital for the excellent care given her. Thanks also to the Baptist church for extending their facilities for the funeral and the ladies who served the lunch; to Pastor Riveness and Espeseth for their comforting words and the message in song by Mr. and Mrs. Ingolf Ingebrigtsen. "O give thanks to the Lord, for He is good; his steadfast love endures forever" ps. 118:1. Willie Fossell and family. 1t16p

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank all who helped in so many ways during the illness and death of our beloved husband, father, grandfather, uncle and brother, especially to Pastor Uden for comforting words, organist, soloists and pallbearers; the women who served lunch and those who sent flowers. God bless you all. The family of John Franzman. 1t16p

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our thanks and appreciation to all our relatives and friends for all the kindness shown after the death of our husband, father and grandfather. A special thanks to Pastor David Putz and Pastor Donald Fredine for their comforting words and Mylan Abrahamson for songs, Mrs. Glen Larson, organist and the pallbearers. Collins Funeral home, all who gave flowers, memorials, cards and for food brought to our home to the United Lutheran ladies aid for serving lunch, your kindness will always be remembered God bless you all. The family of Aksel Gormsen, Middle River. 1t16c

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks to Dr. Jack Delmore and the nurses of Roseau for the wonderful care given us during our stay in the hospital. A special thank you to the pastors, relatives and friends who phoned us, visited us and to those who sent flowers and cards. Clara and Emil Boyum, Grygla. 1t16c

COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

February 23, 1972
OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS
PENNINGTON COUNTY, MINNESOTA
FEBRUARY 8, 1972

Pursuant to adjournment the Board met in the Commissioners' Room in the Courthouse in Thief River Falls at 10:00 a.m., February 8, 1972.

Members present: Hanson, Olson, Anderson, Stenberg and Tasa. All present.

The minutes of the meeting of January 4th were read and approved as read with the exception that the minutes should show Commissioner Olson to represent the County Board on the Northwest Council of Alcohol and Drug Problems rather than Commissioner Hanson as had erroneously been indicated.

The Annual Report of Dr. F. W. Hazard, Livestock Inspector, was received, reviewed and approved upon motion by Hanson seconded by Anderson and declared carried.

The Board then took up the matter of salaries as discussed at the last several meetings and laid over from the last meeting.

Commissioner Stenberg introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

RESOLVED, that a cost of living increase of $400.00 per annum be allowed all affected County Officials according to Section 375.43, Minnesota Statutes, as amended, with a further adjustment of $75.00 per annum for each Official except the Sheriff where the adjustment shall be $650.00 and the Register of Deeds where the adjustment shall be $245.00 with no salary adjustment for County Commissioners and the effective date of these changes to be January 1, 1972.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Tasa and declared carried.

Moved by Anderson seconded by Stenberg that the budget for Civil Defense as presented by the Civil Defense Director in the amount of $1,875.00 be approved for 1972 with A. E. Jorgenson to continue as Civil Defense Director at a salary of $50.00 per month. Motion carried.

Moved by Tasa seconded by Hanson that the following allowances for Clerk Hire for the year 1972 for the various offices be made to provide for a 5 per cent salary adjustment with exception of the County Court Clerk where the adjustment shall be $50.00 per month, which total, inclusive of the various Statutory allowances shall be, as follows:

County Auditor and Assessor, $12,395.00; Treasurer, $4,400.00; Reg. of Deeds, $7,200.00; Clerk of Court, $9,100.00; Sheriff, $3,600.00; County Court, $6,550.00; and County Attorney, $2,900.00 with 50 per cent of the total cost of operation of the Attorney's office to be provided by the Welfare Board pursuant to M.S. 393.11 with the further provision that the salaries of the Janitorial staff, Deputy Sheriff's and Weed Inspector be adjusted 5 per cent as well. Motion carried.

Moved by Hanson seconded by Anderson that the Employees in the Highway Department shall receive a 5 per cent salary adjustment for the year 1972 with the exception that the adjustment for the Engineer shall be the sume of $475.00 per annum. Motion carried.

Bob Wiseth representing the Retirement Homes in the Village of Goodridge appeared with a petition for a reduction in the taxes for the years 1971 and 1972. Financial statements were presented indicating a loss and the explanation was made that the understanding was that they were providing a service that should have carried a tax exempt status and had not originally anticipated a tax. The 1971 Legislature clarified the matter by providing another classification to accommodate these homes and the petition was for settlement of the tax for the two years in approximately the amount the tax would have been at the now determined rate. The Board agreed to present the petition to the State Tax Department for approval, upon motion by Hanson, seconded by Tasa and declared carried.

Applications for Homestead classification were approved for H. E. McMahon in Knox's Re-arrangement and for Cynthia Waale in Hemmingsen's Addition were approved. Assessor's error in not indicating Homestead.

Abatement of Assessed value of Inventory of Northern Woodwork was approved. State Law provides for exemption of Inventory or Tools and Machinery and the Assessor inadvertently entered both for tax purposes.

Commissioner Hanson introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING APPLICATION FOR PLANNING GRANT.

WHEREAS, under the terms of Public Law 128, 87th Congress, as amended, (7 U.S.C. 1926), the United States of America has authorized the making of grants to public bodies having authority to prepare official comprehensive plans for the development of water or sewer systems in rural areas which do not have funds available for immediate undertaking of the preparation of such plan, and

WHEREAS, Pennington County, Minnesota, has the authority to prepare official comprehensive plans pursuant to the provisions of Sections 394.21 through 394.37 of the Minnesota Statutes, as amended, but does not have the resources immediately available to finance a comprehensive planning program;

NOW, THEREFORE, Be it Resolved by the Board of County Commissioners of Pennington County, Minnesota,

1. That Chairman Don L. Olson and County Auditor C. W. Rodekuhr be, and they hereby are, authorized to execute and file an application on behalf of the County with the Farmers Home Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, for a grant to aid in financing the preparation of a comprehensive plan for the development of water or sewer systems in rural areas of the County.

2. That C. W. Rodekuhr, County Auditor, be, and he hereby is, authorized and directed to furnish such information and documents as the Farmers Home Administration may request in connection with the application which is herein authorized to be filed.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Tasa and declared carried.

Commissioner Anderson introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

WITHDRAWAL OF WATERSHED APPLICATION.

BE IT RESOLVED, that we the Board of Commissioners of Pennington County do hereby request that the application for assistance under PL 566 for the Little Black River Watershed be withdrawn.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Hanson and declared carried.

Hodag 50 Champ Crowned

Rhinelander, Wisc.—Temperatures dropped as low as minus 48 degrees here, during the running of the 1972 Hodag 50 snowmobile races, but for Yvon Duhamel it was a-hot show. The LaSalle, Quebec, Ski-Doo racing team driver drove his 800 CC number 4 machine to a coveted victory in the unlimited Grand Prix Invitational, and was greeted at the finish line (above right) by Miss S-K with a kiss and tools as his reward for winning. Despite the numbing cold, the Canadian averaged more than 70 mph in his rush to victory lane.

Policemen & Crime Controls

Policemen alone cannot control crime, they can only arrest the offending individuals. Jails are expected to be the rehabilitator and failing. Recidivists, or repeaters, people who have been arrested numerous times before, commit more than 75 to 80 per cent of the national crime.

Punishment does not seem to be the total single answer penalizing offenders. It is interesting to note that George McGrath, Corrections Commissioner (N.Y.) requested less funds for the Rehabilitation Programs. In 1970 he requested $3.5 million. In 1971 it was $3.2 million, for Rehabilitation programs. He also sought $2,000 for libraries and $200,000 for consultant fees. One cannot jam the penitentiaries with offenders who break rules of our society, and then 'look the other way', forgetting that upon their release these are the very people who may again be breaking the laws.

This again brings up the everlasting issue, and ever present conflict among us all. . .the gun laws. There are many more than 4,000 laws on the law books now which only need to be enforced, rather than new laws written.

Hubert H. Humphrey came out against strict gun controls Legislation (according to issue 7-19-71 in the N.Y. Magazine,) in an article by Jack Newfield "A Populist Manifesto: The Making of a New Majority". (It is a whole new Look at our country, its Policies and Diplomacy.) With some little research, one may locate many interesting "past" arguments for a future "new" look. Edward Kennedy is against guns.

. . .A "Communicaster" came out against the public owning guns, stating "guns should be confiscated" (This is the view of the communicaster, not necessarily of the station.) We, of this syndicated column, maintain that the public IS responsible and well able to own and use guns.

Camping Show Success

Sheriff's Dep't. Cases Include Theft, Forgery

A car-pedestrian accident in Goodridge, two thefts and solution of several forgeries were included in Pennington county sheriff's department activity this week.

As a result of the forgery of eight checks totaling $92.50 in value, four juveniles have appeared in juvenile court and restitution has been made. The checks were passed in the county in September of 1971 and January of 1972.

Howard Wayne Vigen, 14, Grygla, was taken to Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls for x-rays and released following an accident at the intersection southeast of the Goodridge school about 5 p.m. February 15. Vigen was struck by a car driven by David Mark Paulson, 17, Goodridge. No charges are being filed in the mishap.

Theft of a snowmobile suit valued at $30 and a half-inch Snap On tap and dye set valued at $50 was reported by James Howard of Thief River Falls. The items were taken from Howard's car while it was parked at the Thief River golf club late Saturday night or early Sunday morning.

A Yamaha snowmobile owned by David O. Scramstad of Thief River Falls was stolen from a farm 12 miles east of highway 59 on the River Valley road February 16 or 17. The machine was recovered by deputy Clark Dahl while on patrol about five miles east of the place where it had been stolen. The registration numbers had been peeled off, the hood had been repainted and attempts made to remove the serial numbers, the sheriff's office reported. The case is under investigation.

Added Wheat Set-Aside May Help Boost Price

Spring wheat growers in Pennington county who sign-up for the 1972 wheat set-aside program can join other producers throughout the country by voluntarily taking extra land out of wheat production in a national effort to prevent over-production of the crop.

Winton Knutson, chairman of the Pennington county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committee, said this new provision for setting aside additional acreage was announced recently by the U. S. Department of Agriculture as part of an effort to help stabilize production and aid the price for wheat this year. The big 1971 wheat crop, together with a reduction in our wheat exports caused by dock strikes, has complicated the price picture for wheat.

The ASC committee chairman said anyone who takes part in this year's wheat program is required to set-aside an acreage of land from crop production equal to 83 per cent of his farm's domestic wheat allotment. Under the new provision, a grower may also set-aside additional land up to 75 per cent of his farm's domestic allotment. In return, he receives a payment of 94 cents per bushel, times the farm's established yield, times the number of additional acres voluntarily set-aside.

Knutson pointed out that the added set-aside, plus the acres actually planted to wheat this year, can't exceed the farm's 1971 wheat acreage. Also, the land that is offered for set-aside must be of average quality.

Knutson reminded growers that the measurement and inspection service available through the county ASCS office at moderate cost can provide a quality-quantity guarantee of set-aside acres.

All signs seem to indicate that too much U.S. wheat would be produced in 1972, unless steps are taken by farmers themselves to correct the situation, Knutson said.

The national goal in authorizing the added set-aside acres, is to reduce the 1972 wheat harvest by some 5 to 6 million acres.

ASC committee chairman Knutson said additional details about the 1972 wheat program are available from the county ASCS office. Sign-up for participation in farm programs is underway and will continue through March 10.

Minn. Winter Picnic Set At Long Beach, Cal.

Annual Minnestoa winter picnic will be held at recreation park, 7th and Park, Long Beach, Calif., March 5 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

President Marvin Johnson, formerly of Minneapolis, assures everyone of an interesting day. TV entertainer Harris Nelson has organized a children's hand bell ringers group and will direct them in their first public appearance. Glen Norquist, formerly of Roseau will present a variety of accordion selections. There will also be other forms of entertainment.

Registration of counties will begin at 10 a.m. and the program will begin at 12:45 p.m.

Bring your own picnic lunch and there will be plenty of coffee, compliments of the Minnesota state society. There will be a catering truck on the grounds for those not bringing a picnic basket. This society was reorganized in 1960 to bring former Minnesotans together sometime during the year, creating good will and fellowship. New residents from Minnesota are invited to participate in the society's growth.

Membership is kept at $2 per year, entitling each member to vote, a personalized membership card and a monthly Minnesota Newsette, edited by Freeman Jorgenson, formerly of Argyle.

Anyone interested in more information may write or telephone President Marvin Johnson, 11020 Orange Dr., Whittier, Calif. 90606; Area code 213 692-6112; Jorgenson 722-4691; Neslund, 444-0055; Ekergren, 446-9323; Allen, 597-3096; and Olson (714) 537-5911.

New Solum

New Solum 4-H club meeting was held recently at the New Solum 4-H clubhouse. Flag pledges were said. Roll call response was by how many valentines each member received, and the favorite food show to be March 25 was discussed.

Each member enrolled in foods is asked to participate in the show. The club members will make a bulletin board and each month more articles will be added from the past 25 years. A committee was appointed to gather pictures of the club and its members from the past years.

Committee was appointed to decorate the clubhouse for each meeting. One highlight will be a special guest each month to talk about his experience as a club member. February special guest was Melvin Saugen, one of the three people who started the New Solum 4-H club.

Song program opened with "America". Wesley Solney gave a demonstration on a snow plane engine, and Cindy Anderson read a poem. Leonard Kron gave a demonstration on "Small Engines and Facts You Should Know". Wesley Soiney read some jokes, and Paul Lambert gave a project report on electricity. After the closing song Laura Kron provided recreation. Mrs. William Bulger and Mrs. Roy Copland served lunch. Barbara Bruce, reporter.

HARRY SJULSON, voting delegate from the Northern Turkey Council, right, accepts an award for Morris Efteland from Dr. Michael S. Turner at the Land O'Lakes meeting held recently in Minneapolis. Efteland was one of several turkey growers with flocks ranging in size from 2,500 to 10,000 birds to receive awards. The award is based on the best per cent of "Grade A" turkeys marketed through Land O'Lakes in 1971.

GOP Discusses House Race At Area Meetings

Herman Natwick, Ada, and Mrs. Kris Sanda, Staples, 7th District Republican chairman and chairwoman, reported today that five GOP area meetings were held last week in Brooks, Bagley, Fergus Falls, Elbow Lake and Staples. The '72 Congressional race was the major item on the agenda.

District leaders report that interest in the 1972 Congressional race was high and that a number of men are interested in the GOP candidacy. The district convention will be held in Fergus Falls on April 14-15, at which time a Congressional candidate will be endorsed.

Seventh District people, regardless of their party affiliation tend to be conservative in their thinking and do not look with favor on a Congressman with an extremely liberal voting record. Natwick and Sanda said that Congressman Bergland was not representing the people of the 7th District and should be retired as a one-term Congressman.

They mentioned his 100 per cent rating by the AFL-CIO education committee and his zero per cent rating received from the Americans For Constitutional Action, a group that rates the conservative votes of Congressmen.

"This is not being representative of the people in the district and we intend to bring these facts before the people in the coming months," the statement said.

Sanda and Natwick said President Nixon deserves a Congress that will support his programs not fight them, and that the 7th District intends to give the President such support by electing a Republican Congressman.

Cold Snap Can Increase Danger Of House Fires

Every severe cold wave puts extra strain on the home heating plant and increases the danger of house fires, Minnesota Department of Public Safety Commissioner W. R. Hoaglund warned today.

"This is especially true in households using stoves and space heaters, but cold weather puts a strain on central heating plants, too. It is when heavy demands are put upon the heating facilities that defects are most likely to show up—in the flue pipe, the chimney, and the heater itself.

"A central plant should be inspected, cleaned and serviced annually. During the heating season, it should be watched carefully for any signs of weakness or malfunction, and faults should be corrected at once.

"Users of stoves and space heaters need to take special care, keeping them clean, putting them in the safest locations away from flammable curtains and other material, out of passageways where they might obstruct escape in case of fire. Flue pipes must be kept clean and tight.

"Oil space heaters call for special care. The space under and around them should be protected with fireproof material, as the accumulation of even minute bits of oil spillage can cause a serious fire hazard.

"Another cold-weather hazard: Very cold fuel oil put into the tank of a heater sometimes causes burner flooding and flare-up. Watch the burner after filling until the danger of such a reaction is past."

Estimated Value Of Minn. Crops Is $1,102,108,000

An estimated value of $1,102,108,000 has been announced by Agriculture Commissioner Jon Wefald for Minnesota's record 1971 production of 22 selected field crops.

The estimate was calculated by the state-federal crop and livestock reporting service of the Minnesota department of agriculture, using the average season process for the respective commodities.

While the 1971 crop value represents a $29,515,000 increase over the value of the same crops in 1970, Commissioner Wefald said the report again points up the damage done to Minnesota's farm economy by the low prices offered for last year's production.

"If 1970 prices had prevailed last year for our record production the value of the 22 crops listed in the attached table would have been another $84,509,000 higher, or a gross gain over the 1970 crops value of $114,024,000," Commissioner Wefald stated.

He emphasized that the current report deals only with the "value" and not gross farm "income" for 1971 field crops. The income estimate won't be calculated until after the normal spring marketing season.

Commissioner Wefald suggested that with farm prices continuing to drag below levels of even 10 and 20 years ago on many commodities that a realistic picture of state farm income on 1971 production may not be available for another year.

"Failure of the U.S. Congress to act favorably on the bill to increase wheat and feed grain price supports will probably force farmers to hold grain stocks in hopes of a market recovery. Reports from federal officials indicate that a record amount of grain is now being held under government loan and farm storage programs," Commissioner Wefald pointed out.

He said that price drops of up to 22 cents per bushel were recorded last year on 12 of the major field crops, based on season averages, but he noted that cuts of up to twice that amount were actually experienced during and immediately following harvest.

'72 Grain Program Enrollment Is Reported In State

First report of sign up in the 1972 feed grain program in Minnesota shows 9,753 farms enrolled, according to Elton Redalen, chairman of the Minnesota Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee. This is over seven per cent of the 131,312 total eligible feed grain farms in the state.

Total set aside acres offered by producers in Minnesota is 227,482 acres. This includes the required 25 per cent set aside of corn, sorghum, and barley acreage plus an up to 10 per cent voluntary additional set aside under two separate options of corn sorghum acreage, plus an optional up to 20 per cent of set aside of barley acreage.

In addition producers under one of the 10 per cent corn sorghum set aside options can offer another five per cent additional set aside of corn sorghum acreage that is subject to acceptance by the secretary of agriculture in March. The first report for Minnesota shows 9,789 acres in this category.

Under another major option offered last fall when the program announcement was made, producers can offer another five to 10 per cent of their corn-sorghum acreage which is also subject to the secretary's acceptance in March. In Minnesota 10,362 acres have been offered under this option.

Getting details on the best plan for each farm takes more time this year than it did last year because of the added options, warns Redalen. Producers should call at their local county ASCS offices as soon as convenient to get details of the program options. Sign up began February 3 and ends March 10.

State Repeats As National Butter Champion

Minnesota repeated as national champion in butter production, second in output of American cheese and ninth in ice cream manufacture in 1971, according to Agriculture Commissioner Jon Wefald.

An increase of 28 per cent in American cheese production by Minnesota dairy processors last year was the pace-maker for the entire U.S. cheese industry. Minnesota's production totaled 164,605,000 pounds, or 36,462,000 more than in 1970.

Ice cream manufacture also chalked up a gain last year, while butter continued to decline in consumer popularity.

Butter production totaled 277,995,000 pounds, a drop of 21,065,000 pounds or seven per cent less than for 1970.

Minnesota's ice cream production totaled 28,995,000 gallons, up 735,000 gallons or three per cent more than in 1970.

While Minnesota gained on leading Wisconsin in cheese production, the eastern neighbor continued to close the gap as a challenger to Minnesota's butter title. Wisconsin boosted butter production by three per cent and now trails Minnesota by 74,055,000 pounds. Wisconsin has a comfortable 508,345,000 pound lead over Minnesota in American cheese production.

Pennsylvania leads the nation in ice cream manufacture, 79,555,000 pounds last year, a four per cent increase. Also ahead of Minnesota, in order, are New York, California, Ohio, Massachusetts, Illinois, Michigan and Texas.

Most Entries Appeared In Barley Show

Market Barley 1972 show at the RRV Winter shows will go down on record as one of the biggest shows ever held. A number of 88 entries was almost deoubled this year as in comparison to last year's entries. The market barley show consists of one-half bushel uncleaned, bin run barley. Ted Dvorak of Warren was named the sweepstakes winner with his sample of Larker barley. He also took first place in the open class malting division with a sample of Larker.

Other winners are, Barry Thune of Climax, who took first place with a Larker variety in the 4-H and FFA malting division; Thomas Botko of Warren took first in the open class feed barley division with a sample of Burk; Harlan Hugrud and sons of Rothsay was first in the open class—not adequately tested with a sample of Nordic. In the 4-H—FFA—not adequately tested Erick Larson of Tabor was first with a sample of Nordic.

Holstein Herd Takes Honors At Winter Shows

Kacrest Holsteins of Angus showed the best dairy herd in the open class dairy show and the Black and White District 9 show held Friday morning at the RRV Winter shows in Crookston. Kacrest also showed the junior, senior and grand champion bull, the junior champion female, the best three females and produce of dam in both the open dairy and Black and White shows.

Aber Holsteins of Rothsay took the senior and grand champion female and get-of-sire in both shows. Forrest Schmidt of New Salem, N. D., showed the junior champion female, the junior champion bull, reserve grand champion female and dam and daughter in the open class. Also taking honors in the open class were the Orbit farms of Ada, showing the best three producing females and the best uddered cow.

Says Retail Prices On Meat Advanced Beyond Farm Gains

Retail market prices on beef and pork have advanced a great deal more than can be justified by the recent improvements in farm livestock prices, the acting president of Minnesota Farmers Union said today.

Cy Carpenter said that while farm prices of cattle and hogs had increased two to three cents a pound since the economic freeze last August, retail prices of some popular cuts of beef and pork have advanced 10 to 20 cents a pound. Not more of a retail price increase than four to six cents per pound should have been needed to reflect the higher prices paid to producers.

Carpenter urged that the President's cost of living council and USDA officials explore the situation in which he charged packers and distributors are unnecessarily widening their margins.

He declared that the situation does not call for price controls on raw agricultural products, since they are still well below full parity levels, but proposed that the cost of living council police the marketing margins so that they are not unduly expanded at the expense of both farmers and consumers.

Carpenter noted that while there may have been some tightness of cattle supplies because bad weather hindered marketings, there is no real shortage of beef nor reason to expect scarcity of meats during this year.

Beef production volume increased in 1971 and, from the inventory of cattle being fed as of January 1, we can expect another five per cent increase in 1972. Pork production expanded by 10 per cent in 1971 and will decline perhaps seven to eight per cent in 1972, but will still be ample, said the MFU official.

"It should be clearly understood that farmers are not the principal beneficiaries of the higher prices now being paid by the consuming public," Carpenter insisted.

"We are aware that meat costs have a 5.5 per cent weight in the consumer price index and that, as a result the action of packers and handlers in taking unwarranted increases in their marketing margins at a time when farm prices are making an overdue improvement, can have a distressing impact on living costs," he explained.

Carpenter, whose career was in livestock marketing before he became an official of Minnesota Farmers Union, charged that the meat industry has historically had the tendency to mark up its prices faster than farm prices when farm prices are advancing and lowering retail market prices much more slowly when prices paid to farmers for livestock are declining.

"As a result, the farm-to-retail spread on U.S. choice grade beef has increased from less than 20 cents per pound in early 1950 to about 36 cents a pound at present," he reported. "Pork marketing margins have risen from 20 cents in 1951 to 37 cents a pound at present."

Carpenter recalled that a year ago, Dr. Don Paarlberg, USDA director of agricultural economics, urged the beef industry to hold its marketing margins more steady to give both farmers and consumers a better break.

Dr. Paarlberg had noted that from 1968-69 to December, 1970, there had been a nine cent net increaese in the marketing margin on choice grade beef. He estimated that 1.7 cents of the increase had been in packing and wholesaling, 7.3 cents in retailing.

"A steadier margin would be more equitable for all parties and would introduce greater stability into the supply of meat," Dr. Paarlberg said.

Just a few weeks earlier in November, 1970, Dr. Paarlberg had scolded the meat industry for failing to pass on to consumers lower prices being paid to farmers for hogs.

Dr. Paarlberg has stressed that "pork prices to farmers have dropped about 10 cents a pound since the first of the year—but the retail price has not dropped in accordance with the drop in farm prices. Retailers and processors have absorbed a large part of the increased spread resulting from the drop in prices to farmers."

Carpenter disclosed that during the past 23 years, U.S. beef producers have received parity average prices in only four years and hog producers have done so only in three years.

Carpenter said that the present supply picture on red meats does not warrant a relaxation of import controls.

"The Nixon administration has maintained a liberal attitude on meat imports," he explained. "In 1970, some 2.3 billion pounds of meat were imported which was equal to about six per cent of our total supply."

The Farmers Union official said that some increase in marketing costs was to be expected because of general inflationary conditions, however, he noted that some automation had taken place in meat handling which should have offset some of the rising costs.

Meat processing workers have obtained some wage increases, but at the same time it should be noted the number of workers employed in meat processing has dropped by nine per cent in the past 10 years and the output per man-hour has advanced 42 per cent in that 10-year period.

Carpenter noted that in 1960, food took 20 per cent of the disposable family income, while in 1971 the typical American family was able to obtain its food supply with only 16.3 per cent of its family income.

The Farmers Union official said that while there is no imminent danger of shortages and no reason for skyrocketing prices, there is no imminent danger signals on the horizon which could eventually mean higher meat prices for consumers. These include:

The shift of meat production from family-type operations on which farm wastes can be safely recycled into the soil to highly concentrated feedlot operations which pose a pollution threat to surface waters.

Rapidly intensifying economic concentration in the meat business, through which food chains and other handlers are obtaining more than half their beef supply from feedlots under their own ownership or control, thus circumventing the competitive public terminal markets.

Sharply advancing freight costs on livestock and meat, which advanced by 10 per cent in 1970 alone.

A total ban on feeding of certain growth stimulants to livestock which, if applied, could add significantly to the cost of production. Since effective controls, properly administered, can avoid any threat to public health from use of such products as "DES," a total ban is not warranted.

Pets Can Bring Enjoyment To Older Persons

Household pets can bring life and love into a home if you know how to adequately train and care for them, according to a new "Retirement Pet Guide" published by the American Association of Retired Persons and National Retired Teachers association.

Designed to help older persons select the pet best suited for their home or apartment, the guide includes information about the most common household pets—dogs, cats, birds, fish and reptiles.

"Statistics show adults favoring dogs for pets, with cats running a close second," the guide notes, "but fish are the least expensive and least time-consuming pets to own."

The booklet provides a list of safety rules and first aid tips for pet owners, including ways to give artificial respiration to dogs, treat a pet's minor cuts and burns and cure a sick fish.

Although many people find it fashionable to select "exotic" pets such as jungle cats, monkeys, alligators and boa constrictors, the guide warns that these pets "belong in the zoo and not in the living room." Many of them become sick and die when exposed to a new environment or, if they reach maturity, their strength often increases to dangerous proportions.

Offered free to all interested older persons, the booklet is one of a series of "Better Retirement Guides" published by the 3-million member associations.

The associations sponsor many member services to help older persons stretch retirement incomes, including recommended health, life and automobile insurance programs, pharmacies offering prescription medicines on a mail-order and walk-in basis, a continuing education program, a world-wide travel service and an awardwinning publications program.

Free copies of the "Retirement Pet Guide" are available by writing: Pet Guide, NRTA-AARP, 1225 Connecticut Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

Northwestern Bell

LEO STEINMETZ, Minnesota Safety Council, and Cliff Mattson, Minnesota highway patrol, were one of two instructors at the eight-hour defensive driving course held February 14 and 15 at the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical school. The course was designed to make persons more aware of what can be done to protect themselves from other motorists on the road. Of the 28 people who enrolled in the course and completed it, six were from the Thief River Falls police department, four were from Northwestern hospital ambulance service, two from the fire department, one from the street department, two from the sheriff's department, one from the Agassiz wildlife refuge, one each from North Star Transport and Arctic Enterprises, and 10 were from the over-the-road driving course conducted at the area vocational-technical school.

SBA Disburses $2,209,400 In January Loans

Paul W. Jansen, district director of the Minnesota office of the Small Business Administration, reported today that 39 SBA loans were disbursed in January to small business firms in Minnesota. The total amount of these loans was $2,209,400. According to the firms receiving these loans, it was indicated that approximactely 123 new jobs will be created.

The SBA is authorized to make medium to long term loans to owners of small businesses. These loans can be obtained with maturities up to 15 years. Jansen said that nearly all SBA loans are made through the Bank-SBA guaranty plan. This lending program enables SBA to guarantee up to 90 per cent loans that are made by banks to small firms.

Jansen suggested that anyone interested in financing through the SBA guaranty plan should contact their local bank.

IRS Figures Tax For Some

Approximately 40 per cent of Minnesota taxpayers can ask the IRS to figure their tax, say officials of the Internal Revenue service.

Those whose income is $20,000 or less from salaries, dividends, interest and pensions and annuities, and who elect the standard deduction, can ask the IRS to compute their 1971 tax.

After the tax is figured, they will receive a refund check or a bill for any tax owing. The same assistance is offered to elderly individuals who are entitled to claim the retirement income credit.

We've all heard that a picture is worth a thousand words. But this photo tells the whole story of mankind.

The barbed wire symbolizes this earth we live in — filled with war, hatred, greed. Transcending the ugliness of this world is the Cross, symbol of Christ's sacrifice for us, the promise of eternal life.

But we don't have to wait till death for a better life. We can do something about that barbed wire. More understanding, and selfless—not selfish—action would do much to purge our world of ugliness.

God's Church is the natural means of resolving discord. Human nature being what it is, heaven on earth is impossible. But improvement on earth is possible — necessary!

Building Code

In July of 1971 the Minnesota State Building Code was adopted for the state of Minnesota. It went into effect as of that date.

Now in 1972, all buildings in Thief River Falls will be built in accordance with this State Building Code. We will need a building plan for every building that is constructed in 1972. It should be given to us about ten days before starting the construction.

If you have any questions about this, feel free to call or see me at 681-2500.

Minnesota Girls Earn Bonds for 4-H Achievement

Barbara Kuschill, 19, of Maple Plain, and Barbara Stordahl, 17, of Winger, have earned state honors for outstanding projects in 4-H endeavors.

Named best in the state for entomology and veterinary science projects, respectively, by the Cooperative Extension Service, the girls received $50 U.S. Savings Bonds.

Barbara Stordahl

Barbara Kuschill

Miss Kuschill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Kuschill, is an ecologically aware coed studying floral design at the University of Minnesota.

During the four years she worked on her 4-H entomology project, she collected more than 400 insects which she studied and mounted. "To know the insect," she said, "is to know the problem."

A member of the American Entomological Society, she said, "To fully realize the impact of man's relationship to insects, we must see how insects relate to other aspects of living."

Her bond was provided by Hercules Incorporated, program donor.

Miss Stordahl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stordahl, learned in her three years in the veterinary science project that the veterinarian is not only a man who doctors animals but a guard of community health.

Planning to become a veterinarian's assistant when she completes her education, the high school senior said she entered the vet science project because she likes animals and biology.

Her $50 bond was provided by The Upjohn Company.

Many top state honors were presented to 4-H'ers during the 50th National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 28-Dec. 2. Some 1,600 young people were in attendance.

The 4-H awards programs are arranged by the National 4-H Service Committee.

The Move Is Made

After deliberation and study over a period of time, a move was made by the Thief River Falls board of education Tuesday evening to acquire the Arctic Enterprises property in downtown Thief River Falls. The action will trigger additional construction for Arctic Enterprises and undoubtedly other activity for community benefit.

Of immediate concern to the school district and area districts, it will relieve some crowded conditions, give space for high school vocational programs and solve some other school district problems at a relatively small cost. All of these things are worthy of consideration in the total picture.

The situation and the method in which the Arctic building could be employed to help were outlined at Monday night's public meeting of the board of education. The questions asked were concerned and relevant, and we felt that the answers given showed prior study and consideration of alternatives.

And when the discussion was completed and decision to acquire the property made unanimously by the board, the statement from Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Swenson offering financial assistance cast a rosy glow over the entire proceedings. The concise statement was given applause by the group of concerned people in attendance.

We believe the board of education wrestled realistically with a difficult question and came out victorious. The board deserves the district's sincere appreciation for exerting dedicated and educationally-directed effort.

Community appreciation is also due to the Swensons for their offer of very substantial assistance. It is worth noting that this part of the picture was not disclosed until the proposal had been considered on its merit alone and found to be satisfactory. The promise of support by Mr. and Mrs. Swanson is simply the proverbial frosting on the cake.

So the decision has been made and another series of forward moves can begin to take place. Such is the pace of life in a living, growing community. Would we want it any other way?

Space Shuttle

Sen. William Proxmire of Wisconsin recently wrote a letter published in the Milwaukee Journal, from which the following excerpt is taken in regard to the space shuttle program:

One of the principal arguments advanced for the space shuttle is that it will save costs. But save costs from what? Anyone can devise a very expensive space program, requiring scores of booster rockets, and then conclude that the shuttle would be cheaper than the expendable booster if enough trips were made.

The key question is: How many flights must be made—how much payload do we have to put into orbit—before the shuttle begins to pay for itself? The U.S. Air Force commissioned a study to look into that very question. The study was completed in October 1970.

Its conclusion: that the shuttle would not be cost-effective unless the United States planned to put at least $141 billion worth of equipment and manpower into orbit during the shuttle's 13-year lifetime.

If we're not planning to spend at least that amount, then the shuttle's cost would not be justified, and it would be cheaper to continue using expendable boosters.

That $141 billion comes out to $2,800 for every American family. That's a pretty substantial price to have to pay in order to justify a decision to proceed with the shuttle.

When one considers what this money could do to alleviate poverty, improve education, control pollution, construct housing or meet other vital needs—needs that must continue to go unmet if we fund the shuttle—it becomes the height of folly to proceed with this new space extravaganza now.

This is especially so in light of the fact that we can achieve almost as much with unmanned exploration as we can with manned flight. Unmanned exploration, of course, would be much less expensive and involve no risk to life.

Unfortunately, NASA continues to opt for the more glamorous and more costly manned programs, despite the fact that the benefits are approximately the same.

Eh, Men!

The following parody penned by an obviously disgruntled state employee and set as a sort-of take off on the Lord's Prayer expressed his chagrin concerning his salary and frozen pay raise:

Our legislators who aren't in session,
Hollow would be thy words.
There's nothing done, no raise hath come,
Deserved as it is by many.
Give us, some day, a raise in pay,
And forget not, it's retroactive,
As we forget not the high cost of living.
And lead us not into starvation,
But deliver us from hardship,
For thine is the House, and the Senate,
And the power, until election day.
Eh, men!

Vines And Freeways

Minnesota Good Roads association recently published part of an address by Ed Holt, president of the American Road Builders' association, which tied Tarzan into transportation in a highly entertaining way. A portion of that address is as follows:

"One of the finest things that Tarzan did was to develop a system of surface transportation that did not depend on the wheel. As we all know, the invention of the wheel was the start of a lot of problems. Tarzan avoided these problems.

"Transportation was accomplished by a multi-modal, local ecology complex with manual interface transfer utilizing natural, non-polluting technology. For high speed surface transportation, the basic mode was the pivot suspension, multi-directional swinging vine. By swinging through the air, grasping a new vine at the end of each arc, Tarzan could move swiftly through the jungle without disturbing the ecology of the area.

"Vine transportation had the disadvantage of requiring the use of both hands, however. If Tarzan wanted to carry something with him—Jane, for instance—he had to utilize another transport mode. The most dependable of these alternate modes was the elephant.

"The characteristics of the elephant are that it is a friendly beast which enjoys walking a lot, does not particularly care which direction it walks, and is able to carry quite a burden without noticing it. Generally speaking, Tarzan had no difficulty in locating an elephant who was going his way.

"When all else failed, there was always jogging. This is not the best mode of transportation when freight must be carried, but it is simple, recommended in moderation by doctors, and is cheap.

"It was fortunate, too, that Tarzan lived in an area where the "swinger" population was low. If there had been a large number of people moving about on vines, the traffic congestion would have resulted in some rather painful collisions, especially during rush hour. The braking ability of the vine swinger is limited, and insurance was not available.

"Tarzan's way of life might be described as an ecologist's paradise, but this system—which worked well enough for a healthy young man with limited needs—breaks down very quickly when we load in a lot of people with varying degrees of health and diverse ambitions and requirements. The supply of wild nuts and berries runs out pretty fast as the population density increases and, as you may recall, some new challenges developed when Jane came into the picture.

"Unfortunately, the two roads to happiness and wealth are sometimes in conflict. When you start building shelters and augmenting food sources, you begin by clearing the jungle. This leads to soil erosion, water pollution and, among other things, a shortage of vines upon which to swing."

Tax Break Coming?

Following editorial is from the Swift County News:

Reports Monday indicated a special committee, named by Gov. Wendell Anderson, is going to submit to the governor a proposal providing substantial tax incentives to U. S. Steel for modernizing or building a new plant in Duluth.

Included, would be $40 million in income, sales and occupation tax credits over a 20-year period and a property tax freeze that could mean about a $60 million benefit over 20 years, providing U.S. Steel constructs a facility worth $80 million or more. In addition, the committee asks the company to guarantee 1,000 fulltime jobs.

To implement these proposals the governor will be asked to call a special session of the legislature to make the tax concessions into law.

Though U. S. Steel has been cold to all such proposals concerning its Duluth facility, this package could be pretty enough for the company to buy. But, it is highly unlikely that the job guarantee provision will survive.

If the legislature does approve these concessions, it had better be ready to give other communities in the state, faced with serious economic reverses, the same kind of consideration.

The fact that the U. S. Steel plant in Duluth means millions of dollars in income to individuals, the city, county and state, isn't the most important consideration. The crux of the matter is if Duluth can be helped and U. S. Steel benefited by tax concessions, the state should be prepared to take similar action in any other part of Minnesota.

NAME THAT BEAR: "Roma," the male polar bear which arrived last month at St. Paul's Como Zoo, is the object of a "Rename the Bear" Contest announced by St. Paul Parks and Recreation Commissioner Victor J. Tedesco. Every Minnesotan is eligible to enter. Suggested names should be sent on postcards, no later than Febr. 29, to: Commissioner Victor J. Tedesco; c/o Como Zoo; St. Paul, Minn. 55103. Tedesco said that a $100 prize will be awarded the winner by Theodore Hamm Company, the St. Paul brewer which also paid $2500 to buy the polar bear from Abilene Zoological Gardens, Abilene, Texas. The Texas zoo originally named the bear "Roma" after the River Oaks Merchants Association, which purchased him. Selection of the winning name will be made by John Fletcher, Como Zoo Director; Rick Hansen, Minneapolis president of Docents (private citizens supporting Como Zoo), and James A. Jones, professor of biology, Macalester College.

How To Make Meatloaf Best You Ever Ate

Meatloaves are family cooking of the best kind—savory, satisfying, economical. But there's a world of difference between a meatloaf that is just so-so, and a masterpiece of the art. Turn to this newly-created recipe to make an incomparable meatloaf, delicious in flavor, perfect in texture. To bring out the real heartiness of the beef flavor, Ac'cent is used, and this important ingredient also blends all the flavors and seasonings together. Treat your family to the top of the meatloaf art.

Masterpiece Meatloaf

- 1 egg
- 2 teaspoons Ac'cent
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon dried leaf thyme
- 2 teaspoons prepared mustard
- 1 1/2 cups soft bread crumbs
- 1 cup tomato juice
- 1/2 cup finely chopped celery
- 1/2 cup finely chopped onion
- 1 cup shredded Swiss cheese
- 2 pounds ground beef chuck

Beat egg lightly in medium bowl; add Ac'cent, salt, pepper, thyme, mustard, bread crumbs and tomato juice. Mix until all ingredients are very well blended. Mix in celery, onion and cheese. Break up ground beef and add to bowl; mix lightly but thoroughly with a fork. A meatloaf shaped like a roast is easy to do. Just take an 18-inch piece of 12-inch wide waxed paper, put meat mixture in center, and fold paper over meat to make ends meet. Hold ends of paper; with other hand, push meat mixture toward fold, forming a roll. Lift waxed paper, fold ends of meat toward center, repeat pushing and shaping until smooth compact roll, 12 to 14 inches long, is formed. Slide roll onto baking sheet or shallow baking pan. If a loaf shape and a moister meatloaf are desired, press meat mixture lightly into 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan. Bake uncovered in 375°F. oven 1 hour to 1 hour and 10 minutes.

YIELD: 8 servings.

SMOKEY BEAR has been a symbol of forest fire prevention since 1945 and has been a resident of the national zoo in Washington, D.C., since 1950. With old Smokey now about 22 years old—which is getting on in years for a bear—another bear is being prepared to take his place. "Little Smokey" was brought to Washington in the fall of 1971 and now resides next to his famous predecessor. He is shown sampling a fresh honeycomb. —USDA Photo

Sen. Coleman Tells Of Tax Philosophy

by Sen. Nicholas Coleman

In discussing tax philosophy, it may be instructive to consider a few of the diverse comments made on the subject of taxation by noted men in years past.

Cicero called "the sinews of the state."

Calvin Coolidge held that "Collecting more taxes than is absolutely necessary is legalized robbery."

Daniel Webster said "The unlimited power to tax involves, necessarily, the power to destroy."

And Mortimer Caplin, one of our more recent commissioners of Internal Revenue, said there is but one difference between a tax collector and a taxidermist: "The taxidermist leaves the hide."

Most of us, regardless of party, can subscribe to the foregoing statements in greater or lesser degree.

But when it comes to the tax philosophy of the Minnesota Democratic - Farmer - Labor party, I believe most of its adherents would agree that Thomas Jefferson laid down the best standard.

Jefferson was a passionate believer in the dignity of the individual man. To protect and promote that dignity, he said, our nation must strive unceasingly in all its affairs, including taxation, to establish "equal and exact justice to all men of whatever state or persuasion, religious or political."

How do we achieve "equal and exact justice" in taxation?

We do it, simply, by enacting laws that distribute the tax burden according to the citizen's ability to pay.

We do it by relying primarily on taxes that are based on the amount of money earned by an individual or corporation; in short, the income tax.

We do it by so structuring our system of taxation that loopholes are eliminated, so that the burdens bear evenly and equitably, so that no individual or business is unfairly discriminated against or enjoys special advantage.

Finally, we do it through maintenance of a government that inspires the trust and confidence of all segments of the society it governs, a government that concerns itself with the promotion of the general welfare, and not the welfare of a favored few.

We do not achieve "equal and exact justice" in taxation by continuing to rely heavily on the property tax or other taxes that bear little relation to the size of the individual's paycheck or pension, or the businessman's profit and loss statement.

We do not do it by perpetuating the inequities that State Auditor Rolland Hatfield described in his landmark study of the Minnesota property tax structure a few years ago.

In that study, Hatfield reported that the "big three" state and local taxes—income, sales and property—ate up 12.2 per cent of the income of a Minnesota family of four with an adjusted gross income of $3,500.

That percentage drops to but 6.8 per cent for the family of four with an income of $50,000, Hatfield said.

Nor do we do it through rhetoric that decries high income tax rates, while ignoring other major aspects of the tax structure, or by resisting change with the contention that the "best tax relief" comes when the dollar is not taxed in the first place.

Such rhetoric is a formula for standpattism, for continuance of a status quo that does not deliver "exact and equal justice."

Team Arctic Racers Ride 'Red Line' To Win Victory

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

In a game where three years of competition makes you a veteran and five years a virtual pioneer, the Arctic Enterprises racing team has churned up more snow than a three-day blizzard. Team members have won their share of trophies, suffered their share of bruises, and carried the Arctic Cat banner proudly across the North American continent.

Although the number of racers on Team Arctic has decreased to five from eight a year ago and 12 the year before, each driver believes he has made a contribution to the company's sales and research. And while the thrill of racing and winning may not be as exhilarating as it once was, none of the drivers is ready to call it quits.

"We drive the red line," smiled 36 - year - old Vern Ricard, a rural Crookston driver who put himself in private business by racing snowmobiles. By that "red line" he means the fine line between victory and disaster, pushing to the very limit without taking unnecessary chances—but taking the chances when necessary.

"You don't win any races upside down," he said.

The man makes a lot of sense.

Ricard has a sodding business which he started with the proceeds of his most successful financial year in snowmobile racing. He earned $7,800 in 1969, including $1,500 he picked up in one weekend in New Hampshire with a first, two seconds and a third in a major race. Had he won the same races this year as he won in 1968, he could have nearly tripled his winnings.

Arctic's drivers are salaried during the racing season and keep the prize money they earn as well. Several of them also work for the company in the off season in research and engineering. None of them list prize money as the first reason for racing, but all of them agree that it helps.

Paul Eggebraaten, a Fisher area farmer, races the big machines in the modified classes. At 36 he should begin to feel the bumps and bruises a little more, but he has no fear of speed. "I guess I'd like to go 100 on the straightaway," he said, "or maybe even more. It really doesn't make much difference; I like to go as fast as I can."

But while Ricard's research shows that some of the purses are getting bigger, Eggebraaten is concerned about lower pay-offs for the drivers. "We need a driver association," he says, "because the promoters are taking the top off the revenue the drivers are providing. They used to be happy to break even to promote snowmobiling and have an entertainment event. Now they use racing as a money-making project and the drivers come out on the short end of the stick."

As an example, when Roger Janssen of a previous Arctic team won the world championship several years ago, it was worth about $15,000 in cash and other prizes. This year the winning driver received $2,800.

What does a driver get out of racing snowmobiles? He can hope for first place finishes where the best money and the most prestige is to be found. He can become good enough to be recognized as a top competitor around the country and he can find the opportunity to face a new challenge every time he takes to the track. And he can hope to avoid serious injuries.

World's Best?

There are some who say that Larry Coltom is the best driver in the 340cc class in the world. Among those who say so are

Information On Safety-Health Act Is Offered

Informational meeting on the occupational safety and health act will be held Wednesday at noon at the Thief River Falls golf club. Speaker will be Vernon P. Fern, area director for the U.S. department of labor. Tickets for the noon meal will be $3 each.

The law applies to every employer, including agricultural, and it is the employer's responsibility to be informed of the requirements of the law. In the first five months over $380,000 in fines have been assessed against violators.

Reservations may be made by calling the Chamber of Commerce office or Ihle Insurance agency.

School Board To Meet Tuesday

Meeting of the Thief River Falls board of education will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the superintendent's office at Lincoln senior high school. The session will be followed at 9 p.m. by the initial meeting with the teachers' negotiation council.

Included on the board agenda will be resignations and employment, resolutions, appointment of members to the professional growth committee and reports from Robert Ostazeski, senior high school principal; Dr. Milton Hoff, junior high school principal; and Louis Longtin, superintendent of buildings and grounds.

City Band To Practice Tonight

Organizational meeting of the Thief River Falls Municipal-Legion band will be held tonight (Monday) at 8 p.m. at the city auditorium. Officers and band members are urged to be present for a brief rehearsal.

City band rehearsals are scheduled to start March 6 and will continue throughout the months from March through July. Director of the band this year will be Curtis Bottem, band director at Middle River high school.

County DHIA Meet Tuesday

Pennington DHIA will hold its annual meeting on Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. in the courthouse meeting room. Agenda for the meeting will be the annual report of supervisor Jerry Hamre, election of officers for this year, and a special program on dairy reproduction problems by Dr. Charles Gibson, extension veterinarian from the University of Minnesota. Door prizes and lunch is planned. Wives are invited to attend.

Girl Scout Meet Slated Tuesday

A Girl Scout neighborhood leader's meeting will be held Tuesday at the Rex cafe, beginning at 7:30 p.m. with a flag ceremony.

Mrs. Wallace (Carolyn) Shodean will give a presentation on summer camping. Troop organization for next year will be discussed.

McMullen Urges Use Of Valley Heritage

Speaking on the theme "The Historical Romance of the Red River Valley", J. G. "Mel" McMullen of Winnipeg addressed the annual winter seminar-dinner of the Red River Valley Historical society in Thief River Falls Friday evening. Approximately 50 people from throughout the Red River Valley attended the event.

"We people of the Red River Valley are the beneficiaries of a rich and abundant, priceless heritage, placing us among the most favored people in the world today," McMullen said.

"But through apathy and indifference and self-satisfaction—through lack of awareness of the changes that are taking place around us—or an unwillingness to give of ourselves to preserve our great heritage, we can let these great advantages of life and living slip through our fingers or be whittled away by slow degrees.

"We must be determined to preserve and hold fast to what is good and true and worthwhile and enjoyable for ourselves and for others. Our material success should make it easy for us to give time and attention and money toward preserving those values which give life purpose and meaning and bring happiness and satisfaction," he said.

"We must give attention to the moral fiber and the quality of life we live and are exemplifying as the present and future standard for our children. What can be the possible use of all the material advantages in the world to our young people if they don't learn how to live?

"Quality in life depends upon values. We must know what those values are and make sure that they are preserved," McMullen added. "We must, in an organized way, let other people know about the enjoyments we have which we are prepared to share with them. . .and be

"HELLO DOLLY" is the musical to be presented by the Lincoln senior high school music department on April 7, 8, 9 and 10 in the school auditorium. Rehearsals are now underway under the direction of David Morken. Among the main cast members are the students pictured above. Left to right are, front row, Cam Peterson as Minnie Fay and Joel Kezar as Barnaby; second row, Solveig Swenson as Ernestina Money, Karen Lindquist as Mrs. Molloy, Randy Carlson as Cornelius Hackl, Mike Engen as Ambrose and Lindy Sampson as Ermengarde; top row, Rob Swenson as Horace Vandergelder and Shelley Worner as Dolly.

Skaar and Larson Attend Meeting In Washington

Leonard Skaar and Clair Larson returned recently from Washington, D.C., where they attended the national convention of soil and water conservation districts. Larson represented the Pennington county district, and Skaar, president of the Northwest Minnesota supervisors, represented supervisors from all over Northwestern Minnesota.

After the main convention the group went on a bus tour of the Delaware - Maryland peninsula and also toured the nation's capital. Pollution control and how soil and water conservation districts can assist landowners with the problems was stressed at the convention. Other convention topics included ecology, outdoor recreation and improving the environment.

Property Taxes Due By March 1

First half of personal property taxes are due before March 1 at the office of A. E. Jorgenson, Pennington county treasurer. Berginning on March 1 a penalty will be added to the tax due.

School Workers Vote For Union

Supt. W. S. Corliss has announced that three of four non-contractual employee groups of School District 564, Thief River Falls, voted affirmatively Wednesday on the question: "Do you want the International Brotherhood of Teamsters Local 664 to formally represent you for the purpose of meeting with governmental agencies that employ you regarding conditions of employment?"

The groups voting were bus drivers; a unit of custodians, maintenance and mechanics; a unit of secretaries and clerks; and a unit of food services personnel.

Unit one, food services, voted 13 yes votes and two no votes, a total of 15 ballots.

Unit two, custodians, maintenance and mechanics voted 27 yes and three no votes, a total of 30 votes.

Unit three, secretaries and clerks, voted 11 yes and five no, a total of 16 ballots.

Unit four, bus drivers, voted 13 yes and one no vote but the total represented exactly one-half of the voters. Therefore, in the case of the bus drivers, there is no decision as it is considered a tie vote. The decision will be a mediator's decision as to whether union, non-union or a new vote will be ordered.

"This announcement will need a statement from Vern Buck of the state mediator's office to verify. The present report to the public is simply a tabulation of votes and is public information," Dr. Corliss said.

"On behalf of School District 564 board of education, we would like to compliment Richard

World Day Of Prayer Service Set At Trinity

"All Joy Be Yours" will be the theme of the seventh annual World Day of Prayer observance to be held in Thief River Falls on Friday. Similar gatherings in 169 countries will use the same theme.

The morning service will be held at Trinity Lutheran church and will be sponsored by women of five city churches: Trinity, Zion, Redeemer, St. John Lutheran and United Methodist. The service will begin at 10 a.m. Refreshments provided by all the circles of Trinity, will be served by Mothers circle during the fellowship hours: 9-10 and 11-12 a.m. The nursery will be staffed from 9 to 11:30 a.m. Invitations have been sent to churches within driving distance.

Leading the service will be Mrs. Jonathon Law of the United Methodist, Mrs. Wilbur Hallstrom of Zion Lutheran and Mrs. Everett Marshall of Redeemer Lutheran. They will use the service written by women from 10 countries in Eastern and Western Europe. The message, "Affirmation of Joy" will be given by Rev. James Bernauer of St. Bernard's Catholic church.

A Choir composed of members from several churches, will sing, "Joy is Like the Rain" and "Praise the Lord, Ye Congregations". Mrs. Norman Peterson, United Methodist, will direct the choir and Mrs. Walter Larson, Trinity, will serve as organist. Miss Roxanne Langlie, St. John Lutheran, will sing, "The New Twenty-Third." The closing song of dedication will be by Mrs. Jarvis Prichard of United Methodist.

The offering will be divided between the American Bible society and Church Women United and will be used in rehabilitation work among migrants and refugees in war-torn lands.

All women of the area are welcome to attend. Those unable to attend the morning service may attend the 1:30 p.m. observance to be held at the Assemblies of God Tabernacle. An account of that service will be found elsewhere in this issue.

Those unable to attend either service are asked to set aside a time of prayer for three kinds of separation that tend to drive joy into the shadows: that problems will be eased between young and old who are separated by age and life-styles; that barriers will be broken between strangers (students, migrants and refugees) and that walls of secularization will be torn down between modern people and their God.

Erickson-Peterson Vows Are Exchanged at Warren

Miss Paulette Gwen Erickson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Erickson of Viking, became the bride of Robert John Peterson, Jr., son of Robert Peterson of Warren, at a recent double ring ceremony at the Evangelical Covenant church at Warren.

Rev. Wesley Mathre, pastor of the Zion Lutheran church at Viking, officiated at the ceremony. The organist was Mrs. John Peterson. Mark Swanson, soloist, sang, "The Wedding Song," "The Lord's Prayer," and "Bless This House," accompanied by Ronnie Pearson.

For her wedding, the bride chose a floor-length gown of sheer ivory fashioned with a lace bodice featuring long, full, sheer sleeves. Complementing the gown was a hooded styled, long, sheer ivory cape.

Attending the bride were her sisters: Karen Holmstrom as matron of honor, and Misses Nancy and Peggy Erickson as bridesmaids. They were attired in identical gowns featuring floor-length skirts of deep green velvet, accented by ivory sheer blouses and green velvet hoods. They carried candles decorated with holly.

Alan Peterson of Washington, D. C., attended the groom as best man. Groomsmen were Neil Erickson of Minneapolis and Dave Lindquist of Harmony. The ushers were David Erickson and John Peterson.

Carrying the rings were twin cousins of the bride, Jeff and Joel Erickson. They wore deep green shirts and flared trousers complemented by white knitted vests. Serving as acolytes were Peter and Ricky Erickson.

A reception in the church parlors followed the candlelight ceremony. Birch Yule-logs made by Egbert Malberg, grandfather of the bride, graced the tables.

The three-tiered wedding cake, decorated by Mrs. Oscar Swanson of Newfolden, was served by Mary Erickson, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Duane Denney, aunt of the bride. Serving coffee were Mrs. Egbert Malberg, grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. Ralph Swanson, godmother of the bride. Sally Hill presided at the guest book and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Swanson were reception host and hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Peterson are presently residing in Moorhead. The bride is enrolled at Moorhead State college and is completing student teaching. The couple will be making their home on a farm near Warren.

Sharon Oven Engaged To Gerald Brueggen

Engagement of Miss Sharon Jean Oven to Gerald Brueggen is being announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Oven of Eveleth and formerly of Thief River Falls.

Brueggen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brueggen of Wisconsin Rapids, Wis.

An August 12th wedding at the Resurrection church in Eveleth is being planned.

Snorre Lodge Will Elect Delegates

Delegates to the convention will be elected at the regular meeting of the Snorre lodge, Sons of Norway, to be held Wednesday at the Eagles hall. The meeting is scheduled to begin at 9 p.m. This change in time was made to enable members to attend Lenten services.

Following the business session, a film, "A Heritage Preserved" will be shown. Lunch will be served. All members are encouraged to attend.

Labor costs for marketing farm products account for 47 per cent of the total expense of getting food from farm to consumer, according to agricultural researchers.

Moccasin Club Hears Report On Insecticides

At the regular meeting of the Moccasin Garden club, the guest speaker, Mrs. Dora Handegaard of Hendrum, gave an informative review of her experiences with insect control. She also listed the many kinds of insecticides available.

The meeting was held Thursday afternoon at the Archie Wilson home in this city with president Eva Lindeobeja in charge. She reported on a recent meeting held at her home at which time officers planned the program for the year. Among the special events secheduled were the annual plant sale to be held at the Lendobeja home on May 20, and the third annual flower and garden show for members of the Kratka and Smiley 4-H clubs. The latter event was set for August 14th.

Mrs. Lendobeja also expressed her appreciation to Mary Koglin for making copies of the club program. She presented Mrs. Koglin with a get-well gift from the club.

Lunch was served by the hostess. Present for the lunch, in addition to members of the club and the guest speaker, were Susan Tieman, Julian and Adam Lendobeja and Archie Wilson.

Need Not Kill House Insects, Says Expert

If you've found a bug in your house and can't stand the sight of the creature, get your priorities into calm perspective before you rush off and drown the creature in insecticide.

That's the advice of University of Minnesota Entomologist Jim Sargent who says only one per cent of all insect species are harmful to man because they carry disease, eat food; sting, bite or destroy your home. There are no "bad" insects until man places a value on them, the entomologist maintains.

"Many insects can't live in your home. They got in by accident, and probably would just as soon be back outside if they had the choice. The amount of pesticide you would use to control just a few harmless insects probably would do more harm to you than to the insects," Sargent says.

So if one or two ants appear in your home on a sunny day, don't get shook. The insect is apt to die or disappear in a few hours. If you have questions about insect identification, you may send samples to this address: Extension Entomologist, University of Minnesota, St. Paul, Minn., 55101.

You can use an empty aspirin box or similar container to mail the sample in.

IRS Says Half Insurance Cost Is Deductible

If you itemize your deductions, regardless of age, you must reduce the cost of your drugs by one per cent and other medical expenses by three per cent of your adjusted gross income in determining the allowable medical and dental deduction, the Internal Revenue service says.

One item is deductible without limitation. If you purchased hospitalization insurance, one-half of the premium cost—up to $150—may be deducted without any percentage reduction. Many taxpayers overlook this deduction because their other medical expenses do not exceed the one per cent and three per cent limitations.

When it is to your advantage to itemize your deductions, claim your allowable medical expenses—the limitation-free insurance premium expense and other costs which exceed the percentage limitations.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the Kitchen of

Mrs. Gary Hamness
724 South Markley

It has become customary among some couples that wedding anniversaries are marked by the husband bringing home a rose to mark each anniversary. It is a lovely sentimental gesture. But in the case of Mrs. Gary Hamness, she should get "the whole bush".

The Hamnesses are considered newcomers to Thief River Falls as they moved here recently from St. Paul. Mr. Hamness is employed by Arctic Enterprises and they are members of Trinity Lutheran church. They have three children, Janelle, 7; Jeffrey, 4; and Jarilyn, who will be seven weeks old on Tuesday.

Now imagine, if you will, a neighborhood coffee party with Mrs. Hamness in attendance. Can't you see the raised eyebrows as she mentions that she and her husband are observing their second wedding anniversary on Tuesday? When questioned if the two older children are adopted, she calmly states that they are their own and were born before their first wedding anniversary.

Complicated? Not at all. The Hamnesses were married at Hannaford, N.D., on Feb. 29, 1964. As a hobby, Mrs. Hamness would like to get in contact with other couples who were married on February 29.

Kitchen Karnival extends congratulations as well as appreciation for today's recipe.

Health Dep't. Names Specialist For This Area

In an effort to bring the serivces of the Minnesota department of health closer to local people, the department has assigned an immunization specialist to Duluth. Bruce Rowe will work closely with the St. Louis county health department and have responsibilities in a number of additional counties.

He will help schools in a survey to determine levels of disease protection among their school enterers. He will stimulate the setting up of both short term and permanent immunization clinics, give immunizations when requested and assist in tuberculosis and venereal disease control.

Rowe will cover the counties of Beltrami, Clearwater, Hubbard, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake, Roseau, Aitkin, Carlton, Cook, Itasca, Koochiching, Lake, Pine and St. Louis.

Rowe is a graduate of the University of Minnesota and has been trained by the state health department in immunization procedures, medical epidemiology, tuberculosis control and venereal disease interviewing.

First Aid Tips

Don't be helpless if an emergency arises. Knowing simple first aid procedures can help save lives, according to an article in the new St. Joseph Family Almanac Calendar, available free at your local pharmacy. For major burns, keep the victim lying down to lessen shock. Cut clothing away from the burned area, but don't pull it away if it adheres to the burn. Cover burn with thick pad of sterile dry dressings. If that is not available, cover with clean sheets or towels. Treat for shock if necessary, by keeping the patient lying down with head lower than feet. Cover him lightly. If he can swallow, give warm fluids.

Legion Observes 53rd Birthday During March

During March, 614 American Legion Posts and their corresponding auxiliary units will be celebrating the 53rd birthday of the American Legion, states Glenn H. Dornfeld, Minneapolis, department commander of the Minnesota American Legion.

"Founded by a caucus of American soldiers in Paris, France on March 15-17, 1919, as an organization dedicated to service to their less fortunate comrades-in-arms, their widows and orphans, the American Legion has grown to the largest veterans organization in the world, dedicated to service to the community, state and nation," Dornfeld added.

"114,000 American Legion members, supported by 49,000 American Legion auxiliary members, are vitally concerned with the welfare of the veterans of all conflicts, children and youth, our national security and Americanism. The hundreds of projects in these areas, as well as those community services provided that are of of a local nature, attest to the continued service to America by the former members of the armed forces that served their country in her hour of need, their wives, mothers, sisters and daughters," Commander Dornfeld continued.

"We pause in our activities each year during March, so that the local posts and units may host birthday parties and observances to honor those who have contributed to The American Legion and to their communities by their active personal participation in all phases of American Legion activities," Dorenfeld concluded.

School Workers Vote For Union In Referendum

Learning Center Workshop Set At Warren School

Learning centers is the title of a series of three workshops to be held at the Warren elementary school. The workshops are open to the public without charge.

Each session will run five hours. The first will be March 4, the others March 18 and April 8, sponsored by the Warren public school system and Moorhead state college. Registration will begin at 9 a.m. each session. Moorhead state college will offer one hour of college credit (graduate or undergraduate) for attendance at all three workshop sessions, if the tuition fee is paid.

Teaching strategies of learning centers will be the first workshop topic. These sessions will be led by Mrs. Barbara Gast for the primary grades and David H. Kahl for the intermediate grades. Both of the speakers have had numerous teaching and speaking engagements throughout the country.

This past summer they were both on the summer school teaching staff for the University of North Carolina which was sponsoring an institute on continuous progress and cooperative teaching. Mrs. Gast has hosted several NEA help-mobile workshops including one at Moorhead state college.

Kahl's classroom has recently been filmed and will be featured on National Educational television and CBS television later in 1972. Also Kahl is an elementary education consultant for various towns in New Jersey, Tennessee, Kansas and South Dakota.

A working session will be featured during the second workshop day. This will enable participating teachers to work on materials for use in their own classrooms. Most materials that the teachers would need will be furnished at the workshop.

The last workshop day will concern itself with the "Application of Learning Centers" and "Team Teaching". Dr. Vincent J. Dodge, now principal of Lewis and Clark and Madison schools in Fargo, will be the initial director. Dr. Dodge has been an author of numorous articles and the past president of the National Association of Elementary School Principals.

Additional information may be obtained by writing or calling Mr. Kostka at the Warren elementary school.

GOODRIDGE PTA MEETS WEDNESDAY

Goodridge Parent-Teachers association will meet Wednesday 8 p.m. in the school gym. A movie, "Art Linkletter Speaks Out on a Vital Problem", will be shown. This movie reveals drug abuse. Refreshments will be served following the movie.

Art Linkletter

Goodridge PTA To Show Film On Drug Abuse

"Growing epidemic of drug misuse is on your doorstep." That's the theme for a community action program to combat drug misuse, using the resources already available in this area, putting them to work to develop solutions to the urgent needs.

As part of this community action - oriented program, an hour-long film will be shown on Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Goodridge high school gymnasium.

The film features Art Linkletter, who gives a moving presentation which has stirred emotions and opened many eyes. Linkletter says drug misuse "has become epidemic and we are likely to lose the very young people who will lead this country in the years to come if we do not join to do something about it."

Showing of this film is provided by Aid Association for Lutherans local branch 1695 and the Goodridge PTA. Film showing is free and the general public is invited.

Farmers Union Oil Company At Grygla To Meet

According to Robert Santl, manager of the Farmers Union Oil company at Grygla, there was a 12 per cent growth in petroleum sales and a 13 per cent growth in other products in 1971. Complete details of the 1971 audit report will be given at the annual meeting to be held at 1 p.m. next Monday at the Grygla school auditorium.

Local savings of nearly four per cent were recorded, Santl said, and total savings, including regional savings, were nearly nine per cent. E. E. Bieber, regional marketing director in St. Paul, said, the company's accounts receivable were well within range of good control and that volume per employee went up to nearly $50,000.

Officers and directors of the company are Ordean Anderson, president; Glenn Larson, vice president; Robert Sundberg, secretary - treasurer; and Sam Brattell and Leonard Moe, directors. Sundberg's term expires this year.

Behavior Stems From Causes, Specialist Says

People behave in a certain way for a reason—whether child or adult. Because of this basic truth, parents need to explore the reasons behind an action, rather than react to behavior alone.

When parents ask why a child behaves in a certain manner, they need to consider what they would do or think in a similar situation, states Ronald Pitzer, U of M extension family life specialist. Reactions might be quite similar, given the variance of maturity. Perhaps the child has a need for affection and attention. Possibly he is fearful of a situation or feels insecure for a number of reasons. All forms of behavior have causes, Pitzer says. It's the role of parents to determine the cause so that they can deal with the real problem.

Cooperation Is Education Meet Theme In Mpls.

"Cooperation rather than competition" was the theme of the first meeting of Minnesota vocational school directors, junior college presidents and provosts of the University of Minnesota technical colleges held recently in Minneapolis. Victor Charles, president of Northland state junior college, and Arnt Aune, director of the area vocational - technical school, attended.

Initiated by Dr. John Torgelson, president of Willmar state junior college, the meeting was a response to a charge from the Minnesota Higher Education Coordinating Commission (HECC) that public two-year institutions in Minnesota exert every effort to cooperate in offering educational opportunities to students beyond high school.

The group heard a presentation by Robert Miller, a doctoral candidate at the University of Minnesota in vocational education, and a discussion of the future of Junior college and vocational - technical education in Minnesota chaired by Harold Wilson, president of Itasca state junior college, and Donald Hamerlinck, director of the Wadena vocational - technical school.

One direct resolution to emerge from the conference was that local vocational and junior college administrators would meet monthly to work out methods of inter-school program cooperation. Meetings would be held regionally among vocational, junior college and state colleges with two-year programs before summer, and the entire group would meet again next Fall to draft a report on cooperation progress to present to HECC.

The feeling expressed by the participants, according to Torgelson, "was a very positive one toward mutual cooperation among the institutions to make the optimum use of facilities for the enhancement of educational opportunities for all Minnesotans."

2 Oat Varieties Added To List By University

Two new oat varieties have been added to the University of Minnesota's recommended list for 1972, and a hard red spring wheat from last year is being re-emphasized for this planting season, announces Harley Otto, extension agronomist at the Minnesota agricultural experiment station.

Froker and Diana oats, two high test weight varieties, were added to the recommended list. Diana, an early-maturing variety, is the highest-yielding and most lodging-resistant variety in the early maturing group of oats. It averaged 35 inches in height during testing.

Froker oats has the same maturity as Lodi, and is comparable in yielding ability. Froker is shorter, has better test weight and has higher groat percentage than Lodi, according to Minnesota agricultural experiment station testing.

Era, a new high yielding hard red spring wheat, is recommended for it's excellent yield performance, disease resistance, lodging - resistance, test weight and yield of flour from the wheat. The university tests at three locations showed Era averaging 48 bushels per acre, substantially higher than Waldron at 41 bushels an acre, Chris with 38 bushels an acre and Polk with 37 bushels an acre. The new semi-dwarf, Era, therefore can earn a net profit equal to or higher than other varieties.

Best source of these varieties is from the certified seed growers and seed processors that are listed in the 1972 Minnesota certified seed directory. These directories are available from county agents or by writing to the Minnesota Crop Improvement Association, University of Minnesota, Saint Paul, Minn. 55101.

65 At Workshop On Dependency Held Recently

Chemical dependency workshop held recently in Crookston and Thief River Falls was attended by over 65 registered nurses, licensed practical nurses, nurses aides and orderlies.

Louise Brunn, nursing supervisor of the Meadowbrook treatment center at St. Louis Park, spoke on the topic of "Alcoholism-Disease in Disguise." She explained that nursing staff in a hospital setting must calm the alcoholic and show him they truly care about his well being. She lectured on the use and abuse of drugs by society and the chemical consideration of legal drug dependency.

Ken Tosso, R.N. at the chemical dependency treatment center in Fergus Falls, told how to handle an alcoholic during detoxification and withdrawal.

"Hap" Lindquist, addiction coordinator at the Northwestern Mental Health center in Crookston, spoke on his role as a counselor in the community, his work with the Alcoholic Anonymous groups in the seven counties and the importance of the community resources in treating alcoholics.

RoseMary Henderson, prevention coordinator at the Northwestern Mental Health center, was mistress of ceremonies.

liberal in our invitations and thoughtful in the way we receive our visitors."

Hosting the seminar was the Pennington county historical society in cooperation with the Red River Valley Historical society and Red River Land, NA. Mrs. Inga Geving, president of the county organization, is also a member of the Red River Valley society board and the Red River Valley historical society's educators advisory council.

Presiding at the meeting, held at St. Bernard's Catholic church in Thief River Falls, was Rev. Gerald Foley of Red Lake Falls, president of the RRV society. Canadian and United States national anthems were sung and the invocation was given by Rev. James Bernauer, pastor of St. Bernard's church. Greetings were given by Mrs. Geving; Jon Larson, vice president of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce; and Wilson Green, executive director of the Manitoba Historical society.

Announced as dates to remember were April 28-29, sixth annual spring awards dinner of the RRV society as UDSU in Fargo; June 16, Canadian-American heritage tours; and the month of June when the annual meeting of the society will be held.

Lutheran Social Service Appeals For $3,750,000

Nearly 700,000 Minnesota Lutherans are pooling their faith-in-action concerns in support of the largest fund appeal ever undertaken in behalf of Lutheran social service of Minnesota.

The drive, now under way, seeks $3,750,000 from the members of some 1,640 congregations.

All seven units of the American Lutheran church, the Lutheran Church in America and the Lutheran church - Missouri Synod in Minnesota have endorsed the appeal, the first of its kind for the agency in 17 years.

"There is a new, deep-stirring recognition that Lutheran social service must somehow find new and still better ways of sharing our caring. . .of making love more visible," said Dr. Luthard Gjerde, LSS executive director. "It is in the interest of providing a new reservoir of strength for meeting the challenges and open doors to tomorrow that we are engaged in this major fund appeal."

Of the funds sought in the appeal, the largest amount—$826,311—is earmarked to "match" a federal grant of $473,689 to build a new Bethany Lutheran home for children in Duluth, which serves troubled teenagers.

Other appeal objectives include $600,000 for Lutheran social service; $575,000 for an innovative program of service to unmarried parents and their families; $328,100 for expanding facilities for retarded children at the Vasa Lutheran home for children near Red Wing; $231,256 for indebtedness on agency facilities in Minneapolis; $121,085 for indebtedness on the Lake Park-Wild Rice children's home in Fergus Falls; $75,000 for group living facilities for adult mentally retarded; and $75,000 for new group home facilities for teenage girls.

Dr. David W. Preus, pastor of University Lutheran church of Hope, Minneapolis, and vice president of the American Lutheran church, is general clergy chairman of the appeal. General lay chairman is U.S. Rep. Albert H. Quie, Dennison. Chairman of the special gifts canvass is State Sen. Stanley H. Holmquist, Grove City. Mrs. Claire Holtan, Dawson, is women's chairman.

New Barley Is Developed By University

Cree, a new barley that combines high yield, early maturity and disease resistance has been released by the University of Minnesota's agricultural experiment station.

Cree is being released as a possible replacement for Larker, which is grown on about 85 per cent of the barley acres in Minnesota, and for Dickson.

The primary advantages of Cree compared to Larker are higher yields and better resistance to spot blotch and loose smut diseases. The important advantage compared to Dickson is loose smut resistance.

The new variety yielded higher than Larker and Dickson in five-year Minnesota barley variety trials, according to Donald Rasmusson, university agronomist.

Cree is similar to Larker and Dickson in height and lodging resistance, but is slightly earlier. Kernel plumpness of Cree is inferior to Larker, but slightly better than Dickson.

Cree is described as "highly resistant to stem rust and loose smut and moderately resistant to spot blotch and Septoria leaf blotch" by Ernest Banttari, university plant pathologist.

Results of malting quality tests with Cree have been favorable. Industry has tested Cree since 1968 and a final malting classification probably will be based on tests of the 1971 crop.

Foundation and registered seed is being distributed to certified seed growers in Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota during 1972. Certified seed should be available to farmers for 1973 plantings.

Mondale Urges More Research On Crib Deaths

"Several weeks ago in my report I discussed a mysterious and frightening disease known as 'crib death'—the leading killer of infants between one month and one year old," says Sen. Walter F. Mondale.

"This week I would like to report on steps I am taking to help combat this elusive disease, which claims the lives of at least 10,000 infants each year and causes untold misery for thousands of parents.

"First, I am introducing legislation asking Congress to appropriate adequate funds for research into the causes of crib death, also known as sudden infant death syndrome. Although medical researchers have explored a variety of hypotheses on the causes, none of them has been confirmed.

"These funds also would be used to educate doctors, nurses, social workers, parents and the general public about the nature of the disease and its psychological effects. This educational aspect of the bill is especially important because too many people know little or nothing about crib death," the senator said.

"Some parents of crib death victims testified before my subcommittee on children and youth that they had been accused of negligence and even criminal behavior by public officials who did not understand the nature of the disease. They also told of the shock, guilt and self-incrimination that follow crib death.

"The addition to the appropriation request, I have introduced a resolution urging that crib death be designated as one of the top priorities in awarding government grants for research and training medical researchers. At present, the department of health, education and welfare is supporting only one $46,000 research project aimed specifically at finding the cause of crib death.

"I hope that Congress will approve both these measures. We must begin to attack this disease which strikes silently and unexpectedly at healthy babies who sleep peacefully in their cribs one minute and are found dead there a few hours later," Sen. Mondale said.

Titles Changed By Land O'Lakes Top Management

Voting delegates at the Land O'Lakes, Inc. 51st annual meeting in Minneapolis approved several bylaw amendments, including one that changes the titles of corporate officers and certain staff personnel.

The title of president was changed to chairman. The position is held by Melvin Sprecher of Sauk City, Wis. Vice president titles were changed to vice chairman. William Kerkvliet, Larchwood, Iowa, is first vice chairman and Dan Holtz, Hawick, Minnesota is second vice chairman.

The title of D. H. Henry, chief executive officer of the Minneapolis based farm supply and marketing cooperative, was changed from general manager to president. Former vice president titles will be used to identify other executive staff positions.

Reason for the change in title structure is to enable Land O'Lakes to conduct its business and associations with other companies in a form that is more in keeping with generally accepted business practice.

Once Russian Prisoner Will Be In Greenbush

John Noble will be appearing at the high school auditorium in Greenbush on next Friday, at 8 p.m., Rev. Bob Ludwig reports.

Born in Detroit, Mich., Noble was trapped in Germany during World War II. In 1945 he was falsely arrested by the Soviets and later deported to the dreaded Soviet Arctic slave camps. Surviving nearly 10 years of brutal Soviet salvery, he is one of few American Citizens ever to see the true face of Communism in Russia.

To keep his promise to those still in Soviet slavory, he has traveled through-out every part of America personally telling his story. He has appeared before national radio and television audiences and various Congressional committees, and is the author of two books, "I Found God In Soviet Russia" and "I Was A slave In Russia".

There will be no admission charge to this appearance, but a free-will offering will be received. The public is invited.

E. O. Hagglund Rites To Be Held At St. Hilaire

Erick (Olaf) Hagglund, 86, long-time resident of St. Hilaire, died Sunday at Northwestern hospital.

Funeral services for Erick "Ole" Hagglund will be held Thursday at 10:30 a.m., at Calvary Lutheran church in St. Hilaire with Rev. James R. Swanson officiating.

The body will repose at Sinding's Funeral chapel, beginning Wednesday noon, and at the church for one hour prior to the time of services.

A complete obituary will be in the Wednesday edition of the Times.

The FFA is an organization of students preparing for careers in agribusiness and natural resources. They have a stake in America's future, and so they're getting constructively involved today.

Arctic Racers Ride 'Red Line' To Gain Victory

those who have raced against him. The 27-year-old Strathcona native is the youngest member of Team Arctic but can be classified a pioneer in the racing field. He has been on the Arctic racing teams for five years and has sustained no serious injuries from racing.

"You don't have to win a race in the first corner," he says. "You race a snowmobile with your body, and your head is part of your body. You have to learn to use that to be a successful racer."

But Coltom admits that getting into the number one turn first will win a lot of races. A fast machine with instant response can keep a driver out of a lot of trouble by giving him the acceleration he needs in a tight spot. Most drivers do their own fine turning on their machines, although each Team Arctic racer has a mechanic to help him. Variables such as the weight of the driver, condition of the track, temperature, elevation and other items must all be considered and included in the tuning.

Is Winning Thrilling

After five years of racing on the Arctic team, is winning still as great a thrill as it once was?

Coltom doesn't think so, and not because he is an habitual winner. "It used to be fun when we first started racing," he said. "Now it's work and there is a lot of pressure. There are more good drivers and better machines and everyone wants to win. I feel I am racing for my job. Sure, I like to come in first, but the thrill isn't the same as it used to be."

Thompson Is Manager

Manager of the racing team is Dave Thompson, 29, who gave up a job as an auto mechanic four years ago to go to work with Arctic Enterprises. A former Greenbush resident, Thompson is in charge of arrangements for the team. The drivers give him credit for making the organization function as a team should and keeping morale and cooperation at a peak among the members.

Thompson supervises travel arrangements, transportation for the machines, room reservations, payment of entry fees, parts inventory and other details. The team has a semi-trailer truck which includes a complete parts department, portable equipment including a lathe, generator for electricity and everything else the drivers might need. "We can set up a complete shot in the middle of the field," Thompson said.

This year the racing team and mechanics have been flying to the district races and sending their machines by truck. They generally use two company planes. Each driver has two machines and enters two classes—the maximum daily entry now allowed by the United States Snowmobile association.

This year the Arctic team has raced at West Yellowstone, Mont.; Ironwood, Mich.; Peterboro, Ont., Canada; Eagle River, Wis.; Boonville, N.Y.; Spokane, Wash.; Beausejour, Man., Canada; and Roseau. They have races remaining at Butte, Mont., and the World Series of snowmobiling at Ironwood, Mich. Team members also raced in the Winnipeg to St. Paul 500 race and several have entered smaller races on their own.

In addition to his duties as race manager, Thompson is a full-fledged member of the racing team. In his best year he had winnings in excess of $8,000, but notes that a driver has to win the added money purses or the special races to hit the big money on the race circuit.

Newest Driver

Newest member of the racing team is Ed Mansueto, a New York native who moved to Big Lake after military service and was transplanted to northwestern Minnesota by snowmobile. He raced Polaris machines for Larson - Olson distributorship in Minneapolis before joining the Rosco team at Roseau. After six years on the circuit riding Poalaris machines, this is Mansueto's first year with Arctic Cat.

Eddie has recently been experimenting with a water-cooled Kawasaki engine in the 290cc EXT which he drives. He ran it at Fargo and Detroit Lakes where he gained first place finishes. As advantages, Mansueto lists greater engine dependability and the ability to maintain the power range for a longer duration. As the air-cooled engines get hot they lose power, while the water-cooled engine maintains a more even temperature. Working with Mansueto on the experimental machine is mechanic Duane Graham.

Because of Western Snowmobile association rules which do not permit modifications to alter the appearance of an engine, Mansueto was not allowed to race the water-cooled machine in Spokane, Wash. But he was not one to permit himself idle time.

A youngster at the races had a stock 292 EXT which he wanted someone to race for him. Eddie piloted the sled to a second place finish in the stock class, then gave the boy the trophy and $84 in prize money. The youngster was so thrilled he wouldn't even let Mansueto take the racing numbers off the machine.

Thrills and Spills

Each driver for Team Arctic has many thrills and spills to remember. Coltom says his greatest thrill in racing was two years ago when he ran an alcohol-burning Hirth engine with four carburetors and won both the Mod II and Mod III classes at the World Championships in Eagle River, Wis.

Although never seriously injured, Coltom believes in the USSA rule which requires helmets and shin guards for all drivers plus shoulder pads for drivers in the 650 and 800cc classes. Larry is married, lives at Thief River Falls, has a four-year-old daughter Tamra Lynn and a son Robbie, age one.

Thompson races the 290 and 340cc classes and has fond memories of Lake Tahoe, Nev., in 1970. It was there he won the 340cc class in what was known as the King's Castle race and claimed $5,800 in prize money.

Thompson is married, lives at Thief River Falls, and has five children: Kevin, 8; Chad, 7; Lonnie, 6; Kristi, 5; and Bobbi, 3.

Eggebraaten turned to snowmobile racing after several years of driving stock and super-modified stock cars at Grand Forks and Fargo. He raced independently for three years and joined Arctic two and one-half years ago. Although he normally races in the 650 and 800cc classes, last year he raced in the 440 class a couple of times. At Peterboro, Ont., he injured an ankle which required a cast for nine weeks, and at Butte, Mont., he broke his shoulder. Both injuries were in the 440 class.

Paul is one veteran racer who believes the thrill of winning is still there—partly because the racers and machines are better and the challenge is always great. This year his biggest racing thrill was winning the 800cc class at the Winter Olympus at Ironwood, Mich., with a 650cc machine.

A farmer north of Fisher during the summer, Eggebraaten is married and has a seven-year-old daughter, Denise, and four-year-old son, Dean.

Mansueto is now living on a farm near Newfolden, but hopes to build or buy a home soon. His family includes his wife and sons Mark, 14, and Eddie, 10, and daughters Annette, 13 and Charlene 7.

Eddie's most serious injury was sustained last year in the cross - country race at Rhinelander, Wis. He pulled out to pass a group of machines at the time the course made a right turn, failed to see the turn because of flying snow and went over an embankment. As he was righting his machine, another came over the bank and crashed into him, followed by one more. He suffered pulled muscles down his back, hip and leg, was hospitalized for a week and on crutches for two weeks more.

Ricard is a rugged athlete who lifts weights to keep in condition when not racing snowmobiles or wrestling sod. "I stay in good shape and I never get tired from racing," he said. "I love that Winnipeg to St. Paul race. I'll drive it for another 15 years anyway; it's a lot of fun."

As a racer, Vern has had an abundance of successes. He remembers his first victory in a big race when, in Butte, Mont., he lapped every other driver at least once in a 20-machine feature. In 1968 he won the 400 stock class at West Yellowstone and the 650 class in World's Cup competition at Peterboro, Ont. And he won't forget a weekend in Detroit Lakes when he won the ASA championship, total points championship and claimed seven firsts and a second in eight races entered!

Injuries have also come to Ricard who broke an ankle at West Yellowstone in 1968 and broke "a bunch" of ribs and hurt his back in qualifying for the world's championship at Eagle River last year.

When not on the race track, the drivers are constantly working on their machines in preparation for the next race, getting ready to drive that "red line".

"Anyone who owns a snowmobile likes to see his color win races," the drivers agreed. "It's up to us to put black across the finish line first as often as we can. That's our job, but we like our work. All of us are ready to race again next year. We have a few new ideas we haven't tried out yet."

Name Ostazeski To North Central Advisory Group

Robert Ostazeski, principal of Lincoln senior high school, has been elected to the state North Central advisory committee for a period of three years, his term beginning July 1, 1972.

Ostazeski previously served on this committee after being appointed to fill a vacancy, but now is officially elected to the advisory committee.

North Central association of Secondary Schools and Colleges is responsible for administering the accreditation program in its states to improve secondary education at both the junior and senior high level. It is the key agency for initiating, promoting and implementing plans and policies within the framework of the secondary commission and the association.

The state committee has three primary functions. One is to assure maintenance of accreditation standards established by the policies and criteria and the policies, principles and standards provided for member schools.

Second is to formulate state-level policies in all istances where the state committee has discretionary powers.

Third is to plan and execute, in cooperation with other professional groups, a program of educational leadership as a service to member schools in meeting challenges of current educational problems, and assist in planning.

Other responsibilities are to interpret to member schools the policies and criteria, standards and principles of the commission;

To hold periodic meetings, review reports from member schools and to conduct investigations, needed in making recommendations to the reviewing committees;

To arrange conferences and workshops and other activities designed to acquaint member schools with new developments; to assist schools seeking to stimulate change through consultation and study;

To approve the state committee's annual budget and arrange for its annual audit. This committee also is responsible to arrange for the annual election of committee members. To assist the state chairman in planning for revisitation of member schools as provided by the commission.

Park Stamp Sells Wednesday

Eight-cent Yellowstone Park centennial stamp will be issued Wednesday to observe the park's 100th anniversary. Old Faithful, the park's best-known attraction, will be featured on the stamp, designed by Robert Handville.

All mail requests for first day cancellations should be sent to "Yellowstone Stamp, Postmaster, Washington, C. C. 20013" with proper remittance enclosed. Stamps will be affixed in Washington and one of two cancellations will be applied, "Washington, D.C." or "Yellowstone National Park". The collector should indicate in pencil on the lower left of the envelopes which cancellation he desires.

Explain Laws For Driver's Licenses

According to the large number of inquiries received by the Minnesota department of public safety, there appear to be many questions on the new driver license laws.

Many changes were made by the 1972 legislature affecting chauffeur licensing, classified driver licenses, and non-qualification certificates (ID cards) for non-drivers. Following are some of the questions commonly asked:

They say I cannot renew my driver license by mail. Why not?

Under the new driver license law, all persons renewing their driver licenses must pass a vision test. Even if they bring in a certificate from the eye doctor stating that their vision meets minimum requirements for driving, they will have to come in to have a color photo taken.

I live in a neighboring state and drive a truck in and for a company in Minnesota. Do I need a special license?

The law governing this is subject to various interpretations in different jurisdictions. If this person now holds a Minnesota chauffeur's license, he should renew it again this year to be safe. However, after Jan. 1, 1973, a proper license from his home state valid for the types of vehicles he drives will be acceptable in Minnesota.

My son is overseas with the Army and his driver license is due to expire. Does he have to renew it now?

No. It is not necessary for him to renew until he returns to Minnesota. He then has until 90 days from date of discharge to renew his license.

My boss bought a new truck that has a gross vehicle weight of five tons. Do I need a special license to drive it?

Eventually, you will need a Class C license (valid for vehicles up to 24,000 pounds). Since 1972 is a year of transition from the old to the new laws, it would be advisable to apply for a Class C license—even if your present driver license still is a few years short of expiration. You will need no tests, other than the vision screening. This Class C license will be valid for four years and will cover any single-axle vehicle (including your car) up to 24,000 pounds gross (excluding buses).

I am 18 years old and cannot drive because of an eye defect. Can I get an ID card?

Yes. If you are over 16 and not physically qualified to have a driver license, you may obtain a non-qualification certificate (ID). The charge for this is $3 and it must be renewed every four years.

I just received a new ID card and it expires in four years. I thought they were good for life.

If you are under age 65, the ID must be renewed every four years—just like a driver license. When you have reached age 65, the ID you receive will be good for life—in addition to serving as an ID for free bus rides.

When I apply for an ID must I furnish proof of age?

Yes, since the ID verifies your age, you must furnish proof of date of birth. Any of the following documents are acceptable: Birth certificate, baptismal certificate, passport, medicare card or driver license.

Plummer Girl Gains Honors

Stephanie D. Arntson, daughter of Edward L. Arntson of Plummer, has been elected to Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges.

Miss Arntson, a sophomore at the University of Minnesota technical college, is a major in animal science and will graduate with an associate degree in June. Besides taking part in band, Hosts and Hostesses, Campus Assembly, and Dorm Council, she is also a member of the intercollegiate athletic committee. Those nominating her commended her for her "great personality", hard work, and dedication to her studies.

Selection is based upon leadership in college activities, service to the school, future potential, and academic achievement. Students are first nominated for the honor by classmates and faculty members. After considering each candidate's qualification, the UMC awards committee makes the final decision.

This year there were 26 nominees, from whom 10 were picked. The number chosen is based on the college's total enrollment.

Give and take:

drug rap

By Bob Olander

He's been there.

I got a letter the other day from a teen-aged girl in western Minnesota. She had experimented with drugs. She wrote: "Perhaps I shouldn't be using drugs. But I doubt whether it would matter very much to anyone, anyway."

Because I was a drug addict myself, I had a quick reaction: Self pity, I said.

You can hear this same line in any treatment center, any day. "Everything's so tough for me," it goes. "Nobody cares about me. All the cards are stacked against me. Sure the addict in the other room is getting along fine—better than I am—but that's because he doesn't have it as bad as I do. I am the only real sufferer, and society made me do it."

Nothing new in this sort of reaction. One of Shakespeare's characters in King Lear put it this way: ". . . we make guilty of our disasters the sun, the moon, and the stars: As if we were villains by necessity; fools by heavenly compulsion; knaves, thieves and treachers by sperical predominance; drunkards and liars by the enforced obedience of planetary influence. . ."

Then I read that letter again, and I thought about the people in my own life who did care, and how they helped me. . .after I was ready to help myself.

The thing every addict has to face (whether he's addicted to morphine, alcohol, cigarettes or what) is that he has to DO IT HIMSELF.

But once this decision is made, there are always people around who DO care. . .who DO want to help those who want to help themselves. What people DON'T want to do is listen to other people's troubles, excuses and rationalizations.

I can't prove this (I don't know how it can be proven) but I have the idea that very few addicts, very few alcoholics, very few excons are ever rehabilitated unless they have intense personal relationships with other people who CARE about them.

That's how the AAs work, you know. Every member of the AA is first of all desperately trying to help himself. But he also knows that if he needs help all he has to do is dial seven numbers and someone will come to him, someone who understands and cares. Someone who will talk to him and hold his hand until he gets over his bad time.

So to this girl: There are people who care about you. I don't know anything about your family. But I know a lot about the drug abuse field. There are hundreds of people who care, working in this field in Minnesota. They're not doing it necessarily in institutions, they're not necessarily getting paid for it. If you go to any drop-in center (there's one at the Minneapolis YMCA, just a block from the bus stop) you'll find people who care about you. If you go to many churches, perhaps in your own town, you'll find people who care. You're not the only young person with this kind of a problem. Chances are, there are others like you right in your community. Why not look into what your churches are doing?

I am not sponsoring any particular religious point of view. But I want to call your attention to the fact that in the recent University of Minnesota four-year study on the use of drugs by students, it was shown that students who have an active religious belief are far less likeky to use drugs. I am not pretending to analyze this. You figure it out.

And don't wallow in self-pity. Sure, people care. Lots of them do. But you should also care for yourself. You can always find reasons to sit on the floor, fold your arms and take refuge in drugs. But if you hold out your hand there will always be a human being to grab it and help you up.

Area Livestock Sent To Market

Total of 4,196 head of livestock from eight shipping associations in northwestern Minnesota were shipped to markets at South St. Paul and West Fargo during December, the Central Livestock Cooperative reports.

Following are the individual break-downs for the associations, with numbers in parentheses representing livestock shipped to West Fargo: Erskine, 95 (10); Warren, 224 (1); Greenbush, 44 (358); Grygla, 17 (63); Karlstad, 646 (390); Middle River, 250 (66); Roseau, 948 (357); and Thief River Falls, 727.

National Farmers Union Convention Held In Houston

E. Merton Roley of Marshall county is one of the 10 official Minnesota delegates attending the 70th convention of the National Farmes Union this week in Houston, Tex. Some 250 other Minnesotans are attending the convention.

Included from this area are Dean Velthauer, Red Lake Falls, who will be a member of the panel discussion on livestock at the convention, and Pennington county delegates Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Naplin. Among the Marshall county delegates are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Eastby of Grygla and Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Berg of Thief River Falls.

The delegation is headed by Cy Carpenter, acting president of the Minnesota Farmers Union, who termed the national convention a particularly important one because of the recommendations being developed on proposals for better farm income, rural economic revitalization, property tax relief, protection of the environment and imposition of controls on off-farm corporations in agriculture.

"With farm costs continuing to spiral upwards by four to six per cent a year, farmers simply cannot be left to struggle along with their prices scarcely above the level of 20 years ago," Carpenter said.

World Prayer Services Friday

World Day of Prayer service at the Assemblies of God tabernacle, Friday will start at 1:30 p.m. Mrs. Allen Fadel of the local Evangelical Covenant church and returned missionary to Japan, will be the main speaker.

Special musical selections will be provided by ladies of the First Baptist church and Our Savior's Lutheran church. Mrs. Kermit Jordet of the Faith Lutheran Brethren church will give the devotions.

Pianist for the service will be Mrs. Floyd Dalzell of the Evangelical Free church. Nursery facilities will be provided. A time of fellowship will follow the service.

Si Hanson Will Attend Mutual Service Meet

Si Hanson is among those selected as delegates to the 1972 annual meeting of Mutual Service insurance companies, and represents Consumers Cooperative association of Thief River Falls.

One of the largest annual gatherings in the upper midwest, the meeting will be held March 7 and 8 in downtown Minneapolis.

James R. Humphrey, vice president, casualty division, will direct the panel on "no-fault" automobile insurance. With him will be Edward E. Slettom, executive director of the Minnesota association of cooperatives; Charles T. Hvass, a nationally-recognized Minneapolis trial attorney; and Minnesota state Senator Jack Davies.

Davies is the sponsor of the "no-fault" bill introduced to the Minnesota state legislature. Roman Eller, company president, is expected to announce a board of directors' decision to support a modified "no-fault" insurance program for Mutual Service.

Memorials Given To Heart Fund

Gifts to the Heart fund in memory of Miss Mathilda Koop, late resident of Thief River Falls, were made last month and will be used for research into the causes and control of heart disease, it was announced today by David Drotts of Thief River Falls, memorial gifts chairman of the Pennington county association.

Crime Up By Nine Per Cent For Minn. In '71

One Minnesotan in 27 was the victim of some kind of crime during 1971, a preleminary statistical report by the criminal apprehension division of the Minnesota department of public safety indicates. The bureau reported a crime rate of 3701 offenses per 100,000 population.

However, more than one-third of the offenses were in the category of larceny under $50, all larceny accounted for 60 per cent of the total, and all crimes against property accounted for more than 95 per cent.

Crimes of violence, including murder, manslaughter, rape, aggravated assault and robbery totaled 164 per 100,000 and accounted for less than five per cent of all criminal acts. All violent crime except robbery increased substantially more than the overall average increase of nine per cent over 1970. Robbery showed a decline of 13 per cent in 1971.

More than half the robberies occurred on highways, streets and alleys. In 307 cases, residences were invaded. There was 15 bank robberies of which five were cleared by arrests. Of $119,400 taken from banks, $50,785 was recovered.

Urban areas accounted for nearly 90 per cent of all criminal activity, and Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth for about 43 per cent.

Of 13,027 automobiles stolen in 1971, 10,864 were recovered, most of them in the same jurisdiction in which the thefts occurred.

The Wage-Price Freeze seems to be on the right track. Let's hope it doesn't belong to Penn Central.

HARWOOD RETURNS!

If you were old enough to drink back in the late 40's, chances are you remember Harwood with respect, if not affection. A fine rich Canadian with its own ideas about quality. But just about the time you began to enjoy it, we disappeared. We apologize. You see, our production at that time was limited, so reluctantly we decided to keep most of it at home.

Since we went away, more Americans have developed a taste for Canadians, today's Canadians, the lighter ones. And we have developed a way to supply them with one we can truly call Harwood. Lighter, yes. Lesser, no.

Now that we are returning to America, with all due modesty, we trust America will return to us.

Especially as Harwood costs no more than those Canadians-come-lately.

Getting Involved

Some people would have us believe that there is a wave of involvement sweeping across the land, moving our young people to participate in political activity to a great degree and showing high student interest in things which may affect them.

There was increased interest by young people in the Pennington county precinct caucuses last week, and that is encouraging. It is good that our young people should learn the inner workings of our government by practical participation. They will benefit from the varying tastes of political victory and political defeat.

And while the 18 to 21 crowd will likely be reflected in the vote totals next November, we scarcely expect it to materially affect the outcome of many elections. For while the vocal element of the younger set attracts considerable attention, there is most frequently more noise than action.

For instance, at the University of Minnesota last year only 6,024 students voted in the election for student body president. That is only 14 per cent of the student body—in an election for the president to represent that student body directly. One could scarcely call that an overwhelming turnout.

All But Morality

Following editorial is from the Walsh County Record at Grafton, N. D.:

Newsweek's feature story on America's venereal disease epidemic (Jan. 24) suggests almost every possible way of stopping the spread of venereal disease, except morality.

The Newsweek story does not indict the promiscuity responsible for syphilis and gonorrhea. Newsweek merely reports that these infectious diseases are outranked only by the common cold. VD is now first among the so-called reportable diseases. The number of cases each year exceeds those of strep throat, scarlet fever, measles, mumps, hepatitis and tuberculosis combined. This year there will be more than two million new U.S. cases of gonorrhea. The national rate is ten times higher than that of France, well over twice that of Britain.

What makes the horrendous VD empidemic hard to comprehend for Newsweek is that these diseases "can be cured with penicillin and other antibiotics." The Newsweek writers are virtually stunned with disbelief that science could possibly let them down; that science could be stymied by the new freedoms of the sexual revolutions.

Newsweek studiously avoids interpreting this epidemic in terms of a moral breakdown, of a failure to live according to the Ten Commandments. Nature has its laws and sanctions. Fire will burn you. Ice will freeze you. Promiscuity will infect you. The article admits that syphilis when untreated can lead to insanity and death. However, it would seem to be against the magazine's taboos to reprehend the behavior that causes syphilis.

The moral teaching of the Christian faith, when observed, is the solution to this epidemic. Observance of these teachings is still far more effective than science for putting an end to VD, because it prevents the cause. Faith is the ounce of prevention worth more than that pound of scientific cure. The VD epidemic will continue until this is realized.

Why Farm Wives Are Beautiful

Couldn't help but chuckle at the irony in this item which appeared in a current issue of the Dairymen Digest, published by AMPI:

When the hot water from washing milking machines hit the cold milkhouse floor this morning, the milkhouse filled with steam. And I thought, "This is as good as a steam bath in one of those expensive beauty salons."

In the next hour and a half as I finished the chores, it became clear to me that our farm is an "unrecognized beauty parlor."

There is no need to mention all the fresh air and sunshine necessary to beauty that we farm wives get. Nor will I dwell on exercise. Farm wives get plenty of exercise, both the physical kind (lifting, pulling, shoveling and pitching) and the mental kind (lifting spirits, pulling with her husband, pushing herself to finish a weary day, shoveling ideas as she tries to keep abreast of the world, pitching into community affairs). As for good nourishing food, our own gardens and farm animals produce an unbeatable variety.

But think of the added features. For instance, the milk bath. This is the one you get as you try to teach a new calf to drink—and he gives the bucket a good butt with his head. Suddenly, you are bathed in milk—head to foot.

There is also the soft water bath—when the cows finally have turned around and are headed for home, and a sudden shower hits; or when you are chasing cows through a dew-laden cornfield early in the morning, and the wet cornstalks slap at you as you run. (This might be called the kiss of dew.)

Then there are the mud packs. A farm wife never knows when she will be getting one. It may happen while she is carrying feed to hungry pigs, or chasing a fresh heifer through a muddy barn yard. One foot stumbles across the other. Presto the mud is applied. And if it should be an hour or so before she can get back to the house, boy, how it can pack!

The farm also does something for our hair. After hours in the sun on a tractor, blond streaks may highlight our coiffure. After years of concern over bills, weather and crops, lovely streaks of gray add mature beauty. And nearly every day, the wind rearranges our hair style.

Finally, there's the flush of color the brightens our cheeks. It comes often—when removing hot pies or bread from the oven; when hurrying through a day's work in half a day so we can attend a meeting or an auction sale; or when helping your husband get the barn cleaned so he can fill silo earlier.

That lovely flush may also come when a former classmate in her matching stretch pants and mohair sweater drives in the yard—and you have on your husband's jeans, have just finished feeding pigs and are trying to get the dishes done before anyone comes.

When the chores were finished and I returned to the house this morning—to undone breakfast dishes, unmade beds and dinner planned around a package of frozen meat—I laughed to myself as I thought, "You've had your beauty treatment of the day. Now get to work!"

What's Good For The People . . .

Richard G. LeMasurier, publisher of the Paynesville Press, expressed alarm in a recent editorial regarding exemption of federal, state and local governments from restrictions of Phase II price controls.

"When the government can impose serious wage and price restrictions on its people, and then exempt itself from these restrictions, the threat of total governmental control looms dangerously close overhead," he said.

The publisher referred to a statement by George O. Lethert, district director for the internal revenue service in Minnesota. Lethert noted that regulations allow federal, state and local governments to adjust prices on any work, service, publication, facility, license or other similar items of value performed, furnished or issued by the governmental unit.

"Such a large percentage of a person's income is spent on taxes, tuitions, license fees and other governmental charges it is disastrous to let these increase at will while a business or individual's income must remain stable," he said.

He notes that such governmental expense will become a greater percentage of the costs a family must face. "It is obvious runaway inflation on government charges cannot be withstood by families who can't get raises, or business that can't raise prices," he said.

The editorial concludes as follows:

Inflated government costs are as harmful as increased labor demands in pricing American industry out of business. Already, many Minnesota firms are moving to other states because of our state's anti-business climate, and when no states are favorable for business, these industries will move right out of the country.

A fair economic stabilization program, one that will work, is a program where costs for individuals or business are froze along with wages and prices; such a freeze would include taxes, fees and all government charges.

It is unnerving to watch the government do exactly as it wishes with total disregard of the financial welfare of its people. Once a government has control of its people financially the people's ability to influence their own destiny is diminished, because nothing speaks quite so loudly in this country as money.

While 'total government control' might be a bit too '1984-ish', it cannot be denied the governmental exemption to the wage—price freeze carries serious political implications for the future of this country.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Last night I attended a party caucus—for the first time in my plus forty-year lifetime. It was a truly exhilarating, truly maddening, educational and exciting experience. Right now maddening—meaning anger-creating—is foremost in my mind. Speak of a generation gap! In my opinion it's so obviously the older generation causing it!

The numbers of those below and above 35, in our precinct, were quite even—with perhaps a few more under 35's. I felt that the young people began with an aim for courtesy—the adults began with a chip on their shoulders. Shouldn't these adults have been wise enough to anticipate that there'd be so many young people? Shouldn't they have come prepared to be—if anything—overly courteous and cautious—rather than so obviously hostile?

These young people came with an eagerness to do something to improve conditions in our nation that should be mimicked by every American. I truly believe todays youth are much better informed, and above all, more idealistic than my generation was in its youth—or even is now.

Let's come with hearts, minds and ears willing to LISTEN, to speak softly, to try to understand, to have our own sights lifted and to put DEMOCRACY INTO ACTION and in so doing—maybe we can at least begin to close that generation gap!

Sincerely,
A Concerned Citizen

LeSueur is a comfortable community of 3,800 nestled in the lush Minnesota river valley above St. Peter. It has given the world two renowned names—Green Giant and Mayo.

Both entities were born in the same, small, frame home at 118 North Main street in LeSueur. In 1859, Doctor William W. Mayo moved into the house which was eventually the birthplace of his first son, William J. When the family moved to Rochester, the second son, Charles J., was born and the two young men ultimately became the founders of the Mayo clinic.

Following the departure of the Mayos from LeSueur, the house was inhabited by C. N. Cosgrove, founder of the Upper Valley Canning company. This firm later became and now-famous Green Giant company.

Little historic significance was attached to the modest house until 1932 when the local newspaper and civic leaders asked for its restoration. Soon the Doctors Mayo re-purchased the home and presented it to the city of LeSueur which adapted it for use as a public library. C. N. Cosgrove himself delivered the dedication speech.

Today a new library serves the community and the house has been preserved as the home of the Mayos, with original family furnishings and memorabilia.

And with this tourist attraction, of course, are the Green Giant canneries themselves which attract thousands of visitors each year who learn that the valley of the Jolly Green Giant is a real place.

In this picture-book valley is the rich loam of LeSueur county which is scientifically farmed to provide international food markets with pre-cooked, canned and frozen vegetables. An endless ocean of green, the valley's crops are raised on a precision planting - to - picking schedule so exacting that from plucking to packaging consumes a time of less than five hours.

In short, LeSueur's unique contributions to the history and economy of Minnesota make it a worthwhile place to visit this spring.

The American Conscience

by Dr. RUDY SKOGERBOE

Americans usually don't like government regulations. The FDA (Federal Drug Administration), however, is one agency that has performed well in making safety a trade mark in the drug industry. With the growth of government influence in all of American life, there is a growing danger in this once unquestioned part of our government agencies. These are the increased regulations that are not directly involved with the use of safety of drugs, but rather an attitude of beaurocratic controls that cause unnecessary delays in allowing drugs to reach the public.

To be specfic, I will mention only two drugs. RIFAMPIN which is a new anti tuberculosis agent, was held off our markets for more than two years while it was used safely in England and France. Another drug called BETHANIDINE is still held up with restrictions concerning its name. This is a drug used to lower blood pressure and has particular advantages because it has a shorter action than others used for this purpose. It has been on the market in England since 1963, but our doctors are denied its use.

From personal experience, I know of several drugs that have been taken off the market which are not only good combinations, but which by their double or triple nature are cheaper than buying the ingredients separately. Now these are drugs that have stood the test of clinical practice and time and for the FDA to stop them was their legal right, but it was not to the patient's advantage.

There are many liberal politicians that criticize the high cost of medicine care and this is necessary. One way they mention to cut costs of drugs is to use generic names only. By this is meant the chemical name and not the trade name. I know many doctors write generic prescriptions to save their patients money and this is often necessary and good. Where I disagree with the social planning idea in this regard is to make it compulsory to write for generic name drugs only. Today our country leads the world in the production of new drugs. This is due in a large measure to patent laws that protect a new drug from being duplicated for 17 years after it is discovered and developed. This pays the company involved for its research and development costs. It is absolutely necessary for the continuation of free research.

What happens when the patent laws are removed? In Italy this was done in 1939. Since that time there has not been a single new drug of any importance produced in Italy. The government has taken over its research.

With this object lesson in mind, help your elected representatives keep in mind any new and more restrictive regulations on our drug industry. I think a drug industry that could take the tetracyclines, for example, which is a widely used antibiotic, and reduce its cost to the consumer from 65 cents a pill to less than 10 cents a pill in spite of inflation and increased costs is a terrific example of competition and free enterprise. Under a generic prescribing this would not have happened. Italy had no special corner on stupidity, but its sad performance in the drug industry is not the people but the system.

We're back to the old thing again which is that the government way is not always the best way.

Do you really want your brother-in-law to know how much you earned last year?

Of course not. It's nobody's business but your own.

However, annually millions of taxpayers bear this kind of personal information to people who really shouldn't know. For what? Just so they can save a few dollars doing their income tax.

That's some price to pay.

You see, for only a few dollars more than it costs to do it with any amateur who might not know that work clothes in some instances are deductible, or that income averaging might save tax dollars, you can have your tax return done by a specially trained member of the H & R Block team with complete confidentiality. There are thousands of them in over 6,000 conveniently located offices. H & R Block's fees start at $5 and the average cost was under $12.50 for the 7 million families we served last year.

Furthermore, if your return is audited we will accompany you, at no extra cost, to the Internal Revenue Service and explain how your return was prepared, even though we will not act as your legal representative.

This means that H & R Block is ready to offer you year 'round tax service for just one low fee a year, with no extra charge for audits and estimates. Yes, we cost a little bit more than your relatives or friends or neighbors but when you think of what we deliver, you can't afford anything less than H & R Block.

DON'T LET AN AMATEUR DO H&R BLOCK'S JOB.

Green Wave Surprises TRF 4-2 In Region First Round

Led by the outstanding play of veterans Gordy Hagsleben and Lynn Olson, East Grand Forks opened the 28th annual region eight hockey tournament with a stunning 4-2 upset win over pre-tourney favorite Thief River Falls in the sports arena Friday evening.

Hangsleben was practically unbeatable in the Green Wave nets as the lanky senior kicked out 26 Prowler shots, including numerous excellent scoring opportunities for the Prowlers, in the exciting high-pitched game. Olson paced the Green Wave offense as the slender senior collected the hat trick and assisted on the other Wave score as East Grand Forks avenged two regular season losses to the Prowlers.

East Grand Forks controlled the action in the early stages of the game as Olson scored twice in the first period for a 2-0 Green Wave lead. Olson picked up a loose rebound just to the left of Prowler goalie Pete Sullivan and fired home the game's first goal with 10:48 remaining. Dale Pesch and Bill Mero were given assists on the play.

The same threesome conbined to give the Green Wave a two-goal advantage on an "East Side" power play. Beautiful passing by the Wave found Olson standing all alone in front of the Prowler net with 2:32 left in the first period.

Prowler defenseman Tom Wurst cut the Green Wave lead to 2-1 as he picked up a loose puck in front of the Wave net and sent home a floating shot that glanced off a Wave defenseman for an unassisted goal with 1:49 remaining.

The goal inspired Thief River Falls into playing their best hockey of the night in the last minute and half of the first period as the Prowlers just missed on several point blank shots.

Although the Prowlers seemed to catch fire near the end of the first period, the intermission seemed to cool the Thief River Falls attack off as the Green Wave stromed back in front 3-1 with 9:14 remaining in the second period. Junior Dave Flom scooped the puck from underneath a fallen Prowler and skated in on Sullivan alone before letting loose with a hard wrist shot from ten feet. Olson and Mero assisted on the score.

Off target passes and forsaken shots hindered the Prowler attack throughout the game while Hangsleben continued to thwart any Thief River Falls comeback hopes. The Wave netminder turned in an outstanding play in the third period when he stopped a two-man Prowler breakaway with 11:47 remaining in the game.

Senior wing Rory Anderson tipped in Gary Burstad's hard slap shot from the point to cut the Wave lead to just 3-2 with 4:06 remaining as the two long time rivals battled furiously in the waning moments of the game.

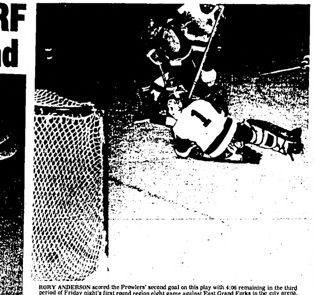
Wave wing Guy Monson was whistled off the ice for holding with 2:03 left, with the Prowlers drawing a face-off just to the left of Hagesleben. Prowler head coach John Schmitz elected to go with six attackers against the four GreenWave defenders as he pulled Sullivan before the face-off.

For a few quick moments the Prowlers controlled the play in the "East Side" end until Olson picked up the puck up at center ice and slid the disc into the open Prowler net with 1:48 remaining, insuring the Green Wave win.

Sullivan kicked out 24 Green Wave shots in the game, eight in each period. Hagsleben stopped 11 Prowler drives in the first stanza, six in the second and nine in the final period.

The loss was an abrupt end to the season for the Prowlers who waltzed through the regular campaign with a 15-5 won-loss record. East Grand Forks will advance into tonight's first semi-final game at 7 o'clock against Detroit Lakes.

EAST GRAND FORKS wing Dale Pesch couldn't quite get his stick on the puck on this play in front of the Thief River Falls net as Prowler goalie Pete Sullivan reaches back to make the save during second period action in the Green Wave's stunning 4-2 win in the region eight quarter-finals.



RORY ANDERSON scored the Prowlers' second goal on this play with 4:06 remaining in the third period of Friday night's first round region eight game against East Grand Forks in the city arena. Green Wave goalie Gordy Hangsleben looks back over his shoulder to see the puck in the net as the Prowlers cut the Wave lead to 3-2, before "East Side" posted a 4-2 triumph.

Lakers Trim Bears 5-4 In Overtime to Reach Semi's

Detroit Lakes' strong skating Lakers advanced into tonight's region eight hockey semi-finals against East Grand Forks with a thrilling 5-4 sudden death overtime win over Hallock in Friday's second quarter-final game in the Thief River Falls sports arena.

The Lakers gained the face-off starting the eight-minute overtime stanza and controlled the play, holding Hallock without a shot on goal, until junior wing Bob Steinmetz poked in a rebound past Hallock goalie Tom Woodard with 1:18 elapsed.

The two teams of contrasting styles battled on even terms throughout the regulation periods as they tied 1-1 after the first period before Detroit Lakes took a 4-3 lead going into the third.

The hard hitting Hallock sextet tied the game 4-4 on Scott Pearson's third goal of the game with 11:51 remaining in regulation time. The smooth skating Pearson maneuvered past a pair of Laker defensemen and sent a backhand into the high corner of the net for an unassisted goal to tie the game 4-all. Neither team seriously challenged the rest of the way however, as penalties hindered both offenses.

Detroit Lakes grabbed a 1-0 first period lead when Steinmetz skated from behind the Hallock net and sneaked the puck in on the short side for an unassisted goal with 11:57 remaining.

The Bears tied the game with 2:00 remaining in the first period when junior defenseman Roddy Gustafson fought his way through two defensemen and scored from close range on an assist from Dave Bergh.

Pearson scored his first goal with 10:12 remaining in the second period when his sizzling slap shot from the left side put the Bears on top 2-1. Hallock was skating a man short at the time of Pearson's unassisted score.

The Bears went on top 3-1 on Pearson's breakaway down the left wing with 8:05 left. Sophomore defenseman Dave Money assisted on the Hallock power play goal.

Just when it seemed as if Hallock was on the verge of pulling away, the Lakers stormed back with two goals in a 19 second span. Flashy junior Tom Evans cut the Hallock lead to 3-2 on his screaming 20-foot shot with 7:44 remaining and Bill Halbakken steered in a perfect lead pass from Jeff Caulfield with 7:25 left to tie the game 3-3.

The Lakers grabbed a 4-3 advantage with just 32 seconds remaining in the second period when freshman Mike Neltzke lifted the puck over the fallen Woodard on a scramble in front of the Bear net.

Woodard kicked out 23 Laker shots in the game while Detroit Lakes goalie Dan Carlson stopped 26 Hallock drives. Referees Serge Gambacci and Ron Gentz whistled 13 penalties in the game with Hallock being called for eight infractions.

Warriors Rip Moorhead 9-2 In Region 8 Action

Warroad jumped out to a 4-0 first period lead Saturday night as the Warriors overwhelmed Moorhead 9-2 in the final first round game in the region eight hockey tournament in the city arena.

Dick Roberts' Warriors received two goals each from Les Sutherland, Dave Kvarnlov and Deric Balagus while Bob Fish, Scott Marvin and Bob Storey added single markers as Warroad raced to a 9-0 bulge before the Spuds got on the scoreboard with two goals the last five minutes of the game.

The Warriors had little trouble with the out-manned Spuds in the first period as they took just 1:57 to score the game's first goal. Warroad broke open for a three on one rush with senior wing Bob Fish drawing the lone Spud defender to the left side and slipping the puck in front to senior Tim McKinnon for the easy goal.

Balagus finished the first period scoring with a slap shot from the right point, on an assist from McKinnon with 3:55 left.

Moorhead's defensive play tightened up considerably in the second stanza as the Warriors fumbled through a scoreless period until Storey tipped in a centering pass from Ron Johnson with just one minute remaining in the middle canto.

The Warrior offense ignited once again in the third period as Warroad scord at will to post a 9-0 lead.

Balagus collected his second goal with 12:37 remaining when Sutherland set him up with an excellent centering pass for a 6-0 Warrior lead. Fish upped the margin to 7-0 with a close range backhand with 9:02 left.

Kvarnlov scored his second goal of the night with 6:49 remaining as he slipped a loose puck into the short side of the net. Just 39 seconds latter the Warriors led 9-0 as Sutherland slipped between two defensemen to score from close range.

Moorhead finished the game by picking up two breakaway goals by Jay Carlson and Rick Perry as the Warroad defensive unit slacked off. Carlson skated behind a Warroad defender to beat Schnurr from close range with 4:47 left and Perry scored on a three man breakaway with 4:01 remaining.

Moorhead goalies Bill Noonan and Dave Morinville combined to kick out 29 Warrior drives while Schnurr stopped 16 Moorhead shots on goal.

Steve Thorstad Decisioned In State Meet

Lincoln high school senior Steve Thorstad suffered an 11-4 set back at the hands of Brad Ustice of Waseca in the first round of the 180-pound division of the Minnesota state high school wrestling tournament Thursday night in Minneapolis.

Eustice lost 13-2 to Tim Wilmes of Osseo in the quarter-finals, eliminating Thorstad from any possible consolation round matches.

Two other district 31 champions also tasted first round defeats as 112 pound Loren Mitchell of East Grand Forks lost 10-0 to Bob Bezedichek of LeCenter and 128 pound Murray Tiedeman lost 8-4 to Lem Theis of Cold Spring.

The best performance turned in by the twelve eight champions entered was the fourth place finish gained by 98 pound Mike Hanlon of Bagley. Hanlon defeated Gene Shaw of Faribault 10-2 in his first round match added a 12-2 triumph over Mark Bendson of Staples before losing in the semi-finals.

St. James won the team title without the benefit of an individual champion as the Knights collected 59½ points to runner-up Osseo's 49½.

EGF Wins Big Five

East Grand Forks captured the Big Five Conference championship Friday night by nipping Crookston 75-74 in a thrilling game that went right down to the last second.

East Grand Forks finished with a 7-1 league record while Thief River Falls took second at 6-2 and Crookston slipped to third at 5-3.

With East Grand Forks up by three points, Crookston made two free throws with five seconds left, then stole the ball for a last shot, only to miss it with two seconds remaining.

The Green Wave roared to a 28-18 first quarter lead before Crookston whittled away at it in the second and third quarters, getting up the hectic finish.

Announce Polar All-Conference

League champion Fisher and runner up Goodridge each placed three men on the Polar All-Conference team announced by conference officials.

Named from Fisher were Pete Anderson, Mark Kummer and Kent Gunderson while Aldon Hyland, Fred Parnow and Harlen Iverson were tabbed from Goodridge. Iverson, a junior, was the only underclassman picked on the ten-man honor squad.

Rounding out the selections were Randy Boman and Rahn Farder of Alvarado, Mark Mondry of Oslo and Lowell Arlt of Plummer. Red Lake Falls was the only conference team without a selection on the squad.

Anderson, Gunderson, Hyland and Farder are repeaters from the 1971 All-Conference team.

Prowler Defense Shines In 87-34 Big Five Win

Thief River Falls experimented with a new defense Thursday night, and the new formula worked so well that the Prowlers limited Warren to a mere seven points in the first half enroute to an 87-34, Big Five Conference basketball win in the Lincoln gym.

So effective was the Prowler combination of a full court press and a zone defense that the Ponies were able to connect on just three field goals in the first half. The Ponies helped the Prowler cause with some terrible free throw shooting as the Prowlers raced to an astonishing 56-7 lead at intermission.

The win raised Thief River Falls to 15-5 for the season, marking the best regular season record the Prowlers have posted since a 15-3 slate during the 1960-61 campaign. The Prowlers are now idle until the district 31 tournament scheduled March 6, 7 and 8 at the University of North Dakota fieldhouse.

Unlike the Ponies, whose inability to break open a zone defense proved to be the turning point of the game, the Prowlers found openings inside Warren's zone early in the game as an all senior line-up of Rande Smith, Tom Kays, Lee Sorensen, Randy Carlson and Warren Seaverson built a 7-0 lead with 6:03 remaining in the first quarter.

Warren finally averted a shutout when senior guard Jeff Norman's long range jump shot put the Ponies on the board with 5:37 left. But it wasn't until 5:17 later that Warren scored again when senior forward Bruce Schantzen scored on a short jumper with just 20 seconds remaining in the first canto.

In between the two Warren shots the Prowlers reeled off 13 straight points behind the deadly outside shooting of Carlson as the Prowlers zoomed to a 22-4 first quarter lead.

The Prowlers' regular starting five, Ordean Peterson, Kent Smith, Jeff Rhoden, Rande Smith and Tom Kays smothered the Ponies without a point for 6:37 of the second quarter as the Ponies rarely picked up a rebound after one of their long desperation shots.

The Prowler fast break, resulting from constant Warren turnovers caused by the press, ran up a 47-4 lead before Warren guard Mike Nicholls connected from deep in the corner with 1:23 remaining in the half. The Prowlers went in front 54-6 until sophomore guard Bob Nelson was given three chances on a one shot foul with 18 seconds remaining. Two lane violations by the Prowlers offered Nelson three tosses as the Ponies scored their third, and last, point of the second quarter.

Warren went 2:34 of the third quarter before scoring as the Prowlers built an unbelieveable 64-7 lead. The Ponies did manage to double their entire output of the first half with 14 points against a man to man defense in the third quarter, but the Prowlers still built their biggest lead of the game in the stanza, 77-17 with 40 seconds remaining.

Senior center Rande Smith led the Prowlers with 22 points and 20 rebounds while Kays and Rhoden each added 17 points. Rhoden also pulled down 10 rebounds. Schantzen scored 19 to lead Warren's inept attack while Norman added 10.

Thief River Falls shot 54 per cent from the field, hitting 31 of 57, and 72 per cent from the free throw line on 23 of 32. Meanwhile, Warren managed to connect on just four of 11 free throw tosses and just 35 per cent of their field goals. Thief River Falls held a 51-18 rebound advantage.

Men's City Cage Games Continue

Action continues tonight (Monday) in the second evening of the men's city league basketball tournaments in the Washington grade school gym.

The first game will find the Bethany Bookstore playing the jr. college at 7 p.m. Second game will be between the Jaycee's and the Elks at 8. On Wednesday the winner of the Bethany Bookstore game and jr. college will play the top team in the league, Newfolden. This game is scheduled for 7 p.m.

So far in tournament action the Bethany Bookstore and jr. college are the only teams with one loss. Each team is allowed two losses before they are out of the tournament.

Seventh & Eighth Grade Basketball

Knicks	8	0
Lakers	4	3
Bucks	3	4
Globetrotters	3	4
Kings	0	7

Going into the final week of action, the Knicks have sewed up the Franklin junior high school seventh and eighth grade basketball title with a perfect 8-0 record.

The Knicks added their eighth victory Saturday with a 40-20 win over the last place Kings as Brian Peterson's 14 points paced the winners. Jay Naverud's 12 points led the Kings.

The Lakers edged the Globetrotters 24-23 in a battle of second place teams as Don Forney sank a free throw with 49 seconds remaining to break a 23-23 tie. Kevin Swanson and Forney led the Lakers with 10 and 9 points respectively while Mark Folkedahl scored 8 for the Globetrotters.

In Saturday, March 4, action the Bucks will face the Lakers at 9:30 and the Globetrotters will play the Kings at 10:30.

Coach Don Hejlik has been working with the boys since November 20, stressing basic fundamentals of ball handling and shooting. A special emphasis has also been placed on the importance of defense.

Former Thief River Falls resident Billy Bye holds the University of Minnesota football record for the longest run from scrimmage, 81, set during the 1946 season.

The region eight basketball tournament will be held at the University of North Dakota fieldhouse March 17 and 18.

State Foresters Always Busy

By Brian L. Garvey
District Forester Department of Natural Resources

One question often posed to foresters is "What does a state forester do during the winter months?"

There are two commonly accepted stereotypes of the forester and his job. One is that he spends spring, summer and fall fighting forest fires or sitting in a lookout tower looking for one. The other is that when winter snows arrive, he either fades into some form of limbo or goes into hibernation with the forest animals.

Of course, both are grossly inaccurate, especially the latter.

Throughout the state and particularly in the northern and southeast timber ranges, a forester's work load often increases during winter. Minnesota timber is most often harvested during winter because areas that were wet and inaccessable earlier, are now frozen over. This enables foresters and timber operators to get to these remote areas.

With the increase in logging, there follows, of course, an increase in timber sales. State timber sales take a great deal of a forester's time. Timber stands must be evaluated and volume estimates made. Individual sale boundary lines must be marked. The sales must be supervised and the wood that is cut, whether it be sawlogs, pulp, posts, firewood or even Christmas trees, must be tallied in some way.

Timber sales must be well planned to insure a continued supply of timber for the future. Ages must be taken to insure only mature trees are harvested. Timber stand thinnings must also be planned in detail so benefits and returns are realized. Locations of timber cuttings are selected which will benefit wildlife as much as possible. (Cutover areas offer excellent deer browse and habitat for upland game).

In conjunction with timber sales, cutover areas are reviewed and mapped so they can be planted to young trees in the spring. Planting will be necessary if it is determined that natural regeneration will not occur.

During winter months, areas with overmature or poor quality timber are bulldozed. This allows natural regeneration of tree species that had occupied the site or it prepares the site for planting of trees in the spring.

The state owns some 4.5 million acres of forested lands and these forests must be periodically inventoried to determine what timber types, if any, are growing on each site and what should be done with them. This is a year-round job.

The division of lands and forestry offers a "Private Forest Management Assistance Program" for timber landholders owning less than 1,000 acres. Under this program, foresters check woodlands for private landowners and determine what should be done in the way of timber and wildlife management.

On request of the landowner, foresters will mark timber, showing what trees should be harvested. The trees marked are tallied and totaled, giving the landowner a close count on the volume of timber he has to sell. State foresters will also determine the volume of wood that has been cut.

The advent of the snowmobile has added to the forester's winter duties. More than 1,500 miles of trails have been established in our 55 state forests. Existing trails are maintained and new stretches of trail are constantly being constructed. Trails are also marked with signs, many of which have to be replaced each winter because of vandalism. A program of trail leveling has been initiated to keep them smooth.

Other winter duties occupying a forester involve training sessions to increase the forester's ability to do his job, public education and information, enforcement of timber laws, and work on myriad special projects.

Treat every gun with respect.

GREEN WAVE goalie Gordy Hangsleben stopped this shot by the Prowlers' Jon Jensen for one of his 26 saves in Friday's 4-2 win in the region eight tournament. East Grand Forks will advance into tonight's first semi-final game against Detroit Lakes, beginning at 7 o'clock, while Warroad and Bemidji collide at 9 p.m. The championship game will be played Wednesday, March 1, at 7:30.

Lumberjacks Nip Roseau Six 2-0

Bemidji picked up single goals at the outset of the first and second periods Saturday night and then protected their lead with a smothering defense to post a 2-0 triumph over defending champion Roseau in the first round of the region eight hockey tournament in the TRF sports arena.

The powerful Lumberjacks took a 1-0 first period lead with a perfect passing combination on a two on one rush with 9:46 remaiing. Randy Beck and Earl Sargent, a pair of Lumberjack wings, caught the youthful Rams with just one defender back as Beck neatly slipped the puck to Sargent who beat Roseau goalie Willard Comstock from close range.

The Lumberjacks easily controlled the tempo of the first stanza and were afforded numerous scoring opportunities, only to be thwarted by the fine play of Comstock in the Roseau nets. The Ram senior turned aside a pair of Lumberjack breakaways, along with the rifle-like shots of All-Stater Gary Sargent.

Bemidji went in front 2-0 with 13:28 remaining in the second period when Beck's centering pass found junior wing Lee Olson standing all alone in front of the Roseau net.

Roseau came back to really apply the presssure to sophomore Lumberjack goalie Jeff Wizner with several close range blasts just missing the target. The Ram offensive explosion was halted though, when Dana Byfuglien was whistled off the ice for slashing with 10:04 left.

The Lumberjacks then took full command as theyout-shot the Rams 11-5 in the second period and 10-6 in the last stanza.

Comstock turned in a 32-save performance for the Rams while the tiny Wizner kicked out 19 Roseau shots on goal. The Lumberjacks now advance into tonight's second semi-final game against Warroad, starting at 9 o'clock.

Minnesota Outdoors

by Stu and Dee Mann

Ends of Winter-Hello Spring

There is still time for that glorious vacation. The resorts can use your business too, to keep their area 'green'. Get out your travel catalog, or send for colorful resort brochures.

Make certain your car, its tires, or your camper, trailer, etc., are all in excellent working condition for your road safety and comfort. It is well to consider that the 'unit' is designed to carry within the required maximums, according to load distribution limits on rear and front axles. A good 'packer' can determine this by past experience. If in doubt, take your vehicle to nearest weigh station for an accurate reading on the scales, noting each axle in turn, plus weighing travel load, including all extras; recreational equipment, foods, etc.

These are only part of the plans when thinking of your next vacation in Minnesota or any season of the year! And when you leave your area, stop at the nearest C & C offices for brochures to pass out to tourists that you may meet. Promote your own areas while away from home! It works both ways!

Ursus Horribilis

For brute strength and fearlessness no other big game animal measures up to Ursus horribilis, unquestionably the monarch of North American game. These qualities have made him one of the most sought after of all big game and many a barrel-chested hunter has experienced the pulsating excitement peculiar to this hunt, an excitement tinged with a kind of queasy sensation. Webster says horribilis is Latin for horrible, a word defined as "causing a feeling of horror; terrible; dreadful; frightful." These terms are certainly applicable to this great hulk of an animal - the North American grizzly bear.

A mature grizzly leaves a claw-indented track that can measure more than a half-foot in width and almost one and one-half feet in length, a discovery that more often than not sends second thoughts scurrying through the nerve centers of robust huntsmen. Reputedly, weighing as much as 1,200 pounds, the grizzly is a carryover from the Pleistocene Age and, while he is cursed with poor eyesight, possesses an amazing sense of smell and remarkably acute hearing. He varies in color fron near-black to eggshell but usually he sports a dark brown fur that is tipped with silvery gray, which accounts for the name grizzly.

This giant brute takes a lot of eating to survive and is not about to share his domain with any of his cousins, distant or otherwise. He hangs out his unwelcome each spring by rubbing his coat against the trunks of the trees that border "his land". And, make no mistake. . .this is definitely a warning sign. He can crush the skull of great animals as effortlessly as he can topple huge boulders, and he can do this with just one sweep of his great paw. His diet varies with the seasons. Spring finds him chomping on new grass, gophers and other rodents. In summer it's berries, nuts and roots. In the fall, he curls up in some mountain retreat, hibernating until the grass and gophers push up through the ground again.

Grizzlies mate in June and romping twin cubs (sometimes triplets) are born during hibernation the first few weeks of the new year. It is said, incidentally, that the cubs have little to fear from predators that wreak havoc upon the young of other families in the animal kingdom. We wonder why.

Worthington Wins JC Cage Title

Worthington displayed a steady, conservative attack throughout the two-day Minnesota junior college state basketball tournament to claim the 1972 state title and the right to advance into the region 13 tournament.

The Blue Jays, owners of a 13-2 MJCAA record during the regular season, beat Normandale 79-65 for the title after bombing Northwest Division champion Fergus Falls 90-66 in the first round. Normandale advanced into the championship game with a trilling 71-70 triumph over Northeast Division champion Vermilion in the first round.

The five-man All-Tournament team included Mark Holmlund, 5-10 freshman guard, and Dennie Voss, 6-4 sophomore forward, from Worthington; Pete Van-Nice, 6-6 sophomore center, and Tom Otterdahl, 6-4 freshman guard, from Normandale; and Dick Weber, 6-5 freshman forward, from Vermilion.

The Vikings have been shutout just twice during 11 NFL seasons.

Wildlife Week To Be Observed

Statewide observance of 1972 wildlife week, March 19-25, co-sponsored by the National Wildlife federation and the Minnesota Conservation federation, will be headed by state chairman Roger Preuss of Minneapolis.

In order to make a tablespoonful of honey, a bee must visit about 2,000 flowers.

NOTICE — Fellow Americans: Let's help save the American family farm by agriculture reform through a proposed unique diversified family farm program. The practical solution to a serious farm, rural and urban problem. The survival of our national economy. We need and must have a family farm program that provides: A voluntary farm program. Door open to all farmers with equal rights. Guarantees full 100% parity price. Eliminates all farm risk. Gives farmers an income consistent to business, professions, labor, etc. A potential of multimillion family farms. Our largest industry. Unemployment eventually vanish. No surplus burden. Cost nominal. Conserving and building up our land. To preserve and perpetuate the American family farm. To pass on to our children, a way of life and our richest inheritance received from our forefathers. Obtain the copyrighted brochure, "Agriculture reform through a family farm Program." $1.00.

NOTICE

A public hearing will be held by the Agassiz Health Planning Council at 1:00 p.m. Friday, March 24, at the Upper Deck Main street, Crookston, Minnesota to determine whether a certificate of need will be recommended to authorize construction of the following project:

A proposed renovation and expension of the Riverview Hospital structure to provide for 110 acute beds, as well as the construction of a 100 bed single story nursing care unit immediately to the south of the existing hospital structure and inter connected at the main floor level. The approximate cost of the project is $3,673,445.

This project may effect the provisions of or need for health services in your community. Those individuals, institutions, or municipalities having strong feelings for or against any of these projects can present at this public hearing any facts or opinions that may have a bearing on the issuance or denial of the certificate of need for these projects.

The hearing is open to the public. All wishing to attend may do so.

CARE Literally Builds Housing "Dirt Cheap"

Plain dirt will be used by CARE to help refugees with their shelter problems in East Bengal. At least 30 million people are without homes in Bangladesh, victims of war and natural disaster. They include families returning from refugee camps in India, and those displaced within the country. The CARE shelter-building effort will be a race against the annual monsoon rains that begin in June. CARE hopes to see 7,500 homes finished by that time.

The CARE home-making "package" is a hand-operated ram that presses plain earth and a little cement into building blocks. The unskilled workers mix dirt with about six per cent cement and a little water to make blocks as good or better than conventional cement or cinder blocks. The cost of cement for each comes to about a penny.

The device—called a "cinva-ram"—needs two persons, one to operate the press and the other to load the dirt and remove the finished brick. They can learn to make up to 600 blocks in a day. On some CARE projects, homebuilders have made 130 blocks for themselves per hour per machine. The shelters in Bangladesh can be made with about 1,200 blocks each.

Villages of from 100 to 125 dwellings will be put up as demonstration projects. Such villages will arise in each of the 62 subdivisions of Bangladesh. Based on earlier projects in which CARE successfully built 4,000 houses in Chittagong district, the simple, storm-resistant dwellings will be 10x20x7 feet, with brick foundations, galvanized iron roofs, wooden doors and window-frames. The interior is planned so it can be partitioned into two rooms.

CARE will assign five experienced staff men to train and work with about 600 Bengalis who will be divided into five major project units of four teams each. CARE will also supply the earth-ram machine, the cement, bricks and roofing.

As villages are built, the construction teams and the machines will move on to the next site. The Gangladesh government will supply project personnel and internal transport. The families, selected on the basis of greatest need, will contribute their labor in making the building blocks.

"CARE is continuing its emergency relief aid for refugees still in India as well as the destitute Bangladesh," said Harold Gauer, midwest regional CARE director. "We must also fulfill our committemnts to urgent aid and self-help programs in other countries around the world. Thus additional support from Americans is needed to enable CARE to give these Gengali people, already so sorely beset, a roof over their heads and some kind of furture to look forward to."

Contributions sent from the Thief River Falls area may be earmarked "Bengal Relief Fund" and directed to the Midwest Regional CARE Office, 125 East Wells Street, Milwaukee, Wis. 53202.

Wheat Growers Reminded Of Added Set-Aside

As the March 10 deadline for 1972 farm program sign-up draws closer, the Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office reminds wheat growers that there is an "added set-aside" feature in the wheat program.

Marcel Dahl, chairman of the Marshall county ASC committee, said "the added set-aside for wheat was authorized to give growers more opportunity to cut down on wheat production this year and to help strengthen wheat prices."

The USDA is asking farmers to consider the added set-aside as a way to take some wheat out of production or to reduce their plantings of wheat so that wheat production for the country can be at, or below, demand for the crop so that prices can work their way up.

Wheat growers can designate an acreage up to 75 per cent of their farm's domestic wheat allotment as additional voluntary set-asie. The payment rate will be 94 cents per bushel times the farm's established yield times the acreage voluntarily set aside.

The added set-aside is in addition to the acreage to be set aside by growers in order to qualify for the 1972 wheat certificate payments. Farmers who choose to sign up for the added set-aside are reminded that requirements for this acreage are the same as for normal set-aside.

Full details on the added set-aside are available at the county ASCS office.

Sex Discrimination In Death Reported

Is there sex discrimination in death? There very well may be, according to a major life insurance company.

In a recently released study, company statisticians point out that men in the United States are subject to greater mortality than women at every stage of life. The current sex differentials in mortality are wider than ever before, for while male death rates have changed little since the mid-1950's, female death rates have continued to decline at most ages.

During the first two decades of the century, the age adjusted rate of death for white males was only about 10 per cent higher than that for white females. By 1970, however, the age adjusted male death rate had risen to 175 per cent of that for women. The comparable rates for nonwhites increased from 106 per cent in 1900 to 163 per cent in 1970.

The sex differentials in mortality from the principal causes of death vary markedly because women are endowed with advantages in resisting most common diseases and men are exposed to greater environmental hazards due to their occupations and behavior.

Sex differentials in mortality have changed least among infants and aged persons, while the most pronounced relative increase in male death rates occurred among teen-agers and young adults—at ages 15-24 and 25-34.

In 1968, at the preschool ages there was only a slight disparity in mortality rates by sex, but this disparity widened rapidly with advance in age. At ages 5-14 the death rate for boys was about three-fifths greater than that of the girls.

It was in the 15-24 age group that the greatest sex differentials in mortality occurred (278 per cent among whites and 261 per cent among nonwhites) resulting primarily from a higher accidental death rate—principally from motor vehicles—among males. According to the company report, two-thirds of the deaths among males and well over two-fifths among females in this age group were due to accidents. In addition to accidental deaths, homicide was a major cause of death, accounting for some 28 per cent of all male deaths and for about 15 per cent of all female deaths.

In the 25-44 age range, accidents and diseases of the heart were the leading causes of death among men in 1968. Together they were responsible for half the male deaths, but for only a quarter of the female deaths. Mortality from malignant neoplasms was by far the leading category of death among women of these ages, accounting for nearly three-tenths of the total death toll. Among nonwhite females, heart diseases figured more prominently than did malignant neoplasms.

At ages 45-64, the 1968 mortality rate of men was double that of women—heart disease was responsible for three-fifths of this differential. Higher death rate from accidents and cancer also contributed significantly to this figure.

At ages 65 and over, the male death rates exceeded that for females by about two-fifths. The largest disparity by cause of death was from malignant neoplasms, the mortality from which was over two-thirds higher for males than for females among whites, and four-fifths higher for males than for females among nonwhites. Sizable sex differentials in mortality were also reported for influenza and pneumonia, and for diseases of the heart. Heart disease, notes the study, was the leading cause of death in this age group.

Public Invited To Give Opinion On Corrections

Persons in the Bemidji area are being asked to tell the Minnesota department of Corrections what improvements should be made in the corrections system. The unusual request for public suggestions is being made by Dr. David Fogel, Minnesota corrections commissioner. During the month of March there will be 10 sets of hearings, like the one planned for Bemidji, throughout the state.

In Bemidji the sessions will be March 15 in the highway bilding, junction of highways 2 and 71 (east). There will be two meetings, from 1-4 p.m. and 7:30-9:30 p.m. Fogel indicated that the hearings are being held as an "honest attempt to find out what the public is thinking about corrections.

"For many years the corrections system has been managed by professionals in isolated fortresses far from the real world. Now we're beginning to realize that the community must be involved in the corrections process. We need to know what the community wants and to find out we're going to ask through this series of hearings. After the hearings we will begin to plan for the next biennium with the community's desires uppermost in our minds."

Everyone is invited to testify at the hearings. Statements will be limited to 10 minutes and, if possible, should be in writing though this is not essential.

Special invitations are being given to sheriffs, police chiefs, county attorneys, public defenders, county board members and ex-offenders, but Fogel emphasized that any person would be welcome to testify.

Anyone in the Thief River Falls area who wishes to testify should contact "Swede" Lund or Curtis Geatz at 681-2204.

Master Grower Award Given To Moorhead Man

One of the highest honor awards given at the Red River Valley Winter shows is the master crop grower award. Lynn Anderson, Moorhead, was the 1972 recipient of this award.

Anderson will receive a plaque for permanent possession. This plaque is donated by Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation. The award is given on the basis of quality and number of entries in the show. Anderson placed eight of the nine entries made in the crops show, including both certified and open classes. His exhibit of Kelsey oats placed first in the class and won a sweepstakes ribbon for the best oats in the open class division.

Anderson is president of the Clay county Crop Improvement association. He runs an approved plant and along with his farming operation, he spends much time promoting certified and high quality seed. He is a member of the Minnesota Approved Seed Processor's association and is a foundation seed grower for the Minnesota Crop Improvement association.

HONORED for exceptional service to Cub Scout Pack 60 and Boy Scout Troop 60 at Trinity Lutheran church over many years was Morris Owen of Thief River Falls. Owen has served in nearly every position of adult leadership in the scouting program and is holder of the Silver Beaver award, highest award available to adults at the council level.

Ulven Selected As King Agassiz At Winter Shows

Ronald A. Ulven, Hanley, was crowned King Agassiz XII during ceremonies held Thursday morning at the Red River Valley winter shows in Crookston. Crowning the new king was King Agassiz XI, Dr. Howard Legried of New York Mills.

Main address was given by Arlen Erdahl, Minnesota secretary of state. Sam Bigger, Crookston, served as master of ceremonies and special music was provided by Miss Marie Nelson of Crookston. George Nornes of Climax presided over the Hall of Fame recognition at which time Marvin Campbell of Brainerd and Henry Flaskerud of Fosston were presented with the Hall of Fame Recognition awards. King Agassiz XI introduced the past kings, candidates and other guests.

Other candidates for King Agassiz XII were: Donald Baumgartner, Rothsay (Wilken County); Lyle Mandt, Oklee (Pennington); Richard Swiers, Bejou (Mahnomen); Robert Brinkman, Roseau (Roseau); Lyle H. Cordes, Ottertail (East Otter Tail); Ralph E. Rundell, Grygla (Marshall); Robert A. Johnson, Bagley (Clearwater); Richard Orton, Baudette (Lake of the Woods); Philip J. Mork, Winger (East Polk); George Scherzer Jr., Lake Park (Becker); Stuart Folland, Karlstad (Kittson); Ron Okerstrom, Fergus Falls (West Otter Tail); Willis Eken, Twin Valley (Norman); Charles Sylvester, Fisher (West Polk); and LeRoy Carriere, Brooks (Red Lake).

Ulven was born and raised on a Clay county dairy farm and was active in 4-H and FFA. He graduated from Hitterdahl high school and received a B.S. degree from NDSU in 1959. He was commissioned 2nd Lt. in the U.S. Army in 1959 and served 18 months. From 1961-1963, he was the assistant county extension agent in Stutsman and Grand Forks county. For the next three years, he was an agricultural representative at the Jamestown national bank, also serving as a farm loan officer.

In 1966, he was named the assistant vice president and agricultural officer at the First national bank in Crookston. He is currently serving as vice president and farm loan officer at the First state bank at Hawley.

Ulven is currently first vice president of the Hawley Chamber of Commerce. He is a past treasurer and director and is currently vice president of the Hawley Jaycees. He received the gold key award in 1970 and the distinguished service award in 1971. He also is the current treasurer and council member of the Hawley Lutheran church, and is a Hawley area United Fund worker.

He has served on agricultural committees with the Jamestown and Crookston Chamber of Commerce and is current chairman of the town and country committee of the Hawley Chamber of Commerce. While in Crookston, he served as treasurer for the Red River Valley livestock association and the Red River Valley futurity association.

Ulven is married to the former Deanne Askviken of Northwood, N. D., and they are the parents of three children, Robert 5, Kathryn 7, and Richard 9. Mrs. Ulven is a Cub Scout den leader coach and an active member of a homemaker club.

Farm Credit Act Is Outlined At PCA-Conference

Farm Credit act of 1971 gives the nation's farm credit system "a new license to do business," deputy governor Aubrey K. Johnson said in Minneapolis.

Speaking before a conference of Production Credit association (PCA) managers and directors, the deputy governor of the farm credit administration said the new legislation, signed into law by President Nixon late last year, "gives us a new charter and the tools we need to supply the credit needs of the agricultural community."

Some 275 PCA directors and managers from Minnesota, Wisconsin, North Dakota and Michigan attended the two-day conference with their wives. The Thief River Falls association was represented by Harlow Johnson and Archie Wilson.

The controversial legislation referred to by Johnson extends the lending power of the system's Federal Land banks, Intermediate Credit banks, PCAs and Banks for Cooperatives.

Farm credit agencies will be allowed to finance rural housing (formerly just farm housing) in communities of less than 2,500.

Agencies will also be authorized to make loans to custom operators and other businesses that furnish services directly related to on-farm operating needs. The legislation also raises the Land Banks' lending limit on real estate from 55 per cent of appraised value to 85 per cent. Johnson expects that most of these changes will go into effect sometime in May of this year.

Johnson, who served as a senior vice president of the Seventh District Federal Intermediate Credit bank in St. Paul before his appointment as deputy governor of the Farm Credit administration in Washington in 1969, stressed the need for cooperation and coordination among the members of the farm credit family.

He will provide a good measure of that coordination himself, for he was named last week as the director of credit service for the administration, and all of its member agencies.

NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP cup of the American Snowmobile association (ASA) is held by 16-year-old Rich Porter of Thief River Falls who won the cup at the ASA national championship race at Staples last weekend. Also shown are a number of the other trophies which he and his 14-year-old brother Tom have won in open and junior class racing this year. Rich captured 16 of a possible 18 points to win the total points championship at Staples to defeat the nearest competitor by seven points. He had five firsts and a third in six racing events entered.

Rich Porter Is ASA National Champion

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

Young Richard Porter of Thief River Falls is one person for whom actions speak louder than words. And his actions this winter on the snowmobile racing scene practically scream. If he continues at the present pace the family may have to build a couple of rooms on the family home just to hold the trophies.

At the tender age of 16 and in his first year of racing above the junior classes, Rich has acquired an abundant quantity of prize hardware. Most recent additions to the total were seven trophies won at Staples last weekend—including the cup symbolic of the American Snowmobile association national championship. That is no small feat at any age for any driver.

In fact, in the last three times out, Rich has won or tied for the total points championship at the races entered. At Staples this weekend, it wasn't even close. With three points awarded for first place, two for second and one for third in each class, Rich compiled 16 points in two days of racing, just two short of perfect. His nearest competitor was Leo Lunzer who races Polaris machines for the Larson-Olson distributorship out of Minneapolis.

Rich compiled his points on Saturday by taking first place in the 340cc drag race (600 feet from a standing start), third in the 440 class and first in the 400cc cross country, driving his 340cc Arctic Cat EXT.

With that Saturday warm-up action out of the way, Rich came back on Sunday to capture places in the 340cc, 400cc and 440cc oval track races. The five first and one third place finishes in six races gave him the 16 points for total points champion and permanent possession of the ASA national championship cup.

And lest anyone think that the ASA championship was a cream puff event, let it be known that other drivers in competition for the prize were such veterans as runner-up Lunzer, Don Atkinson of Sno-Jet, Roger Hible of Arctic and Joe Masso of Polaris. On Sunday alone there were 300 entries in the stock and modified classes, and Rich was first in every one of his elimination and qualifying heats.

At the Arrowwood Viking races at Alexandria a week ago, Rich tied for the total points championship with second place finishes in both the 340cc and 440cc classes. Two weeks ago he captured the total points championship and the seven-foot traveling trophy at the States-Dominion snowmobile races in Thief River Falls.

Earlier this season he captured three first places at Big Lake, two firsts at Hallock, two firsts at Centuria, Wis., three firsts at Park Rapids, a first at Fertile and an impressive number of second and third places as well. Last year he also won first places in summer snowmobile drag races at Cambridge and Holdingford.

FATHER AND SON combination has proved successful for Richard Porter Sr. and Richard Porter Jr. of Thief River Falls in open class snowmobile racing this season. Richard Sr. modifies the engines and keeps the sleds in top racing condition and son Rich pilots them to top placing in weekend races around the country. They walk the race tracks together to check and discuss conditions and Rich follows his Dad's coaching and advice to make the best use of his machine and the track.

Consumers Co-op Reports Sales Of $929,324.43

Sales increase of $44,837 to a total of $929,324.43 was announced at the annual meeting of Consumers Cooperative association of Thief River Falls last week. Manager LaVern Hansen revealed the 1971 figures in presenting the cooperative's annual report.

Net margins increased from $30,510.70 in 1970 to $44,435.85 in 1971. Operating expenses for the year decreased about $3,000 from $179,094 a year ago to $176,004 this past year. Cost of sales increased from $673,639 in 1970 to $713,829 in 1971.

Hansen pointed out that members have 93 per cent ownership of the local cooperative after receiving $65,400 in equities in cash during 1971.

Reelected to the board of directors at the annual meeting were Silas Hanson and Kermit Maidment. At a reorganization of the board following the meeting, Hanson was reelected president with Kermit Finstad as vice president and Harry Solberg as secretary - treasurer. Other board members are Maidment, Curtis Johnson, Leonard Skaar and Roy Nelson.

Main speaker for the meeting was G. A. Beito, president of Northern state bank in Thief River Falls. He stressed the importance of money management to the local farmer and predicted problems which may be encountered in the future.

In his report to the annual meeting, Silas Hanson stated that Midland Cooperatives, the regional cooperative which serves Consumers Cooperative, had an all-time high in sales of over $125 million and that earnings also reached an all-time high. Hanson is a director from District 5 on the Midland board.

Statement of operations for Consumers Cooperative showed gross margins of $215,495 on gross sales of $929,324. Merchandising expenses were $122,264, administrative expenses totaled $36,614 and general expenses were $17,126 for a total of $176,004, leaving a net operating margin of $39,490.

The cooperative has total assets of $555,287 and total current liabilities of only $39,560.

'AVTS Practical Nursing Course Is Accredited

Full accreditation has been granted to the practical nursing department of the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical school following the biennial survey by the Minnesota board of nursing.

Commendation was extended for the progress which has been made in the school and a special comment was made regarding the follow-up study of the practical nursing students and achievement of graduates on licensing examination.

Must Display Motor Vehicle Stickers Mar. 2

In accordance with Minnesota statutes, motor vehicle registration plates and stickers must be displayed not later than 12:01 a.m. on March 2, Minnesota department of public safety commissioner W. R. Hoaglund reminded motorists today.

This year there will be no extension of the display deadline, as was granted last year. Last year's extension was granted because there was a delay in delivery of plates for mail orders.

Hoaglund advised those who have not received their plates by the deadline to carry with them any correspondence they may have from the motor vehicle division attesting to the delay. Generally, law enforcement officers will grant more time if such evidence is produced.

Gordon Saul To Speak To Legion

Gordon Saul, district forester for the state of Minnesota and headquartered at Grygla, will be guest speaker at the monthly meeting of Ecklund - Holmstrom Post 117 of the American Legion. The meeting is set for Monday at 8 p.m. in the Legion club rooms.

According to Allan Paulson, conservation chairman for the post, the program will include showing of slides and an opportunity for members to ask questions in regard to forestry and the establishment of snowmobile trails in the state forests.

Pennington DHIA Annual Meeting Held Wednesday

A good year was indicated by the annual report given at the Pennington Dairy Herd Improvement association annual meeting held Wednesday in Thief River Falls. Average production for the association was 11,805 pounds of milk and 447 pounds of butterfat per cow. This compares to an average of approximately 8,000 pounds of milk and 375 pounds of butterfat per cow for all cows in Pennington county.

Marlan Augustine received the award for top producing cow with 19,740 pounds of milk and 868 pounds of butterfat. Gene Nelson of Viking had the top herd for the association during 1971 with 15,006 pounds of milk and 601 pounds of butterfat per cow. His herd also had the high increase in butterfat with an average of 61 pounds per cow over 1970 production.

Officers elected to serve for 1972 are Darrow Lundeen, Trail, president; Albert Koop, Thief River Falls, vice president; and Mylo Carlson, Angus, secretary-treasurer. Other members on the board of directors are Donald Erickson of Plummer and Myron Erickson, Warren. Jerry Hamre is the association supervisor.

Round One Held In School Negotiations

Round one of negotiations between School District 564 board of education and contractural employees was held last night with agreement reached on the first point in question—when and where to hold the next negotiating session. Other than that, the first round produced some long range sparring but little indication as to the eventual outcome.

The negotiating session followed a regular meeting of the board, delayed to Tuesday from the regular Monday night date because of the Region 8 hockey tournament.

Approximately an hour and 20 minutes were spent in determining that March 13 would be the next meeting date with a dinner at 6 p.m. in the school cafeteria and public meeting at 7 p.m.; in concluding that the chairman of the board of education would chair all of the negotiating sessions; and in determining that written proposals would be appropriate for informed discussion at the next meeting.

Don Hejlik and Walter Redinger are co-chairmen of the faculty negotiating council with other members including Verne Spengler, Joan Satterness and Mike Lehrer with Ellen Clark a s advisory member until May 1. The board will negotiate as a complete board.

Some reservations were expressed by members of the teachers' council in regard to holding public meetings for negotiations, and particularly in permitting members of the public to participate in negotiations. Board chairman Maynard Wedul reserved the right to permit members of the public to speak but assured the faculty representatives that such permission would be granted only rarely, if at all. All negotiating sessions are to be open to the public.

Prior to the negotiating session the board accepted seven resignations and heard reports from the junior and senior high school principals in addition to transacting several other items of business.

Resignations were received and accepted from Darrold

Nursing Director Retires Tuesday

Upon her retirement as director of nursing services at Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls Tuesday, Miss Lydia Dahlen, R.N., was honored at a party given by the hospital staff. Miss Dahlen has been on the hospital staff for the past 16 years and director of nursing services since 1967.

Beginning her duties today as the new director of nursing services is Miss Ruth Mary Bloom, R.N. She is a 1944 graduate of Central high school in Duluth, 1956 graduate of the College of St. Catherine's in St. Paul with a major in nursing, and was most recently a staff nurse for a medical doctor in Minneapolis.

Miss Bloom is a former director of nursing services for two years at St. Michael's hospital in Grand Forks, N.D., and had also been a head nurse and pediatrics supervisor there. She has been a home economics instructor and school nurse in Japan, director of nursing services for one year at St. Mary's hospital in Minneapolis, head nurse of the medical surgical unit at St. John's hospital in Fargo, N.D., supervisor of ICU and inservice director at St. Mary's hospital in Minneapolis.

Miss Dahlen is a 1926 graduate of the St. Paul hospital school of nursing and also attended the University of Minnesota to become a certified public health nurse for the state of Minnesota. She was employed for seven years as the school nurse at the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston.

Newfolden Co-op Elevator Plans New Buildings

Newfolden Cooperative Elevator association has completed plans for building a new elevator following the fire which destroyed the former storage elevators and office in January. Construction is expected to begin about March 10 with completion scheduled by August 1.

Vigen Construction company of Grand Forks, N. D., has been awarded the contract for a total cost of $299,000. The new main elevator house will have a capacity of 69,000 bushels and the annex will have a capacity of 72,000 bushels for a total 141,000 bushel capacity. The contract also calls for a new 54x38 warehouse to be built.

At the present time the elevator office is located across the street from the quonset building in Newfolden. The firm is conducting business as normally as possible, selling feed and fertilizer at the Newfolden station. Seed cleaning will be done at the elevator's Strandquist station during the spring planting season.

WWI VETS TO MEET

Regular meeting of Barracks 3520 of the World War I Veterans will be held jointly with the auxiliary on Monday at 2:30 p.m. at the Veterans of Foreign Wars club rooms.

Legion Auxiliary To Sponsor Gift Of Life Program

American Legion auxiliary in Thief River Falls, in cooperation with the Kidney Foundation of the Upper Midwest, will sponsor a "Gift of Life" donor clinic in Thief River Falls on Thursday, March 16, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Mrs. Vernon Quam, community service chairman for Ecklund-Holmstrom unit 117 of the American Legion auxiliary, said that the clinic would be held on the main floor of the city auditorium. Under the "Gift of Life" program, interested persons register to permit their organs to be used—at the time of death—for the purpose of sustaining life in another individual.

The program is part of the overall effort in cooperation with and in behalf of the four major transplant centers in Minnesota—Mayo clinic, Rochester; Hennepin County General hospital, University of Minnesota hospital and Veterans Administration hospital, all in Minneapolis.

Registrants can specify that only particular organs be used, or they may commit their entire body for anatomical study at the time of their death if the body would be need or could be used for that purpose.

Mrs. Quam emphasized that use of donated organs is after the death of donor. She said that there had been some misunderstanding in some areas and that some people had not been aware that the donation could be only after the death of the donor.

All persons in the state are eligible to register if they are over 18 years of age and they may do so by signing the registration card which is witness by two other persons and is carried by the individual registering. Any person later deciding to terminate his or her registration may do so by merely destroying the card. People under 18 years of age may also register as donors with parental consent.

"Life is what it's all about—the gift of life," Mrs. Quam said.

Warehouse Foods To Open Sunday Noon

A NEW CONCEPT in grocery merchandising will be used in the Warehouse Foods store to open in Thief River Falls at noon on Sunday. All merchandise is shipped to the store on wooden pallets and taken from the truck to the proper place in the store by fork-lift carts. Customers will mark their own items and carry out their own purchases. Neil Lofberg, who will manage the store for the family corporation of Johanneson', Inc., is shown with the cart above. He said the store will operate on a volume basis and pass the labor savings of the warehouse operation on to the customer.

Warehouse Foods, Thief River Falls' newest business, will open Sunday noon at the Gibson's Discount Center building on highway 59 south. The warehouse grocery is owned by Johanneson's, Inc., of Bemidji and will be managed by Neil Lofberg, a former Thief River Falls resident and graduate of Lincoln high school.

The local store, which will be open 24 hours a day, seven days a week, is one of four operated by John and Lance Johanneson and Lofberg. Others include John's Super Valu in Bemidji, Park Super Valu in Park Rapids and a warehouse foods store in Detroit Lakes.

"Customers in our store will mark their own merchandise and do their own carry-out services," Lofberg said, "permitting us to pass the savings on to the customers. We will operate on a volume basis and will be a Super Valu test store for a pallet loading operation. It is expected that this type of operation will eliminate costly handling and result in even greater savings for shoppers."

Lofberg said the store will have the largest fresh meats counter in the area and complete gourmet and dietetic sections in addition to the full line of grocery and produce items. An in-store bakery and possibly a delicatessen are being planned within a year.

The store has 15,000 square feet

MARKING CASES of merchandise in the new Warehouse Foods store adjacent to Gibson's Discount Center in Thief River Falls are Andy Neal, store supervisor for Super Valu, and Mrs. Nathan (Margaret) Friberg, who will be one of the check-out counter attendants when the store opens Sunday noon.

TRF Conference Officers Plan Spring Meeting

Thief River Falls Conference officers of the American Lutheran Church Women met recently to make plans for the spring convention.

The convention was set for Saturday, April 22 at the Stephen school gymnasium. The theme of the convention will be "Choose Life" with Miss Emma Eide, missionary from Africa, and Mrs. Eleanor Whitney of New York as guest speakers. Mrs. Whitney surrendered her life to Christ in 1957 during a Billy Graham crusade. Since then she has spent most of her time traveling in the United States and abroad, singing and speaking in churches, colleges, hospitals, missions and at civic gatherings.

In order to avoid the waiting in line during registration and to aid the Stephen women in meal planning, the officers decided that a pre-registration is requested for this convention. Men, youth and friends from other churches are invited to attend. The meeting will begin at 9:30 a.m., and will close at 3:30 p.m.

The officers met at Greenbush, at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Klefstad, president. Attending were Mrs. Rueben Wangberg of this city, Mrs. LeRoy Gustafson, Viking; Mrs. Gilbert Loe, Wannaska, and Mrs. Ole Lund, Roseau.

In addition to planning the convention, it was also reported that the women of the conference have donated and sent hobby and sewing items to the Alaskan mission.

Barbara Witzman Dwight Myhrer Betrothal Feted

Miss Barbara Witzman of Duluth and Dwight Myhrer of Mankato were honor guests at an open house engagement party held Sunday, February 20, at Noper's Fireside room.

Miss Witzman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Witzman of Duluth and formerly of Greenbush. Myhrer is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Myhrer, who resided in Thief River Falls.

Hosting the party were Miss Virginia Myhrer of Oklee and Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Myhrer of Red Lake Falls. The cake, decorated for the occasion, was cut and served by Mrs. Roger Swanson of Thief River Falls. Miss Gayle Espeseth was at the guest book.

Relatives and friends attending were from Thief River Falls, Middle River, Roseau, St. Hilaire, Red Lake Falls, Oklee and Moorhead.

Rebecca Larson Is Bride Of James L. Peterson

Miss Rebecca J. Larson and James L. Peterson exchanged marriage vows recently at a double ring ceremony at Zion Lutheran church in this city.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Larson and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Peterson of this city.

Rev. Alexander Stoffel officiated at the ceremony before an altar graced with candelabra and an arrangement of purple gladioli and white carnations. Mrs. James Dalager, organist, played the traditional nuptial selections as the guests were ushered in by Charles Larson of East Grand Forks, brother of the bride, and Gary Jordet of this city, a friend of the couple. Soloist was Mrs. Arnold Hammer, a friend of the groom's family. During the ceremony, she sang, "The Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride was attired in a gown of white cotton lace fashioned with long, full sleeves featuring wide cuffs. The fitted bodice was complemented in front by a row of pearl buttons. Surrounding the empire waistline was a white satin ribbon tied with a bow in back. A headpiece consisting of a wide lace bow, held her floor-length veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of white and lavender laced carnations, accented by small purple star flowers.

Serving the bride as her only attendant was her sister-in-law, Mrs. Nancy Larson of East Grand Forks. She wore a purple floor-length gown designed with a raised waistline and full sheer sleeves with wide cuffs. Her headpiece was fashioned of purple and white carnations. She carried a colonial bouquet of purple and lavender laced carnations with purple straw flowers.

Milo Westerlund of Thief River Falls, a friend of the groom, was best man. The men of the wedding party wore black tuxedos, white shirts with black trimmed ruffles, and lavender laced carnations.

The mother of the bride wore a purple tailored dress with white belt and matching shoes. The mother of the groom was attired in an A-line, gold colored shift with matching trim and black accessories. Both wore identical corsages composed of two purple orchids.

Special guest at the wedding was Mrs. Emma Stromberg of this city, grandmother of the bride. Miss Gail Peterson was the bride's personal attendant.

A reception in the church parlors followed with Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hanson, uncle and aunt of the bride, as reception host and hostess. Toni Peterson, a niece of the groom, presided at the guest book as Mrs. Gary Jordet and Kerry Helm, friends of the bride, served the punch.

The two-tiered wedding cake, iced in white with purple flowers and trim, was topped by a triple bell ornament on a pedestal. The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Tom Brubakken, and Mrs. John Stenseth, godmothers of the bride and groom, respectively. Mrs. Joyce Hanson, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Doug Peterson, sister of the groom, poured.

~~At the gift table were~~ Mrs. Wayne Kronberger, friend of the couple, and Cheryl Murphy and Terry Hanson, cousins of the bride.

For her going away attire, the bride wore a purple street-length dress with matching shoes.

The newly-weds are now at home at the County Side Mobile Home Park. Both are employed in this city. The bride is employed by the HiBi Drive-In and the groom is employed by Arctic Enterprises, Inc. Photo, Neal Fox Studio, Thief River Falls.

Annual Spring Dance Planned By Newcomers

Annual spring dance, scheduled for April 29, was the topic discussed at the regular meeting of the Newcomers club held recently at the Elks club rooms.

Progress reports from various committees planning the event were given. Several fund raising projects were also discussed.

Highlighting the meeting was the welcoming of newcomers to Thief River Falls. Welcomed were Mrs. Robert (Carol) Brus, formerly of Melrose, who resides at 1236 Edgewood drive. The Bruses have one child, Jeff.

Also Mrs. Dave (Sue) Langolf of 615 South Markley, who lived at Oxford, Mich., before moving here. They have three sons: Dave, Bradley and Darrell.

Also Mrs. John (Diane) Schlecht, a former resident of Jamestown, N.D., who now lives at 619 North State. They have a son, Scott.

Also Mrs. Holly (Kathy) Personius, a resident of Greendale Manor, who moved here from Breckenridge. They have one daughter, Colleen.

Also Miss Beverly Dahlgren, who lived at Crookston before moving to 811 South Crocker.

Following the business session, cards provided the evening's entertainment. Hostesses were Mrs. Judy Evenson, Mrs. Margaret Noyes and Mrs. Linda Peterka. The door prize was won by Mrs. Mary Ellen Jalbert.

Paul Robert Johnson Baptized Here Sat.

Baptismal rites were held last Saturday morning at St. Bernard's Catholic church in this city for Paul Robert, six - week - old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson of St. Louis Park.

Rev. Clement Cloutier of Warroad, great uncle of the child, administered the sacrament. Sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Johnson of Ortonville, uncle and aunt of the child.

After the ceremony, a luncheon was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Cloutier in this city. Guests were Rev. Cloutier, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson, Kelli and Susan and Mr. and Mrs. Willis Johnson.

The child's grandparents are Mrs. Clarabelle Cloutier, Francis Cloutier and Mr. and Mrs. Willis Johnson, all of Thief River Falls.

TRF Legion Post Nears All-Time Member Record

Ecklund - Holmstrom Post 117 of the American Legion in Thief River Falls is seeking a new all-time membership record this year and at last report was only 11 members away from the new mark.

Previous all-time high in local post membership was 756 in 1965 with 746 signed up for 1972 at last count. Last year the post membership was 717 and this year the goal is 800, according to Cal Bradley, commander, and Richard Contos, adjutant. Leonard Rondorf, first vice commander, is membership chairman.

Among the membership currently signed up for 1972 are well over 100 Vietnam veterans who are new members. Former members are urged to renew their annual membership by sending the $8 dues to the local post at P.O. Box 7 in Thief River Falls.

WIN THAT RAISE

There's more to being a good secretary than typing 50 words per minute . . . you have to practically organize your boss' life! Here are some tricks to help you win that raise: 1) If he's a chronic coffee-spiller, cover messages with Scotch Magic transparent tape before leaving them on his desk. 2) Label supply boxes with Scotch package sealing tape and magic marker so he'll know what's where when you're out of the office. 3) Does he entertain a lot? List the phone numbers and addresses of the restaurants he frequents near his telephone. 4) Come in with a smile — it never fails! —

Women Earn Less Than Men, Study Reports

women earn, on the average, only $3 for every $5 earned by men, according to a publication recently issued by the department of labor.

Ratio has varied slightly in recent years but the gap is considerably wider than it was 15 years ago. The study reports that in 1969 women's median earnings were 60.5 per cent of men's. In 1970 the figure dropped to 59.4 per cent. But in 1955 women's median wage was nearly 64 per cent of that of men.

These facts are among the data on the disparity in earnings of women and men which appear in a revision of "Fact Sheet on the Earnings Gap," prepared by the women's bureau.

A look at earnings of full-time year-round workers in 1970 shows that 12 per cent of the women but only five per cent of the men earned less than $3,000. In contrast, only seven per cent of the women but 40 per cent of the men earned $10,000 or more. The median incomes of full-time year-round workers were $5,323 for women and $8,966 for men.

An examination of occupation groups reveals that the largest gap was for sales workers, where women earned only 43 per cent of what men earned. The smallest gap was for professional and technical workers, where women earned 67 per cent of the amount earned by men.

Although the figures in the fact sheet do not necessarily indicate that women receive unequal pay for equal work, they do show that women are employed in the lower skilled and lower paying jobs. Nevertheless, examples of inequality of pay are found when the earnings of women and men in specific occupations and in the same fields are compared.

Surveys have revealed that among women and men accounting and payroll clerks of the same class, the men were better paid. In addition, salaries of women scientists in 1970 were from $1,700 to $5,100 less than those of men scientists. The greatest gap was between women and men chemists—$10,500 for women as compared with $15,600 for men.

Copies of "Fact Sheet on the Earnings Gap" are available for 10 cents each from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

Emergency Care Can Save Many Lives Each Year

Some 60,000 lives could be saved if presently available knowledge about emergency health care were put into effect today, according to an authority on the delivery of emergency health services.

Writing in the February issue of "The Hospital Medical Staff," a publication of the American Hospital association, Henry C. Huntley, M.D., estimates that $2.25 billion will be needed to develop nationwide ambulance operations and for services rendered to the 50 million persons treated annually in hospital emergency departments.

Today most hospital emergency departments charge about $15 to $20 per patient. The actual cost to the hospital of the service is closer to $30 per patient, exclusive of physician costs. Dr. Huntley states that if his recommendations were incorporated into our emergency system, the cost of an average ambulance run alone could be $75.

"If $80 billion per year is considered as the total cost of the entire medical care system, a $2.25 billion price tag for the emergency medical aspects of the system seems to be relatively modest in terms of patient benefits to be derived," says Dr. Huntley. He is director of the division of emergency health services, health services and mental health administration, public health service, HEW.

Dr. Huntley lists three necessary elements to make emergency services effective:

(1) Ambulance attendants must receive adequate training plus continual upgrading of skills essential for saving lives. The National Academy of sciences-National Research council recommends a minimum of 70 hours of training. Only five per cent of ambulance attendants today have that much training.

(2) Essential supplies and equipment must be available in both ambulances and hospitals. Emergency departments in most U.S. hospitals were planned and organized to handle a patient load about 33 per cent of the present average load.

(3) Two-way radio communication with telemetry for monitoring vital data must be installed to link ambulances and hospital emergency departments. This kind of system allows ambulance attendants to alert the hospital that the patient is coming and to describe this condition. It also enables the emergency department physician to relay treatment instructions to the trained attendants.

In addition, there is a need for an additional 10 million square feet of hospital space to meet increased demands on emergency departments, states Dr. Huntley. Admissions to emergency departments have been increasing at a rate of almost 10 per cent per year for the past 10 years.

"Sew Smart" Is Title For TV Sewing Series

Learning about today's fashion fabrics and improving sewing skills is the object of a television clothing construction series, "Sew Smart."

Beginning March 31 on WDAY Channel 6 and WDAZ Channel 8 at 4:30 p.m., and April 4 at 7 p.m. on KFME Channel 13, Ruth Ann Wilson, extension clothing specialist at Penn state university, and Sarah Cox, clothing instructor at the University of Minnesota, will show how to improve sewing ability. These half-hour programs will show how to alter patterns for a better fit, fabric selection and preparation, setting in sleeves, collars and facings and other techniques.

"Sew Smart" enrollment blanks are available at many of the fabric departments located throughout the county, or persons interested may write or call Linda Amundson, Extension Home Economist, Box 576, Thief River Falls, phone 681-2116. Enroll and receive a free study guide that gives additional information for the television lessons.

This series is presented by the agricultural extension service of the University of Minnesota.

Mondale Remarks On Curtailment Of Rail Service

"A nationwide trend whereby railroads are curtailing service and abandoning lines is hurting rural America. This trend must be reversed in order to assure rural communities a balanced and competitive commercial transportation service," claims Sen. Walter Mondale.

"It is clear from my study of the entire transportation system of rural America that all transportation services here will need to be upgraded if the term 'rural development' is ever to be more than just words," he said. But I feel that we must take some immediate steps to prevent the situation from becoming even worse.

"Several applications for railroad line abandonments are now pending before the Interstate Commerce commission. If these proposed abandonments are approved—and they must not be—the final result will be increased transportation costs to farmers and rural businessmen.

"Railroads are finding it necessary to request abandonments of certain lines because little has been done in recent years to help them remain viable in rural areas. Some railroad beds are several decades old and desperately in need of repair. In Minnesota, some are so bad that trains are required to slow down to less than 20 miles per hour to travel over them," he said.

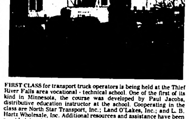
"The deterioration of lines should not be allowed to continue when the railroad is so vital to thousands of communities and millions of people—both for transporting products and passengers. We must find methods of continuing and expanding service while treating realroad companies and other transportation industries equitably.

"In recent years, the Senate has considered several proposals to bail out defense industries or give aid for development of aircraft and space vehicles. I have strongly opposed these proposals—such as the SST and the space shuttle—because of their tremendous cost and very limited down-to-earth value to most citizens," the senator added.

"Why should we spend billions of dollars on a space truck when there are 20 mile-an-hour trains serving some of our most productive farm country? Proponents of the SST and the space shuttle have argued that these projects will create jobs and boost the economy. Well, revitalization of America's realroads would also create jobs—and bring new life to rural areas.

"As a first step toward reviving our railroad service, a national moratorium on reductions in rural rail service is needed now—before any further lines can be discontinued. That is why Senator Humphrey and I have introduced a resolution in the Senate that would halt all further abandonments of rail service until appropriate studies can be made to discover alternative measures, I will also work to defeat provisions in bills like the surface transportation act of 1971 that would make line abandonment easier.

"As our nation did when the railroads were first built,—we must direct national policies toward providing modern, efficient transportation for rural America," he concluded.



FIRST CLASS for transport truck operators is being held at the Thief River Falls area vocational - technical school. One of the first of its kind in Minnesota, the course was developed by Paul Jacobs, distributive education instructor at the school. Cooperating in the class are North Star Transport, Inc.; Land O'Lakes, Inc.; and L. B. Hartz Wholesale, Inc. Additional resources and assistance have been provided by the Minnesota highway patrol, department of transportation and Minnesota department of public safety. In addition to the 64 hours of classroom instruction, the students receive nine hours of actual yard work experience in driving and three hours over - the - road experience. Pictured with the truck above is Kenneth Englund of Grygla.

Speed Is Factor In Many Fatal Auto Accidents

Factor of speed as a cause of fatal motor vehicle crashes is spotlighted in a summary made by the Minnesota department of public safety in an in-depth study of 50 motor vehicle crashes prepared for the U.S. department of transportation.

The studies were made by inter-disciplinary teams provided by a number of universities under contract with the DOT. They were aimed at determining causes and factors in traffic accidents and developing corrective measures. Driver, road and vehicle factors were examined and reported in detail.

"Ten of the 50 accidents studied resulted in fatal injuries," Commissioner W. R. Hoaglund said. "In all of the 10, our summary shows, speed was an important factor, and in a number it appeared to be the sole factor. For example, in one case the driver was going 90 MPH in a 45 MPH zone, failed to make a curve, hit a curb and guard rail and became air-born for 85 feet. His car crossed the median strip and collided head-on with another car, killing the driver and his passenger and injuring two others.

"In only two of the fatal accidents did the investigators find alcohol to be a factor. In one of these, fatigue was assigned as a related factor. Speeding included both direct violations of the speed limits and driving too fast for conditions.

"The department of transportation, by measurements made on specific segments of main rural trunk highways, has determined that the average vehicle speed in 1970 was 60 miles per hour, up one MPH from 1969. It has also determined that 46 per cent of the traffic in off-peak hours exceeds 60 MPH and 13 per cent exceeded 70 MPH."

The Minnesota department of public safety, citing both increased average speeds and increasing - speed limits throughout the country, last year recommended stricter brake standards on new cars, with special consideration for reducing brake fade, Hoaglund said.

In Minnesota each year 96 per cent of the FFA's 13,606 members get leadership experience serving as officers or committee members of local high school FFA chapters.

of space with 85 per cent to be used for merchandising area, due primarily to the pallet loading operation. Although operating in the same general building as Gibson's, the grocery is a completely separate operation which leases the building space, Lofberg said. There are six check-out counters, plus an emergency check-out and a courtesy lane.

Lofberg is a 1961 graduate of Lincoln high school and a 1966 graduate of Bemidji state college with a degree in business and economics. He will make his home in Thief River Falls with his wife Kathleen, daughter Desiree, 7, and son John, 3. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Art Lofberg.

The store is expected to employ about 40 people on a full-time and part-time basis. Super Valu will be the primary supplier for merchandise carried in the store.

Lydia Dahlen Retires Tuesday At NW Hospital

In 1939 Miss Dahlen moved to Chicago, Ill., and took courses at the Children's Memorial hospital in pediatric nursing. She was then employed as head nurse of the cardiac-nephritic services of that hospital and took additional courses at the University of Chicago.

In September of 1942, following the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor and the outbreak of World War II, the 25th evacuation hospital made up of Oak Park, Ill., doctors and nurses was activated. They left Chicago to receive some basic training before leaving for the South Pacific. Miss Dahlen spent 45 months in New Caledonia, the New Hebrides, Hawaii and the United States.

"Those first months were something that one can't imagine," she said. "We cared for our poor boys, with their shattered, twisted bodies and saw the look of pain, fear and terror in their eyes. Our hospital was a tent. The water for our boys was heated in large garbage can type containers over an open fireplace. Our only lights were flashlights. We bathed and washed clothes in the open streams and were always on the alert for an air raid."

Following her discharge from the Army nurse corps in May of 1946, Miss Dahlen was employed for a year in a hospital in Ventura, Calif., then returned to Thief River Falls to be with her mother who was living alone. Prior to becoming associated with Northwestern hospital she was employed for seven years as clinic nurse at the Bratrud clinic.

She joined the Northwestern hospital staff on Nov. 7, 1955, and had various duty positions, including head nurse in the medical and pediatric wards and two years as director of inservice training. She became acting director of nursing on April 7, 1965, and became director on a permanent basis in 1967.

Retirement plans include living in Thief River Falls, doing her spring work with yard and flowers and retaining her interest in church and community work.

SBA Man Will Visit Bemidji Thur., March 9

Herman Rusch, loan officer of the Small Business administration, will be in Bemidji on March 9 to visit with small businessmen interested in obtaining SBA loans, as well as other services.

The SBA provides several services to small firms such as long-term financing along with their many management counseling programs. Most of the loans being made by SBA are under the guaranty plan where SBA may guarantee up to 90 per cent of a bank loan to a small firm.

More information about any SBA programs can be obtained from SBA's Minneapolis office or by an appointment with Rusch through the Bemidji Chamber of Commerce, Bemidji Avenue and Third Street, telephone 751-3540.

DIRECTOR of the string ensemble from Lutheran Brethren schools in Fergus Falls in its concert at Faith Lutheran Brethren church in Thief River Falls Saturday will be Dr. Silas Bergstad. The program in vocal and instrumental music will be presented at 7:30 p.m. with the public invited and no admission being charged. The ensemble is touring the midwestern United States and Canada until Easter.

Military Rites Held for Former Gatzke Woman

Military services for Mrs. Marion A. Mayfield, 53, the former Marion Hagen, who at one time lived at Gatzke, were held February 10 at the Price Funeral chapel at Citrus Heights, Calif. Bishop Lloyd W. Andrees of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints officiated. Interment, with full military honors, was in the Sacramento Memorial cemetery at Sacramento. Mrs. Mayfield died February 7 in Fair Oaks, Calif.

Mrs. Mayfield, the former Marion Agnes Hagen, was born to Dick and Frances Hagen on Nov. 13, 1918 at Golden Valley. She grew up in the Gatzke area and was a graduate of the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston. She spent two years in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corp during World War II. Following her tour of duty with the WAAC, she became a Women's Air Force service pilot and was stationed at Marana, Ariz., as a test pilot. From 1945-46, she was an American Red Cross staff assistant in Seoul, Korea. For a number of years, she served as airline stewardess to Europe and the Far East with the U.S. Overseas Airlines and Capital Airways. Previous to her death, she was employed as secretary at Twin Lakes hospital at Folsom, Calif.

She is survived by her husband, Verne Mayfield of Fair Oaks, Calif., her mother, Mrs. Frances Hagen of Roseau; three sisters: Mrs. Ethel Folda, Mrs. Peter (Grace) Sulstad, both of Lewistown, Mont., and Mrs. Kenneth (Alice) Knutson of Aurora, and five brothers: Lester Hagen of Mountain View, Calif., Maurice of Carson City, Calif., Orrin of Whittier, Calif., and Ralph and Delmar, both of Gatzke.

She was preceded in death by her father, a sister, and her first husband, who was killed in a plane crash in 1951.

Services Held At Trinity For James Ramsey

Funeral services for James S. Ramsey, 90, of this city were held Monday at 2 p.m., a Trinity Lutheran church. A former homesteader in Highlanding township, Pennington county, Ramsey died Thursday at Northwestern hospital.

Rev. Harold Peterson officiated at the services. Mrs. Harold Peterson was the organist and Mrs. Arnold Hammer, soloist. Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery. The Green Funeral home was in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Justin Dahlen, Orlin Hanson, Joe Schlofer, Palmer Lovly, Percy Halvorson and Eugene Prestegaard.

James S. Ramsey was born Feb. 5, 1882 in Albert Lea to Sven and Kari Ramsey. In 1904 he came to Pennington county and homesteaded in Highlanding township. He was married on June 19, 1911 to Sophie Rensla. Following their marriage, the couple lived and farmed in Highlanding township until 1957, when they retired and moved into this city.

While living in Highlanding, he was a member of the Ekelund Lutheran church and served for several years as a member of the church board. He was also a member of the school board of District 50 for many years. Since living here, he had been a member of Trinity Lutheran church.

He is survived by his wife, two sons: Selmer and Palmer Ramsey, both of Thief River Falls; one daughter, Mrs. Clarence (Clara) Dahlen of Goodridge; two granddaughters, a great-grandson; one sister, Mrs. Onie Reed of Spokane, Wash., and two brothers: Julius and Otto Ramsey, both of Albert Lea.

One brother, three half-brothers and a half-sister preceded him in death.

Surviving are his wife; two daughters: Mrs. Marguerite Gray of Winnipeg, and Mrs. James (Alfreda) Anderson of this city; four grandchildren, which include Roger, Sheila and Lynne Anderson, all of this city; and one brother: Harry Frankland of Winnipeg.

E. O. Hagglund Rites To Be Held At St. Hilaire

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 10:30 a.m., at the Calvary Lutheran church in St. Hilaire for Erick "Ole" Hagglund, 86, a long-time resident of that community. Hagglund died Sunday at Northwestern hospital.

Rev. James R. Swanson will officiate at the services. Harold Anderson will serve as soloist and Mrs. James Dalager will be the organist. Interment will be in the Riverside cemetery.

Pallbearers will be Kermit Hanson, Rubert Swanson, Arthur Vik, Melvin Swenson, Alf Lokken and Martin Mosbeck.

The body is reposing at Sinding's Funeral chapel and will repose at the church for one hour prior to the time of services.

Erick Olaf Hagglund, a son of the late Peter and Eva Hagglund, was born Feb. 3, 1886 in Black River township, Pennington county. He was married on Oct. 17, 1908 at St. Hilaire to Mabel Aubol. After their marriage, the couple lived for two years at Holt, and then moved to Montana and later to the state of Washington. In 1918, they returned to St. Hilaire where they farmed for many years. In the later years, Hagglund was engaged as a painter in the St. Hilaire community.

He is survived by his wife, three daughters: Mrs. James (Doris) Malvern of Seattle, Wash., Mrs. Lloyd (Hazel) Bryant of Vacaville, Calif., and Mrs. Steve (Gale) Burke of Westport, Conn.; a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Cora Hagglund of Howard, S. D., 15 grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by one son, Vernon, who died in 1969, four brothers and three sisters.

Selma Johnson, Mother Of TRF Women, Dies

Mrs. Selma Johnson, 92, of Greenbush, mother of Mrs. Bert Erickson and Mrs. Violet Spilde, both of Thief River Falls, died Saturday morning at the Greenbush Community hospital.

Funeral services for Mrs. Selma Johnson were held today (Wednesday) at 2 p.m., at the Community Covenant church at Lake Bronson with Rev. Chester Pinkham officiating. Providing special music were Mrs. Roger Westerberg, soloist and Mrs. Chester Pinkham, organist. Interment will be in the Riverside cemetery at Lake Bronson. Collins Funeral home, Karlstad, was in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Kermit Nelson, Dayles Johnson, Stanley Swanson, Denal Johnson, Clifford Eilertson and Valency Eilertson.

Mrs. Johnson, the former Selma Mylerberg, was born in St. Croix county, Wisconsin on Nov. 9, 1879 to Truls and Anna Mylerberg. As an infant, she came with her parents to Minnesota, where they settled at Northcote. There she attended school and grew to womanhood. On March 27, 1902, she was united in marriage to Carl Fredolf Johnson in Jupiter township, Kittson county, near Kennedy. The couple lived and farmed in the Kennedy area until 1922, when they moved to the Greenbush community. They returned to Kennedy in 1929 and in 1933, they moved to Halma. After her husband's death in December of 1954, Mrs. Johnson lived with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Erickson. Since 1962, she had been a resident of the Greenbush nursing home.

Surviving are her daughters: Mrs. Bert (Stella) Erickson and Mrs. Violet Spilde, both of Thief River Falls; two sons: Winfred Johnson of Lake Bronson and Glen of Kent, Wash.; eight grandchildren, 17 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

In addition to her husband and parents, she was preceded in death by one son, two sisters and five brothers.

Rites Held Here For Mrs. Vern (Jean) Evenson

Funeral services were held at Zion Lutheran church in this city on Tuesday at 10 a.m., for Mrs. Vern C. Evenson, 47, of Des Moines, Iowa. A former resident of this city, Mrs. Evenson died Friday at the Methodist hospital at Des Moines.

Rev. Alexander Stoffel officiated at the services. Mrs. James Dalager was the organist and Harold Anderson, soloist. Interment was in Greenwood cemetery with the Green Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Serving as pallbearers were Milton Reierson, William MacCowan, John Peterson, David Jahnke, Jerrie Hustad and Chester Swanson.

Mrs. Evenson, the former Jean Ilene Evenson, was born Feb. 15, 1925 at Winger to Mr. and Mrs. Charles I. Richards. As a child, she moved with her parents to Plummer where she attended elementary school and two years of high school. She came with her family to Thief River Falls in 1941 and was graduated from Lincoln high school in 1943. She was employed as cashier at the former Montgomery Ward store in this city.

On March 3, 1951, she was married at Zion Lutheran church in this city to Vernon C. Evenson with Rev. Walter Pederson officiating. After their marriage, they moved to Mitchell, S. C., and later to Bismarck, N. D. In 1961, they moved to Des Moines, Iowa where they had since made their home.

She was a teacher's associate with the Des Moines public schools, retiring last year. She was a member of the Grace Lutheran church at Des Moines and was a member of the Za-Ga-Zig Shrine ladies auxiliary.

She is survived by her husband, two sons: Jeffrey and Gary Evenson, all of Des Moines, Iowa; her parents: Mr. and Mrs. Charles I. Richards of this city, one sister, Mrs. Lawrence (Mavis) Swanson of Huntington, Long Island, N. Y., a brother, Charles R. Richards of Thief River Falls, two nephews, four nieces and a great niece.

Mendell Erickson Formerly Of TRF, Dies In Karlstad

Mendell Erickson, 52, a former resident of this city, died unexpectedly early Wednesday morning, February 23, at his home in Karlstad.

Funeral services for Mendell Erickson were held Saturday at the First Lutheran church in Karlstad with Rev. Harley Wheeler and Rev. L. W. Lindholm officiating. Vocal music included a solo by Mrs. Donald Thyren and duets by Rev. and Mrs. Milton Olsen and Rev. and Mrs. Allen Fadel. Mrs. Edward Linde served as organist. Interment was in the Greenwood cemetery at Warren with the Collins Funeral home, Karlstad, in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Vernon Johnson, Marvin Anderson, Roy Anderson, Rodney Brodin, Paul Fish and Lloyd Johnson.

Mendell John Erickson, a son of the late John and Edythe Erickson, was born at Warren on April 20, 1919. As a child, he moved with his parents to Thief River Falls where he attended school and grew to manhood. On Aug. 17, 1940, he was united in marriage at Roseau to Miss Dorothy Ulvin. Following their marriage, the couple made their home in this city where Erickson was employed by the L. B. Hartz Stores.

He was a veteran of World War II, serving with the United States Army Air Force in Normandy and northern France. After he received his discharge in 1945, he returned to this city. In 1957, the family moved to Karlstad where they operated Erickson's Hartz store.

Erickson was active in both church and community affairs. He was a member of the Karlstad Baptist church and at the time of his death was serving as deacon. Since 1966, he had been a member of the Karlstad Board of Education and for the past year had served as clerk of the board. He was also a member of Gideons, International.

Surviving are his wife; three sons: Paul Erickson with the U.S. Navy, stationed at Chula Vista, Calif.; Mark of Minneapolis, and John, at home; and one granddaughter.

Also surviving are his stepmother, Mrs. Esther Erickson, two brothers: Charles and James Erickson, and three sisters: Mrs. Nels (Edla) Holmberg, Mrs. Archie (Pauline) Ptacek, all of Thief River Falls, and Mrs. John (Genevieve) Bowman of Soudan.

In addition to his parents, he was preceded in death by two daughters.

Paul Zachar, 89, Funeral Services Held Here Mon.

TRF Committee For Professional Growth Formed

With appointment of a member from the board of education on Tuesday evening, the professional growth committee for the Thief River Falls public schools has now been formed, according to Supt. William Corliss. The committee will become operable early in March.

The professional growth committee is charged with determining how teachers within the district shall develop in professional growth to retain their certification as teachers. Law creating this situation goes into effect July 1 and the only appeal from the decision of the local committee is directly to the state board of education.

Under the law creating the professional growth committee, teachers are certified when they graduate from college and again upon two years of successful completion of teaching. They then must attain 150 units of credit toward "professional growth" during the next five years to retain their certification. The local committee's task is to establish the criteria and guidelines which determine how the 150 units of credit are to be obtained.

Appointed by board chairman Maynard Wedul Tuesday evening was Rev. Paul Biegner of the board of education. Elected earlier the same day by the faculty were Billie Blankenfeld and Dale Folger for two-year terms and Patrick Klemisch and Arthur Welter for one-year terms. Representing the administration on the seven-member committee are Dr. Milton Hoff and Richard Sauer.

Garden Valley To Distribute New Phone Books

1972 telephone directories will be issued by the Garden Valley telephone company during the next two weeks. This year, for the first time, the books will be delivered door-to-door by Garden Valley personnel.

Some 40 company employees and a number of temporary helpers will participate in the task of distributing nearly 12,000 directories (more than six tons) to subscribers throughout the cooperative's 23-exchange area. Delivery is currently scheduled to begin on March 7, weather permitting.

Included with the March 1972 edition is a protective transparent cover. This durable plastic cover, which can be re-used on future directories, is furnished by the company without charge. Because the 1972 books contain hundreds of new listings and numbers, old directories should be destroyed to avoid using incorrect information.

Where no one is at home, employees will generally leave the books in plastic containers at the subscriber's residence. In the event a subscriber does not receive a new directory within the next two weeks, the Garden Valley office in Erskine should be notified.

MGRI Delegation Visits Officials In Washington

A delegation of 65 persons, headed by M.G.R.I. President Wendell P. Huber of Fergus Falls and State Representative August B. Mueller of Arlington, chairman of the House transportation committee and also chairman of the joint Senate-House committee, arrived in Washington February 28.

The purpose of this delegation is to impress upon Minnesota's Congressional delegation and the administration the need for three major issues:

(1) Preserving the dedication of the highway trust fund. M.G.R.I. argument on this is that there is not enough money available even now to make the highway improvements which the people want, not only to state trunk highways, but also to county roads and municipal streets. Problem of bridge replacements is a particularly pressing problem in our state.

(2) Finding some means to prevent the occasional interruptions of the federal highway trust fund, the holdbacks and the cutbacks. When such holdbacks occur, the state's five-year programs are out the window and there is a great deal of bad feeling from people who have been promised a certain road improvement, then suddenly find they are not going to get it on schedule.

(3) M.G.R.I. is deeply concerned about the great amount of red tape involved even on very small projects where it costs almost as much in manpower to get federal aid as the amount eventually received. It is expected there are some reasonable solutions to this problem.

The delegation is being hosted by Minnesota's 8th District Congressman, John A. Blatnik, and Minnesota's 2nd District Congressman, Ancher Nelsen.

While in Washington, the members are meeting with the Minnesota delegation and the chairman of the Senate public works committee, Senator Jennings Randolph. They also will meet with Francis C. Turner, federal highway administrator, and John E. Hirten, deputy assistant secretary for environment and urban systems, department of transportation.

M.G.R.I. President Huber and Representative August Mueller presented the above views to the House of Representatives public works committee.

South St. Paul Stockhandlers Strike Settled

Fourteen-week stockhandlers strike at the South St. Paul livestock market is over. The 155 stockhandlers employed by the St. Paul Union Stockyards company agreed to return to work at noon Thursday, ending the longest strike in the history of the South St. Paul stockyards.

A partial crew returned to work on Friday, with the full crew returning on Monday. All commission companies are operating on the South St. Paul Market, and regular services of the South St. Paul stockyards are being conducted as usual.

Propose Change In Reporting Car Accidents

Better and more effective reporting of accidents involving interstate motor carriers is being planned by the bureau of motor carrier safety of the federal highway administration, Minnesota Public Safety Commissioner W. R. Hoglund reported today.

The move is important to Minnesota, he pointed out, because the accident involvement here of the big over-the-road outfits is up to nine or 10 per cent of the involvement of all vehicles.

The proposed new rules, he said, would require detailed telephoned notices to the bureau of all fatal accidents and more vital reports on all accidents. It would also include private carriers under the accident-reporting requirement.

"The new rule would not affect accident reporting to the state department of public safety, which requires a report on every accident involving personal injury or death, or property damage of $100 or more.

"However, the bureau is in a position to get specialized information about these special types of vehicles, and the new program can be expected to develop a great deal of essential facts about the kinds of accidents these vehicles become involved in."

Future Social Workers Formed At Local School

Future Social Workers club at Lincoln high school has undertaken sponsorship of a girls' recreation group at St. Hilaire for fourth, fifth and sixth graders. The club is under supervision of Miss Linda Hilleren, school social worker.

Officers of the 47-member club are Shirley Taylor, president; Nancy Hogan, vice president; and Patti Protz, secretary. The club formed the St. Hilaire group and named it the "Fun and Fitness Club". It meets every Tuesday from 3:45 to 5:30 p.m.

The Future Social Workers club members have taken part in such activities as jogging, ice skating, presenting skits, volleyball, bowling, basketball, tumbling and discussion groups.

The girls also held a Halloween party and Christmas party. Shirley Taylor is working with cheerleaders for the St. Hilaire elementary school basketball team.

Miss Hilleren said the organization provided an opportunity for social activity, leadership and entertainment. She expressed appreciation for parental support and the school administration for allowing late buses for the girls.

Round One Held In TRF School Negotiations

Rodahl, kindergarten route bus driver; Anthony Ricci, junior high school teacher; Patrick Gemlo, junior high school teacher; Viola Koglin, St. Hilaire elementary teacher; Faye Johnson, regional interdistrict (RIC) secretary, Chris Ballas, assistant senior high school principal, and Velma Holmes, speech technician.

Hired were Dale Teigland, kindergarten route bus driver, and Keith O. Myhrer, security custodian. The latter is hired with emergency employment act funds and will have the primary duty of checking school buildings on weekends and holidays. Mrs. Pauline Mikaelsen was also hired as custodial helper through the Inter-County Community council at Oklee.

Leave of absence was approved by the board for Kathleen Lindquist, SLBP teacher, during the period March 27 to April 28 so that she could complete her practice teaching and become certified as a classroom teacher.

The board also approved employment of Warren Anderson as school community education coordinator under the emergency employment act at a rate of $3.65 per hour beginning March 1 for a term up to 240 days. Tenure was granted to F. P. Hamerlinck as director of instruction and to Dr. William Corliss as superintendent. The board also directed the clerk to notify Carol Birkeland, instructor in vocational - technical school cosmetology, in writing of its intent not to offer employment for 1972-73.

Endorsement was given by the board to the Upper Great Lakes proposal for center school equipment on the basis of $125,000 (50 cent) federal, $75,000 (30 per cent) Upper Great Lakes and $50,000 (20 per cent) local school district.

Board president Wedul appointed Rev. Paul Biegner of the board to serve on the professional growth committee of the district. Teachers on the committee include Billie Blankenfeld and Dale Folger, two-year terms; and Patrick Klemisch and Arthur Welter, one-year terms. Administrators on the committee are Dr. Milton Hoff, two-year term, and Richard Sauer, one-year term.

Supt. Corliss informed the board that details are being completed for the lease-purchase arrangement with Arctic Enterprises and that the contract would soon be ready for signatures. Reminders were also issued that the board has meetings on March 6 with the Plummer board and March 9 with the junior college advisory board.

Recommendations presented by Robert Ostazeski, senior high school principal, and Dr. Milton Hoff, junior high school principal, were accepted upon completion of their reports to the board. The senior high school recommendation for 1972-73 was as follows:

(1) Move to the quarter block of extended time for courses that can utilize this mode for 1972-73. It is recommended that any lab-oriented course could be taught in this way, such as industrial arts, agriculture, home economics, science, physical education and some classes in business education;

(2) That all classes be taught with the option that the teacher may release a student for independent study projects if it is done for the best interest of the student. That a multi-disciplinary resource center be maintained for this purpose as well as the library;

(3) It will be necessary to build into the schedule approximately 10 minutes travel time for movement of student traffic to and from the Arctic building.

The junior high school recommendation adopted was as follows:

(1) Attempt to develop a schedule without a "slip" or "Early Bird" schedule;

(2) Develop a schedule without an independent ninth grade flexible schedule;

(3) Develop a schedule utilizing larger blocks of time for instruction which would be more adaptable and modifiable to a middle school.

Rich Porter Is National ASA Race Champion

Rich's brother Tom, 14, longs for the day when he can race in the open class events. Until then, he has to be satisfied with junior races. He won a first in the junior Modified 290 class at Staples Sunday, took a first in Junior Stock II at Alexandria, captured two first places at the States-Dominion races in Thief River Falls and another first place in the KX Classic at West Fargo. Trophies for these races add to the Porter collection.

As might be expected, Rich has some experienced help to thank for his success on the track. His dad, Richard Sr., is his coach, confidant and loyal supporter. He is also chief mechanic, chauffeur, travel agent and track advisor.

"We walk the track before the race and check out the conditions," Richard Sr. says. "Then we gear our clutching and sprocketing to the conditions. I tell Rich how I think he should dirve the track and then he goes ahead and does it. He drives real well for a youngster."

Porter talks about racing and snowmobiles and himself and his son in complete confidence. "I don't think a good racer can worry about speed or injuries," he said. "You can avoid a lot of trouble if you can get into that first corner ahead of the pack. We know we can build the sled that will get Richie there first. After that, all he has to do is stay out in front."

How does the senior Porter gain such confidence? He has been with Arctic's engine development department for three and one-half years and had a hand in building (modifying) most of the engines used by the Arctic racing team this year. He spends nearly every night working on the sleds his boys drive in the weekend races. New rings are put in the machines after every weekend of racing. Other than that, parts replacement is only as needed.

Richard Sr. has raced against Richard Jr. only once in official competition. "He beat me," the senior Porter smiles. "That's when I quit racing."

What's left for a 16-year-old after winning a national championship in his first year of racing? Doesn't it put him in the same position as a youngster who catches a 10-pound walleye on his first fishing trip?

Rich and his dad have their sights for next year set on the World Series of Snowmobiling, to which the top 15 drivers in each of the classes are invited, based on USSA points accumulated during the season. Larry Coltom of the Arctic race team qualified in two classes this year, and team manager Dave Thomspon qualified in another. And there's the St. Paul 500 which Rich couldn't enter this year; he didn't have a driver's license.

This year there are still races to be run, and hopefully to be won. Rich will race this weekend at Silver Bay and later will take part in the annual round-up races at West Yellowstone, Mont. In Montana Rich will run up against the largest concentration of professional drivers he has ever faced and he looks forward to the confrontation.

Arctic Enterprises supports the Porter racers by providing company machines and the parts needed to keep them running. Richard Porter and his boys provide the labor needed to keep the sleds in shape and running on the tracks around the country.

During the summer, Rich likes to water ski and go fishing. It may be a little easier this year. With his racing earnings he has purchases a new boat with inboard-outboard engine.

It's a Silverline, of course.

Senior Citizens Can Get Help On Tax Credit

Help is now available for Goodridge and Thief River Falls area senior citizens who need assistance in filling out the senior tax benefit forms to claim a refund on their 1971 homestead real estate taxes or rent.

Persons in the Goodridge area who think they may be eligible and want help in preparing the refund forms are asked to stop in at the cafe in Goodridge between the hours of 10 a.m. and noon on March 3.

Persons in the Thief River Falls area are asked to stop at the Thief River Falls housing and redevelopment authority, 415 Arnold av. S., on March 3 between 1 and 3 p.m.

Help will be provided by Lowell Enerson and Mary Lou Rindahl, who recently attended special meetings conducted by the state department of taxation and the governor's citizens council on aging to provide them with the necessary training so they will be able to help senior citizens in this area apply for and receive the refunds that may be due them.

REV. Herris Heidenrich, newly appointed missionary to Africa, will be the special speaker at the Northwest section youth rally to be held at the Assemblies of God tabernacle in Thief River Falls Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

Planetarium To Be Installed At Moorhead State

Equipment and installation contracts have been awarded and work started recently at Moorhead state college on a fully-automated planetarium, the first to be provided for the northwest Minnesota-North Dakota region.

The computer-operated planetarium will place at the disposal of MSC students—and hopefully grade and high school students, NDSU and Concordia students and interested adults in the region, through a community-involvement committee being established,—the most sophisticated facility of its kind in a multi-state region.

Expected to be ready for initial use sometime in April, the facility will feature a 30-foot aluminum domed ceiling, a Spitz A-4 planetarium projector and computer-operated machinery that will coordinate slide and sound presentations with the projector. A three-level floor will provide special seating for about 60 people.

For various program presentations, an instructor can reproduce the sky as it appears from any point on the earth at any given time, including the past or future. Also, arrangements can be made for giving an audience views of the earth similar to those enjoyed by the astronauts, according to Dr. Walter Wesley.

Dr. Wesley, chairman of the MSC physics and astronomy department, and Dr. James R. Wertz, assistant professor in the department, are coordinating implementation plans for the new planetarium, which will be housed in Bridges hall on 11th Street South.

Dr. Wesley underscores that, while first priority in use of the planetarium will be given MSC students, every effort will be made to get sufficient financial backing and staffing to make the facility available for other tri-college university students, special programs for regional grade and high school youths, public shows and adult education classes.

Recent awarding of contracts totaling $85,000 to Spitz Laboratories of Chadds Ford, Pa., for the major pieces of equipment and their installation, culminated efforts which began at MSC nearly 10 years ago to obtain such a facility for this region, according to Earl Herring, dean of administrative affairs.

A planetarium was included in 1963, when planning started for Bridges hall, a three-story classroom addition erected on the west side of MacLean hall, MSC's main classroom building for decades.

A 1,000-square-foot room; two stories high, was included when Bridges hall was finally erected in 1967-68, but it was not until 1971 that the Minnesota legislature approved funds for equipping the planetarium.

Adding to the $85,000 the costs of such items as electrical work, carpeting, painting, special cabinet work and so forth means the total investment in the new facility will be well over $100,000, Herring notes, exclusive of the costs of building the room.

Tax Withholding Tables Adjusted For Closer Match

Under the revenue act of 1971, the withholding tables have been adjusted to make the amount of tax withheld from pay checks for 1972 more closely match tax liability for the year, according to George O. Lethert, district director of IRS for Minnesota.

Lethert urged all wage earners to check the amount of federal tax withheld and adjust it if necessary to avoid under or overwithholding. Most taxpayers probably found more federal income tax being withheld after Jan. 16, 1972 than they had anticipated due to the new revenue act.

In the past, Lethert said, many taxpayers had been claiming fewer exemptions than they were entitled to in order to avoid paying additional tax at the end of the year. These persons, by filing a new withholding exemption certificate (Form W-4) with their employer, may now claim all the exemptions and special allowances to which they are entitled. They no longer need to claim fewer exemptions to avoid paying large income tax bills each April.

Under the new withholding tables, certain taxpayers may also claim a "special withholding allowance," which is like another exemption. It can only be claimed for withholding purposes, not on income tax returns.

A single person or married person whose wife or husband does not work is entitled to claim the special withholding allowances. However, it may not be claimed by a person who works at two jobs concurrently. Single persons with incomes under $25,000 and married taxpayers with incomes under $31,000 should claim the special withholding allowance if they qualify.

Additional withholding allowances may also be claimed by taxpayers who have large itemized deductions. The Form W-4 contains a table that will show the number of additional allowances that may be claimed for large itemized deductions. These allowances, like the special withholding allowance, may be claimed only for withholding purposes, not on income tax returns.

The director stated that the amount of tax withheld in 1972 will decrease for an estimated 47 million taxpayers if they claim all the exemptions and extra allowances to which they are entitled. Most taxpayers who do not claim all exemption allowances to which they are entitled will receive refunds when they file their income tax returns in 1073.

Forms W-4 may be obtained either from employers or Internal Revenue services offices.

Rokke To Attend Radio Meeting At St. Cloud

Representatives of 13 of the state's public education institutions will be at St. Cloud state college Thursday for a radio conference. Howard Rokke, audio-communications instructor, will represent the Thief River Falls area vocational - technical school.

The state-wide meeting will include all institutions which have or are preparing to have educational radio stations, according to E. Scott Bryce, conference coordinator and director of educational radio and television activities at St. Cloud.

Objective of the conference is to determine available resources and develop methods of cooperation to improve each of the stations represented, Bryce said.

The meeting is a follow-up to a conference of the same group January 27 in St. Cloud.

Pvt. Blankenfeld Gains Promotion In U.S. Army

Laurie K. Blankenfeld, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billie D. Blankenfeld, Thief River Falls, recently was promoted to private pay grade E-2 upon completion of basic training at the Women's Army Corps center, Ft. McClellan, Ala.

The promotion was awarded two months earlier than is customary under the army policy providing incentive for outstanding trainees. The promotion was based on her military bearing, leadership potential and scores attained during the training.

During eight weeks of training, she received instruction in army history and traditions, administrative procedures, military justice, first aid and field training.

Pvt. Blankenfeld is a 1971 graduate of Lincoln high school, Thief River Falls.

Form Council For Hiring Ex-Criminals

Council for ex-offender employment has been formed to bring together for the first time agencies in Minnesota that are concerned with the training and employment of ex-criminal offenders.

The council, formed in November, includes members from over thirty organizations such as HIRE, Inc., Job Corps and the state division of vocational rehabilitation that work to train and employ the ex-offender. College faculty and businessmen are represented also.

"What is significant about the council is that for the first time organizations that are involved in prison reform and ex-offender employment have agreed to sit down together to discuss their common problems," said one member of the council.

The council will work to expand the almost non-existent training programs in Minnesota's prisons and to break community prejudice against hiring ex-offenders.

There were 19 persons present when the Senior Citizens met for their weekly meeting on Thursday, February 24th. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bruce and Mark Chwialkowski were visitors. The men folks kept busy all afternoon ripping the coverings of Arctic scrap, leaving the filling to be fluffed for future pillow-making or quilt batts. A few ladies tied and finished a crazy quilt they had on order. The other ladies continued to featherstitch on more crazy quilt blocks. This quilt will be predominantly blue with the featherstitching of black floss. Herbert supplied the music on Thursday by playing some tunes on the accordian. Sincere sympathy goes to Florence Stennes and her family in the loss of a husband and father. He came to the Center quite often, and if not for the whole afternoon, he would always have coffee there. Thanks to Mildred, who has kept the pathway open to the Center this winter, and thanks to Gust for helping to blow some of the snow away before the Thursday meeting. Games were played after lunch until all prizes on hand were won.

4 Manufacturers Recall Safety Seats For Child

Four manufacturers of children's auto safety seats are engaged in recall campaigns and other corrective actions after the national highway safety administration determined that their seats failed to meet the tests prescribed in a standard adopted a year ago.

As a result, owners of Cosco child seats numbers 13-168 and 13-169 are being advised to return the seats to Cosco Household Products, Inc., Columbus, Ind. They will be replaced without charge. The model numbers are found on the under side of the seat.

Those who have purchased the Taylor Tot seat model numbers 786 and 787 are being advised to take them to the dealers where they were purchased and exchange them for redesigned seats at no cost. The model number is found on the under side of the seat.

Revised installation instructions are being issued to correct short comings of seats made by two other manufacturers. Pride Trimble, Inc., Burbank, Calif. 91502, is advising buyers of models 875 through 879 manufactured between April 1 and November 30 that the vehicle safety belt should be placed around the child when used on General Motors 1971 and 1972 cars.

Similar advice covering all installations is being given owners who purchased Buckeye model 1280 and 1290 made between April 1 and November 10. Manufacturer is BUCKEYE Plastic Co., Reynoldsville, Ohio, 40368.

The highway safety administration adopted a standard April 1, 1971 specifying minimum strength and performance tests for child's car seats. It is now developing a standard for infants' car beds and infant carriers.

House Passes Legislation On Development

U.S. House of Representatives passed last week rural development legislation which includes $605 million for anti-pollution projects in non-metropolitan areas, according to 7th District Congressman Bob Bergland.

The legislation increased to $500 million funds for construction of water and waste disposal facilities," Bergland said. It also increased from $100 million to $500 million the amount of new unsold loans that may be held in the agriculture credit insurance fund and allows ACIF to pay interest subsidies to lenders who have guaranteed or insured loans. The bill also provides cost-sharing funds for water quality and agricultural waste management within watershed districts.

Bergland said that one of the most important aspects of the legislation was a provision authorizing operating loans to rural young people for enterprises under agricultural training programs and the easing of loan requirements for young people taking part in these programs. "This is the first step in bringing about new credit policies for young people under all agricultural assistance programs which will encourage, rather than discourage, them from farming," Bergland said.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Mr. Editor:

First let me say I'm a native Thief River-ite, and proud of it. We have made many strides forward in the last few years. Our school system is a good one. The administration is always looking for ways to make it even better. Our service organizations are busy raising funds for all types of charities, and this is as it should be. Concern for our fellow man is great. Our Chamber of Commerce are putting their heads together to make our business community as attractive to the consumer as possible. This is also as it should be. It's all progress!!!

There is just one area in which we don't seem to be thinking about. That is providing a place for our teen-agers to go. It just seems to me (a mother of one teen-ager and another fast approaching that age) there should be a place for kids to go that would be their own. A place to dance, or play games (cards, pool, etc.) or just sit and shoot the breeze and have a bottle of pop. After football, basketball and hockey games there is no place for them to go and let off steam, accept riding around in someone's car or a house party.

The only place to go on a date is the movies, (and have you seen the nature of them lately), and off to a car. How much damage is being done in cars these days?

It just seems somehow a town of our size should be able to provide a place for kids to go to be together. May not solve our problems but could it hurt to try?

There are many technical questions that come up after such an idea. How will it be funded, where would it be, what shall the operation be? In a town that has progressed as ours has, this should not be an insurmountable problem.

Yours truly,
(Name withheld on Request)

Dear Editor,

I am writing in regard to the letter in the Thief River Falls Times paper from Mrs. Iverson about the announcer at the snowmobile races in town who undoubtedly was against Arctic Cat.

I must agree with Vernon Nelson that the announcer was ignorant and illmannered or he never would have come to Thief River Falls and supported snowmobiles much inferior to the Arctic Cats.

If he made those few decent remarks on Saturday, maybe it was to attract a larger crowd on Sunday so he could knock Arctic Cat to more people at one time. I believe it is bad enough to knock an Arctic Cat anywhere, but it is especially bad to do that right in the town where the world famous and the best of all snowmobiles, the Arctic Cat, is manufactured.

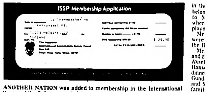
In my opinion, anybody who thinks the announcer was better than the races, must definitely be against Arctic, since Arctic Cat took 31 places out of a possible 47 places, and Polaris took only 13 places. Just because 10 families liked the announcer doesn't really mean anything because they could be anti-Arctic. I talked to about 20 different people and they all agreed with Vernon Nelson as I certainly do!

The fact that he brought his family with could possibly mean that he wanted more people in town to go against Arctic Cat.

Also, I did not appreciate the way he talked about Lowell Swenson. Lowell Swenson has certainly helped the employment problem in Thief River Falls by keeping Arctic Enterprises in town. Now he and his wife are going to help the school board acquire the Arctic building.

Sincerely,
Wayne Tweten

If you hear a steady thumping noise while driving, and can't find the cause, one of your tires may be severely underinflated, possibly the result of a slow leak.



ISSP Membership Application

ANOTHER NATION was added to membership in the International Snowmobile Safety patrol this week when an application and $25 membership fee was received from Helsinki, Finland. Organized as a safety program through Arctic Enterprises in Thief River Falls, the ISSP now has about 16,000 members in the United States and Canada. . .and Helsinki, Finland.

ON VACATION recently at Sun City, Ariz., were Mr. and Mrs. K. N. Halldin of Thief River Falls.

School Students To Share $20,000 At State Fair

State elementary and high school students will share $20,000 in education department premiums during the 1972 Minnesota state fair, August 25 through September 4.

Competitive rules and premium lists are being mailed to Minnesota schools this week.

Displays in the fair's education building will follow the theme "School and Community." The theme gives booth exhibitors an opportunity to show how their programs relate to community needs, according to Forrest Bear, department superintendent.

In addition to prizes for best booths, the fair will reward students for excellence in agricultural mechanics, industrial arts, pep bands, choruses, quiz contests and educational demonstrations.

Bear emphasized that the range of education department activities is broad enough so most students will find an area within which to compete. Teachers and students desiring additional information should contact the Minnesota state fair, St. Paul 55108.

The American Conscience

by Dr. RUDY SKOGERBOE

Last week precinct caucuses were held throughout the state. The major interest was centered in the DFL where there are many candidates running for President. I wonder, however, how much time and effort was spent on one major and serious question confronting the midwest. This is the effect of crippling strikes on our economy.

We have just suffered through another long dock strike involving our major shipping ports. An important effect of these strikes was the loss of exports to agriculture. Foreign buyers have waited long for this strike to end and have been forced to look elsewhere for what they need. Senator John Tower of Texas stated recently that the West Coast dock strike alone cost our Nation's farmers well in excess of $215 million. This was a small loss compared to the potential long-range effect.

As the foreign markets become more wary of our ability to ship products when and where they are needed, the natural effect will be to lose foreign markets.

David Lawrence, Editor of U.S. News and World Report, emphasized the need for Congress to use the power it already has to control this problem. Congress, however, has for two years refused to act and the result in President Nixon's words are, "We can and we must end this dispute, as the wheat farmers have suffered the worst calamities of all."

Why hasn't Congress moved to change this deplorable situation? Is it not done for fear of losing big labor support? In Minnesota where even the party name indicates the DFL as being part of the labor movement, this fear seems very real. Also, I have not heard any great hue and cry from the Republican Party either in this matter. I believe no party should be controlled by any single group and whether it is or not depends on the members of both parties.

The fact that labor is pricing itself out of world markets should be a warning to us. The steel industry is falling behind Russia in total production and even our defense industry has to turn to foreign suppliers for the quality and the price it wants.

It is my opinion that politics for the sake of continuing the party is a luxury our Country cannot afford. Those of us who have nothing to gain by being politically ambitious should make this clear to party leaders. It will be my hope that at least one party will be able to make its voice heard in the matter of labor legislation and control. No one group should have the power to paralyze our economy or our transportation system. Simple changes in the laws can make this a reality, but do we have the courage to do it? Time is not on our side in this matter. As foreign economies become more sophisticated, we might find ourselves in real trouble.

Value Of Farm Livestock Gains By 15 Per Cent

Year-end strengthening of some livestodk prices is reflected in a 15 per cent increase in the valuation of Minnesota's livestock and poultry inventory on January 1, according to Agriculture commissioner Jon Wefald.

Figures compiled by the state-federal crop and livestock reporting service of the Minnesota department of agriculture estimate the inventory value at $1,046,876,000. That is an increase of $135,268,000 over the Jan. 1, 1971, livestock-poultry value.

Beef and dairy cattle account for $919,540,000 of the total and for $119,940,000 of the gain although the total inventory was the same as a year ago, 3,998,000 animals. The key factor was a $30 increase in the value of the average animal to $230.

Commissioner Wefald pointed out that on a 1,000-pound steer the increased value to the farmer represents only three cents a pound more than a year ago.

Hogs were pegged at an average worth of $29 per animal last January 1, up $6 from a year earlier. Value of the four per cent lower inventory of 3,544,000 hogs is estimated at $102,776,000, or $17,860,000 more than the year before.

Turkey breeder hens are the only gainer in both inventory and average value. The 1972 count (taken last December 1) was 486,000, five per cent more than a year before, and the value is up 80 cents to $5.80 per hen. Inventory value is $2,819,000.

Despite an increase in inventory to 14,048,000 chickens, up two per cent for the year, the value dropped $1,307,000 to $15,453,000 because of a dime per bird decline.

Sheep and lambs dropped in inventory, average price and value. The count was down by 37,000 to a total of 467,000. The average price for stock sheep was $18.50, down $1.50 for the year, and the value was estimated at $9,107,000 a cut of $1,225,000.

Bergland Says Caucuses Show A New Vitality

Praising record participation in last week's Republican and DFL caucuses, U.S. Rep. Bob Bergland predicted "a new vitality" for both political parties in Minnesota and said the turnout demonstrated a recognition that the political process is the best vehicle to accomplish change."

Welcoming "new faces", expecially younger voters taking an active part in the political process for the first time, Bergland said that "the combination of new ideas and experience will benefit our entire society."

Noting that reports from all parts of Minnesota indicate that the majority of younger voters attended DFL caucuses, the 7th District Congressman added: "I believe that they recognize that our party is most concerned about the need to reorder our national priorities and most receptive to new approaches to our many problems."

Bergland, who was in Minnesota during the caucuses, said he was "most impressed" by the "thoughtful and compassionate" resolutions developed in many caucuses. He urged those who attended the caucuses "to remain active throughout the lective process" to insure the election of the candidates they support and the adoption of their views.

"Political battles are often long and slow, but a cause cannot prevail without continued work and dedication," Bergland concluded.

Bus Operators Urged To Report Safety Problems

Arthur C. Tomlinson, executive vice president of Minnesota AAA today urged Minnesota's school bus operating and maintenance personnel to heed a recent request by the department of transportation (DOT).

DOT's national highway traffic safety administration, he said, is asking that it be kept informed whenever safety problems with school buses arise.

Tomlinson points out that this data is especially important now because NHTSA is currently engaged in consolidating existing federal standards for school buses.

The government's request is made in a new NHTSA booklet entitled, "School Bus Safety Problems" which the agency plans to send to state directors of school bus transportation for dissemination to various school districts.

Information on safety problems of school buses should be sent to the Office of Defects Investigation, National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, 400 Seventh Street, S.W. Washington, D.C. 20590.

The government, however, is asking that accidents resulting from mechanical or electrical failures be "promptly reported" by telephoning 202-426-2847.

The AAA official also advised all persons involved with the maintenance of school buses to study the new booklet, which resulted from a nationwide survey in which many school bus operators and maintenance personnel participated.

Some 56 separate maintenance problems are described and illustrated in the booklet, including brakes, clutches, steering and suspension factors, exhaust systems and hood and latch systems. Fire prevention also is discussed.

"The fact that relatively few fatalities and serious injuries have resulted from school bus accidents," Tomlinson added, "should not allow us to ignore methods by which bus safety hazards can be minimized."

February meeting of the Black River 4-H club was held February 10. A total of 40 members responded to roll call by reading a valentine and giving it to the person on his right. A total of 59 people were there.

New business was the Winter shows, 4-H adult leader retreat and interstate leaders forum. Treasurer and secretary reports were read and approved.

Movies were given on trout fishing and surfing by Mark Naplin, who was in charge of the program. In charge of recreation was the Donald Mosbeck family. Lunch was served by the Veral Mosbeck and Howard Hesse families. Pam Steiger, reporter.

Star

Regular meeting of Star 4-H was held Sunday evening, February 20, at the Orlin Hanson home with President Cheryl Race presiding. Roll call response was to the question: "How many pounds of milk are produced on the Eddie Stuey farm each day?" The flag pledges were given, followed by singing led by Freddie Parnow and Mrs. Orlin Hanson. The secretary's report was read and approved. The leaders council report was read and discussed by Mrs. Orlin Hanson.

The club play and share the fun acts were brought up and each member was encouraged to take part. The outdoor activity was discussed again and junior leaders will be taking care of this.

Dean Hanson gave a project talk and also showed a piece of new equipment which he had added to his shop. Tommy Race gave his first project talk.

Cheryl Race gave a sewing demonstration on "The Different Types of Seam Finishings."

The program consisted of listening to the tape recording of the club's radio program and also the speech by Dean Hanson which he had given in the public speaking contest.

Recreation was led by Dale Hanson. Lunch was served by the Hanson family. Dale Hanson, reporter.

Leader's council

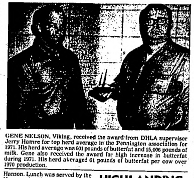
February meeting of the Pennington county 4-H leader's council was held February 7 in the courthouse meeting room. The meeting was called to order by Wilbur Hallstrom. Flag and 4-H pledges were said. Roll call was taken. The secretary's report was read and approved. The treasurer's report was given with $1,312.21 reported in the treasury.

Winter shows were announced for February 16-19. The 4-H members will ride to the shows on a school bus. Ray Rausch moved that the council pay for an evening meal for the 4-Hers attending the Winter shows. The motion was seconded and carried. Only one leader has applied to attend the Interstate Leaders Forum, March 20-25, in Washington, D. C. More leaders are encouraged to apply.

Record book covers for the new members were handed out. The favorite food show will be March 25. All members in foods and home improvement are encouraged to participate. An adult leader retreat will be held April 6 and 7. This will be a two-day leader training exercise. Camp councelor workshop for the junior leaders participating in 4-H camp at Lake Sarah will be held at Kare Phree Pines May 4-6.

Sue Adamson gave the championship speech that she gave for the radio speaking contest. Nancy Hogan was reserve champion. Lynn Finstad, reporter.

MARLAN AUGUSTINE received the award for top producing cow in Pennington DHIA for 1971. The record achieved by this cow was 868 pounds of butterfat and 19,740 pounds of milk. Presenting the award is Jerry Hamre, DHIA supervisor.



GENE NELSON, Viking, received the award from DHIA supervisor Jerry Hamre for top herd average in the Pennington association for 1971. His herd average was 601 pounds of butterfat and 15,006 pounds of milk. Gene also received the award for high increase in butterfat during 1971. His herd averaged 61 pounds of butterfat per cow over 1970 production.

Ben Christianson Attends St. Paul Land Bank Meet

Ben Christianson of Greenbush recently returned from a meeting of the Seventh District FLBA advisory committee at the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul. Christianson is one of 11 members elected by Federal Land Bank association boards of directors in their areas to consult with the board of directors and officers of the bank in St. Paul.

The St. Paul land bank makes long term loans available through 58 associations in North Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan.

During the recent two and one-half day meeting, the advisory committee discussed the implementation of the Farm Credit Act of 1971. Under the farm credit act of 1971, the Federal Land banks are authorized to make rural housing loans.

The act also permits land banks to make loans up to 85 per cent of the appraised value of the real estate offered as secretary to qualified applicants. Christianson indicated it would be perhaps June or July before regulations would permit associations to exercise their new authority.

Christianson serves on the board of directors of the Federal Land Bank association of Warren, which serves 7½ counties in northwestern Minnesota. Presently the association has 841 members with loans outstanding in excess of $8 million.

Funds are obtained by the Federal Land bank of St. Paul through the sale of land bank bonds to the investigating public.

Granite Falls Tech Institute Offers Accounting

Granite Falls area technical institute recently received approval from the vocational education division and the state school board to offer a course in municipal, governmental and institutional accounting.

Course will be a first in the state of Minnesota for specific training of people in governmental accounting. Results of a survey conducted indicate that a need for trained people in governmental accounting is present in the various units of government. Employment opportunities at state and local level are projected to increase by 52 per cent by 1980, according to the U.S. Department of Labor.

The course will consist of training in budgeting, financing, record keeping, reporting, laws and statutes, and other accounting procedures common in governmental accounting. Upon completion of the training program, students will find employment in cities, villages, hospitals, schools, counties, and other governmental agencies in their accounting departments and offices.

The length of the course will be nine months for students who have completed a one-year post high school accounting program or have had previous accounting experience. To find out more about this career opportunity that will begin in the fall of 1972, contact the area technical institute at Granite Falls.

Holstein Cows At Crookston High Producers

A report of milk production levels attained by dairy cows in the area has been received from Holstein-Friesian association of America. The actual food production output, recorded in the DHIR program, by these local Registered Holsteins is:

Minscho Stella Standard 6715602, a four-year-old, produced 16,780 pounds of milk and 661 of butterfat in 305 days. U-Of-Minn C Comet Della Happy 7142073, a two-year-old, had 15,050 pounds of milk and 593 pounds of butterfat in 353 days. Both are included in the herd tested for the University of Minnesota at Crookston.

These new production figures may be compared to the estimated annual output of 9,388 pounds (4,366 quarts) of milk and 345 pounds of butterfat by the average U. S. dairy cow, notes the National Holstein association.

Production testing is made available through the cooperative efforts of the state and local testing associations and Holstein-Friesian association of America. Dairymen enrolled in the program pay for the service.

Bemidji & EGF Meet In Finals

Bemidji and East Grand Forks will collide tonight (Wednesday) in the Thief River Falls sports arena in the championship game of the region eight hockey tournament, beginning at 7:30.

The winner will advance into next week's Minnesota state high school tournament at Metropolitan Sports Arena in Bloomington, while the loser gets one more shot at a state tourney berth Saturday night at Bemidji when it takes on the runner-up squad from region seven for the region three title. International Falls and Grand Rapids will meet in the region seven title game tomorrow night at Duluth.

The Lumberjacks and Green Wave have met just once this season, with the Jacks grabbing a 4-1 triumph. Bemidji will enter the game as the heavy favorite with a current 17-4-1 record while the upstart Waves will try for the role of spoiler with their 9-12-1 slate.

There will be student and adult tickets on sale at the arena ticket window for tonight's game.

Boss Cat 11 Sets New Speed Mark

New world speed record for snowmobiles was set by Charlie Lofton, racing director of Arctic Enterprises, when he drove the Boss Cat II at 131.58 miles per hour Saturday at Roseau. The speed was officially timed at the International Speed Record championships held in connection with the Mid-Continent Sno-Mo-Cade.

Lofton told the Times in a telephone interview this week that the record was set on four-tenths of a mile with a half-mile run to the starting lights. He said that he drove the machine at 7,500 rpm and that the twin tracks cut two grooves down the track as they never quit spinning for the entire length of the course.

This Sunday the Boss Cat II will run at the Twin Cities Dragway at Coon Rapids where a number of other high speed snowmobiles are expected to compete. The race there will be sponsored by the American Snowmobile association in conjunction with the National Hot Rod association. With a half-mile timed run, Lofton is hopeful of reaching 150 miles per hour.

Arctic racers also fared well over the weekend as the racing team split up to cover races at Beausejour, Manitoba, and Roseau. Larry Coltom cleaned house in the Canadian Power Toboggan championships at Beausejour when he became the first driver to win first place in the 290, 340 and 440 classes. Gaston Ferland won the 650 class and Evon Duhamel the 800 class, both riding Ski-Doo machines.

Lofton also provided the following results from the Mid-Continent Sno-Mo-Cade at Roseau:

Stock A—LeRoy Prudzinski, Arctic Cat; James Burkholder, Arctic Cat; Rob Swenson, Arctic Cat;

Stock B—Bob Bromley, Arctic Cat; Prudzinski; Swenson;

Stock C—Brad Hamms, Polaris; Walter Berguid, Polaris; and Jim Safranski, Polaris;

LAKER GOALIE Dan Carlson gets an assist from freshman defenseman Mike Neitzke in stopping a shot by the Green Waves' Jeff Smith in Monday's region eight action in the sports arena. East Grand Forks won the game 7-2 to earn a spot in tonight's championship game against Bemidji. The winner of tonight's game will advance into next week's state tournament while the loser will get one more chance for a state tourney berth when it takes on the runner-up team from region seven at Bemidji Saturday night in the region three play-off game.

Lumberjacks Skate By Warriors 6-1 In Region Eight Tournament

Bemidi's impregnable defense, anchored by the performance of senior blueliner Gary Sargent and sophomore goalie Jeff Wizner, led the Lumberjacks to a surprisingly easy 6-1 semi-final win over Warroad in the region eight hockey tournament Monday night in the Thief River Falls sports arena.

During the regular season the Lumberjacks limited its opposition to a mere 2.4 goals per game, with the tiny Wizner posting three shutouts. Bemidji's defensive unit has performanced even better during the Lumberjacks' two tournament games with a 2-0 win over Roseau and the 6-1 triumph over Warroad.

The Lumberjacks had their hands full against the ever-improving Warriors in Monday's first period as the Jacks barely managed to carve out a narrow 2-1 lead in the hard hitting stanza.

Bemidji started the game by collecting two penalties as the Lumberjacks skated two men short for 46 seconds. But the Bemidji penalty skating unit of Greg Hensrud, Pat Russell and Sargent skated effortlessly during the two man disadvantage and as soon as Ed Demery stepped back onto the ice the Jacks grabbed a 1-0 lead. Demery stole a Warroad pass at mid-ice and skated in on Warrior goalie Jason Schnurr untouched for an unassisted goal with 5:27 left.

The Lumberjacks went in front 2-0 when Russell grabbed Dave Howe's lead pass while steaking down the left boards. Russell flipped the puck over Schnurr's shoulder into the high corner of the net with just 33 seconds remaining in the first period.

The Warriors cut the difference to just 2-1 going into the middle period when sophomore wing Gordon Olson scored with only 16 seconds left in the first stanza, on assists from Pete Roberts and Dave Kvarnlov.

Both teams played a more wide open game in the second period, instead of the close-checking style employed in the opening canto, but the Warriors still found it next to impossible to get through the Lumberjack defensive brigade.

Bemidji went in front 3-1 when Sargent executed a beautiful deke on Schnurr, sending the Warrior goalie to his knees, on a clean breakaway with 5:57 remaining in the second period.

The Jacks took a 4-1 lead into the last stanza when Russell tipped in Dick Howe's hard slap shot from the right point with 1:58 left in the second period.

Dave Howe flipped a loose puck high into the net on a scramble in front of the Warroad net with 3:01 remaining in the game to increase the Lumberjack lead to 6-1 and Lee Olson finished the game's scoring by slipping behind a Warrior defenseman for an unassisted goal with 1:35 remaining.

Wizner stopped 20 Warroad shots during the game while Schnurr was kept busy with 33 Bemidji shots on goal.

First Period

SCORING—Bemidji, Ed Demery, unassisted, 5:27 remaining. Bemidji, Pat Russell, assisted by Dave Howe and Dick Howe, :33 remaining. Warroadl, Grodon Olson, assisted by Pete Roberts and Dave Kvarnlov, :16 remaining.

PENALTIES—Bemidji, Ed Demery, tripping, 7:21 remaining. Bemidji, Earl Sargent, tripping, 6:37 remaining.

SAVES—Bemidji, Jeff Wizner 7. Warroad, Jason Schnurr 19.

Second Period

SCORING—Bemidji, Gary Sargent, unassisted, 5:57 remaining. Bemidji, Pat Russell, assisted by Jim Conway, 1:58 remaining.

PENALTIES—Bemidji, Lee Olson, roughing, :58 remaining.

SAVE—Bemidji, Jeff Wizner 8. Warroad, Jason Schnurr 9.

Third Period

SCORING—Bemidji, Pat Russell, assisted by Dave Howe and Gary Sargent, 3:01 remaining. Bemidji, Lee Olson, unassisted, 1:35 remaining.

PENALTIES—Bemidji, Gary Sargent, elbowing, 14:31 remaining. Warroad, Deric Balagus, elbowing, 2:21 remaining.

SAVES—Bemidji, Jeff Wizner 5, game total 20. Warroad, Jason Schnurr 5, game total 33.

WARROAD GOALIE Jason Schnurr appears to be grabbing the stick of Bemidji's Earl Sargent on this play in Monday night's region eight semi-final game in the city arena, but actually, the Warrior junior is reaching for a loose puck during third period action in the Lumberjacks' 6-1 triumph.

University of Minnesota tackled Michigan runningbacks for a record breaking 109 yards in losses during a 1962 Big Ten football game.

Hamilton Tabbed All-Region

Lincoln high school senior center Mike Hamilton was named to the first-team All-Region Eight hockey squad, announced by KTRF radio.

Hamilton led the Prowlers in scoring this season with 23 goals and 11 assists for 34 points during the team's 15-5 regular season campaign.

Named to the first-team forward line along with Hamilton were Dave Kvarnlov of Warroad and Tom Evans of Detroit Lakes.

Defensemen tabbed for the honors were Gary Sargent of Bemidji and Jim Clausen of Crookston while Gordy Hangsleben of East Grand Forks and Willard Comstock of Roseau shared the goalie votes.

Evans was the only underclassman named to the seven man squad. The Laker junior is the first Detroit Lakes player to be named to the team. It was the second year of selection for both Clausen and Hangsleben while Sargent made the "dream team" for the third straight season.

Picked as honorable mention choices were Mike Protz, Tom Wurst and Jeff Bottem of Thief River Falls; John Hosheld of Baudette; Dave Howe and Ed Demery of Bemidji; Mike Hallie of Roseau; Lynn Olson and Dale Pesch of East Grand Forks; and Scott Pearson of Hallock. Bottem was the only underclassman to be tabbed as honorable mention.

Although there is no official region eight all star team, the selections are made by balloting of the region coaches.

Wave Sinks DL 7-2 In Semi's

Rick Budge's East Grand Forks hockey team has this "thing" about revenge. During the regular season the Green Wave lost to both Thief River Falls and Detroit Lakes, but "East Side" avenged the losses with victories in the quarter and semi-finals of the region eight tournament in the TRF sports arena to advance into tonight's championship game against Bemidji.

Detroit Lakes was the latest East Grand Forks victim as the Wave washed out the Lakers 7-2 in Monday night's semi-final action to earn the right to appear in the title game for the second straight year. Last season East Grand Forks lost an 8-1 decision to Roseau in the region eight championship game, but gained a spot in the state tournament with a 5-4 win over Eveleth in the region three play-off game.

Lynn Olson has led the recent Wave surge as the senior center collected four goals and two assists in the Laker triumph. In the two play-off games for the Wave, Olson has scored seven goals and added three assists for ten points. Olson's forward line, with Dave Flom and Dale Pesch on the wings, has collected ten goals and nine assists in the two region games.

Detroit Lakes suffered defensive lapses Monday night as the Lakers had trouble clearing the puck out of their own end. Key interceptions and sharp passing for the Green Wave built a 3-0 "East Side" lead before the Lakers scored with just 42 seconds remaining in the first period.

Flom opened the game's scoring just 55 seconds into the contest as Pesch stole the puck away from a Laker defenseman and set up Flom in front for a quick 1-0 lead. Flom found Olson standing unmolested in front of the Laker net with 4:37 remaining and the lanky center gave the Wave a 2-0 advantage with a quick wrist shot.

Olson scored his second goal of the game and increased the Wave lead to 3-0 when he grabbed Bill Mero's headmanning pass and broke in on Laker goalie Dan Carlson untouched. Olson deked Carlson to his knees and scored on a close range backhand.

The Lakers countered on Rich Johnson's goal in the waning moments of the first period. Johnson received the puck in front from a face-off just to the left of Wave goalie Gordy Hangsleben and shoveled the disk past the Wave netminder for a 3-1 contest going into the second period.

Both teams exploded in the middle stanza as the goalies were kept extremely busy. Carlson kicked out 11 Green Wave shots while Hangsleben was credited with 10 saves in the canto.

Olson raced the Laker goalie for a loose puck in the second period and, although Carlson did manage to knock the puck aside, Olson reached it before the Laker netminder was able to scramble back to his crease and slid in a long shot for a 4-1 game with 11:32 remaining.

Detroit Lakes appeared ready to make a battle out of it when freshman Mike Neitzke scored on a power play with 8:43 left in the second period. But the Green Wave maintained the upper hand throughout the rest of the period and wasted little time increasing their lead once the final canto started. Olson's unassisted breakaway just 41 seconds into the third period made it 5-2.

Junior wing Dave Hangsleben upped the Wave count to 6-2 as he bounced the puck over Carlson's stick with 8:22 left in the game. Flom finished the scoring on a 15-foot blast with just 43 seconds remaining.

Carlson came up with 32 saves for the Lakers while Hangsleben kicked aside 23 shots.

BEMIDJI CENTER Lee Olson (top of photo) scored the Lumberjacks' final goal on this play during Monday's region eight semi-final game in the sports arena. Giving Warroad goalie Jason Schnurr a helping hand on the play is the Warriors' Tim McKinnon.

DETROIT LAKES' Jeff Caulfield and East Grand Forks' Denny Jabs appear to be to busy to notice the puck beneath them while Green Wave goalie Gordy Hangsleben gets down on this hands and knees in an attempt to knock the disk away during Monday's semi-final region eight action in the Thief River Falls sports arena. East Grand Forks won the game 7-2 to advance into tonights championship game against Bemidji, beginning at 7:30.

Northland Skaters Face Rainy River In State Meet

Northland state junior college will take on defending champion Rainy River in the first game of the Minnesota junior college state hockey tournament Saturday and Sunday at Grand Rapids.

The Northmen and Voyageurs will play at 6 p.m. Saturday, while Lakewood and pre-tourney favorite Itasca collide at 8 o'clock in the IRA arena. The losers will play in Sunday's consolation game at 6 p.m., while the winners meet at 8 o'clock. The top two teams will advance into the national junior college tournament next week at International Falls.

Northland hasn't fared too well against Rainy River this season, losing all four meetings with the International Falls-based sextet. The Northmen lost 7-4 and 5-3 at International January 7 and 8, while suffering 9-4 and 8-5 defeats in Thief River Falls Feburary 11 and 12.

Northland head coach Swede Lund is expected to use either freshman Tom Matanich or sophomore Maurie Pearson in the nets in the two-day tournament while the blueline corps will pair sophomores Jeff Baumgartner and Rick Lindegard, sophomores Gary Halvorson and John Hellquist, and freshman Doug Palm and Paul Johnson together.

On the forward lines Lund will have Leo Marshall centering an all sophomore line with Rich Ellerbusch and Rodney Bolduc on the wings. Another line will find sophomore Bob Lundbohm centering freshman wings Mark Haughes and John Barger. Leonard Kotta and Roger Erickson are expected to see action also.

Lundbohm, a Roseau graduate, led the Northmen in scoring during the regular season with 27 goals, 33 assists and 60 points during Northland's 12-10 campaign. Marshall was second on the scoring parade with 28 goals and 28 assists for 56 points while Ellerbusch and Bolduc each collected 38 points on 21 goals and 17 assists each. Hughes scored 17 goals and 19 assists for 36 points while Baumgartner added 13 goals and 22 assists for 35 points.

Itasca captured the MJCAA conference crown with a first place finish during the regular season while Rainy River slipped to second. Northland finished during the regular season while Rainy River slipped to second. Northland finished third in the league standings and Lakeweed was fourth.

General admission tickets will be available at the arena door. Tickets will be $1.50 for adults, 50 cents for students under 18.

Fisher, Alvarado Advance In Sub District 31 Play

Fisher and Alvarado advanced into tomorrow night's sub district 31 championship game with easy semi-final wins over Oslo and Goodridge last night at Crookston.

The Flyer defense made shambles out of the Oslo offense early in last night's first game as a Fisher full court press resulted in a quick 10-0 Flyer lead.

The Bobcats weren't even able to attempt a field goal until Rick Rakowski connected from close range with 4:48 remaining in the opening stanza. Oslo trimmed the margin to 10-6 with 3:55 left, but Fisher's 2-1-2 zone kept the Bob cats outside while the Flyer offense ran to a 21-10 lead at the first stop.

Fisher built a 16-point 32-16 bulge on Pete Anderson's short jump shot with 2:52 remaining for its biggest lead of the first half, enroute ot a comfortable 40-26 lead at intermission.

Operating from his high post position on offense, Anderson was unstopable in the third quarter as he scored 10 points and grabbed numerous rebounds to lead Fisher to a 62-34 lead going into the final eight minutes.

Anderson and Mark Kummer combined beautifully on fast breaks to lead the Flyers to a 71-36 lead with 6:05 remaining, their biggest lead of the game, before the two seniors left the game.

Fisher shot an accurate 57 per cent from the field while limiting the Bobcats to 36 per cent performance.

Anderson finished the game with 33 points while Kummer added 15 and Kent Gunderson scored 10. Randy Borchert led the Bobcats with 16 while Wayne Devine came off the bench and added 11 points.

Goodridge and Alvarado battled on even terms throughout the first half in last night's second semi-final game with the Huskies holding a 16-14 lead at the first stop and a 33-30 advantage at the half. But the Indians went on the warpath in the second half to race to a 54-42 third quarter lead, enroute to the 73-55 win.

Alvarado grabbed an early 3-0 lead on a Lannie Hallin free throw and a Randy Boman field goal before the Huskies came back to take a 4-3 lead on buckets by Aldon Hyland and Bruce Kriel. The Indians went back in front 5-4 on Rahn Farder's long range jumper with 5:26 remaining and held the advantage until Fred Parnow's great individual effort in heavy traffic put the Huskies on top 14-13 with 22 seconds remaining.

Farder's free throw tied the game 14-all until Harlen Inverson connected on a baseline jumper with just three seconds left for a 16-14 Goodridge lead.

The Huskies maintained the upper hand throughout the second quarter, building leads of five points on three different occassions behind sharp passing and the heards-up play of Parnow underneath the baskets.

The Indians made very few changes during halftime, but instead executed the things they had been doing at lot better, while the Huskies suffered through a frustrating second half.

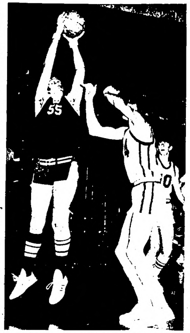
Alvarado took command of the game early in the third quarter as Boman scored six straight points for a 38-34 Indian lead with 5:30 remaining. The Huskies stayed close however, and Inverson's rebound shot trimmed the Indian lead to just 39-38 with 5:03 left, until Alvarado again scored in a quick spurt for a 44-38 lead with 2:40 remaining.

Farder's two free throws with 33 seconds left gave the Indians their biggest lead, 54-42.

The fired-up Alvarado quint continued to grab the key rebounds with excellent positioning under the boards to begin an effective Indian fast break in the final quarter as Alvarado outscored Goodridge 17-4 the first 5:24 of the fourth stanza.

Hallin led the Indians with 22 points while Boman scored 20 and Farder added 19. Two Huskies reached double figures with Parnow netting 20 and Inverson 12.

The Indians and Flyers will play at 8:30 tomorrow night, following the consolation game between Oslo and Goodridge. The top three teams advance into next week's district 31 tournament in Grand Forks.



FISHER CENTER Pete Anderson gets off a shot above Oslo's Leon Bayne while the Bobcats' Randy Borchert (10) trails the play during sub district 31 action Tuesday night at Crookston. Anderson paced the Flyers to a convincing 83-56 win with 33 points, including 15 field goals, as Fisher advanced into Thursday's sub district championship game.

The Bobcats advanced into semi-final action with a 58-51 triumph over Plummer while Goodridge topped Red Lake Falls 65-51 in a pair of games Monday night.

Wildlife Week To Be Observed

The 1972 observance of Wildlife Week in Minnesota will be directed by Roger Preuss, Minnesota nature artist who has been named chairman by the Minnesota Conservation and the National Wildlife Federation.

Preuss will head statewide efforts to emphasize the theme of the observance, the largest of its kind, March 19-25.

He said the theme will be "Ecology: A Wild Idea."

The theme emphasizes that wildlife is a part of the environmental crisis and is dependent upon quality natural surroundings.

"The bald eagle, emblem of the United States, is in serious trouble, said Preuss. "Its plight symbolizes the fate of 100 other American wildlife species threatened by extinction due to man's interference with the natural world."

He said that throughout the campaign the sponsors and the Wildlife Week committee will be urging people to consider their relationship to the natural world and make personal commitments to help achieve environmental quality.

Carry your gun safely.

Mirrors Fail To Reduce Deer Loss

Experimental mirrors, designed to scare deer off of highways by reflecting flashes of light onto the highway ahead of oncoming cars, have been judged ineffective by the Department of Natural Resources.

The mirrors, set up on the north shore drive near the Cascade River to test the idea, will be removed this spring.

The study has been carried out for five years and the results are similar to the findings recently made in other states, the department said.

Officials noted that the highest deer kills from motor vehicles have occurred in the vicinity of artificial feeding stations established by private persons who feed deer in the winter between highway 61 and Lake Superior.

Health Dep't. Notes 100th Anniversary

Minnesota's department of health, third oldest state health department in the nation, marks its 100th anniversary this week.

Governor Wendell Anderson noted the great strides in public health during the past 100 years. Minnesotans today have less chance of catching a disease, enjoy better personal health and live longer than ever before. But past achievements in public health, the governor said, are only a hint of things to come. There are new problems needing new solutions in the fast changing world of today.

On March 4, 1872, Minnesota's legislature passed the law establishing a state board of health. Three weeks later the board met for the first time and elected the state's first health officer, Dr. Charles N. Hewitt of Red Wing. Dr. Warren R. Lawson, who heads the state health department today, is but the sixth in 100 years to hold the position of state health officer.

In 1872 there were more than a thousand cases of smallpox in Minnesota with 250 resulting deaths. Smallpox, typhoid fever, diphtheria and other communicable diseases were commonplace. The board's task was formidable, yet there were almost no funds and little public interest. To protect the public's health in 1872 the board's total appropriation was $500. There were two employees—the executive officer and a secretary.

Today the state health department employs 448 and has an estimated budget for 1972 of $5.7 million. More than 20 citizen advisory committees attest to public interest and participation in the department's work.

Much credit for what has been accomplished in the conrol of communicable diseases goes to Minnesota physicians, particularly those in general practice. The state health department always has recognized that a realistic approach to communicable disease control is to keep diagnosis and treatment in the hands of private physicians to the greatest extent possible.

At the same time the health department has made available to all physicians many services that might otherwise have been accessible to only a few. Its epidemiologists ("disease detectives") have been able to pinpoint the source of disease, its laboratories to identify the cause of illness. The availability of biologics has prevented many of the communicable diseases, and health regulations have served to check their spread.

Of the communicable diseases, only influenza-pneumonia remains among the leading causes of death, and this condition is for all practical purposes a serious illness only of the middle and older ages. Communicable disease control now is largely a hold the line operation. Current problems are different and the battle must be waged without the dramatic stimulation of epidemics.

The state health department, in its mission to prevent disease, promote health and prolong life and efficiency through organized community effort, touches the life of virtually every Minnesotan. The department:

Records every birth and death in the state, its 4 million birth and 2 million death records date to 1900. A state-wide index contains all marriages since 1958 and divorces since 1970.

Completes some 400,000 medical laboratory tests yearly to detect disease producing organisms.

Gives courses for ambulance workers throughout the state.

Promotes school health, dental health, family planning, and family life education.

Helps local communities set up immunization programs.

Works to upgrade Minnesota's hospitals and nursing homes and to improve patient care.

Inspects hotels, resorts, restaurants, mobile home parks and public swimming pools to see that they meet state standards.

Tests the purity of water from private wells.

The department's central office is in Minneapolis, adjacent to the University of Minnesota campus. Eight district offices—in Bemidji, Duluth, Fergus Falls, Little Falls, Marshall, Mankato, Minneapolis and Rochester—help bring the department's services closer to local residents and better reflect local concerns and needs.

Engineers, sanitarians, vision and hearing technicians, immunization representatives, hospital and nursing surveyors for Medicare, and inspectors of hotels, resorts and restaurants work out of the district offices. They cooperate with local physicians, county and municipal officials, and community residents in meeting individual and community health needs. Public health nurses work to strengthen or establish county public health nursing services which provide such assistance as health counseling to groups, families and individuals; home nursing care, including rehabilitative measures, for the ill and disabled; and disease prevention and control measures.

Examples of the health department's response to the ever-changing world are the chemical dependency program, which is concerned with the use and abuse of drugs, and the programs in family planning and family life education.

One of the department's newest services is a mobile health unit authorized by the 1971 state legislature. The mobile unit will take health services to isolated residents living on Indian reservations and in economically distressed areas of northern Minnesota. It will bring to seven different communities such services as immunizations, first aid, the collection of specimens and running of tests, general counseling and health information, as well as specific procedures ordered by a patient's private physician.

The recent innovations in state health department programs reflect the changing problems and objectives in public health. The Minnesota department of health is 100 years old this week, but it continually has new ideas.

CLANN GAEL, an aggregation of 20 singers, dancers, drummers, guitarists, Irish harpists, bagpipers and pianist, will appear in Thief River Falls on Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Lincoln senior high school auditorium. The appearance will be part of the Thief River Falls concert association series and admission will be by season membership only. Music by the group ranges from the melancholy to the joyous, from the mischievous to the sentimental. Voices, dances, costumes and instruments are all authentically Gaelic, from the Irish harps to the colorful plaid kilts of the Scottish highlands.

January Bond Sales Are High

Sale of U. S. savings bonds in Minnesota held their high level in January, according to figures released by George H. Dixon, Minnesota state volunteer chairman. Pennington county sales of $11,854 were nine per cent of the 1972 quota.

E bond sales for January 1971 in Minnesota were $5,587,797, compared with $6,619,696 for 1972, up 18.5 per cent; H bond sales for January 1971 were $181,000, compared with $265,500 for January 1972, up 47 per cent. Total combined sales were up $1,116,399, or 19.4 per cent.

Dixon also reminded Minnesotans that interest earned on U. S. savings bonds is exempt from Minnesota state income tax and that federal income tax liability may be deferred until such time as the bonds are redeemed.

Ice Follies Will Play Twin Cities For 36th Year

March 22, 1972 Shipstads and Johnson Ice Follies returns to the Twin Cities for the 36th consecutive year. The show at the Met Center will have 16 performances running from March 22 through April 2 and the captivating Peggy Fleming will again appear as a special guest star this year.

Other old favorites returning include Richard Dwyer, the fabulous Mr. Frick, new comedy star Kevin Bubp, Susan Berens, brother and sister Rona and Cindy Kauffman, Patti Grover, Ricky Englesi, the beautiful Karen Kresge and that famous skating star, Snoopy.

The comedy department is most ably handled by the perennial Mr. Frick backed up by the zany Scarecrows and the unbelievable Kevin Bubp. Snoopy and Nernie-the-Nurd are along to captivate the children in the audience.

Seven beautiful and colorful production numbers featuring the traditionally exciting costuming of the Ice Follies include "It's Still a Beautiful World," "Let Your Spirits Soar," "Down on the Bayou," "People," "Knights of the Road," "Mixing Up at Montessori," and "Together With Love."

The romantic Richard Dwyer is back with his bevy of lovely girls. Dwyer, long an Ice Follies favorite, each year selects four of the prettiest skaters in the show to skate his romantic numbers with him.

The 1972 edition of the Follies offers 16 performances to choose from. Tickets are $5.50, $4.50 and $3.50. Youngsters 16 and under receive a $1 discount. Friday, March 31, there will be a special bargain matinee at 2 p.m. with all loge seats $3.50 and mezzanine $2.50. Group discounts and Golden Age discounts are available. For information, call 854-8585. Correspondence should be directed to Met Center, 7901 Cedar Avenue South, Minneapolis, 55420.

North Central Revenue Totals Over $100 Million

North Central Airlines achieved a financial milestone with record operating revenues of $100,796,000 in 1971, exceeding $100 million for the first time in its 24-year history, announced Hal N. Carr, chairman of the board.

The $8,844,000 gain over 1970 represents an impressive 10 per cent increase, Carr said, while the industry as a whole showed limited growth for the year. The company's 1971 net profit was $1,225,000. North Central has operated profitably for 17 of the 18 years since present management joined the company. This is the best financial record in the regional airline industry.

Effective cost control programs held operating expenses, including depreciation, to $94,980,000, for the smallest annual increase in four years. Operating profit was $5,815,000. The net profit of $1,225,000 was reached after non-operating expenses of $4,047,000 and taxes of $544,000. The 1970 profit of $2,178,000 included benefits from the strike against a competitive airline and an out-of-period accounting adjustment.

The company enhanced its overall financial position substantially during 1971, Carr stated. Working capital showed a major increase of $12,268,000. Of this amount, $9,204,000 was provided directly from operations through cash flow from earnings, depreciation and deferred taxes.

With the sale of $8,103,000 of stock and warrants in July 1971, and the net profit, stockholders' equity rose from $17,823,000 in 1970 to $27,192,000. North Central has the unique distinction of being the only regional airline with retained earnings—$6,726,000 through 1971.

Revenue passenger miles totaled 865,736,000, an all-time high and a 7.4 per cent increase over 1970. A record 3,793,000 passengers were carried. The company continued to maintain its outstanding operating performance by completing 99 per cent of its 27,267,000 scheduled miles, with 81 per cent of 221,000 arrivals on time.

Since inaugurating service in 1948, North Central has carried 30.2 million passengers and flown 5.5 billion passenger miles. The airline presently serves 90 cities in 13 states and Canada over a 9,900-mile route system.

40 et 8 Votes $1,000 For Two Scholarships

Members of Voiture 737 of the 40 et 8 in Thief River Falls voted to contribute $1,000 to scholarships at the promenade held Monday evening at the American Legion club rooms.

Of the $1,000 total, $900 will be used by the voiture for its nursing scholarship program and $100 will be contributed to the Lyle C. Mikelson memorial scholarship fund. The latter is a special investment fund started in memory of Mikelson, past department commander of the American Legion, who died in an auto accident while traveling in his duties as department commander. Proceeds from this investment fund will be used annually for scholarships for sons and daughters of members of the American Legion and auxiliary.

Members of the voiture also heard a report on the organization's free wild game dinner which was served to 926 people on February 19. A special note of thanks was given to the many individuals who donated the large amount of wild game needed for the dinner.

Lindstrom Outlines Paying For Services

by Rep. Ernest Lindstrom

To answer the question where we in Minnesota go from here in paying for public services, one must first spell out where we are now. In doing so one of the first things that is apparent is that Minnesota is out-standing and also out-taxing the states around it. And the rate at which our state budget is increasing is alarming.

Minnesota went from a 2 billion dollar budget for the 1969-1971 biennium to a 3 billion dollar budget for the 1971-1973 biennium. Our major tax sources are now either the highest or near the top in the nation. Our corporate income tax rate is now the highest of all 50 states. Our personal income tax is the highest of all 50 states on incomes under $15,000 and near the top on incomes above that figure.

Only our sales tax with its exemptions for food, clothing and drugs remains slightly below the average. Excise taxes including cigarettes and liquor equal or exceed the highest in the nation and exceed by substantial margins the states surrounding Minnesota. And needless to say, the property tax does not appeal to many as the way to finance expanding public spending.

Thus it would appear that when one looks at Minnesota's tax position relative to the other 50 states it's time for some dramatic action. We don't need tax study commissions nearly as much as we need spending study commissions.

The basic questions have to be asked. How many of our laws are really enacted in "the best intesests of the people"? Are people really demanding more and more "public services"? If so, who are these people that are demanding more and more? How well is the bureaucracy we have created responding to the people? What standards of performances have we set for it? How do we control its self-perpetuating and self-expanding tendencies? How many more colleges can we afford? When will we have guts enough to terminate programs and eliminate departments and agencies no longer needed?

These are but a few of the questions that must be answered soon, not only at the state level, but at every level of government.

I'm not convinced that the "people" are "demanding" more and more public service. It seems to me that the message is coming through loud and clear. As both the politician and the bureaucrat say "try it, you'll like it", people are saying "please, I'd rather do it myself."

In the area of welfare our AFDC payments per recipeint are number one in the nation. Our monthly increases in cash welfare payment per recipient are number one in the nation. Our monthly increases in cash welfare payments from October 1970 to October 1971 were $5.1 million. This is an annualized $60 million a year increase in welfare payments. Yet in the State of California from March 1971 to January 1972 there was a decrease in numbers of persons on welfare of 151,000 which brought about $100 million saving to the taxpayer. Therefore, it can be done.

When the House Conservatives and I advocated and passed through the House of Representatives a bill removing all welfare costs from property, the free spending liberals opposed it. Not only did we feel this was a burden property should not bear but that there were substantial savings for the taxpayer by the elimination of duplications in having 87 county administrators, disbursing officers, etc. A ten million dollar saving was projected in medical assistance alone, and the welfare bureaucrats were the greatest opponents.

Airplanes at our university are only symptomatic of greater problems underlying the education bureaucracy. Top-heavy administrations, competition among higher educational systems and frills within educational institutions at all levels must be critically examined.

Just the growth of government in numbers of employees is becoming an enormous problem. The federal payroll has gone from some 13.6 billion dollars to 29.9 billion dollars in the last decade. For our own last legislative session the various Minnesota colleges, deparments and agencies requested in excess of 5,000 new employees, and although the legislature pared this to less than 100, figures show that California during the last 4-½ years actually reduced the number of its civil service employees from 102,465 to 101,399. It can be done. It can be done without a reduction in services, by obtaining more efficiency and productivity from our government.

Cost controls must be established at every level. Some in government and among our citizenry, dedicated to big brother government insist that government continue to grow by leaps and bounds in spite of tough times for our citizens and economic setbacks for industry. I submit, however, that one of our highest priorities is the reduction of the high cost of government. Government simply must not be immune to the self-denial its citizenry must experience. Time is money and reforms must be made now, and reassure the governed that government is not its master but still its servant.

Minnesota is not an island and business is not compelled to locate here, expand here, or for that matter stay here. And as the steel plant closes in Duluth, Minneapolis-Moline moves its operations to Iowa, the sugar beet plant closes in Chaska, Reynolds Aluminum moves out of White Bear Lake, and Munsingwear talks of leaving Minneapolis, Minnesotans are becoming painfully aware of the harships caused by having hundreds left unemployed by each closing.

We must be as diligent in seeking economies as we have been in seeking ways to spend more. A positive program of cost reductions, increased governmental productivity, re-examination of priorities, and obtaining more taxpayers so as to expand the tax base are all essential.

When it comes to paying for public services it would appear that the user of the services wherever possible is going to have to pay a higher percentage of the cost than at any time in the past rather than placing a greater emphasis on general revenue. The whole northern tier of states including Minnesota, which utilize every conceivable source of revenue, frankly must press for some form of credit against federal-taxes for state taxes levied. This would have a dramatic effect and be a major help to high tax states such as Minnesota, and substantially reduce the total tax burden on our people. But now as never before more emphasis must be placed on where the tax dollar goes than where new tax dollars will come from.

And if, indeed, the system has truly gotten out of hand, as some will attest, then we are all the more guilty—not for failing to take corrective action—but for not even making the attempt. What have we got to lose? People love a winner—sympathize with a loser—but have contempt for a quitter.

Now is the time for a multi-faceted approach to our tax dilemma, not simply how do we raise more taxes. Minnesota needs a sweeping change in direction in its spending. And although I take no great joy in many of the things that must be done, they are the same kinds of adjustments that Minnesotans must make in spending in their own churches, their own businesses and their own homes.

VA Hospital To Test Computer Patient Records

Veterans administration hospital in Minneapolis will be involved in testing a new computerized system for maintaining medical records of the VA's one million hospital patients a year, according to Dr. Arthur J. Klippen, hospital director.

The VA does not now computerize its patients' records, "but the agency is actively considering launching such a system," he said.

The Minneapolis hospital is one of 46 of the VA's 165 hospitals which will be testing a system known as the problem oriented medical record, which was largely developed by a professor of medicine at the University of Vermont.

Dr. Klippen said that such a system is expected to improve the flow of information and "thereby benefit patient care and education of health professionals." He said it will also allow for more efficient retrieval of information from patients' medical records.

The problem-oriented approach permits physicians to keep a record that includes pertinent medical and social problem information important not only to the immediate care of patients, but to their future treatment, he said.

Careful Driving Saves On Tires, Says Council

Proper maintenance and careful driving can save motorists a lot of money, according to the tire industry safety council.

Industry surveys indicate that many drivers shorten the mileage life of their tires one-fifth by unnecessary wear. A driver who does that is wasting one of every five dollars he spends on tires.

Improper inflation, quick stops and starts, fast cornering and the generally poor mechanical condition of some automobiles are the principal factors cutting down on tire mileage. Tires underinflated by from four to 12 pounds may suffer a 10 to 40 per cent cut in mileage life expectancy.

"Our members spend millions of dollars each year testing and improving their products," says Ross R. Ormsby, chairman of the tire industry safety council. "We'd like to see the consumer get the full benefits. Proper driving and maintenance habits really help."

Sixty years ago tire costs were close to 20 cents a vehicle mile, with little guaranteed in the way of reliability and safety.

According to current National Highway Traffic Safety administration figures, replacement tires now cost less than one-fourth of a cent per mile over the 10 year life of the normal car.

Around the turn of the century tires cost about $60, and with the best of care gave about 1,500 miles of road wear at speeds much less than modern highway limits. Made of rubber and cotton, tires then were smooth as a billard ball.

Today's tires are a unique combination of steel, rubber, chemicals and synthetic fibers with tread patterns designed by computers to give safe stops and greatly increased mileage.

Driver License, Motor Vehicle Depts. Joined

Driver license and the motor vehicle divisions of the Minnesota department of public safety have now been consolidated into a single division and designated motor vehicle services.

New position, director of motor vehicle services, was authorized by the 1972 legislature, with the provision that driver license and the motor vehicle director positions be eliminated. James Crawford, director of driver licensing, has been appointed to head the new division.

"Since these two functions are quite similar, in that they fall into the record-keeping category, this consolidation will effect a better utilization of existing personnel, and will eliminate both of the former division director positions," Hoaglund said.

The motor vehicle division was headed by veteran Wilmur Howes until he retired last September. During the interim, Deputy Commissioner Phil Iverson doubled as acting director of the division.

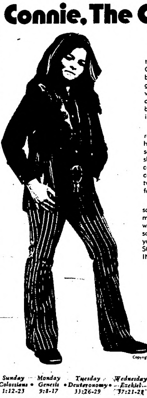
Connie, The Conformist



The last thing Connie intended to be was a conformist. So one day Connie resolved in dead earnest to be a nonconformist. She joined the group. She learned their views, their values, their life-style. Soon the cycle was complete—Connie had embraced the way of the nonconformist . . . had conformed to it.

The adventure of Connie is a reminder that conformity is part of human nature. We all conform to something. And the seemingly sharp differences apparent between certain life-styles merely reflect the contrasts and contradictions between the things to which men conform.

The role of the Church in our society is to provide spiritual and moral values that enrich life. In a world in which all men conform to something, the Church's aim with youth and adults is to give them SOMETHING WORTH CONFORMING TO.

COMPUTER, TELEVISION SPEED DIAGNOSIS

Dr. Erik Ritman, left, Mayo Clinic, one of the 31 researchers supported by the Minnesota Heart Association during 1971-72, reads a computer print-out giving diagnostic information on the condition of a patient's heart. With him is Dr. Hugh Smith of the cardiac catheterization lab. Utilizing a combined x-ray, television, electronic computer system recently developed at the Clinic, it is possible to obtain vital information necessary for diagnosing certain heart conditions such as congenital defects. The patient lies on the platform shown, right foreground, while x-rays are taken. A television camera takes pictures of the fluoroscopic x-ray images and records them for immediate play back while the computer provides a print-out of the same information. Unlike the conventional methods, with this system, a physician can read and interpret the data within minutes of the initial x-ray, and proceed with diagnosis and treatment immediately. $644,000 is being spent on Heart research this year in Minnesota by the American Heart Association and the Minnesota Heart Association. These allocations are made possible through Heart Fund contributions.

Customers & Friends:

I wish to express my deep appreciation and thanks to the customers and friends that have supported Jim's Hartz Supermarket over the past 24 years that my family and I have operated; the Hartz Supermarket of Thief River Falls. Your patronage and acceptance has made it possible to continually update and modernize through the years and to maintain the lowest possible grocery prices for our area.

After 15 years of personal involvement in the Hartz Market I have recently made the announcement of the sale of this family business to Dwight Tangquist of Thief River Falls. Dwight has the personal background in the growing business and the experienced staff that give me great confidence that our customers will continue to receive the service and everyday low prices they have come to expect at Hartz. I know that Dwight welcomes your comments and support especially during his grand opening this week. Stop in, register for the prizes being given away, and just say hello.

I also wish to personally thank Mr. L. B. Hartz and his fine staff at Hartz Wholesale for their continuous support over these many years. Last but not least I wish to thank my past employees for their loyal support and fine cooperation in satisfying our customers. Good employees have made it enjoyable to do business. It indeed has been my pleasure to serve you.

Yours truly,
Jim Winjum

But the same

Dependable Staff

"Only the name has been changed", says Dwight Tangquist, new owner of Hartz Market. "The same courteous staff of people are here to serve you. The staff has a combined total of 112 years serving the customers of Hartz Market."

"I hardly feel the need to introduce myself", says Dwight, "as I have been employed by the store since 1955. I have managed the store since 1963. Recently, I purchased the stock and fixtures of the business from James Winjum and Mrs. J. H. Winjum. I'm married and my wife and I have two young children. I'm a member of the Chamber of Commerce, Jaycees, Lions Club and the Evangelical Covenant Church. For many years I have taken an active part in the local softball association."

"Pictured with me is Marvin Olson, assistant manager. Marv has worked for the store 15 years, starting as a check-out boy and working his way up to the new position. In addition to the full time employees pictured, we employee 15 more full or part time employees."

"My staff and I pledge to do everything in our power to continue the long standing Hartz policy of "Quality Foods at the Lowest Everyday Prices."

Sincerely,
Dwight Tangquist

Lease-Purchase

Educational Facilities Laboratories, Inc., a non-profit corporation established by the Ford Foundation to help schools and colleges with their physical problems, mentions lease-purchase agreements in a recent bulletin. Since Thief River Falls school district has voted to enter into a lease-purchase agreement to acquire the Arctic Enterprises plant, the following item from the bulletin should be of interest:

One of the myriad disadvantages of not being rich is that money costs more for those who cannot afford it. Give the choice between repaying school building bonds over 10 or 20 years, most towns opt for 20 years of small annual payments even though the total is larger.

A small school district in the East recently faced the problem of what it can afford to pay each year versus the overall cost of a new school. With the aid of a grant from EFL, the district sought advice from consultants who suggested three routes to a new school: To finance a conventional building through general obligation bonds; to finance a systems-engineered building through general obligation bonds; or to lease-purchase the same systems building from the company that builds and finances it. Leasing was the cheapest route by a wide margin.

Then came the problem. The builder works on a 10-year amortization. That made the annual payments much larger than the payments would be with 20-year bonds. And, since the district has no industry and every annual payment of taxes must be met by a comparatively small group of taxpayers, the 10-year lease had to be rejected in favor of the 20-year bonds. The additional cost to the district will be $1.1 million over the 20 years, but the individual taxpayers will pay about $6 less taxes a year. And that loomed largest in the public mind.

Penny wise and pound foolish? You might say so, but given the high real estate taxes most people are paying today, it would be hard to fault the district's residents. But obviously, something is wrong. Perhaps the answer lies in a state agency that could have made the higher annual payments to the developer and spread the cost to the district residents over a longer period.

We ARE Number One!

Following editorial is from the St. Paul Pioneer Press:

Governor Wendell Anderson and various analysts are attempting to convince the public that a recent comparison of state income taxes made by the Minnesota Taxpayers Association is lacking in validity and objectivity.

The association's study, based on national figures covering a period through August of 1971—the most recent available—shows Minnesota has the nation's highest maximum tax rate and effective marginal tax rate on corporate incomes. Also using August, 1971, figures—again the most recent available—the Taxpayers Association has computed that a Minnesota family of four, using the standard deduction would pay the nation's highest amount of state income taxes in the $10,000 and $15,000 income brackets.

The critics of the comparisons do not dispute the figures but claim they are meaningless since other states may have enacted higher tax rates since August of last year. They also contend that a state-by-state comparison of income taxes alone does not give a valid picture of the total tax structure of a state. Their implication is that the findings of the Taxpayers Association are of no value.

Quite the contrary. The income tax data provides some very meaningful information about the state's tax structure and the direction it is headed. The critics seem to forget that the new income tax rates for Minnesota are retroactive to July 1, 1971. Certainly, other states may enact new tax rates, but some point in time has to be used in making comparisons. State legislatures do not pass tax bills in unison. Minnesota's legislature will return to action in just over ten months from now, and lawmakers undoubtedly will be seeking additional revenues.

The critics also claim that the Taxpayers Association findings on the new levels of state income taxes do not consider the property tax relief that was a feature of the 1971 omnibus tax bill. The association's most recent data for state-by-state comparison of per capita payments of property taxes covers only the period through 1970. At that time, Minnesota ranked 21st in the nation and slightly above the U.S. Average.

Up-to-date figures on income tax levels would take into account any relief accorded by the 1971 tax bill, but they also would have to include the huge increases in property taxes imposed in 1971 as the result of reassessment of property values and substantially higher mill rates levied by most local governments and school districts. It seems quite likely that even with the nation's highest level of corporate and individual income taxes, Minnesota will remain above average for per capita payments of property taxes.

In 1970, Minnesota was below average in only one major tax category: the sales tax. At that time, Minnesota ranked 37th in the nation. The 1971 State Legislature increased the state's sales tax rate by 33.3 per cent; thus it is quite possible that Minnesota would have a higher ranking in this category if more current data were available.

While it is implied by some that the Taxpayers Association presentation of the income tax comparisons gives a distorted picture of the state's tax picture, no evidence is supplied to support the claim. The association, it seems to us, intended only to show that, on the basis of the most current data, Minnesota ranked number one in income tax rates for corporations and for the state taxes a four-member family would be required to pay in two appropriate brackets. The association's conclusion that the "state income tax now packs the toughest wallop in the nation" appears quite valid.

Only as more data becomes available will it be possible to compare Minnesota with other states on the basis of per capita state and local taxes (a total of income, property, sales and special taxes). Perhaps the greatest distortion now being presented by the critics of the Taxpayers Association, are those, including the governor, who would compare Minnesota's ranking on the basis of figures for the period ending in June or December of 1970. Even before passage of the 1971 tax bill, Minnesota ranked higher than average in the total of per capita state and local taxes and below the national average in per-capita personal income.

The real question—which cannot be answered with the few figures now available—is whether other state legislatures were as hard on their taxpayers as were Minnesota lawmakers in 1971.

One Solitary Life

Called to our attention recently was the essay "One Solitary Life" which carries with it extra meaning during the current season of Lent. The author is unknown but the message is clear:

"Here is a Man who was born of Jewish parents in an obscure village, the Child of a peasant woman. He grew up in another obscure village. He worked in a carpenter shop until He was thirty, and then for three years He was an itinerant preacher.

"He never wrote a book; He never held an office; He never owned a home; He never had a family; He never went to college; He never set foot inside a big city; He never traveled 200 miles from the place where He was born. He never did one of the things that usually accompany greatness. He had no credentials but Himself. He had nothing to do with this world except the naked poor of His divine manhood.

"While still a young Man, the tide of popular opinion turned against Him. His friends ran away. One of them denied Him. He was turned over to His enemies, went through the mockery of a trial, and was nailed to a cross between two thieves.

"His executioners gambled for the only piece of property He had on earth and that was his coat. When He was dead He was taken down and laid in a borrowed grave through the pity of a friend.

"Nineteen wide centuries have come and gone and today He is the centerpiece of the human race and the leader of the colun of progress. I am far within the mark when I say that all the armies that ever marched, and all the navies that ever were built, and all the parliaments that ever sat, and all the kings that ever reigned, put together, have not affected the life of man upon this earth as powerfully as has that one solitary Life."

Trucks loaded with soybeans line up at a Mississippi Delta elevator. Market demand for this major cash crop is fast outstripping U.S. production.

Demand for U.S. soybeans and products is outstripping production for the third consecutive year. As a result, soybean production opportunities in 1972 may be the best in nearly 25 years.

USDA planting intentions issued in January predict that farmers will plant 44.3 million acres of soybeans this year. Production from nearly a million of these acres is normally not available to marketing channels – either through crop losses, or because the soybeans are retained as seed. This would leave about 43.5 million acres available for 1972 use.

Foreign and domestic markets utilized the production from about 44 million acres in 1971—nearly 1,225 million bushels. The "gap" was filled from carryover stocks, now reduced to minimal levels.

Soybean marketers say strong 1972 market demand is calling for up to 1,375 million bushels of soybeans this year – a planted acreage of about 50.1 million acres. That's a full 5.8 million acres more than farmers indicate they intend to plant this spring.

Many marketers and economists see this 5.8 million-acre "gap" as a golden production opportunity for farmers. With soybean prices to farmers averaging above $3.00 per bushel, they see soybeans as the year's most promising cash crop.

Economic Stabilization

Questions and Answers

Internal Revenue Service

Q—I'm a new car dealer. Can I comply with price commission posting requirements by posting the "sticker price" of cars sold during the base period?

A—No. You must post your actual sales prices during the base period. The actual price for a new automobile may be considerably less than the "sticker price" and may vary from dealer to dealer.

Q—What factors are considered when an exemption from wage-price controls is made?

A—Among the factors considered in making an exemption are:

(1) The objectives and requirements of the stabilization program;

(2) Whether the economic sector is characterized by a large number of sellers and frequent price fluctuations, with a minimum of inflationary pressure;

(3) Whether international transactions are involved or whether, in some special situations such as insurance, domestic firms would be at a disadvantage with respect to international competition because of economic controls on price increases;

(4) Whether there is a clear basis for establishing a fair and equitable price because of the nature of the product and the selling process;

(5) Whether prices are self-assessed or characterized by a strong element of mutuality;

(6) Whether other controls have been established by law or by other regulatory agencies;

(7) Whether other nonexempt sectors will serve as an effective restraint on an exempt sector; and

(8) Considerations of administration and enforcement, including the ability to effectively enforce the controls in sectors with significant inflationary impact.

Q—I know that raw agricultural products are exempt from price controls, but how do you know what is considered to be a "raw agricultural product"?

A—Agricultural products which retain their original physical form and have not been processed are exempt from price controls. Processed agricultural products, namely, those which have been canned, frozen, slaughtered, milled or otherwise changed in their physical form, are not exempt. Packaging is not considered a processing activity. Thus, while fresh potatoes, packaged or not, are exempt from controls, frozen french fries are not; while live cattle are exempt, steak cuts are not.

Q—Do firms who are required to prenotify or report their price increases have any protection for trade secrets that might be revealed to the price commission?

A—Yes. Under recent amendments to the economic stabilization act of 1970, such information is considered confidential. It may be disclosed only to other stabilizationl personnel for the purpose of carrying out the economic stabilization program or when relevant in any proceeding under the act.

Q—If a firm has a range of salaries for the same job what wage or salary can be paid to a new employee?

A—The employee may be paid any salary within the range which the qualifications of the applicant justify as long as the annual aggregate increase paid by the firm in this job classification does not exceed the 5.5 per cent standard set by the pay board.

Q—Are firms with annual sales or revenues of $50 million or more that have to prenotify or report to the price commission subject to spot checking by the IRS as the smaller firms are?

A—Yes. Both large and small firms may be subject to spot checking by the IRS to determine if they are complying with price commission regulations.

notes from the governor

Competition is healthy and invigorating, in public as well as private life.

But when competition between agencies of government interferes with the efficient delivery of services, or distorts priorities, or results in needless spending, then changes must be made.

That is a fundamental reason why I last week directed Minnesota's commissioner of highways Ray Lappegaard to take responsibility for developing a proposal for establishing a department of transportation in Minnesota.

In a letter to Mr. Lappegaard, I said "the need for such a department seems clear. We can no longer afford isolated single-purpose efforts if we are to provide the best possible access for our citizens and businesses to air, rail, highway and local mass transit facilities."

The commissioner was directed to "cross existing departmental and regulatory barriers", and to fully involve existing transportation-related agencies such as the Metropolitan Transit commission and state aeronautics department, and the state planning agency and regional planning councils.

He was also asked to pay full heed to the broad implications that transportation decisions have for our environment, for industrial and commercial growth, for the quality of life in our towns and neighborhoods.

Departments of transportation should not be expected to work miracles. They have been established at the federal level and in nearly a dozen other states. Experience indicates there are no easy answers to reconciling competing interests or to stretching the transportation dollar.

Our state highway system is seriously underfunded, yet the need for all-weather roads to many rural communities is urgent. Automobiles are choking our central cities, yet we have no viable mass transit system. Critical decisions regarding the location and development of airports must be reached.

The most mobile society in history, then is confronted with a challenge in transportation. I believe we can better meet that challenge by pooling our talent, resources, imagination and energy in a single department.

A Tribute to Ruth Meyer Berg

This correspondent has received a copy of the following tribute to Ruth Meyer Berg taken from the "Red Wing Eagle", which will be of interest to many in our area, since Ruth was born and grew to womanhood in our community. It was written by Phil Duff and entitled "Worthy Cause".

Here's a cause which, sad to say, comes before us all too often.

Back around 1949 or 1950, I first met Ruth Meyer and Curtis Berg. I was putting out the Dodge County Independent at Kasson, and they were both at next-door Dodge Center.

Ruth was a Thief River Falls girl who came to Dodge Center as county 4-H leader on the Extension staff under then County Agent Vic Sander. An awfully good 4-H leader she was!

Curt grew up on Munson Hill in Welch Township, a brother of Stuart Berg who farms there now. He graduated from high school in Red Wing in 1939, went on to college, and had come to Dodge Center as a vo-ag teacher. It was natural thing for the vo-ag teacher and 4-H club agent to marry one another, and that's what Ruth and Curt did in 1950.

In 1952, a year before I came to Red Wing, they went to farming in Goodhue County. When I got re-acquainted with them, they were on a farm at Claybank, about three miles north of Goodhue, just west from Highway 58.

Once, I remember, I took our small children hiking along the old Great Western roadbed, and later we had coffee with the Bergs in their kitchen near Claybank.

In 1965, Ruth and Curt did something that really surprised me because it was so adventuresome, especially for young Amy, Eric, Martin and Kare.

The whole family packed up and moved to Australia. They both taught there—Ruth being the first lady lecturer at a state agricultural college in Australia, I'm told.

After four years, the Bergs returned and located in northwestern Iowa. Ruth was back teaching again—chemistry and mathematics—when cancer was first discovered a year ago last October.

For a long time, she seemed to keep on top of it, Curt tells me. But in the end it was a kind the doctors couldn't handle, and just before New Years she passed away. There was a well attended memorial service Saturday, January 12, at St. Luke's Lutheran in Goodhue.

Ruth was a lovely person—able, high-principled, cheerful, energetic. Your sense of rightness and justice rebels at such a person being cut off at age 44.

Curt and the Berg children have set up a Ruth Berg Cancer Research Fund, with all the proceeds to go to help the ob-gyn specialists at the Mayo Clinic pursue research that will some day lick the kind of cancer that took Ruth Berg.

Congratulations are extended to Barbara Rondorf, who received a blue ribbon in the speech contest at Walker Saturday. She participated in the non-original division by reciting Nixon's inaugural address.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Malberg entertained at their home Friday for a social evening the following friends: Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rausch, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Solem, Roger Alan and Cynthia, Otto and Melvin Saugen, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Halvorson, Lloyd Larson, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Solem, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Yonke and David, Mr. and Mrs. L. Help Liberal, Kansas, Celebrate Pancake Day

Each year on Shrove Tuesday, the towns of Liberal, Kansas, and Olney, England, stage a pancake race with housewives running nearly a quarter of a mile with a pancake in a skillet, tossing the pancake in the air twice during the race.

This is just one of hundreds of festivals and celebrations that take place all across America throughout the year. When you go traveling, "Discover America" by stopping off for a local celebration.

For your own pancakes at home, discover the trick of adding peanut butter to the pancake mix. A good reason for adding peanut butter to pancakes, other than the fact that the kids will love them, is that peanut butter ranks as one of America's most nutritious foods. It is rich in protein and niacin, a B vitamin. Serve the pancakes topped with bananas and peanut butter syrup. Add a glass of milk and you can be sure the pancake breakfast is nutritionally sound.

Whether you make the pancakes from a mix or by your own recipe, here's how to do it. For 8 to 10 (4-inch) pancakes, use 1 cup pancake mix or a recipe using 1 cup flour. Mix together ½ cup Skippy peanut butter and ¼ cup light corn syrup. Prepare the pancakes following the directions on the package, or your own technique, adding the peanut butter mixture with the shortening. Bake the pancakes as usual and serve with this peanut butter syrup.

Peanut Butter Pancake Syrup: Melt ¼ cup margarine. Stir in ½ cup peanut butter, 1 cup light corn syrup or pancake syrup. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Serve hot or cold.

University Budget Survives Shuffle

University of Minnesota board of regents has approved a budgeting plan which has shuffled around 5.5 per cent of the university's $90 million instructional and operations budget.

The plan, which cuts $570,000 from the central administration and support services and allots it to academic purposes, is the result of six months of an internal review of the university's programs by the administration and a committee of the faculty senate.

The regents also approved a tuition increase for the 1972-73 school year.

The budget recommendations were passed in a joint meeting Thursday of the regents' committees on budget, audit and legislative relationships and educational policy and long-range planning.

The action ended a "retrenchment and reallocation" process which began with the cutback of all university programs by six per cent. Of that, the colleges and other units within the university got back three per cent last month with the stipulation that it be moved into new or revised programs.

This month's action represents the reallocation of an additional 2.5 per cent to priorities set by the administration at an all-university level. The remaining one-half per cent was lost by cuts in the budget requests to the 1971 Legislature.

One result of the money shuffling has been a shake-up in the job situation on campus.

About 110 teaching assistants will be displaced, but there is a good chance for some of them to get jobs on new programs established through the budgeting process, according to Eugene Eidenberg, assistant vice president for administration.

The final result of the retrenchment and reallocation in terms of job changes, layoffs and enrollment limitations will not be known until the final budget is complete, but it will be based on the recommendations approved by the regents, Eidenberg said.

The budget plan, which was also approved by the university senate, lists the top priority as $800,000 for tuition support to disadvantaged students and students who cannot afford to pay for tuition increases.

The second priority was to reallocate $160,000 to the library with $73,000 of that recommended to be cut from administrative budgets. The library is in serious need of funds because of federal cuts, a legislative cutback, soaring costs of books and the increased demand for books created by a cooperative loan effort with the state colleges.

Some $1 million was reallocated to health science priorities while $270,000 was appropriated to the coordinate campuses. New programs which will be created include a school of cross-disciplinary studies proposed for the St. Paul campus and a program in the history of science and technology.

The regents authorized tuition increases ranging from $10 to $16 per quarter for resident students and increases ranging from $33 to $48 per quarter for non-resident students. College of liberal arts students are expected to receive the $10 and $33 increases, while medical and professional students will be at the upper end of the scale. Similar increases last year ranged from $25 to $34 and from $57 to $77 per quarter.

The budget priorities set by the regents recommend the funding of 15 of some 130 programs requested by university units for money from the all-university reallocation fund.

People representing groups who need more funds appeared before an open hearing of the two committees Wednesday and Thursday. Paul Giese, assistant professor of humanities, said her program may fire her and several of her colleagues to meet retrenchment demands. To offset the loss of their jobs, four humanities faculty members applied for one position collectively. Mrs. Giese said the four would work more than any one of them would work, on the salary for one position.

No comment was offered by the regents on their plan.

In other action, the regents approved salary increases, mostly under three per cent, for 35 members of the administration and regents' professors.

13 States Meet To Fight Spread Of Gypsy Moth

Minnesota will participate in a special 13-state tourist vehicle check this year intensifying the battle to prevent the westward spread of the gypsy moth, a principal defoliating insect threat to the nation's forests, Agriculture Commissioner Jon Wefald announced today.

"The gypsy moth could cause staggering economic and aesthetic loss in Minnesota," he warned.

West and south bound tourist campers, trailers and mobile homes will be inspected for gypsy moth eggs or pupae at strategically located check points on major highways in infested northeastern states, primarily in Pennsylvania and Delaware. Owners or drivers will be asked to cooperate by supplying the address of their ultimate destination or home.

At the destination and at the convenience of the camping equipment owners, state or federal inspectors will make a thorough search for gypsy moth "hitchhikers." Vehicles will be decontaminated when evidence of the insect is found.

"This means," Commissioner Wefald explained, "that Minnesotans who take camping or mobile home trips into the northeastern U.S., or camping visitors from that section this summer will be asked to cooperate in the roadside checks and can expect followup inspections in Minnesota and in other cooperating states."

The state-federal program was triggered by the 13-member interstate pest control compact at its recent winter meeting. Compact states authorized expenditure of $20,000 for the project. These funds will at least be matched by the federal government.

Minnesota became a member of the interstate pest control compact by a law enacted at the 1969 session of the legislature. The state's official representative on the compact is Dr. Rollin M. Dennistoun, administrator for the plant and environmental programs of the Minnesota department of agriculture.

Other compact members states are California, Delaware, Illinois, Michigan, New Hampshire, New Jersey, North Dakota, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia and South Carolina.

Last summer gypsy moths were recovered in Wisconsin, Ohio, Florida, North Carolina, Alabama and District of Columbia. Almost all of these interceptions were associated with mobile homes and campers that had been in northeast states between June and August.

Statisticians recently compiled a report noting that United States farmers produced nearly 128 million tons of hay during 1970.

A NEW STEP is demonstrated by Mrs. Kay Novak, choreographer for the Lincoln high school production of "Hello Dolly", while several of the cast members watch. Seated left to right are Randy Carlson, Karen Lindquist, Cam Peterson and Joe Kezar. Mrs. Novak has worked on choreography for local musicals for the past six years.

Mpls. Lady Instructs Lincoln HS Dancers

For six years Mrs. Richard (Kay) Novak has worked as choreographer for Lincoln senior high school musicals but has never seen an actual production of one of them. This year, "come hell or high water", she will be in the audience when the Lincoln choir and orchestra presents "Hello Dolly".

"Six years ago the kids decided they could learn dance routines for the entire show in two days," Mrs. Novak said, "and for six years they have done it. That's really remarkable when you think about it. We have had some exceptional youngsters to work with and the majority have been very business like about their approach to getting the job done well."

Mrs. Novak grew up in Grand Forks, N.D., as Kay Vasicek, in the same general neighborhood as David Morken, Lincoln high school vocal music instructor. They were acquaintances as youngsters and worked together in various college productions, including the "Flickertail Follies", at the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks. It was through this acquaintance that Mrs. Novak came to Thief River Falls six years ago to work with the cast of "Annie Get Your Gun".

In succeeding years she has worked on the choreography for "Finian's Rainbow", "My Fair Lady", "Camelot" and "Oklahoma", and this year for "Hello Dolly".

"You really miss the kids," she says of seniors who have graduated and are no longer in the cast the following year. "We worked with some of them since they were sophomores and there were some really good dancers. The new ones always do a good job, but you miss the ones you have worked with for a couple of years. And even if you only get to work with them for a couple of days, the work is so intense that you feel you really get to know them."

Mrs. Novak and Morken decided on the presentation of "Hello Dolly" last summer after viewing several productions of the musical themselves. The selection was based on several reasons, not the least of which was the type of students available for the cast this year.

"You have to gear your production to the people you have, and Mr. Morken has always used his entire chorus in his musicals," Mrs. Novak said. "His belief is that any of the chorus members who want to participate in the musical can take part. That is good for the kids but it does create problems in choreography with the limited stage space available."

From 1959 to 1966 Mrs. Novak had a dance studio in Grand Forks, teaching ballet and ballroom dancing. She also danced in a performing group in the community, worked on variety shows for church and other groups and took part in the productions of "Operetta in the Park".

A WATCHFUL EYE is kept by Mrs. Kay Novak, choreographer for the LHS musical "Hello Dolly" as Shelley Worner practices dance steps for the musical. Miss Worner has been cast in the title role of Dolly. Mrs. Novak, in her sixth year of doing choreography for the Lincoln musicals, was in Thief River Falls Friday and Saturday to work with dancers in the production.

1,200 Sign Up For Programs In Marshall ASCS

Many farmers are expected in the Marshall county agricultural stabilization and conservation service (ASCS) office for enrollment in feed grain and wheat programs during this final week.

Through March 3, approximately 1,200 producers in Marshall county had signed up for participation in one or more of the set-aside programs offered in 1972, according to Marcel Dahl, ASC county committee chairman.

Total participation in Marshall county is expected to number about 1800 farms. Farmers who have not signed up and wish to do so must come into the office no later than Friday, March 10.

$73,000 In Bldg. Permits Issued

In Thief River Falls, three nonresidential building permits were issued during January of 1972 for new buildings, repairs and alterations. The permits represent a value of $73,000. According to the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis, this was an increase from $2,000 for two permits issued during January of 1971.

ICC Will Hold Board Meeting

Inter-County Community Council, Inc., will hold a meeting at Third Base at Brooks on March 15. The board of directors will have its regular monthly executive meeting at 6:30 p.m. and the business meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend the business meeting.

Frozen Body Of Youth Found On River Saturday

Frozen body of Ellard Waldo Thompson, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Thompson of Thief River Falls, was discovered shortly before 10 a.m. Saturday on the Red Lake river in Thief River Falls. Discovery was made by James Enge who notified the local police department.

According to the Pennington county sheriff's department, which is conducting the investigation, tracks showed the youth apparently walked down the bank and onto the river early Saturday morning where he collapsed on the ice. He was found face down near the center of the river, about 100 yards east of the Soo Line railroad bridge.

Law enforcement officials were unable to identify the body until early afternoon Saturday when the youth's parents called and reported their son as missing.

Annual Meeting Of Jobs, Inc., Slated Tonight

Reports from six local businesses and industries will be given at the annual meeting of Jobs Incorporated to be held this evening (Monday) at 6:30 p.m. in the Elks club rooms. Tickets at $2.50 each for the stag event are available at local banks and will also be available at the door.

Reporting on their businesses at the meeting will be L. B. Hartz wholesale; Hydra-Mac, Inc.; Forsbergs, Inc.; Arctic Enterprises, Inc.; North Star Transport, Inc.; and Land O'Lakes, Inc.

Election of five directors for two-year terms will also take place at the meeting. Directors whose terms expire include John Penn, Arthur B. Christianson, Gene Belto, Walter Forney and Norris Melander. All have been nominated for reelection with the exception of Penn who has declined renomination. Edward Muzurek has been nominated for the fifth position on the board.

Donald M. Olson is president of the organization and will preside at tonight's meeting. Financial report will be given by Merle Smith, secretary, in the absence of treasurer Gene Belto. Annual membership of $10 will also be sold at the meeting.

Ask Design For Resurfacing Of Highway 1 West

Minnesota department of highways has requested approval from the federal highway administration for the design for resurfacing of highway 1 from Warren to Thief River Falls.

The design provides for a bituminous overlay from the junction with highway 75 in Warren to the south junction with highway 32 in Thief River Falls and the addition of turn lanes. The proposed project is 28.7 miles in length. All work is to be performed within the existing right-of-way.
